COUNCIL APPROVES BUDGET FOR EXHIBITION GAME WITH MCGILL

$1,600,000 To Be Cost Of Edifice

Construction of a new Dalhousie Arts building at a cost of approximately $1,600,000 will begin within the next six months, according to a decision made by the Board of Governors Tuesday night.

Dr. Kerr, president of the University announced Wednesday afternoon that the building should be completed within 20 months after construction starts.

Intended to house the faculties of Arts and Science, and Commerce, together with classrooms for these faculties, the building will account for a considerable portion of the money raised in last year's $3,000,000 Dalhousie Building Campaign.

It will be centred on the location now occupied by the historic Murray homestead, with an imposing entrance facing the Morris Street entrance to the Studley campus.

Made of the same stone which has been employed in the past in construction of the Science building, the library and the present Arts building, it will be constructed to fit into the general appearance of all Dalhousie buildings.

NATIONAL RESEARCH LABORATORY

Plans for the construction of a new National Research Council laboratory have been changed, Dr. Kerr said Wednesday. Because of the Research Council's decision that the building cannot be built of the stone which characterizes Dalhousie buildings, location of the laboratory is to be changed.

Originally scheduled to be situated at the Morris Street end of the Science building, the laboratory now will be erected adjacent to the Engineering building, on Oxford Street.

Construction is expected to begin within six months.

FORREST BUILDING

Extensive repairs have been completed in the Forrest Building which presently houses the faculties of Law and Medicine, as well as Dentistry.

TO ISSUE YEAR BOOKS MONDAY

Ron Caldwell, editor of Pharos, the Dalhousie Year Book, last year, and again this year, announced yesterday that a number of students who were here last year, and were eligible to receive year books, had not yet done so.

Students not yet in possession of their copy of Pharos are requested to call at the Pharos office in the basement of the Arts building, Monday afternoon, at which time the books will be issued.

DR. A. E. KERR—President of Dalhousie University announced Wednesday that a new Arts building, at a cost of $1,600,000, will be erected within the next two years, construction to start shortly.

Dr. F. R. Davis Dies At Keltic Lodge

Dartmouth Dal Girl Is Queen

A Dalhousie co-ed, Shirley Hines, of Dartmouth, has been named "Queen of the Sea" for 1948, following her triumphant visit to Lunenburg where she competed in the Nova Scotia Fisheries Exhibition.

Thousands of proud and cheering citizens of Dartmouth turned out on her return from Lunenburg to welcome her home.

Her hometown reception followed a reception at Halifax, when a special ceremony was carried out on the Grand Parade in front of City Hall.

Members of the official party which welcomed the "Queen of the Sea" to Halifax were, Mayor and Mrs. A. C. Pettipas, of Dartmouth; Mayor J. E. Ahern, of Halifax; Mayor Douglas Adams, of Lunenburg; Betty Jean Ferguson, "Miss Canada"; Miss Jean Horne, Dartmouth's Natal Day Queen; and G. J. Noseworthy, Miss Hine's sponsor.

Escorted by a motorcycle of the Halifax police, the Queen's party proceeded to the Dartmouth Ferry where they were met by the Pipe Band of the Somme Branch, Canadian Legion, who piped the party on the flag-decked ferry, Scotian.

A Dalhousie graduate, one of the great friends of Dalhousie University, and one of this province's most able medical men died Friday, Sept. 17, at Ingonish, Nova Scotia.

He was Hon. Frank Roy Davis, M.D., C.M., F.A.C.S., Minister of Public Health and Welfare and of Municipal Affairs. Aged 60, he succumbed to a heart attack at Keltic Lodge.

His heroic struggle for life perhaps equalled his part in the rescue of two Torontonians trapped in the Moose River Gold Mine in 1936. Dr. Davis volunteered to enter the crumbling caverns to bring aid to the men, near death from terror, exposure and hunger. He worked side-by-side with a daredevil rescue squad of miners.

