DALHOUSIE-KINGS TO SEND SIX DELEGATES

Choir Awarded Highest Praise

The Vienna Mozart Boys' Choir gave the first of a series of three concerts on Wednesday in the Gymnasium. Their beautifully rendered programme consisted of interestingly varied selections.

The first group was composed of four sacred numbers sung in Latin. Here the voices of the boys blended as though one, and the cadences rose and fell giving the effect of a soft organ. The entire group was rendered in the dignified and restrained style necessary to the music.

The second part was an operetta in costume—"Bastien and Bastienne." It was sung in German, but with sufficient English dialogue interspersed to make the story quite understandable to those who do not know the foreign tongue. The little "girls" were quite graceful and the three leading roles proved the actors' dramatic as well as musical ability.

After a short interval, the choir appeared for the last time in a collection of various folk-songs. They sang first, by special request "Still Nacht, Heilige Nacht", most beautiful of the evenings' renditions. Two rollicking Austrian folk-songs were outstanding. The boys, judging from their beaming faces, enjoyed singing these very much; a familiar Strauss waltz was their last and perhaps most popular number.

The "dead spots" for which the Gym is noted were not in evidence, no doubt due to the fact that the voices, although so delicate, were so correctly placed and the tones so pure that they resounded throughout the whole building.

The programme was of such an interesting and perfectly presented type as is rarely heard, and it is hoped that no Dalhousian has missed hearing something that he or she will long remember.

Dalhousie Wins

The Dalhousie team of Graham Murray, Dartmouth, and Harry Houser, Vancouver, were declared winners of the radio debate held on Monday evening with St. Mary's debating team composed of Frank Corcoran and Guy Renner. The debate arranged by Sodales was on the resolution "Resolved that Modern University Training is a Disappointment to Parents." The first speaker, Graham Murray, claimed that the modern university both socially and economically was not fulfilling the expectations of parents. They were finding, he said, that their sons and daughters were not furnished with any good luck charm when they proudly flourished a B. A. degree on applying for a position.

In opening the negative discussion Frank Corcoran stated that parents were expecting too much of their children, who were a disappointment not because of university training but because they had failed to take advantage of it. "Four years of properly directed mental training cannot be a disappointment", he said.

Continuing the debate for the affirmative, Harry Houser argued that universities realized that they were

Committee Names Representatives

- Six students were selected this week to represent Dalhousie-Kings at the National Conference of Students to be held from Dec. 27 to 31 in Winnipeg. The group was selected after applications had been received by the local committee and considered by four members of the committee, three organizers of commissions, who had not applied, and three professors. In selecting, the committee strove to have a representative distribution as to religion, faculty and year, also considering activity in the commissions. Every applicant presented excellent qualifications, making the task of the selection committee a very difficult one. The final decision was:
1. Anne Hirsch of Sydney; 2nd year law, high academic qualifications, co-chairman of the National Conference of Students Committee, and evident interest in commissions.
 2. Gene Morison; B. A., post-graduate student in Political Science, member of two commissions and chairman of Foreign Policy group.
 3. Ian MacKeigan; 3rd year Law, chairman of local committee, member of Round Table Group and prominent in campus life.
 4. J. C. Curry; M. A. (University of Ottawa), 1st year law and 1st year at Dalhousie, member of Control of Society group and Foreign Policy Commission.
 5. Reginald Stubbs; 1st year in public administration course, member of Foreign Policy Group, chosen to particularly represent the new students at Dalhousie.
 6. Roderick Smith (Kings); 4th year Science student. Member of "Student and Industry", high academic qualifications.

Dal Moot Court

The final pre-Christmas session of the Supreme Moot Court of Dalhousie met on Friday last, the star performers being Mr. McQuaid for the Appellant, Mr. MacLeod for the Respondents. Due to the eloquence and legal bombast of Mr. MacLeod, it was held to be perfectly permissible for two society girls to go slumming and accompany a gangster on his murderous rounds; Provided that they had the best of intentions.

The afternoon's entertainment was made complete, when one Mr. Evatt Merchant was brought before the third year class for contempt of court. Due to previous misdemeanors, said Mr. Merchant was to substitute for absent junior counsels throughout the Moot Court Session, but on the fatal afternoon failed to appear. Chisholm, C. J. fined said offender a cigarette for every member of the third year class.

turning out graduates who were disappointments, but in trying vainly to correct this condition they were making college courses even more impractical and more disappointing to parents. To confirm his statement he gave illustrations of the many new courses introduced into the universities of the United States.

