NFCUS BECOMES

French Canada Still In

Report on the annual NFCUS Congress held last week in Edmonton, sponsored by the NFCUS Committee of the University of Alberta.

By GEORGE COOPER

The Congress was attended by representatives from some forty universities, 13 located in the Maritimes, and from two other Universities (University of Saskatchewan, Regina Branch, and Eastern Ontario Institution of Technology), which were admitted, bringing the total membership to 42. Representatives for Dalhousie were Eric Hillis, NFCUS chairman Gail Young, and Council President, George Cooper.

MEETING VITAL

In the words of national president, Dave Jenkins this was the most important meeting ever held. The main reason for this is that the Federation was faced with the very real possibility of a complete and permanent split, sparked by the French Canadian members, and concurred in by some of the other Universities, notably the University of British Columbia, who felt that, if the French left, the Federation would be in no sense a national one, and therefore not worth belonging to. Some other Universities, particularly Memorial of Newfoundland, were seriously considering leaving the Federation for the same old reason - "what are we getting out of NFCUS?" In our view, all these problems were solved to nearly everyone's complete satisfaction so that the Federation was not only saved, but it is now on a stronger footing than it has been for a very long time.

FRENCH PROBLEMS

The threat from French Canadian Universities to leave the Federation has arisen primarily from their desire to band together for the purposes of promoting the interests of French Canadian students, particularly on the provincial level. Because this desire has its roots in the complex "revolution" taking place in Quebec today, I will not delve too deeply into it, except to say that the French Canadian Universities (including over 70 of Quebec's Classical Colleges, not yet members of NFCUS) are going to join together whether anyone likes it or not. The question the Congress had to face this past week was whether this union would occur within the Federation or outside it.

NEW CONSTITUTION

After many weeks of hard work, the NFCUS Executive presented to the Congress a motion which would recognize that the members of the French ethnic cultural group had been heretofore inadequately represented in NFCUS, and would set up a new organizational structure for the Federation.

COOPER REPORT ON NFCUS

NFCUS is to be run by a Board of Directors, three elected from a caucus of the English "Cultrual Group" and three from the French; each group would also elect a Vice-President, and over all would be a President elected by the Congress at large.

again face to face with the problem of student housing in Halifax.

It is a big problem. And of all the cities of this country, Halifax, more than any other, seems to be a perfect situation for the organization of student co-operation.

Co-ops are old and honorable institutions in Toronto, and I am sure, elsewhere. They are completely separate from the university, are student organized and managed, are (and this is best of all) cheap, and they offer great opportunities for fellowship, fun, and house-with the outlook of the students.

they are co-educational. For another they are local, and year by year organizations, with no fees or obligations to an international organization. Perhaps, too, who knows, there would be less prejudice. That would depend entirely upon those who took part.

Co-ops are designed for the student, not for his parents, nor for his professors, but this does not mean that it should become a home for goof-offs. Ideally they would provide good living and study conditions for members, good training in what we might call "group therapy housekeeping" for it would be up to each member to provide help in one form or another as well as small rent.

Furthermore, male and female students living together in one house would probably be good for all parties concerned. I am sure there are many students today who feel that they are old enough to choose their way of living, and mature enough to live in what they consider a proper and moral way.

Why then do they not exist? Is the Dalhousie student too lazy, or too apathetic to see and grasp the great opportunities for college living offered by the co-ops?

Houses, especially unfurnished ones, are quite inexpensive in Halffax. The savings to be made by buying food for a fairly large group are not to be overlooked.

The inexpensive furniture can be purchased at auctions and at the various junk shops which permeate Halifax. The fact that the housie Gazette" of your interview education than Basutoland. "Africans are given a much greater chance to better themselves in Basutoland than they are in the Rupublic of South Africa". This is the opinion of Peter Pitso, a student from Basutoland, who is studying on a scholarship for an honors Classic degree at Kings College.

Mr. Pitso is well qualified to speak on the subject. Many of you will recognize the above mentioned courses. They form a cross section of undergraduate courses available to Dalhousie. They have one important thing in common this year: There are NOT sufficient new textbooks available.

This year as in the past we find reason to question the operation of our Dalhousie "book store," fondly known as the book store with-

In a rapidly expanding student community we find a quaint eighteenth century business operation in our midst, staffed by vivacious Dal females saying: "If it's not on the table it's sold out," then the ten days to two weeks notice.

In last week's editorial columns we exhorted freshmen to start the school year by immdiately starting the academic schedules. This, of course, is what we all should be doing. There are great difficulfirst four questions at the end of Section I in the text unless you been reading Gazette for the last generations. happen to have the book.

The Dalhousie school year is shorter than most; it is essential that studies move into the full swing during the first week of the schedule. It is inconceivable that there should be obstacles thrown in the student path by the lack of planning this early in the school

What happened? There are three possibilities:

- 1. The professors did not place large enough orders;
- 2. The book store did not see fit to order the number of texts requested by the professors;
 - 3. The publishers sent incomplete shipments.

