Your Alumni Office maintains a filing system containing information on about 10,000 Dalhousians. The value of such a record to the University and to the Alumni Association is obvious. Many individual alumni, too, have found the system of value, in locating old classmates and in many other ways. But the system only reaches its peak efficiency with your co-operation. A post-card or telephone call to advise the office of any change of address or occupation will help us to keep the records in tip-top shape.

Wanted, Alumni Views

ALUMNI News should express alumni views.

This publication to be most worthwhile must be more than a record book, more than a listing of births, marriages, births and personals. All of this, for obvious reasons, it should continue to publish. Very definitely! But, in addition, it should be a medium of expression for all alumni who want to speak to their fellow alumni for the good of the common cause.

With that thought in mind we are pleased to direct special attention to the excellent messages from the president of the University, the president of the Alumni Association and the president of the Dalhousie University Students Council appearing in this issue. On behalf of our readers we thank these gentlemen for their constructive contributions.

In succeeding issues we hope to have more messages, greetings, appeals or whatever label one might apply to such missives.

These messages should come not only from the home base but also from abroad. If in our next and following issues there appeared greetings and news items from alumni branches in Canada, the United States and overseas would not Alumni News be of added interest and added value! What is more, and of greater import, would it not help to draw Dalhousie alumni, scattered around the world, a bit closer together in friendly comradeship? A spirit of unity means much!

And apart from, and in addition to messages from our presidents, our alumni and its branches, we would like to hear from individuals, at home and abroad. A bit of reminiscing, a college anecdote (there are scores, hundreds, thousands of choice ones) a bright idea, etc. etc. etc., would be a valuable and much appreciated contribution to our columns.

Alumni News is good as is, but like all other human endeavor it can be improved.

So Alumni friends, wherever you are, this is our invitation to YOU to join our staff by sending along with your Alumni dues some alumni views.

Co-operation (a terribly whipped word) on your part will make our little black and gold covered book more interesting to you and others, and what is more and in keeping with our overall purpose, more worthwhile to our alma mater.

Alumni News should express alumni views.

The Dalhousie Alumni President

Dr. A. B. Campbell

IT is a privilege to have this opportunity to give a brief account of the activities of the Alumni Association in this issue of the "News".

I feel I should state first of all that we are very fortunate in having Mr. George Herman, B.A., as our Editor for this issue.

the Alumni As- our sincere thanks for her interest The activities sociation have tained. We had annual meeting in February with Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, President of the University of British Columbia as our special speaker.

Everyone enjoyed hearing and meeting "Larry" again.

The musical programme at this meeting was very unusual and interesting. Dr. John Wickwire and Dr. Thomas Raddall were kind enough to bring a male quartette from Liverpool to this meeting. Dressed as old-time sailormen they sang "sea shanties" under the direction of Mrs. Madelaine Keay. Dr. Raddall gave comments on the origin of these songs. Everyone enjoyed this programme.

Our Annual Meeting and reception for the graduating class was well attended. We think that more of our members should make it a point to attend this meeting. It is very enjoyable. The meeting is not formal. There is ample opportunity to meet the new graduates and old friends. It is encouraging to note the interest our new graduates are taking in the Association. The business meeting is not unduly prolonged. We are happy to have Mr. Justice J. E. Read as our Honourary President.

An outstanding event was the formation of a Medical Branch of this Association on June 19 when the Canadian Medical Association met in Halifax. This was in the form of a dinner meeting and was the largest of its kind we have had to date.

Most Important News

The most important news we have is that the Dalhousie Men's Residence is to be built beginning early next year. It will provide accommodation for 150 students with a dining-room to serve approximately 250. It will be situated on the north-east corner of the campus. It will cost in the neighbourhood of one and a quarter million dollars, $550,000 of which has been granted by the Canada Council. The University must look for the balance from its Alumni and interested friends. We feel that the Dalhousie Alumni Fund which was started a few years ago primarily for a residence has had a great influence in bringing this about. This fund needs your increased interest and support. It was started with an objective of $100,000. To date we have $45,000. This has come from 690 members a number of whom have made yearly donations.

This issue of the "News" will go to 8,500 Alumni. Your Association is asking that everyone receiving the "News" consider making a gift to the University each year of sums up to $25.00 or more if they can afford it. One of our executive suggests that each Alumnus make a gift to the University on his or her birthday. The slogan "Make a Gift To Your Alma Mater On Your Birthday" is worthy of your attention.

Cheques should be made payable to Dalhousie University and forwarded to the Alumni Office.

The President of Dalhousie University

Dr. A. E. Kerr

THE UNIVERSITY has continued to make progress during 1958 and 1959 promises to be an equally memorable year in the annals of Dalhousie.

Lady Dunn laid the foundation stone for the new building, funds for which were provided by the Sir James Dunn Foundation, and elsewhere in this issue of the Alumni News will be found the intimate and eloquent tribute paid by Lord Beaverbrook to his friend of many years. The Law School, which celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary with a special convocation in the same week, has also benefited by the generosity of the Sir James Dunn Foundation; valuable scholarships, the most generous in any Canadian University, were announced, and from the Foundation and other sources, the teaching staff has been increased and a qualified full-time Librarian has been appointed.

Progress in Arts and Science and Law has not out-paced that of other Faculties. The new Dentistry Building has been acclaimed as one of the best-equipped on the Continent; Medicine has made notable additions to its teaching staff and extended its graduate studies and research; and increased funds for the Graduate Faculty have brought students from many undergraduate schools, including some of the oldest in Great Britain.

Men's Residence Plans Approved

Plans for a Men's Residence, long a cherished dream of students and alumni as well as of the Governors, have finally been approved. A site has been marked off on the north-east corner of the Studley Campus, on Coburg Road near LeMarchant Street, and work will begin in the spring. All buildings at Studley will conform to the general ground-plan which is now recognized as one of the finest among Canadian universities.