Editor Addresses Dal Students

The final address arranged by the National Conference of Students, was given on Tuesday, at 12 o'clock in the Arts Building, when Edgar E. Kelley, Editor-in-Chief of The Halifax Mail, dealt with the subject "Social Legislation in Canada". Mr. Kelley, a member of the Citadel Club of Halifax, in the course of his address, outlined social legislation in effect in Canada, and social legislation which is desirable and the constitutional difficulties of obtaining such necessary reforms.

"The first charge upon the revenue of the country", he said, "should be the care of the people, who through misfortune, are unable to care for themselves."

Giving the most general social legislation in this province, he enumerated Workmen's Compensation, Mothers' Allowance, Minimum Wage Laws, but stated, "There is no uniformity; it is fragmentary and chaotic in the provinces."

At the present time machinery for the pensions for the blind is being set up, brought into effect through an amendment of The Old Age Pensions Act. This, Mr. Kelley pointed out, was of particular importance to the Maritimes, where there are more blind and old people, due to the fact that their disabilities had hindered them from moving to the West, as young people have done. With the province bearing twenty-five percent of the pension and the cost of administration, this means that the Maritimes have a particularly heavy tax.

In 1935, Mr. Kelley stated, the Dominion Government passed certain statutes which would have gone a long way towards improving social conditions. "Unfortunately," he said, "it developed that the Dominion Government had no constitutional authority to make such legislation. The case was submitted to the Supreme Court and finally to the Privy Council, with the result that the four statutes were wiped from the book. It was all thrown back on the provinces and it is this unsatisfactory condition which occupies the minds of men to-day."

"You students," he concluded, "discussing, studying, and seeking knowledge on such questions, have a duty to perform for society. There are new conditions and it is necessary to face them, but there are orderly constitutional ways to approach them. We, in this country, have lagged painfully in matters of social legislation, but I feel that the only sensible way to settle these matters is to place them into the sphere of the Federal Constitution, and then, and only then, will we get uniformity; in these matters."

Choose Debaters

Miss Lola Harris of Halifax, Miss Lily Hirsch of Sydney and Miss Pearl Levine of Inverness were chosen as Dalhousie Girls Debating Team to meet Acadia and Mount Allison in verbal combat at a date to be announced. The choice was made by Professor Gordon Cowan of the Dalhousie Law Court and Babbitt Parlee, President of Sodales, following trials held on Monday evening at Sherriff Hall, in the last meeting of the Society to be held before Christmas. Others who participated were Jacqueline Cahhan, Marion Moore, Barbara Schwartz, Jeanne Forbes, Marjorie MacIntosh, Willa Reid and Charlotte Sullivan. Subjects for debate were "Resolved that women should receive the same wages as men for services of equal value" and "Resolved that the divorce laws of Nova Scotia should be made more liberal." That women have to bear the brunt of an unjust society was conclusively shown in both cases. Anne Hirsch, presided.

Following the Debates the business meeting was conducted by the president, Irene Pentz. A report of the Delta Gamma Dance showed that it was most successful and that $59.25 had been sent as a contribution to the Community Chest. Barbara Schwartz '41, Jean MacDonald '40, Freda Cahan '39 and Margaret Schwartz '38 were appointed to the executive committee.

Council Meets

A meeting was held in the Forrest Building on Sunday Nov. 20 with President Day in the chair.

The position of Business Manager of the Year Book was under discussion. The motion was passed that the office be divided between a salesmanager and advertising manager to be jointly responsible to a committee of three, Murphy, Egan and Lipton. Applications were to be called for.

Hurst and MacKeigan petitioned on behalf of the committee on the National Conference of Students, for a grant of $200 to help pay the expenses of the six delegates being sent to Winnipeg. In view of the large number of students actively interested in preparing for the coming conference the Council felt justified in granting the money. After Christmas, however, the Council with the help of the committee plan to put before the student body a means of making up this extra expense.

The student Forum to be called this week for a ratification of a change to the constitution was to be postponed till 12 noon Thursday, December 2.