TRIBUTE BY DR. A. E. KERR

The Province of Nova Scotia has lost an outstanding citizen and leader in the death of the Hon. Dr. F. R. Davis. I had a great deal to do with him because of the common interests of the Dalhousie faculties of medicine and dentistry, and the Provincial Department of Public Health and Welfare and I found him invariably considerate and cooperative. We spent most of a morning together (only a week before he died) discussing the improvement of the facilities of these professional schools.

He kept every aspect of public health within his purview, was familiar with all the new proposals in the field that were forthcoming from time to time, and took a statesmanlike view of the fundamental place of first-class medical

Profits Will Go To War Memorial Fund

Dal Tigers and Wanderers A.A.C. will officially open the Halifax Canadian Football League at the Wanderers Grounds, tomorrow, October the 2nd. With the results of three weeks training behind them, Dal will take to the field at 2.30 p.m. against their old rivals of English rugger days.

Last year when the two teams met, the Tigers paraded through to an easy 27-0 victory. This year, Wanderers have a vastly improved team, benefitting by the addition of a number of last year's Saint Mary's players, since that latter team has dropped from the league. This year they will prove to be much tougher opposition. Nevertheless, Dal with its revamped lineup, will also prove to be a superior team than expected, and the game should be a rugged one.

Dut to the late return of the majority of players to the university, and the constant threat of supplementary exams, some have found it difficult to get out to practice. Despite this fact, Coach Burkhart will field a team with a fair amount of experience. From last year's roster there are such well known faces as captain Bob MacDonald, Bob Wilson, Pete Feron, George Mattison, Paul Lee and Don Woodward, from the backfield. To add to this impressive lineup there are such newcomers as Don Harrison, Andy McKay, Bob Langin, Chic Fancy, and Alex Farquhar.

Although the line will undoubtedly miss the services of Morrison and MacKeigan, most of last year's stalwarts still remain. Johnie Lindsay, Tom Belliveau, Frank MacDonald, Pete MacDonald, Murry Malloy, Pete Mingo, Joe Levinson, Burt Cull and Bob McQuinn, all have had experience from last year. The line has had many new additions, some of them having gained their experience elsewhere. Dave McCurdy, came in from the States, Spense Stewart came down from Montreal, Bill Peterson is in from the west via Mt. A., while Jim McEwan, Charman Cousins, Don Seaman, Ken Allen—and Bill Ogilvie are from Halifax and district.

Initiation Regalia Censored

The program drawn up by the Initiation Committee for the entertainment of newcomers to Dal was amended last week after a committee of members of the Senate had looked it over and decided that all was not as it should be. Accordingly, the faculty members present passed a few suggestions on to Vice President of the Council Bill Cox, who brought the matter up at the first meeting of the Council last Thursday.

The objections of the faculty apparently stemmed from no solicitude for the Frosh, but from a worthy desire to have the Initiations program interfere as little as possible with the first week of lectures, which they appeared to regard as more important.

The Council reviewed the suggestions accordingly, agreed that they were quite reasonable, and passed the matter on to Initiation Chairman Andy MacKay without making any ruling on the subject. Unable to pass the buck themselves, the Initiation committee reviewed the program and made concessions accordingly.

It will be remembered that last year the press and radio in the province somehow got hold of reports that the then Chairman of the Initiation Committee, Scott Morrison, was almost lynched by a group of outraged frosh, (which was absolutely false) and for this reason care is being taken this year to ensure less bloodthirsty reports being released to our anxious public.

WILL DESCRIBE TRIP TO EUROPE

"A truly great experience," said Jack MacCormick, post-grad student who recently returned, in company with Al Smith, another post-grad Dal student, from attending the International Student Service Seminar in Germany.

MacCormick and Smith toured most of Europe during their three month visit, and reported having an excellent time despite the food shortage over there.

While attending the Seminar at Schloss-Ploen in the British zone of Germany, they met students from almost every European country and discussed with them the many problems facing the post-war student and citizen.

A series of articles, with photos, by Jack MacCormick are to appear in the Gazette shortly.