These are the more material signs of progress, made possible by gifts from individuals and Foundations and by grants from Federal and Provincial Governments for which the University will never be failing in gratitude. But they would be of little avail if the strength of the University were not maintained by the presence of a student body eager to learn and a Faculty eager to teach. It is therefore with especial pride that we can recall the many distinctions won by our students, the public and official tribute paid by our sister universities to the quality of our advanced teaching, and the constant strengthening of our staff to meet the needs of increasing numbers of students. It is a source of satisfaction to record, to turn once more to those material things on which the spirit of a University must in large measure depend, that Dalhousie has been able to offer resistance to the constant pressure on student fees, and at the same time—without losing its traditional independence—to make continued increases in salaries in keeping with those of all but the largest and wealthiest universities in Canada.

Looking forward to a good New Year for Dalhousie, I offer my sincere wish that 1959 may also be a good year for all Dalhousians.

President.

The Dalhousie Students Council

David Matheson, President

The Dalhousie Students Council welcomes the opportunity to report to the Alumni on current student activities. We would appreciate the interest of the Alumni in all our activities and hope to make better student-alumni relations.

The Council this year is supporting the proposals of last year's Council for the erection of a Students' Union building which will be the centre of all student activities of Dalhousie. The Union will be more than a giver of dances, a dispenser of information, a cafeteria, or a theatre. It will be the community centre of the college for all members of the college family; students, faculty, administration, alumni, and guests. It will not just be a building. It will also be an organization and a program. This has been the case at universities such as U. N. B., Acadia, McGill, Toronto, Alberta, Manitoba, and B. C.

With the erection of the new mens' residence very shortly, there is the possibility that the students may use the present mens' residence as temporary quarters, temporary if the present mens' residence is only going to be a temporary structure. The students must plan for a permanent location to carry on their functions.

The Council of 1957-58 has put aside $15,000 for a permanent Union Building. A suggested location has been one between the Studely and Forest Campus.

This year's Council is now determining the essentials of a Dalhousie Union Building, the possible costs, and the method of finance.

A survey has been made of other universities relative to the participation in such a project by the students, university, alumni, and corporations.

Before the year is through, the Council will decide the best method of financing and will take steps to determine where exactly the location should be and how large the Union Building should be.

The Alumni will be approached very shortly for their advice and interest in such a project.

Your full co-operation will be greatly appreciated!

In other fields, athletic teams have been very successful this season. Our soccer team, tennis team, and girls' ground hockey team have captured Maritine titles. The football team was eliminated 28-21 in the semi-finals by the Shearwater Flyers in a two game-total-point series. Taking everything into consideration, the team did an excellent job this year.

The Dalhousie Glee and Dramatic Society will again put on a modern musical as last year. The change-over from Gilbert and Sullivan productions proved to be most successful. This year's production is "Paint Your Wagon" It will be presented on the evenings of February 23, 24, 25.

Debating this year has soared to an all-time high in participation and interest. Student-faculty debates, under-graduate debating, and public speaking sessions have been most successful.

The Society of Foreign Relations with Overseas Students succeeded this fall in finding suitable accommodations for all foreign students, and arranged for a Christmas banquet on the 20th of December. The organization has become quite active on the campus and is serving a useful purpose.

These are only a few items. I hope they prove of interest to all Alumni.

Again I do appreciate the opportunity to report on student activities, and look forward to giving up-to-date reports to the Alumni this coming term.

DAVID MATHESON,
President.

WHY NOT? (Dalhousie Gazette)

It seems that the University of Saskatchewan, whose enrollment of 4,200 students represents approximately one twentieth of the entire city's population, is seriously and sincerely considering submitting a candidate for either mayoralty or aldermanic position on the city council. Undoubtedly to many people this action may seem presumptuous; to others it may seem absolutely absurd. This editor voices a calm and inquiring "why not?"

DALHOUSIE GAZETTE IN 90TH YEAR

Judith Bell, editor-in-chief of the Dalhousie Gazette, in a television interview sketched the history of the Gazette. She pointed out by means of a copy of the paper dated 1869 that the Dalhousie student publication was now in its ninetieth year. "Fashions and fancies", comments the Gazette, "may come and go but the Gazette goes on forever."

100 YEARS AGO: AND MORE RECENTLY

100 YEARS AGO

(Halifax Sun of 1858) We were present at the examination of about 30 pupils at Dalhousie College before His Excellency, Sir. Houston Stewart and a number of officers of the Navy on Friday, December 3. When we entered the college Principal Reid was exercising a class in geometry and trigonometry and while questions were being solved another class was examined in mental and written arithmetic, principally in compound interest and annuities. The readiness and accuracy of the replies and the reasons given for them were very remarkable. After these exercises a number of the lads were examined in French by M. d'Utassy, French professor, also by Sir. Houston. The admiral requested the principal to grant the boys a half holiday after such gratifying exercises.

PROSPECTUS 1913

1913 is Dalhousie's. Just half a century ago, the college was re-organized. It was the beginning of a better day in our history. This year will witness the starting of a new era in our existence. It may well be called the Studley era. On the spacious grounds by the North-West Arm a new library and science building will rear their heads. The plans are all prepared and before the Dominion of Canada sheds its snowy coat these buildings will be offered for public tender. We need them bad enough and the sooner they are erected, the better it will be for all concerned.

The library has been promised for a long time and those who years ago gave their mites towards its establishment will be glad to learn that at last their dreams are to become realities. At a later date, other erections will come, and by the by, our university will have all the space it needs for the education of its students. With new additions and a united college spirit the future of our Alma Mater will be insured.

Its standards have always been high and in the future those standards will be backed up by spacious accommodations. Fifty years ago the real beginning took place, today comes the expansion and FIFTY YEARS HENCE WE SHOULD HAVE 1500 STUDENTS. That is something for our graduates of today to work for.

Fifteen hundred students in 1963. You may be under the sod then, but at least you can start to work now and form a basis for others to build upon. Fifteen hundred students in 1963, graduates! Are you willing to do your part.