THE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Congratulations are due to the Dalhousie orchestra for their masterly performance last Wednesday night at the Freshman Glee Club Show, and to David Lloyd for his excellent directing.

It has been some time since Dalhousie has had a really efficient orchestra. Attempts have been made before to bring back the interest of previous years, but not for some time has such a fine beginning been made. It would indeed be a shame if such an effort on the part of the creators were to die through our customary Dalhousie lethargy. This year has seen a revival of musical interest among our students, an interest which should prove both instructive and enjoyable to them. The re-creation of the orchestra has come side by side with the creation of the Choral Society. These two groups can do a lot for Glee Club, and for the pleasure of the student body as a whole. Everyone enjoys a good musical program, and these societies can, and are trying to give it to us.

But, although the orchestra deserves all the credit we can give it, it deserves something more as well. That is the support every man and woman at Dalhousie. There is talent on our campus that has never yet made an appearance. The orchestra is good for a beginning but in its present shape and small size, should be only a beginning. It needs more instruments of every kind, more interest from every student, and many more opportunities of appearing before the student body. Let us all stop talking of the fine orchestra Dalhousie used to have years ago, and talk of the fine orchestra she is going to have this year.

STOP THE THIEVING.

It is necessary but unpleasant that the subject of thievery in the Dalhousie Gymnasium be brought before the students of our campus. Losses of large sums of money have been reported. We had the same trouble last year, particularly among the girls, when clothing as well as money was taken, but then we blamed it on "outsiders"—and let the matter drop! Surely in our own gymnasium we should be able to leave belongings in the locker rooms and come back to find them still there. Any true Dalhousian should be ashamed to admit that this is impossible. Yet nothing is done about it. Are we going to stand by and let it continue as before? The question is, what can be done? An investigation into the subject might be of some help, and at least it would be a start towards clearing up the matter. It might end with the investigation and, even if it did not, at any rate, every student would have been made to realize the seriousness of this problem. The thieves, whoever they are, must feel pretty safe in stealing. They must feel that they are able to get away with it, or else they would not try. If public opinion were strong enough perhaps they would not feel so safe—perhaps this is the cure. So it is our duty to do something—at least it should be brought before the Student's Council, since it is one of the more serious problems confronting us. Let's see what can be done about it!

BENEFICIAL SPENDING

It was with some surprise, but a great deal of pleasure, that we heard that the Students' Council had voted a grant of two hundred dollars to help send six Dalhousie students to the National Conference of University Students at Winnipeg this Christmas. In our opinion there is no purpose for which the students' money could be used more advantageously than this. Dalhousie has, in the past, been all too slow in taking part in any interest not purely local.

The money was given on the condition that the committee try to repay it, or as much of it as possible, next term. Before the Council agreed to make the grant, the committee discussed various methods of raising the necessary amount. Many of the students seemed interested, and several promised to help the committee in whatever they undertook. We hope the students will not lose their enthusiasm before next term, and, when the time comes for the Council to be repaid, that they will give their full support in whatever money-making schemes the committee may plan.

It has been a long time since the university as a whole has shown such interest in anything as it has in the various commissions. The committees are to be congratulated on their work; the national committee on its organization and widespread choice of subjects for discussion, and the local committee for the way they brought the commissions to the notice of every student and tried to see that each was informed of the meeting in which he would probably be most interested.

Reunion

by
JOAN BLACKWOOD

The deceased was a prominent citizen of— Yes, there it was in black and white. Mary Wilson's eyes filled with sudden tears as she re-read the stark newspaper notice of the death of Carl Graham. Carl, whom she had loved, and who had loved her forty years ago.

As she put on her hat to go out, Mary viewed herself abstractedly in the mirror. She smiled ruefully at her reflection—faded, grey, a little shabby. Gone the flaming hair, gone the youthful grace, gone the sparkle that had been hers when Carl had loved her. Only her golden-brown, beautiful eyes and her still clear, soft skin remained to her. How she had changed in forty years! Perhaps Carl wouldn't even have known her if he had seen her, after all those years apart.