"THE AXE"

A leading American weekly displays a great deal of concern over what it calls the "weeding-out" process in force in most of our Universities. Rather than teach their students how to study, it complains, the Universities merely expose them to a certain amount of learning. If, at prescribed intervals, the student has not absorbed enough to enable him to set down at least fifty percent of what an examination paper requires, he is dropped. In other words, students are nowadays expected to arrive at a University already equipped in method and approach to learning, requiring only the bare facts to make them persons of liberal education.

The glaring inadequacy of our system as compared to the tutorial method in force in most English Universities has received notice before this. Rather than teach, our Universities merely supply a place where knowledge is available to those who know what to do with it. Those who do not are out of luck.

TO THE FROSH

By way of welcome to the freshman class we might say that Initiation is not, as some think, simply an opportunity for last year's frosh to get some of their own back. It is, on the contrary, a carefully designed process which is expected to instill into the newcomers a class spirit of sorts, to make them feel at home, and to produce friendships among them which would otherwise take longer in developing.

STUDENT SOCIETIES

This also concerns the freshman class who have just become members of the undergraduate societies sponsored by the Council of Students. Membership in them entails a few duties as well as benefits; without the active support of the students they cannot carry on. Their achievements are the achievements of students, and their reputation outside the college reflects on every one of us. If we let them down we hurt no one but ourselves, since they exist only for our benefit.

Dal Students To Have Reserved Section For Home Games

The budget for bringing a McGill football team here to play Dal was passed last Thursday night at the first meeting of the Students' Council. The game will be played on Oct. 8th at the Wanderer's field if the weather is suitable for the McGill team to fly down for the game.

In passing the budget for the $1,560.85 needed to finance the venture, the Council expected that the game would pay for itself, and passed a resolution turning over the net profits, if any, to the University for the War Memorial fund.

John MacCormick, University Physical Director, emphasized the fact that if weather conditions are unsuitable the McGill men may be unable to fly here, in which case the game would have to be cancelled, as the schedule of the Halifax Senior Football League can only allow the field for that day for the game.

Seating Arrangements

After reviewing the unsatisfactory arrangements made last year for seating Dal student spectators in one section for home games, the Council decided that a substantial section of the bleachers would be set aside for Dal students, and that they would pay the general admission price for these, 50c. A reserved section would be arranged for the public, with tickets on sale in advance of the game at 75c each.

This will be the first time that a Dal Canadian football team has played a team from Central Canada.

Dartmouth Girl—

The Air Cadet Bugle Band of 118 Squadron of Dartmouth was lined up at the Dartmouth Ferry slip to head the triumphal march through town. To mark the close of the celebration, a mammoth reception was held at The Loft, popular dancing resort atop Silver's Hill overlooking Lake Banook.

There are people—I'm told some say there are heags—
Who speak of the talkative Samuel as Peeps;
And some so precise and pedantic their step is,
Who call the delightful old diarist Peeps;
But those I think right, and I follow their steps,
Ever mention the garrulous gossip as Peeps.

Sept. 29—Blessed be God, I have visited the college on the hill, and find myself in very good health, without any sense of the old pain, although it is registration time there and much crowded with new scholars and old. Things are not so changed during my long absence.

Did see the infamous Banjie Goodsneeze and noted him as churlish as ever. He was so bold as to attempt to enter the college for yet another year, and I am told by friends that he is no small wit of a scholar although he studies little.

Informed Dr. S. Dromedary of my intention to return to the school at which he looked mighty saddened. We did discourse for some time, he refusing my offer of a fine bottle of sack, which I immediately drank while he was out from the room.

Then home to bed, leaving the maid and my wife a-washing still.

Sept. 30—For these two or three days I have been much troubled with thoughts how to get money to pay them that I have borrowed money off, by reason of the high cost of ale.

Early I did meet the Quarter Master of My Lord's Troop, and a bailiff—a pox on him—who demanded I must pay all the money I have into my account at the shop on High Street of Beam Shoutgood, who doth tailor my suits.