1949

(Dalhousie Gazette, Oct. 4, 1949) Dalhousie University has opened for the first time a school of graduate studies leading to a degree of Master of Arts and Master of Science. The course of study consists of work given in advance of ordinary undergraduate classes and will be confined to one subject or two closely related subjects.

Lady Dunn Lays Corner Stone of Sir James Dunn Science Building

A significant event in the 150-year history of Dalhousie University took place at Studley campus on the twenty-ninth of October when Lady Dunn laid the corner stone of the Sir James Dunn Science Building. At that time the massive foundation walls had been completed and were surmounted by the sturdy steel frame of the 3-storey $2,500,000, 150-room structure. As this issue was going to press stone masons were busy piling stone on stone adding to the picture of the completed building which in 1960 will house the departments of physics, geology and engineering.

The slender and gracious, widow of Dalhousie's greatest benefactor, in the presence of a large and decidedly distinguished assemblage, delicately scooped up gray cement with an inscribed silver trowel and clearly uttered the time-honored, "I declare this stone to be well and truly laid." It was 85 years ago to the day that the great philanthropist, financier, industrialist, patron of the arts and educationist, Sir James Dunn was born. And it was just a year previously that Lady Dunn turned the first sod for the new structure.

Among the prominent figures who witnessed the stone-laying in the damp autumn day was the Canadian born British publisher Lord Beaverbrook, friend and close associate of Sir James for more than three score years.

The official party sat in straight-back chairs on a covered frame platform decked with flags. The platform party included University Chancellor Rt. Hon. Dr. C. D. Howe, former Dalhousie professor and Canadian Trade Minister, who presided, Lieutenant-Governor E. C. Plow, Nova Scotia Premier Stanfield and Dalhousie President Dr. A. E. Kerr.

The Sir James Dunn building, entire cost of which is underwritten by the Sir James Dunn Foundation set up by Lady Dunn after the death of her husband Jan. 1, 1956, is expected to be completed by the 1960 fall term.

Sir James, a native of Bathurst, N. B. was president and board chairman of Algoma Steel Corporation and 63 years ago studied law at Dalhousie.

At a special convocation held just prior to the cornerstone laying, Lord Beaverbrook referred to Sir James as "a great Canadian . . . whose mind was always excited by what was new in knowledge . . ."

Dr. Kerr said he was Dalhousie's greatest benefactor and this event was the most significant in the 150-year-history of Dal-

Architects of the building are Mathers and Haldenby of Toronto. Contractors are Foundation Maritime of Halifax.

DALHOUSIE INN

Not many Dalhousians, even the old timers, could tell you anything about "Dalhousie Inn."

Standing where the now long abandoned Cobequid Road about 30 miles from Halifax off Highway Route 2 approaches Enfield, and about a mile and three-quarters south of that community, there stands what was once the "Dalhousie Inn."

Today that name is not often associated with the building which is the home of Aubrey Giles who moved to the area a few years back from Cole Harbor to establish a flourishing truck garden operation. First he worked on nearby land but more recently came in possession of the historic building which at one time catered to the needs of many road travellers.

The name of "Dalhousie Inn" was given in tribute to George Ramsay, 9th Earl of Dalhousie (1770-1838), Governor-in-Chief of Canada (1819-28). He was the eldest son of George Ramsay, 8th Earl of Dalhousie, and Elizabeth Glen. He had a long and active military career fighting throughout the Revolutionary and Peninsular wars and was present at Waterloo. In 1816 he was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, and from 1819 for nine years was Governor-in-Chief of Canada. In 1829 he was appointed Commander-in-Chief in India and in 1830 was elected Captain-General of the Royal Company of Archers, the King's body-guard for Scotland. He died at Dalhousie Castle on March 21, 1838.

New Chairman of the Board of Governors

Donald McInnes, Q.C., of Halifax, graduate in Arts and Law of Dalhousie University has been appointed chairman of the Board of Governors in succession to the late Brigadier H. V. D. Laing. Announcement of the appointment was made by President Kerr following a meeting of the Board December 3.

Mr. McInnes is exceptionally well qualified for this post of honor and high responsibility. For many years he has been deeply interested in and closely associated with the various activities and problems of the university. As a student he had a brilliant record. He was very much part of student life. In athletics he played a sound game of football for the Tigers and in various faculty and university societies he was always to the fore. Although professional and business demands have been heavy and exacting, especially in recent years, his concern for the well being of his alma mater has never waned. For some years he has been the honorary secretary of the board of which he now assumes the top post for a six-year term. He is the eighteenth in succession. His father, the late Hector McInnes, K.C., served as chairman from 1932 to 1937. One of his three sons played in the backfield for this year's varsity football squad.

The new chairman is president of Eastern Trust Company, an office his late father once held, and is closely associated with other prominent business and public organizations.

At 54 Board Chairman McInnes though relatively young, is widely experienced. He is one hundred per cent Dalhousian and in every way excellently qualified for the directing post in our vigorous and expanding institution of higher learning.

New Dental Building Is Opened

Thursday September 25 was a red letter day in the 50-year history of Dalhousie University's Dental School. It was then that the new million dollar dental building was officially opened by Nova Scotia's Lieutenant Governor, Hon. E. C. Plow. J. Philip Dumarquesq, the architect, proudly presented the keys of the building to the Honourable J. A. Doull, acting chairman of the Board of Governors, in the presence of the contractor, R. B. Cameron, and a distinguished assemblage gathered for the opening ceremonies.