If either of the first two reasons are true, the students of this university have been done a gross injustice.

We are of the opinion that the book store is here for one single solitary reason—to serve the students. The very least service it can offer is to have a sufficient text book supply for the opening of Better too many than not enough.

We are all anxiously awaiting the new student union building and it is farces such as our bookstore that make this building a necessity in the immediate future. How can a store which purports to serve us be closed lunch hour when this is one of the more convenient times for students to make purchases?

We would like to ask our student council what is being done and what can be done about this situation. Each student should take up the responsibility and speak to his student council representative. Through the full pressure of our student body, we can force the necessary changes.

A letter that appears on these pages holds another solution. Maybe we need to turn to our parents to help us with our problems. Are we children or can we handle our own problems? We have the right to demand better service. This paper will provide all the necessary publicity for any campaign to change our present book-store service. May we offer two suggestions: a student council operation, or an administration effort.

Dear Sir:

I note with morbid interest that with classes well underway a good many students will again this year be without the books they need to follow their courses. I can predict that sooner or later there will be rousing editorial in Gazette about this disgrace, a flutter of letters to the editor, and the matter will be forgotten until next year rolls around and we can look for a repetition of the whole mess.

This interests me. We assume that when young men and women enter college they should have reached a degree of maturity where they can look after their own basic needs, - and surely six years, the student body still accepts this initial handicap imposed on them without taking any smoke in public, and drive cars. effective action, then its time we formed a Home and School Assoc- gone much further than that. iation at university level and moved in to take over. And besides, if it weren't for the canteen, where could one survey the new crop of freshettes?

At lunchtime on the first few days of classes, the canteen closely resembles an oriental slave market.

The freshettes, accompanied by the experienced veterans, are decked out in their finest. Many are smoking their first cigarettes (a little to the right, dear). The show is usually well worth the ordeal of drinking tasteless coffee.

In the afternoon, the somewhat more knowledgeable habitues take over. Their method is somewhat more refined:

You stroll in casually and order coffee.

And then comes the moment of truth.

As you turn around and head for the tables, you must immediately find someone with whom to sit. Delay at this point a moment's hesitation - and it is clear that you don't know the right people.

Even if there is no-one with whom you can sit, the operation can be skillfully faked. But this requires finesse.

The ideal cover-up is to proceed quickly to the back of the room, sit down with your coffee, and read the newspaper. Try to give the impression that you are waiting for someone, that you are really not alone.

Only those with presence of mind and considerable experience should attempt this ritual.

If you are a freshman - practice.

If you are a sophomore - pray.

If you are a law student - dress well.

NEW REGIONS

The proposal of the executive was modified somewhat — primarily as to phrasiology — by representatives from English and French Quebec, and from Ontar-io, the west and the Atlantic regions. The modified solution was presented to the Congress by Mcgill and Montreal late Tuesday night and was passed unanimously.

We voted in favour of the proposal for a number of reasons. First, we believe that the structure of NFCUS was weak and had to be revamped in any case. We feel that French-Canadian Universities had a just complaint that their problems could not be solved under the present structure — and we felt that the new structure was indeed more equitable and just. It should be pointed out that this new structure is NOT a compro-mise; it does NOT split NFCUS in two groups. The Congress is STILL the Supreme legislative body. The set-up merely permits French Canadian University students are sympathetic with the plight of the Negro University students in the United States. Paradoxically they are apathetic about injustices in their own academic back yards.

Canadian university students will stress their abhorence at the use-less murder of four little Negro little or nothing about the problem in Alabama, and the white lem that is so evident — espectiolence and rioting at the regisially here in Halifax. has finished a commendable job in locating and listing off-campus

Compilation of lists was begun in August, spearheaded by an advertising program in newspapers and over radio. Station CJCH was particularly generous in providing free advertising time.

This drew about 400 replies with people offering room for about 700 students. These were all listed.

Dave Major operated a one-man housing commission, inspecting about fifty of the houses that were listed. He selected addresses mainly in areas which might be most likely to have sub-standard condition. Major reports that most of the rooms were "all right."

"I had very few standards by which to judge the rooms. By that I mean the difficulty of checking things like heat, draft, and humidity, in August."

Major reports that most people

Greatest housing difficulties were with foreign students, particularly in finding accommodations ation last Tuesday. This solemn Contrasting with last year's surfor colored students. Major emphasized that this is to be expected, saying that "most people who phoned in to offer rooms stated no objection to foreign students, while not appreciating that most of our foreign students are colored. Call it what you will (color) bigotry, prejudice, or just plain superstition — many people simply will not consider colored students in their homes." The one rational objection that frequently is encountered is that often foreign stuents, particularly from south-east Asia, prefer to cook the food they're accustomed to on hot plates and makeshift arrangements, "which can create one hell of a fire hazard, if anything."