Much plagued by debts, I to the newly-opened Sea Cow Inn where I did meet Milord Dunn-Fee. We stayed there till late and I home, swearing and singing as if I were mad. Did fall in a ditch near the Push-Bulge's office. My knee hurting, I fell to sleeping on the stone steps.

Oct. 1—Much talk of the scholars playing the new game of football against a group of nomads on the morrow. Damn fool game, I do think.

Suffering from mal-de-tete and a mighty pained knee, from last night's celebrations, I did present myself at Sour's for my breakfast. Found my credit not good, Thomas being a most distrustful tradesman. Betook myself to Bleacher's apothecary shop where I did have a physic.

I came home and to bed. Went to bed with my head not well by too much drinking these past two days, and I had a boil under my chin which troubled me cruelly.

Glee Club Plans "Macbeth"

For the first time within the memory of present students, the Dalhousie Glee and Dramatic Society is planning to enter the realm of Shakesperian tragedy. The initial attempt is to be "MacBeth", at once one of Shakespeare's most demanding yet rewarding plays.

During past years, the Glee Club has enjoyed great success with its Shakesperian productions, and President Frank Bursey is looking forward to even greater acclaim for his organization should the campus provide sufficient material for "MacBeth".

Readings for the play will be held in the near future, and all interested students are asked to attend.

ON THE CAMPUS: Arriving back at the start of a new term we find that the campus has undergone many changes during the summer. The old "Dust Bowl" has undergone a facelift and looks quite nice in a new coat of green, but rumor has it that the field will not be in use until 1950. We are still wondering when the university is going to build a fence around the field to keep the neighbourhood kids from playing ball on it and also to help increase the gate receipts.

Publicity Committee now hard at work trying to attract four thousand fans to the McGill game on October ninth. Since it is a charity game a good turnout should be expected. . . . The gym is now boasting a new basketball clock and a good paint job on the floor which will only last for a few dances. . . . Talking about dances, we deeply regret the loss of Don Warner to Toronto. Along with him are Frank Padmore and Ken Lough, his two key men. The grapevine says that he is going to start a new band and break into Toronto showbusiness. Good luck to you Don.

Halifax has extended a very welcome hand to Dalhousie students in the form of a new tavern in town. We hear that a large group from the Law school were among the first to patronize it on the opening day. . . . Joe's has undergone some very much needed repairs and enlargements and is now just as full as ever. . . . Frosh are going to have a much easier initiation this year due to some objections from the university, but they are still forced to wear the placards and a few other odds and ends. . . . Little Cupid has done his work during the summer and almost a dozen of the fellows tied the knot during the holidays.

MOSTLY ABOUT PEOPLE: Dal gals reported to have gone wild over American baseballers here this summer. . . . Many of last year's romances seem to have gone on the rocks during the summer. . . . Due to the lack of mail, maybe? . . .

As you may have heard this paper has now become a bi-weekly. Better news coverage should be coming along with it. . . .

Arrangements to be made with Norm Riley of Penthouse Party to interview some of Dal's frosh on the air. . . . Andy (Initiation) McKay and Bob (Munro Day) McDougall tell us that they are hatching some weird plans for the Freshie-Soph dance and the ensuing pranks. . . . Might prove interesting. . . . Recent arrivals on the campus are some Mt. A. fellows who want to play Canadian football. . . . Pretty big too. . . . Lew (Football) Miller recently in a play by the Atlantic Players which was well received.

NOTES ON THINGS: D. G. D. S. (Dalhousie Glee and Dramatic Society to Frosh) reported to be scouting around for a cast in their forthcoming production of Macbeth. . . . As usual the Gazette is still in need of reporters and typists so let's see some of you fellows down here. . . . Recent reports confirm the fact that there will be an Acadia trip even if it is only for a ping-pong team. Your reporter has it from a reliable source that the excursion will be on October 23rd. . . . The men working on the football field seem to do very little work until the foreman arrives in sight. Let's hope they finish the job before winter.