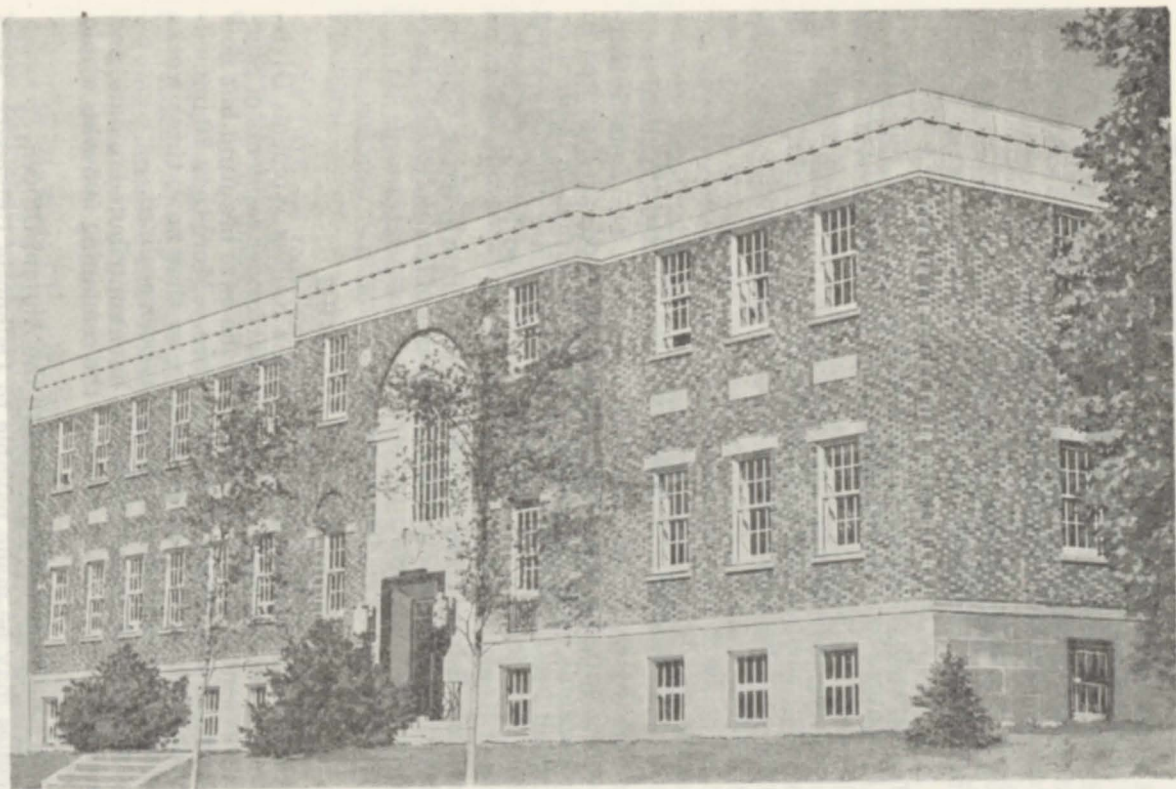

The beautiful Georgian structure, fronts University Avenue at the north-west corner of the avenue and Robie Street, just a very few yards from the time-honored Forest Building, the original home of Dalhousie's Dental school. Built of ornamental brick and stone it blends in design and materials with the nearby Dalhousie Health Clinic, Medical Sciences Building and Medical-Dental Library.

The new building contains seven modernly equipped class rooms and teaching laboratories as well as a spacious clinical area and laboratories for treatment service conducted as part of the teaching program. The clinic, containing most approved equipment, open to the public, is designed to accommodate more than one thousand patients a year.

Quarters for special demonstrations, advanced operations or general anaesthesia treatment are provided in four small private operating rooms. Another section has been set apart for the examination and treatment planning of all patients at the clinic.

"There were two impelling reasons behind the University's decision to build a home for its Dental School," Dr. Kerr said. "We had been conscious for some time of the need to improve the physical facilities of the school. For many years it had been housed in the Forrest Building in quarters which were not originally designed for the teaching of Dentistry and which, therefore, had certain drawbacks. Still more important was the need to provide increased facilities, as well as better ones, for the output of dentists in this area has fallen behind the increase in population. Indeed, the ratio of dentists to general population in the Atlantic Provinces is the lowest of any region in Canada with the exception of Saskatchewan, being about one dentist to every 3,500 people. The new building will enable us to double our present enrolment of 48 and will permit more economical operation."

DENTISTRY BUILDING—The new home of the Dental school of Dalhousie University was formally opened September 27 and is now in full operation, doubling the teaching facilities that existed at the former location in the nearby Forest Building.

HONOR DISTINGUISHED DENTISTS

At a special convocation in the Arts and Administration Building on September 25 the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws, was conferred on four distinguished members of the dental profession: Dr. Ernest Charron, former Dean of Dentistry at the University of Montreal; Dr. Philip E. Blackerby, Battlecreek, Mich., a director of the Kellogg Foundation; Dr. Donald W. Gullett, secretary-registrar of the Royal College of Dental Surgery of Ontario and secretary Canadian Dental Association and Dr. A. J. Coughlan of Saint John, a past president of the Canadian Dental Association.

Dr. Blackerby speaking at the opening of the new building appealed to dentists to throw off "their traditional yoke of professional isolation".

"Cartoons and editorial jibes associating the dentist with pain, and fostering the illusion of tooth carpentry are manifestations of an uninformed and distorted public opinion which cannot merely be laughed aside."

SERMONS BY DAL GRADS PUBLISHED

Sermons by two Dalhousie graduates, Rev. Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell and the Rev. Prof. Donald Macleod, are featured in Notable Sermons From Protestant Pulpits, published in September by Abingdon Press, Nashville. This book, which contains sermons by leading American churchmen, has been edited by Rev. Charles L. Wallis of Keuka College, Keuka Park, N. Y.

Dr. Bonnell is minister of Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City, and Dr. Macleod is professor of homiletics at Princeton Theological Seminary.

SHIRREFF HALL RUG

Early in November an appeal from the Halifax Women's Division of the Alumni Association to nearly 600 former residents of Shirreff Hall was sent out for help to replace the once beautiful but now worn out rug in the library at the residence. More than 70 immediately responded, some very generously, so that now, three weeks later the sum of approximately $400 has been realized.

The Alumnae thank all those who have contributed to date, and feel sure that there are many others of the remaining 500 who would like to help.

Please send your contributions to the Alumni Office.