It was so silly, Mary reflected. She couldn't even remember what had been the cause of their quarrel; yet something so slight had changed both their lives. Carl had come back before she had finished sulking, and she had refused to see him. He went away for a short time, and in her anger and desire to hurt him, she had thoughtlessly married faithful Tom Wilson, who had loved her for years without hope.

Carl had come back again, to find Mary married. He had said simply, "There'll never be anyone for me but you, Mary," and left. Since that time she had never seen him. She had been a good wife to Tom, and had even been moderately happy; but life with Tom was not the gay adventure it would have been with Carl. But now Tom had been dead for three years. Their one child had died in infancy, so Mary was now entirely alone. So alone, she thought, now that Carl wasn't even in the same world with her.

Nobody noticed the shabby, grey, little old lady as she walked along the busy street absorbed in her thoughts. Jostled by the crowd she moved almost unseeing. Suddenly, something made Mary raise her head and look across the street. There, holding out his arms to her, was Carl—young, and strong, and magnificent, as she had last seen him; but he was no longer sad. Unhesitatingly, she stepped down from the curb, and started across the street thronged with traffic. "Look out! My God, the truck—" "She doesn't see it! Look—" A harsh scream of brakes, then, "Stand back—give her air!" "Is she—" "Yes, she's dead." They stood around, this morbid city crowd, staring at the limp figure of the old lady. Then, silently, one by one, the men in the crowd doffed their hats; for the ordinary face of Mary Wilson was transfigured by a look of ineffable happiness into unearthly beauty.

Unseen by the crowd, a dark, handsome man and a russet-haired girl, dressed in the fashion of a bygone era, moved slowly away. They spared not a glance for the shabby little figure even then being lifted into an ambulance. The city faded behind them, as, hand in hand, they walked into the radiance ahead.

Midlothians Meet

One of the lesser known clubs on the campus is Midlothian. The name Midlothian was chosen since it is a well known Scottish county favoured by Sir Walter Scott and containing his beloved Edinburgh. It is purely a literary society for the girls of Dalhousie. Membership is limited to fourteen, and members are chosen by the club for their claims to literary ability and achievement. The society meets once a week at 4.30 at Sherriff Hall, where tea is served before the business of the meeting. Each week a paper and brief book review is given on an outstanding author or poet followed by open discussion. So far this term, papers have been given of W. H. Hudson, Stevens, H. D. Lawrence and Browning. The purpose of the society is to unite a group of girls who are really interested in literature, to further their knowledge of important literary figures, and to keep them in touch with modern publications. There is a guest speaker at the end of each term and the club is entertained by Miss MacKeen, who is the Honorary President. The Committee consists of President Joe Cox and Chairman Marjorie Maclean.

A Column

Having always had a smouldering (it wasn't flaming) desire to do a newspaper column, I seize with eager clutching fingers this opportunity (Girl's edition) to jot down some of the wonderings of my periodically lucid mind. (N. B. Definition of a column) As I glance over the brilliant penetrating and witty efforts of the regular staff who fill up this paper every week, I begin to have qualms. (Question—What is a qualm?) I have neither the keen critical perception of "Obiter", the keen wit of the "Co-ed", the exuberant ebullience (whew) of "I Can Be Wrong," nor the fine powers of observation possessed by the writer of "Fantasy, Fancy and Fact." In fact, I blush to admit it, I never realized there was a weather-vane on King's College.

I haven't stated one fact of any importance yet, but, unless my eyes deceive me or the editor does me dirty, I am hereby developing a perfect specimen of the rambling type of column. Do I hear loud cheers of acclaim and approval? Oh, I don't!

For the information and edification of you all I shall present herewith a sample interview with a sample student of this university.

Ques.—"What do you think of the plan for a Students' Union Building?"

Ans.—"A what? Never heard of it. Any dances?"

Ques.—"What did you think of the football team?"

Ans.—"Terrible, lousy, why those mugs—"

Ques.—(Interrupting) "How many games did you see?"

Ans.—"Who me? Oh, I didn't get a chance to get to any games this year somehow."

Ques.—"Any comment on the Glee Club?"

Ans.—"That bunch doesn't know what it's all about. Why it's run so badly that—"

Ques.—"Have you ever offered to do any work for the Glee Club?"

Ans.—"Hell, no, but—"

Ques.—"Well, then, what do you think of the Gazette?"