Employment Service Needs Operatives

The Dal Employment Service reported a very successful summer with a large number of Dal students employed in a variety of positions through its facilities. After the Council made a brief review of the summer's progress, it voted to continue the present manager, Orval Troy, in the position and expressed satisfaction with Mr. Troy's work.

Any Dal students who will require casual or temporary employment during the winter terms and have not already secured positions, should contact Bub Troy at the Employment Service, phone—.

P. C. Party To Be Represented

Dalhousie Progressive Conservatives will be represented at the National Convention of the party being held in Ottawa by A. W. Cox, President of the organization on campus. Mr. Cox is also a member of the Resolution Committee which meets previous to the full dress convention. On these committees he will have the additional status of Youth Delegate at Large from the district. Upon his return, at a date to be announced, Mr. Cox will make a full report on the proceedings to a meeting of the University group.

STUDENT SOCIETIES

The Students' Council

The Council is the top administrative student body on the Campus. It administers the students money, allocates it to the various societies and supervises its expenditure. Its committees supervise such matters as awards, Munro day and two free dances a year. It acts as a general go-between for the University and other student organizations. Its members are elected every year on a proportional system by faculties, except the President and Vice-President, who are elected from the whole student body. Present officers in these positions are Russ McKinney, Fourth year Commerce, President, and Bill Cox, Third year Law, Vice-President.

The D. A. A. C.

The Dalhousie Amateur Athletic Club conducts all men's athletics at Dal, and includes all male students in its membership. Its facilities are open to all students who have paid Council fees. It sponsors all University teams in outside leagues, and conducts interfaculty leagues in most sports. Facilities are provided for casual sports for all students. The President, elected from the whole student body, is Bob Knickle, Fourth year Commerce.

The Chess Club

The Chess Club is one of the latest clubs on the Campus but has had great success since its inception. Through it players can meet other players from Professors to Freshmen. It holds a number of competitions, and last year was visited by the Nova Scotia champion, who played a number of games against members.

The D. G. D. S.

The Dalhousie Glee and Dramatic Society, commonly known as the Glee Club, affords an outlet for the dramatic and musical talents of about two hundred students who take an active part in its productions every year. Usually there are at least three of these a year, which consist of a Shakesperian play in the first term, and a modern comedy and an operetta in the second term. All members of the student body are eligible to take part in these activities. President is Frank Bursey, Third year Commerce.

Sodales

Sodales is the oldest student organization on the Campus. It conducts all debating activity, sends teams to compete in outside debating leagues and manages an interfaculty league. It also sponsors a number of oratorical competitions. This year's President is Neil McKelvie, third year Law.

Gazette

The Gazette is published under the auspices of the Council twice a week during the year. The Editors are appointed annually by the Council and hold office for the publication year. The staff is composed of students interested in work of this sort, and all so interested are urged to contact the Editors if they would like to undertake any work.

Midlothian Society

A literary society for all women, which meets a number of times each term to discuss books. Meetings are held at Shirreff Hall.

Delta Gamma

Delta Gamma is a social club for all women students. Some of its better works include dances at Shirreff Hall, various sorts of entertainment for the members and the great Sadie Hawkins week every year, when the boys have a short rest and the girls take over.

The D. G. A. C.

The Dalhousie Girls' Athletic Club conducts all girls' athletics; it provides for women what the D. A. A. C. does for men. Facilities are provided for all sports and teams are entered under its auspices in outside leagues. Membership includes all women students. The Officers are elected annually by members; President is Franny Doane.

Pharos

Pharos, the Dalhousie Year Book is published at the end of the year; unlike most college year books, its subscription is included in the Council fee and every student is entitled to receive a copy. Last year's copies are still available to last year's students who did not receive one.

Directory

Others used to include a Freshman handbook for new students, containing information about the University. Most of this has been incorporated in the Student's Directory, which will appear this year in the middle of the first term.