Cheques may be made payable to Dalhousie University, Shirreff Hall Fund. Receipts for all donations, which may be used for income tax purposes, will be forwarded promptly.

Chairman of Governors Dies

Brigadier H. V. Darrell Laing, chair man of the Board of Governors of Dalhousie University, died suddenly at his home in Halifax, at the age of 59 years. He was a great Dalhousian, an outstanding soldier and one of the leading business men of Nova Scotia.

Horace Vivian Darrell Laing was born in Halifax July 12, 1899, the son of the late James Simpson Laing, Royal Navy, and Irene Dickinson Pearman Laing.

He was educated at the Halifax County Academy and Dalhousie University where he graduated in law. In 1921 he was chosen Rhodes Scholar for Nova Scotia and studied at University College, Oxford, where he received his Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Civil Law. He was admitted to the bar of Nova Scotia in 1924 and was associated for a time with the firm of Stewart, Smith, MacKeen, and Rogers before joining Maritime-National Fish Limited, a division of National Sea Products Limited, in 1925 of which he became Vice-President and director. He remained with this organization until his death, except during the period of active service in the Canadian Army.

Brigadier Laing served for many years on the board of governors of Dalhousie University and was named chairman in 1955. He also served on the university's new construction committee and the buildings and grounds committee.

He was a member of the Board of Governors of the Nova Scotia Technical College, a director of the Strathcona Trust foundation for the encouragement of physical training and military drill in public schools. He was an honorary colonel of the Princess Louise Fusiliers.

In 1914, he received the order of Commander of the British Empire from the hands of King George VI at an investiture at headquarters of the first Canadian Army in Belgium.

In 1946 he was invested with the United States Legion of Merit for recognition of his contributions to the success of operations involving Canadian and American troops in Europe. The government of Holland also honored him with the Order of Orange Nassau, (with Swords).

The Halifax Chronicle-Herald in an editorial tribute referred to Brigadier Laing as "soldier, scholar, lawyer, businessman, athlete whose sudden death removes from the Canadian scene a Haligonian who in the words of Mr. Justice John Doull, vice-chairman of the Board of Governors of Dalhousie University 'had vast experience in many fields'.

"A brilliant student, he interrupted his university career at Dalhousie at the age of 18 during World War I to join the Royal Air Force. The war over, he returned to Dalhousie where he graduated in law and was selected Rhodes Scholar in 1920. At University College, Oxford, he received his Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Civil Law.

"From his youth he had always shown the greatest interest in the armed forces and it was natural that upon graduation he should join a famous Halifax militia unit of the early post-War years, the 6th Machine Gun Battalion, later to become amalgamated with the Princess Louise Fusiliers. A keen student of military affairs, he was Brigade Major of the 17th Infantry Brigade when he went overseas in December, 1939, with the First Canadian Division.

"He soon won recognition as an outstanding staff officer—recognition confirmed by his brilliancy at the Staff College at Camberley, England. Successive promotions and appointments followed, and by 1943 he was a brigadier. He served in Italy and North-West Europe, was mentioned in despatches and received the order of Commander of the British Empire.

"After World War II, he helped reorganize the Canadian militia and commanded the 13th Infantry Brigade (West Nova Scotia Regiment, North Nova Scotia Regiment, Pictou Highlanders, Princess Louise Fusiliers and Cape Breton Highlanders) with headquarters in Halifax.

"Upon his retirement from the active militia, he was appointed Honorary-Colonel of the Princess Louise Fusiliers. He played a major role in the ceremonies attending the inspection of the regiment by the new Colonel-In-Chief, H.R.H. Princess Margaret."

ESSAY CONTEST FOR DALHOUSIE STUDENTS

An essay contest, open to all Dalhousie University students, of all faculties and all years, has been made possible through the generosity of Samuel Jacobson, formerly of Halifax and Dartmouth and now of Montreal. The awards, $200 for first and $100 for second, will be known as the Dr. H. L. Stewart Memorial Prizes.

The essay subject matter is to treat with "the case of free trade" with the 1959 subject being "the case for free trade in the nuclear age."

Judges of the essays will be men of distinction in their particular fields. It is hoped to have some of the essays published.

More details of the contest will appear in the daily press.

The donor of the prizes, Mr. Jacobson, has long been interested in international free trade for world peace, a matter he has ably discussed in the press of Canada.

The late Dr. Stewart for many years professor of Philosophy at Dalhousie, and an internationally recognized author, editor and news commentator, was a close friend of Mr. Jacobson. The two frequently discussed free trade.

TO LECTURE IN MATHEMATICS

Eric Boustead Davies of Bolton, Lancashire, England, has joined the faculty of Arts and Science as lecturer in mathematics.

Mr. Davies holds a Bachelor of Science degree in chemical engineering from the University of Leeds and previous to his Dalhousie appointment, was lecturer in chemical engineering at Harris College at Preston, England, and Scientific Officer for the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority.

TO TEACH RUSSIAN

Mrs. Irene Coffin, 60 Lawrence street, Halifax, has been appointed as lecturer in the Romance languages and Russian in the arts and science faculty.

Mrs. Coffin holds a Licence des Lettres from the Sorbonne in Paris. She specializes in the French and Russian languages.

Previous to her Dalhousie appointment, she taught at the Halifax Ladies' College.

Lord Beaverbrook's Tribute To His Dear Friend And Close Associate, Sir James Dunn

A memorable, beautiful and touching tribute was paid by one great Canadian to another great Canadian at the laying of the corner stone of the Sir James Dunn Science Building at Dalhousie University on the afternoon of October thirty. The speaker was Lord Beaverbrook, chancellor of the University of New Brunswick, a

The Late Sir James Dunn

His Friend, Lord Beaverbrook

Canadian, a statesman, publisher, financier, industrialist, whose impact on Canadian and British life has been and is truly outstanding. Lord Beaverbrook readily accepted the invitation to speak at the corner stone laying ceremony. In his address he feelingly unveiled much of the previously untold of the life of his long time friend, Sir James Dunn, a man he loved and admired.