Ans.—"It's dead, dead I tell you. Same stuff, same writers, week in, week out."

Ques.—"Have you ever sent in a contribution?"

Ans.—"Oh! I haven't time for that stuff."

And so on, ad infinitum. That, fellow students, is in our (editorially speaking) opinion "What is wrong with Dalhousie."

Enough said. Did I write a column, or didn't I? Well, you needn't be so unanimous about it.

Women's Position In Universities

Varying in present importance, but growing with extraordinary rapidity, is the position of women in the Universities of India, England, France, Holland, Austria and Denmark, according to the February issue of the international Student Service Bulletin. Salient facts developed in the six articles point to the increasing significance of women in the academic and educational lives of these countries.

The importance of women in Indian universities in diminishing caste-consciousness and in aiding women to take their part during this great period of national transition, is brought out clearly. In England, the position of women in the universities is far more secure in the newer institutions than in the ancient schools of Oxford and Cambridge, where the restrictions, both social and academic, are great. Reluctance has been shown to giving graduates teaching positions of importance. The proportion of women to men in English universities ranges from one-twelfth at Cambridge to four-ninths at London University. Oxford has some 720 women, 4,150 men.

In France, on the other hand, approximately one-third the students receiving university degrees from one faculty or another were women. "The woman graduate can become a lawyer (but not a judge), a pastor (but only in the Lutheran church), or an attache in the diplomatic service (but not in a post abroad.) As engineer or doctor she holds a position of absolute equality with her masculine colleagues."—(The Gateway, University of Alberta).

Advice To Co-eds You Can Take It

To-day a great deal of stress is laid upon the importance of modern youth. Their views are consulted upon all subjects and their opinions are quoted wholesale throughout the world. It is interesting to note, then, the relationships which exist between the two sexes of this youth, and a college is perhaps the best place to study them. One important feature is the social relationship established between them and it is of general interest to us to know what the men consider essential in a modern girl. At first our Dalhousians seemed very loath to say anything, but finally unbent enough to give us some pointers which we hope will be of use to the Cleopatras of our Campus! About 75% agreed that Personality came first. Personality in itself is a complex term to define, but boils down to mean, in masculine terms, a distinct individuality, a good amount of intelligence, a sense of humor, coupled with as much charm as possible. Next in line is appearance, and as one youth brightly said, "Good looks by all means, provided God gave them!" It appears that our heroes have a distinct aversion to a large amount of makeup, since they want to take out a girl and not a cosmetic counter. There was no decided leaning towards either blonds or brunettes, but all said they liked smartness, neatness and good-grooming. At this point, there were loud cries against overdressing or starting styles. Nail polish is permissible so long as it is not of a violent shade, but is definitely out of place in a lab. Figure is important, but not excessively so, as long as a girl is well proportioned. We discovered that their pet aversion is rolled stockings, and they simply cannot abide the great American gesture. And what, they chorused, is more unattractive than seeing a girl smoking a cigarette stained with lipstick?

It seems that a line is more-or-less passe, but we've noticed that they lap it up all the same. The general decision was that "naturalness" was desirable, but agreed that they liked a slight veneer of sophistication. A girl should be willing to contribute her share to the conversation and not leave everything up to the poor male; she should also be ready and agreeable to suggestions for amusement other than shows and dances. Smugness, cattiness and persistent giggling will damage any masculine regard, and no girl should ever show she considers her escort as a legitimate "scalp" for the matrimonial market! A girl should be a good friend and a pleasant companion besides being a mere date.

Our escorts like us to be on time and not keep them waiting only to be showered with an assortment of lipsticks, compacts and combs, if going to a dance. They dislike loudness, but that does not mean they prefer us lifeless. We must be good listeners as well, in the quieter moments of life. Despite the return to femininity, they like us to be proficient at one sport at least. Dancing of course plays an important part, since a girl must be able to follow anyone anywhere, but, may we add, with as much dignity as possible. (Truckin' was not mentioned) A girl should possess as well, as much poise as possible. In summing up, we find the essentials are—a definite personality, a pleasing appearance, ability in sport and dancing, and above all, an interest in other things than dancing and gossip. We can only hope that we measure up to this high standard, but in any case we can't resist passing on this pithy saying culled from the McMaster silhouette "Women must be beautiful and dumb, beautiful so the men can stand them and dumb so they can stand the men"

Who Will Do It?