The Campus Roundup

by Windy O'Neill

There has been much discussion amongst English Rugger enthusiasts (if they can be called enthusiasts) this fall, whether the old game will be played this year, and how much. For the past three years, it has had progressively less adherents, especially last year, when there was such an upsurge of Canadian Football. We are happy to say that there definitely will be an English Rugby League this season, consisting of three intermediate teams, Acadia, King's and Dal, the latter being Maritime champs. St. F.X. and Acadia will probably field senior teams.

It is to be hoped that this year will see the nadir of Rugger and the game won't completely die, as the trend seems to indicate. As this department has had the opportunity of attending many English Football meetings, we think that we are qualified to judge the reason for the rapid decline of the game, which we say were the executives and leaders of the various leagues. In this vein, we would like to describe, briefly, a fictional meeting which took place at the Broad-Room Hotel, Somewhere-in-Nova Scotia (in one of its broadest rooms). It is a sterling inn that changes the sheets every day — from one room to another. "You picks up your DDT, free, at the desk."

"We must stop this menace of Canadian football," said one delegate, hitting the cuspidor with a well-aimed shot which emitted a resounding clang, and rudely awakened the others.

"Right-Oh," shouted another, "let's speed up the game. How will we do it?"

"I'll phone John McCarthy," said another, rushing wildly out the door.

"I've got a letter from France here. Can anyone here read French?"

"John McCarthy wasn't home. Shall I cable England?"

"Bzzzzzzzzzz"

"Order, order!" said the Chairman.

"That reminds me," said another, "I'm hungry."

"Is there anything here that concerns us?" said a delegate from a revered old institution, angrily snapping his watch.

And on and on.

The above is purely a joke with a basis in fact but last year, when Acadia and Dal were tied for first place in the League, and their respective managers were wondering who was to carry on to the Nova Scotia finals, those in charge of the League were quite surprised when informed of the first place tie and told the two teams to figure it out for themselves.

We have dwelt at length on this matter in a purely constructive view because we hate to see the old game die. It is quite valuable for smaller institutions and house leagues.

The Frosh Initiation Committee were quite perturbed about some of the things which were cut out of the Initiation programme. The "coming-in" last year was deemed a great success, except for one thing,—it lasted too long. There is nothing to the dress or get-up that anyone could reasonably object to, although, it is said that there were some furious phone calls to the University authorities from some old ladies, many of whom had lived four-score summers (which is past three-score and ten and therefore un-Christian). Some of the things cut out: girls: skirts and blouses inside-out, black circle on face with red dot on nose; boys: pants inside out and rolled to knees with pyjamas underneath, black and yellow nail-polish on nails (Horrible!), black circle on face centered by a large red X.

There is no doubt that college Initiation can go beyond all bounds, which we all want to prevent, but the Initiation can be rendered futile and sterile, and also become ridiculous if it is too "soft". If it has not been rendered that way this year, it is just on the borderline.

A certain college in the U. S. requires all its Frosh to fish at least a quarter of an hour through the sewer in the midst of busy intersections (although they seldom catch anything of importance); A faculty of the U. of T. requires its neophytes to procure a watering can and liberally sprinkle the hydrants on a certain busy street (when anyone knows it requires vigorous scrubbing with soap and water to clean a hydrant). Oxford, which produces quite as many great men and scholars as some of our Canadian Universities, has a process of punishing miscreants called "de-bagging" which consists of divesting the chappie of his pantaloons in the college square and hanging them from the nearest flagpole. It is not too clear, but we understand that the changes were made by a committee consisting of ONE student and high University officials. This department feels that the Student Council should appoint an Initiation Committee headed by a SENIOR student which would make the rules of the Initiation and carry them out without censorship. After all, it is the students' affairs and when we reach University it is about time that we learned to think for ourselves and be responsible for our resultant actions—if not in University, when do we start?