Here is the text of his address:

In asking me to come here today to declare open Dalhousie's magnificent new Science Building, you are giving me an opportunity to convey to you the admiring congratulations and envy of the University of New Brunswick. This I am proud to do. And I give praise to Lady Dunn whose generosity and public spirit is indeed a shining example to the citizens of these Maritime Provinces.

But, I hope, that somewhere in your minds when you asked me, was the thought that Sir James Dunn, for whom the building is named and whom it commemorates, was my very dear friend during a long lifetime. He bestowed on me a measure of friendship and affection which has been a constant influence throughout my days and years.

For our friendship was one of the precious and abiding things in my life. And I am happy to have so splendid and suitable an occasion to speak in public for a few minutes of a man I admired and loved.

When I met him first we were young boys. He was a few years older than I.

His mother was born in Newcastle. Her name was Eliza Jodrey. She was a telegraph operator and an instructor, travelling up and down the counties teaching young men and women to be train dispatchers for the old Intercolonial Railway.

Born 84 Years Ago

In Bathurst she married Robert Dunn, who died of pneumonia within three years. Sir James, the only child, was born this day 84 years ago.

After the death of Robert Dunn, his widow returned to her employment and at the public school in Bathurst she educated her son.

Our young student went to work at an early age as the advance agent for a distinguished lecturer, travelling through the United States and Great Britain. He returned to Bathurst in bitter winter weather in 1895. I met him at the railway station. He was wearing bright black patent leather boots and so dazzling was the shine that I wished with all my heart for a pair just like Jimmy's. But when we two walked through the snow over the bridge to Bathurst Village, those patent leather boots slowly disintegrated. Sir James even in his youth, was given to picturesque language. He declared, "fraudulent durability." I admired his words, even though his boots failed to hold any further interest for me.

Many, many years had passed away when his wife gave me a pair of stout snow boots.

Letter From Sir James

Sir James wrote: "This winter we might walk across the bridge in zero weather going north to the village. This task would remind us of that bitter cold day 60 years ago when I offered at journey's end to exchange my patent leathers for your shoe packs." He surely would have had the best of that bargain.

We two did go to Bathurst the year before he died. It was not in the midst of winter, but while summer still tarried on the beaches of the Bay of Chaleur.

Sir James himself described the purpose of our visit. "Looking for an old log," he said, "where we shared one lunch between two hungry boys."

He was well along in years when he found the old log, but he was always young in spirit and his recollections of youthful adventures were told to his friends with dramatic effect and great good humor.

Sixty-three years ago he set out for Halifax to enter as a student at this illustrious university.

There was no degree in arts for him. Just three years in law, with the young scholar paying his own way with money he earned and saved up for this very purpose.

His remarkable talents and his wonderful character made an immediate impression on his teachers. I have here a document written in February 1897 by your famous Dr. Weldon, Dean of Law.

"This certifies that James H. Dunn is a student in the Dalhousie Law School having attended lectures during two years—That so far he has taken the highest rank of the students of his class at the Sessional Examination, that he has been Assistant Librarian in the Law School during the present year—He will be found to possess excellent ability and will be, I believe, energetic and faithful in the discharge of duties assigned to him.

Richard C. Weldon,
Dean of Law Faculty, of Dalhousie University."

It was at the turn of the century that Sir James set out on his extraordinary career. His health was good, his industry was prodigious and his brilliant future was foretold by all those who came under his influence.

His first task took him to Alberta as the legal representative of B. F. Pearson's Halifax Group, planning to build a railway to the North Country.

Another Protegee

I also went West following R. B. Bennett to Calgary. He was another product of this university and a protegee of Dean Weldon.

In those days it was held that the West was the land of opportunity. Dunn did not agree with the opinion. He told me that in the East lay the possibilities of swifter development and earlier growth. "The West must pay tribute to the East" was his conclusion.

As usual with him, he was ready to back his judgment with action. He went East. So did I.

He found in the East, in Montreal, all the opportunities he sought and used them in ample measure. His labors were always constructive. He was a builder. Industry fascinated him.

And Canada's rise to power in the world, he believed would be based on a solid foundation of industrial strength. Sir James Dunn helped in his early years in laying down that foundation. He was by this time a man of practical sense and immense energy, with a powerful grasp of political economy.

But the great industrial achievement of his life lay in the future. It was in the conception of Algoma Steel, which he turned into reality. That vast enterprize did not spring out of the soil by some inevitable, natural process. It was the product of our hero's vision and daring and resolution.

Unerring Judgment

With unerring judgment he decided that raw materials constituted an essential feature of his steel company, including coal and iron ore. His great mining ventures were launched.

He encountered endless obstacles, disastrous troubles, exhausting difficulties, refusal of banking facilities by institutions that ought to have supported him considering the national value of his developments. He had the will and the courage to hold on. He was never diverted from his purpose. With devotion to his tasks he struggled incessantly for 20 years until he came through in triumph establishing possibly the only fully equipped steel works in the world of which the control was vested in a single individual.

His steel, ore and coal projects attracted the attention of the Great U. S. Steel Corporation and at the age of three score and ten Sir James might have sold his interests for many millions of money.

Algoma's Great Growth

Instead of seeking ease with plenty, he entered upon the most remarkable period of his whole career. It was then that Algoma, growing in strength and importance and wealth, became a tremendous asset to Canada.

Now of his labors Lady Dunn is giving to the university a building equipped for the pursuit of science, unequalled in all Canada and heretofore unrivalled in the Old Land.

But, just as these walls are rising Sir James' old and intimate friend, Sir Winston Churchill, is responsible for a public movement in Britain for the building of The Churchill College at Cambridge, also devoted to science. It is a curious coincidence, that these two friends so long associated in intimate relations should be commemorated in two distant, though similar universities and with the pursuit of science as their common goal.

Churchill and Dunn might have been associated in war. Sir James on the 22nd July, 1940, wrote me, "I know that if the day dawns when Churchill thinks I can do a worthwhile job, I will hear from you." After consultation I answered: "You make Steel—That is a worthwhile job for us."