No more silk stockings for the girls of a certain college is the latest report from the U. S. A. Why? Because the students are protesting against the China-Japanese War and feel that we should not buy silk from Japan. In several of the colleges the girls are taking a firm stand and are all appearing in cotton or wool stockings. In others, where feeling is not so strong, the boys are helping out by refusing to date any girl who persists in her use of silk stockings. It might help the Chinese situation and it would certainly be easier on the pocket book. Who will start the ball rolling?

Girls—who appreciate consideration, above all other male virtues, see S. W. Ross for perfect example. His concern extends even to the parking of the family conveyance, hence the firm admonition to brother Tag to be sure to "park on a hill!" But, alas! Tag's evil intent, when disclosed, revealed merely an innocent desire to drive to the Junior hop.

"Tech" certainly brings out the innate geniality of a person, 'cause we saw Stevie at the party feeling oh! so jolly. 'Twas not thus in the old Dal days, Stevie!

What has "Florie of the Follies" got that we co-eds haven't? "It's plain to be seen," says "Stage-Door" McCurdy. Why Davie!

Fraser and Bobby went to the Follies, For the autographs of the cute little dollies; Tho' a signature's such a simple thing, 'Twas 5 a. m. when they staggered in!

For the benefit of those shy, retiring individuals who find it difficult to express their emotion in words suitable to the occasion, why not take Forrest's newest and most modern class—"Technique by Telephone?" The lectures, we hear, are a joy to the ear, and the blond instructor, Howell, delivers them oh, so well, my dears!

Were Kipling and Tennyson existing at present, we should point to the inmates of King's and the Pine Hillers as inspirations for "Gunga Din" and "Water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink!"

See McKnight and Walters regarding latest bedtime creations for canine possessions. Finished animal guaranteed quite suitable and—er, rather preferable for room-mate.

Highlights of the Junior party— "Fickle Sven!" (How's that for a tongue twister?)

Mitchell sitting down very fast, as does not become his dignity—or had you any on Saturday night, Hazen?

Dr. Bell doing a remarkably kitenish truckin' act. We think he and Prof. Bennet should trek over to Harlem pronto!

Everyone being extremely, ultra-hilarious; ante-exam fever, no doubt!

And despite the efforts of Arnell and Hart, those anti-junior partyists, everyone had a roaring time. You should remember, boys, just the favored few can attend Sig parties, whilst the proletariat are forced to seek their simple pleasures elsewhere!

THE IDEAL CO-ED

The ideal co-ed is a thing of books
A creature of brain entirely;
With stooping shoulders and studious looks,
She digs all day and half the night;
People say she is wonderous bright,
But her figure's an awful sight!
Her thoughts are deep in the classic past,
She only thinks of A. B. at last.
She has fled this world and its masculine charms
And a refuge found in Minerva's arms.

Now, this kind of co-ed that I describe,
Is a co-ed seen very rarely;
The real co-ed's a thing of grace,
With dainty figure and winsome face;
She 'trucks' and 'necks' and cuts,
'Mon Dieu!

But every professor lets her through,
For her each year is a round of joy.
A. B. means nothing if not A Boy.
And you and I must yield to her charms
And take the place of Minerva's arms.

It is interesting to note:

That too much education is spoiling the youth of Canada. A primary education is sufficient for about 70% of our entire population, because the great majority of our citizens are working people. Going to the expense of giving or hoping to give the majority of our youth a higher education is a great mistake. All or most of their education has been a waste of time and money. Teach them to follow, not to lead.

Either we are the favoured 30% or else the author is suffering from a bad case of sour grapes.

That if you're a man without a wife you are:

- 40 percent more likely to die before 65
- 9 times more susceptible to mental disease
- 100 percent more liable to fatal accidents.

Our New Coach

"TO OUR COACH"

We are very fortunate in having Miss Anne MacLean with us this year. It is the one thing Dalhousie girls have needed, a coach for girls sport. Her presence has brought a strong spirit into the D. G. A. C., together with its officers which has been lacking in Dal in latter years. Three cheers!

Her enthusiastic spirit has been evident from the very first, even from her meeting with the freshettes in the Chemistry Theatre at the commencement of the term.