NOTES: We wonder what the council is going to do about admitting the students to the Dal games at a cut-rate, apropos to the raise in fees? —The Dal line, which has been this year's question mark on the football team, was strengthened recently by the arrival of three gentlemen who are built like proverbial brick institutions.—it looks as though there won't be much action of the projected trip of the English Rugger team to Harvard. A little bit of effort by those concerned might bring about greater results.—The students are glad to welcome back John McCormick, our dynamo physical director. It is solely on his efforts that we are in possession of that magnificent time-clock in the gym, which was contributed by Players. There are only two others like it in Canada.

Tennis Tournament At U.N.B., October 7-8

Dalhousie will place her inter-collegiate tennis title on the block at U.N.B. on October 7th and 8th. The Dal team, which has held the crown for two years will be defending against U.N.B., Acadia and Mt. Allison. It is not yet known whether St. F.X. will enter the tourney. Each team will consist of four boys and four girls. All events will be run off, except for mixed doubles, which will be omitted. The meet will be a round robin affair, with the best two out of three in each event worth a single point.

It is hoped to commence try-outs on Saturday, definitely no later than Monday, since the team leaves for Fredericton on Wednesday. All boys wishing to enter should leave their entries at the physical director's office, girls at the office of the physical directress. Play will be on the Dal courts.

Tigers Meet Wanderers At Redland Tomorrow

Home Field Ready Next Fall

Despite the present inconvenience of not being able to defend themselves on home ground, the prospect of having one of the best playing fields in Eastern Canada, looms up into the future as a great asset for the Dal teams to come.

Constant plowing and blasting all summer long has finally resulted into what now seems to be a new land. The reconversion plan adopted by the senate last year, in order to turn that rock pile to the west of the gym into a suitable playing field, regardless of the potential loss of $15,000, seems to have been rewarded in the form of tiny blades of grass, sprouting clear across the field.

At present, the football team has to confine its practice to the Wanderers Grounds, over one half mile from the campus. Locker rooms have been secured there by the management to simplify the matter of transportation. Though suffice for now the teams will look forward towards the time when they again can practice on their own field and use their own locker rooms.

Though the resurfacing of the field has just been finished, the grass has already reached the cutting stage at one end. If everything goes according to Hoyle, the Tigers will be playing their home games on their own new field next fall.

Opening Tilt of Season Will Feature Many New Starters

A question is to be answered at Wanderer's Park, Saturday, Oct. 9, when Dalhousie Tigers, in their second year of competition, meet the highly-rated McGill Redmen in an exhibition contest of Canadian Football.

Naturally, the Big Red are expected to win. Not in who wins, but in the margin of victory, will the answer be found. If McGill win by a large margin, it will be no less than is expected by critics and skeptics of the Canadian game.

If they win by a small margin, Canadian football enthusiasts will have something to shout about.

If Dalhousie Tigers defeat the great Obeck machine, it will be an unexpected, and heartening victory.

In any event, when the game is over, fans will know just where the Canadian Football league in Halifax stands in comparison with Central and Western Canadian college teams.

The Dalhousie Council of Students have voted an amount of money in excess of $1,600 to cover the cost of bringing the McGill squad here by plane from Montreal. It is an experiment of no small merit, and will be watched eagerly by Dalhousie students and the general pigskin public.

A trifle optimistically, perhaps, the Council have gone on record as stating that all profits, if any, will be donated to the University War Memorial Fund.

Hoping to drum up interest in the game, the Council voted $100 for advertising, to be administered by publicity director Jack Boudreau.

McGill last week defeated the University of Ottawa, 37-0. Dalhousie will play Wanderers in their opening game this afternoon. Both teams are experienced, but the amount of experience leans heavily in favor of the Montreal squad.

The visiting team is expected to arrive in the city the day of the game by chartered plane, just two and one half hours before the game is scheduled to start.

After the game, a tea dance will be held in the Common Room of the Men's Residence, followed by a banquet for players of both teams, and league officials.

Sections of the stands at Wanderers have been reserved for Dal students, and for those McGill students who manage to get here for the contest. Because of the cost of bringing the Redmen here, general admission will be fifty cents for everyone, including Dalhousie students. Reserve seats, 325 of them, will be for sale at seventy-five cents.