By October, he was restless again. He wrote: "I have another strong wish, that before it is all over I may have the opportunity of giving a bigger service than making steel in Canada so far from the Battle Front."

The fighting spirit of Sir James would have been a strong reinforcement of the battle front in Britain in 1940. For he had indeed a fighting spirit. Of Irish extraction he was of the George Bernard Shaw type. Both endowed with wit and humor, both rebels. And gay rebels. Always having fun. Both quick on the draw, both loving England, but refusing to surrender to the English.

Though loving the English way of life, Sir James never failed to declare himself a good North American. And in North America he built his own monument.

It would be natural to say that Algoma Steel is Sir James Dunn's monument. That is not a view I as his friend, can completely accept.

He was so much more than a successful financier and strong captain of industry. He had the mind of a poet. Indeed I have in my possession poems by Sir James Dunn which are worthy of a place in any anthology of Canadian verse.

Generous To Artists

He collected pictures and was generous to artists. His passion for literature was certainly not confined to the gathering together of an imposing and splendid library. His reading habits covered a wide field. And he had a well stored mind which never failed him to the end of his long and adventurous career—a fine intellectual equipment which nature had given him and life had sharpened. In conversation he was attractive. He had a gaiety and exuberance of character in which I found unfailing delight. Nobody could surpass him as a story teller. To his friends he was a most lovable figure. It was rare indeed for personal qualities so varied and delightful to be united with such shrewdness and insight in the rough world of business.

I will not give now and here a record of his long list of benefactions to universities, schools and scholarships sown from sea to sea upon the fertile soil of our country.

His name must be recorded in that short list of good Canadians who have respect for knowledge and the esteem which they have given . . . . . to its guardians.

Serious Minded People

For we Canadians are a serious minded people. The harsh conditions of our destiny on this continent have engrained in us a reverence for high endeavour and austere outlook, for education, for culture and, above all, for Science.

We have already made contributions to human knowledge out of all proportion to our numbers. We Canadians, with the immense task of pioneering and development before us, have not been completely absorbed by it. We have driven deep into the trackless forests of experiments.

So, it is particularly fitting that this great Canadian, Sir James Dunn, whose mind was always excited by what was new in knowledge, should now be remembered in a building dedicated to scientific education, and equipped for the benefit of new generations of technical men and women.

In days to come, Canadians will surely take still greater part in thrusting forward into the mysterious realms of chemistry and physics.

Many of these discoveries will come from this famous University. And in the achievement of each of these, some portion of the praise will rightly belong to this building.

May it carry forward into a new age the memory of that great man, Sir James Dunn.

But at this moment it is the past that fills my heart. The past and a man. The past, and gratitude for nearly three quarters of a century of joyous companionship, shining bright in remembrance.

Not ours to follow him into the eternal mists. Nor can a memorial recall the qualities in the individual that are most worthwhile. Certainly it is these qualities that linger most lovingly in the thoughts of his intimate friends.

Enjoyed Comedy Of Life

The man of affairs who always tossed his cares away. He enjoyed the comedy of life. He saw that comedy clear and colorful.

Never was his company anything but engrossing and sparkling with charm and a total lack of pretention. He had the simplicity that goes with real greatness of character.

But after all it is affection for the man that lingers. He was a joyous companion on the way.

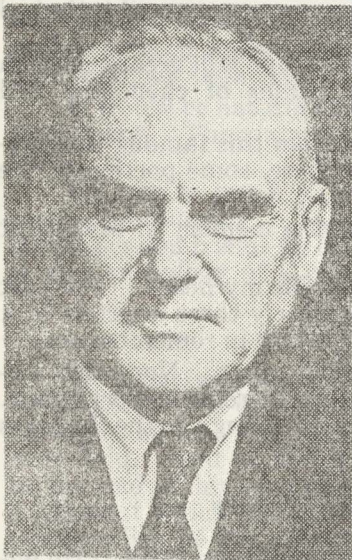

He was a son of the Province by the sea, who lived and worked for all Canada.

The building is a gift to all the people from the man whose name it bears, that virile and romantic Canadian, Sir James Dunn.

Law School's 75th Anniversary

By Stuart G. MacKinnon

Dalhousie Law School celebrated its 75th birthday on Friday, October 30, 1958. The School, which has gained an international reputation and done much to spread Dalhousie's renown, has a distinguished list of graduates including two prime ministers, ten provincial premiers, university presidents, eminent jurists, and many others who have distinguished themselves in public and private life.

Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Chancellor of Dalhousie University who presided at the opening session.

During the festivities, which were well attended by alumni and guests from many parts of the country, several announcements were made which were of great significance to legal education in Canada and to the Dalhousie Law School in particular.

The opening session was held on Friday afternoon in the law library with the Chancellor of the University Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe presiding. After a few words of welcome by President Kerr, Dean Horace E. Read sketched briefly the history of the School from its hopeful beginning in 1883 under Dean Weldon to the present day.

Dean Read paid tribute to the founders of the school and the distinguished first faculty, saying that "these men were only the first of a succession of twenty-five judges and fifty-seven practising barristers who have served as part time lecturers with great distinction and unswerving devotion through the intervening years. To them this law school has owed its past achievements, and on their continued service and support depends its future." He made special reference to the three principal benefactors of the school who have enabled significant advances to be made, George Munro in 1883, Viscount Bennett in 1944, and Sir James Dunn in 1950.

Must Be Expansion Program

Dean Read stressed the fact that if the Law School is to maintain the high reputation that it has held in the past, an immediate expansion program must be embarked upon: increased salaries, more scholarships, enlargement of the present building, and augmentation of the library facilities, are a vital part of this program to "provide lawyers with an education that will assist them to play an effective and enlightened part in the period of rapid development of law that must occur in the wake of the accelerated economic growth and social change now occurring in Canada".