We shall start with badminton. Anyone going into the gym in the afternoons so far during this term, has seen numerous freshettes, and upperclassmen too, playing badminton with Miss MacLean. Even now a beginners tournament is in progress.

As for Basketball, we just can't say for sure. But this year we know that something will happen. Things at present look very promising. We have had a good attendance at practises, but time will tell.

We heard that there is to be a swimming meet sometime in the new year. And Dal shall be well represented. The cup in competition has been standing in a prominent place at Sherriff Hall a few times. Last year, due to the examinations coming at the same time, we did not enter a team. But just wait until we send one down this year.

Tumbling classes expect to be started after Christmas vacation. We have had a long list of names signed up for it. Miss MacLean expects to have the classes on Tuesday night if possible.

Everything is progressing very well. Anyone can see that girls sports are certainly picking up, thanks to Miss MacLean, Irene Pentz and Margaret Hall for their efforts in starting things this year.

East side, west side, all around the town—you'll notice a certain look of approbation come your way when you're outfitted in the suit the young fellow in the picture wears so well. It's a Young Man's Double-Breasted Drape Sack. It has three buttons (two to button) with fullness across the chest as shown. The beauty of this style is that it merges so perfectly with any fabric, colour and pattern as to allow every man full scope for his own ideas. While it won't perform any romantic miracles—it may start something. Who knows?

Can I Be Right?

Yes. We dislike people who are always wrong.

"They saw little houses running around the field." We see large monuments of legs, which should be covered, running around—so much for sweat pants.

What about the generous offer of the D. A. A. C. in allowing the girls to stay at their meeting—where's the spirit of cooperation of various organizations on this campus? For once, "Can I Be Wrong?" was right.

"To be or not to be?"—Girls' Ice Hockey. Do you or don't you approve? What is everybody's opinion? We want to know!!!!!! The material is good. Can we get the support?????? Something new!!!!!! How to spend a quiet (?) Sunday afternoon—ping-pong at Shirreff Hall.

Wrestling matches are now common at the Hall. Maybe we can do something about it—

What's the matter with the men? Ice Hockey Practices are not being well attended. Come on lads, show some spirit!!!!!!

What's wrong with the "Bulletin"? How come the Badminton Tournament last Friday evening was not published? Maybe it wasn't important enough. We don't think so—please remember next time.

We want to know if Ken is in love? Will the hockey team have "Beer" this year?

Kent Irwin wants to know what became of "Sally."

Just remember "I can be right."

Sextette Seeks Game With Boys

It is many years since the Tigresses were to be seen skimming up and down the ice, but this year, enthusiasm is high, and the girls are really getting organized.

We understand that the girls at Mount St. Vincent plan on having a team, and we hope to be able to arrange a game or two with them, and also with Mount A.

Already sixteen girls have signed up, and we expect more. Many of the sixteen have played before, and those who haven't, make up in enthusiasm what they lack in experience. "Link" Linkletter will undoubtedly be the star of the combine, as she played for some years with the famous "Crystal Sisters" and went with them to Montreal, where she played against the "Maroons" and the Preston "Rivulettes." Another player from the Island is Dot Bentley, who played with the Prince of Wales team, and with the "Abbie Sisters."

From Newfoundland we have the trio of Marg Robertson, Marjorie Wood and Betty Sandall, all of whom played with the Memorials. St. Stephen sends us Carlie Sullivan, who has played in New Brunswick and in Maine.

There is good material here at Dal and we hope to get a lot out of a Ladies' Team. Maybe we'll even take on the boys, if they will play under the very special rules which are used when a girl's team plays the men.

"What do the three balls in front of a pawnshop mean?"
"Two to one you don't get it back."

Racqueteers Meet

On Friday, November 26, Dalhousie will play a friendly game with Halifax Badminton Club. Matches will start at 8.00. Members are requested to be on time.

Women's Doubles—M. Batt and M. Remillard, A. MacLean and P. Miller, A. Longard and G. Longard, J. Anderson and Z. Linkletter, I. Freestone and M. Hall, D. Dennis and P. Patterson.

