

Ans'd
Nov. 22/48

Ben Peatage
Shag Harbour
November 19/48

Dear Mr. Roddall:

I see
you got to Pease Island ahead of me. If I felt a little envious when I first heard of your article in the Post I forgot that when I read what you'd written, I remembered instead what Major

tolerant of such go-in's-on, but if I were a Seal Island
ghost

The men here are now engrossed in the season's duck-shooting and I'm caring for
the resultant appetites, but I keep hoping to do some writing this winter. May I wish you continued success
in your work -

Sincerely
Wally Richardson

Logan said to me
last spring when we were discussing
Canadian writers:

"Oh, but Tom Raddall's the boy to tell a story." I heartily concur.

I do wish, though,
that you could have persuaded your photographer to use
something but
nets for his lobstering.
Fishermen are most