Another problem facing the foreign student is his total unpreparedness when he arrives. Major says, "You must realize he's in a strange land, with many customs which can hardly be anticipated, often working with an acquired language which he has never before had to rely on. He's in a pretty tight situation until he finds the ropes."

However, two obscure, but very active campus organizations stand ready to help the newcomers. Leyland MacLean, of the International Student Association, and Miss Brown of the Foreign Student Reception Committee must be given "tremendous credit for their efforts to take care of students until they become established. Also, much thanks this year goes to Ken Gowie who billeted many of the newcomers temporarily in the New Men's Residence while they were finding accommodation.

To help the Business Office and the Housing Committee in rating and listing accommodations in future years, Major requests that all students in "digs" fill out the following form and return it at convenience to the Gazette Office, in the Arts Annex

NEW DAL SPORT

The commencement of the fall term at Dal this year will see the activation of yet another new group on the campus — this being the Dalhousie Judo club. Founded last year, the club is under the direction of Dr. Alan Swanzey, a graduate of the Dalhousie Dental School, and the holder of an internationally recognized 'Shodan' (1st degree There was no further scoring black belt) in Judo. Dr. Swanzey offers classes on a once a week basis, but there is a possibility that this may be expanded as the year goes on.

MISUNDERSTOOD SPORT

There are few activities that are so widely misunderstood as Judo. The average person, if he thinks about the subject at all, has vague ideas about flying bodies, usually propelled by a diminutive, tubercular individual murmuring 'Ah, so' beneath his breath as he does it. The truth could hardly be further from this innacurate stereotype. The myth that 'no strength is required' can be easily dispelled by a quick check on the world Judo champions of the past, few of whom have weighed less than 190 lbs.

REAL SKILL NEEDED

It probably started from the undeniable truth that a skilled practitioner of Judo, when pitted in an open fight against an unskilled or untrained person, can easily demolish his opponent, even though his foeman may outweigh him (or her) by 100 lbs, or more. However, we should like to repeat that this is only possible by a skilled practitioner, using the techniques of 'real fighting' against an opponent, untrained in this or any of its sister arts. A street-brawler, of no matter what experience, would fail to qualify as a trained

GOOD EXERCISE

However, there is more to judo than a competitive sport on one hand, and a very handy means of self-protection on the other. As a means of general exercise it is unexcelled, and would be hard indeed to equal, including as it does throwing, grappling and combinations of these movements, as well as footwork and balance. After a brisk period of 'randori' (free proctice) it is the rare person who does not feel psychologically invigorated, as well as pleasantly tired.

RIGID CODE

Beyond this again, there is a moral side to judo, starting with a Saturday, Oct. 12 — Dal. at UNB very rigid code of behavior while on the mat which includes absolute adherance to the rules of politeness and courtesy to be shown to Saturday, Oct. 19 — Acadia at all one's fellow judoka (practitioners) and respect and deference to be shown to one's superiors at all times. The ability to respond auto-Saturday, Oct. 26 - Dal. at matically to a situation is stressed, and thereby the avoidance of second thoughts becomes essential.

PERSONAL CONFIDENCE GAINED

This, in its turn, leads to confidence in oneself on the mat, and, with proper guidance, it is hoped, for some of the students at least, off it. Another trait, connected closely to this, is the creation of the so-called 'fighting spirit,' that attitude which makes the practitioner forge on to the bitter end in tournament, until he either wins, the time runs out, or he is declared defeated. Unwavering courage is an integral part of this, and its development is an important part of

ANYONE ELIGIBLE

From this, it may be seen that judo is not a mysterious and unattainable art from the inscrutable east. Instead, it is an activity in which anyone can engage, and, provided properly controlled conditions are present, without the slightest risk of anything more serious than a few superficial bruises. All the students require is the desire and a little bit of what is commonly known as 'guts.' Dr. Swanzy will most capably provide the rest.

HOCKEY GETTING EARLY START

Hockey coach Walter "Goog" Fitzgerald will meet sometime this week with anyone interested in playing varsity hockey to discuss plans for the coming season. Last year Dal had a 5 and 7 wonlost record and provided Dal fans with some very exciting, wellplayed hockey. This season promises a much better record with all but one of last year's team returning plus some new hockey blood on campus.

CALIBER CLIMBING

St. FX's 14-7 win over McGill tends to show that gradually the caliber of football in the AFC is starting to reach that of the Upper

Since St. FX only beat St. Mary's by one point and St. Mary's in turn were downed by the Stadacona Sailors there are at least three teams who could at least theoretically have a chance to beat Mc-Gill. Also the Mount Allison Mounties could not be counted out to beat any of the three already mentioned AFC teams. The AFC is only in its third year of operation and in any such young league some of the scores are bound to be lopsided as they are now. However, this can only be healed by time and experience and a few years should bring about both balance and quality to provide Maritime fans with the football they deserve.