Mixed Doubles—Dr. Dobson and Miss M. Kerr, R. Evans and Miss P. Miller, Dr. N. B. Dreyer and Miss B. Smith, D. Day and Miss I. Freestone, R. Murphy and Miss M. Hall, C. Keddy and partner. The above team has been picked from the student alumni-faculty. Refreshments will be served.

Basketball

The basketball season is really not in full swing yet, although, practices started about three weeks earlier this year, than last. Miss MacLean being our new coach. We have several of last year's team on hand again, Irene Pentz, Joan Anderson, Margaret Hall, Zilpha Linkletter, Florence Armstrong. This year we are in need of guards. The new material looks promising. Among the new players which are outstanding at the present are, Charlotte Sullivan, Joan Blackwood, Peggy Graham, "Pat" Patterson, Phyllis Hendry and Rita Harrison.

A beginners' class is held once a week, and anyone who would like to play will be welcomed. The league games with Mount Allison, and Acadia will start in February.

The fourth speaker, Guy Renner, stated that university training is not a disappointment to parents as evidenced by the fact that: Universities are filled to capacity; they are steadily on the increase and men of means are continually endowing them. The university, he claimed, is not responsible for the parents' disappointment, but it is the son who fails to absorb the high ideals that are placed before him.

Judges for the debate were Dr. W. D. Forrest, R. F. Yeoman and H. R. Shinner. J. Bryce Milner of the Sodales executive was the chairman.

Dal Badminton

The Badminton season is well underway, with good attendance daily in the Gym. Miss MacLean is there every afternoon to coach the girls and we would like to see more of them take advantage of this opportunity.

On Friday evening, Nov. 19th, one of the regular Student v. Faculty & Alumni matches was played off. Although it was successful in many respects, we would like to point out to the students the importance of showing up on time to play their matches. Once the team has been posted, it should be the duty of those who are unable to attend to notify the committee. The purpose of these matches is known to most of us, but for those who do not know, the ultimate result is the team which is chosen to play for Dal in the McCurdy Cup Matches.

The girls Badminton got well underway last week with a very successful tournament which was run off in record time on Thursday, Nov. 18th. Phyllis Hendry and Ester Dauphinee coming out on top. Many thanks to Miss McLean for the way in which she conducted the tournament. The success of their first venture calls for more such tournaments. There will be an American Tournament run off before Xmas, and plans are being made to run off a complete series after Xmas. Keep up the good work girls.

The Gazette Platform 1936-37

Last year The Dalhousie Gazette issued a platform for 1937. It made a list of projects which it thought could and should be looked into. A few of these have been accomplished or are being accomplished. We would like to reprint this, hoping that YOU will get behind and push too.

1. Some form of letter banquet to honour letter-winners at the end of the year.
2. Let the Malcolm Honour Award be presented to only the most outstanding student graduate or graduates, avoiding any indiscriminate hand-out as in past years.
3. Thorough investigation of the possibilities of a Students Union Building.
4. Abolition of the positions of business managers of the Gazette, Year Book, Students Directory and the substitution thereof of an advertising board of two or three students under the supervision of the permanent secretary treasurer of the Council.
5. A skating rink on the campus, weather permitting.
6. Improvement of lighting and ventilation in the three main student libraries—the MacDonald, the Law, and the Medical.
7. Improved methods of advertising the excellent educational facilities at Dalhousie—establishment of vigorous alumni organizations and possible appointment of publicity manager by the University.
8. Abolition of the present system of making students write three examinations on one day, and improvement of conditions for writing—silence, steady tables, ventilation.
9. Reduced street car fare for university students.
10. More organized Council of the Students activities—Dal skating nights, theatre nights, gym dances.
11. Student forums.
12. Re organization of the gymnasium scheme—appointment of a paid coach capable of supervising the major sports.
13. Making the President of the D. A. A. C., Glee Club, Delta Gamma, and the Editors of the Gazette members ex officio of the Council of Students.
14. Two dollar Year Book fee included in Five Dollar Library Fee.
15. Central Dining Hall for students.

WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED FOR THE STUDENTS OR IS BEING ACCOMPLISHED:

1. Establishment of a vigorous Arts and Science Society.
2. Revision and publication of all student societies constitutions.
3. Establishment with alumni and faculty co operation of an employment bureau for students.
4. Organization of a college band.
5. More friendly relations with other colleges—entertainment of visiting teams, etc.