It was announced by Dean Read that an endowment fund to provide an Angus L. Macdonald Prize in torts has been established by the family of the late Nova Scotian premier. The subject was one taught by the late premier while a professor at Dalhousie. After addresses by the Hon. Mr. Justice V. C. MacDonald, immediate past dean, and Mr. Frank M. Covert, the portraits of two former deans of the School were unveiled: the late Donald A. MacRae, dean from 1914 to 1924, and the Hon. John E. Read, former Judge of the International Court of Justice, dean from 1924 to 1929.

On Friday evening a reception and banquet were held at the Lord Nelson Hotel under the auspices of the Nova Scotia Barristers' Society. The speaker of the evening was Dr. M. Grattan O'Leary, President of the Ottawa Journal and the acknowledged dean of Canadian journalists. Dr. O'Leary, a man with half a century's experience as Parliamentary observer and critic, traced the career of several lawyers who were outstanding Canadian

Parliamentarians, in an interesting address entitled "The Lawyer in the Public Life of Canada". Special entertainment was provided by the Law School Quartet. The Saturday morning session was chaired by the Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilesley, Chief Justice of Nova Scotia, and featured addresses by Dr. A. L. Goodhart, Master of University College, Oxford, and the Hon. William O. Douglas, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Dr. Goodhart spoke on "The Lawyers' Influence on Public Morality" and developed the thesis that, contrary to the conventional conception, law has an effect on society, particularly on public morality, and he showed how the common law courts and lawyers play their role in this influence.

Mr. Justice Douglas compared pre-trial procedures in several countries and said that there was considerable room for improvement on this continent. He felt it was a shocking thing that in any civilized country the police could be allowed to bar a citizen from communicating with his lawyer, and claimed that every citizen should have the opportunity to have legal counsel even when charged with minor criminal offences, especially since a series of minor convictions compounded themselves into heavier sentences because of the citizen's accumulated "criminal record".

After the morning session a buffet luncheon was served in the law library for the alumni and special guests.

Confer Seven Honorary Degrees

In the afternoon at a special convocation seven honorary Doctors of Laws were granted by the University. Recipients were: internationally known Maritime law authority, Charles Jost Burchell, Halifax, for 20 years a lecturer at the Dalhousie Faculty of Law; Mr. Justice Douglas; Dr. Goodhart, Dr. O'Leary; and Francis Reginald Scott of Montreal, noted Canadian poet, editor and professor of law at McGill University.

Receiving degrees in absentia were: retired County Court Judge Albert Watson Bennet, who in 1885, was the first person to receive the degree of Bachelor of Laws from Dalhousie University; and John Delatre Falconbridge of Toronto, Dean Emeritus of Osgoode Hall Law School.

Dr. Scott, an authority on Canadian constitutional law and civil rights, gave the convocation address, "The Function of Lawyers in the Protection of Civil Liberties". He stressed the point that the only real rights were those that had effective remedies, and said, "the right to a fair hearing before an administrative decision is taken affecting a citizen's liberty or property, the right to unbiased exercise of discretionary powers, the right not to be judged by someone who is acting in his own cause—these principles sound more legalistic and technical than freedom of religion or speech, but in a world in which the functions of government are constantly increasing they may touch the life of the citizen as frequently and importantly."

Million Dollar Dunn Foundation

In his opening remarks at the convocation Dr. Kerr announced that through the generosity of the Sir James Dunn Foundation, a fund of more than one million dollars has been set aside to provide for a librarian, a cataloguer, and a stenographer for the law library, and there will also be provided in each law school year, seven scholarships worth $1,500 each to be awarded to young Canadians of promise, regardless of their province of residence. The scholarship plan will come into effect in 1959-60, and since they will be awarded as entrance scholarships which can be renewed, it could mean that in three years' time 21 such scholarships would be in effect in the law school. This is indeed, as Dr. Kerr has termed it, "a princely gift." In addition, the University will allot $10,000 annually for the addition of books to the law library.

After the convocation a tea at Shirreff Hall marked the end of a very successful and satisfying celebration.

The 75th anniversary will be remembered as a significant milestone in the history of the institution, giving an impetus to its work and a renewed faith in its future as it enters the last quarter of its first century.

A NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

By Professor Carmen Moir of the Alumni Executive

It is interesting to note that as of December 1st, 1958, we had approximately 1,400 paid members of this Association. Since our year ends on March 31, 1959, we can expect more members to pay their $3.00, but where are the rest of our Alumni members?

Surely those members receiving a copy of this Alumni News, if they haven't sent their $3.00 to the Alumni Office, should add another resolution to their New Year's list—that they will pay their dues faithfully to the Dalhousie Alumni Association in the coming years.

We all realize that some New Year's resolutions are hard to keep, but here is one that should be easy. It's simply a matter of sending a cheque or money to the value of $3.00 to the Alumni Office. What use is made of this money? Just look at the reverse side of your Alumni billing—look at all the worthwhile activities!

If you have not acted on this notice sent to all Alumni, do so today—send your $3.00 and become a paid up Alumni member,—and also keep a worthwhile New Year's resolution!

BRILLIANT WELSHMAN JOINS LAW FACULTY

John Lloyd Edwards, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D., regarded as one of the leading authorities on criminal law and criminology in the British Commonwealth has been appointed to the Sir James Dunn, Bart. Chair in Law at Dalhousie University.

A native of Wales, Dr. Edwards was graduated with the degree of LL.B. from the University of Wales in 1939. He became a Lecturer in Law at the University of London in 1951, and has been a member of its Board of Law Examiners since then. In 1954 he joined the Faculty of Law of the Queen's University, Belfast, where he has been Assistant Dean and Advisor of Students. He and his wife and family arrived in Nova Scotia the middle of August.

Professor Edwards is an able lecturer and writer. He has published many articles in leading legal periodicals, such as the Law Quarterly Review, the Modern Law Review, and Current Legislation Problems.

He is now writing a book on "The Law Officers of the Crown" which will include a comparative study of the office of Attorney-General in the various parts of the British Commonwealth and the United States: At Dalhousie Law School he will teach Criminal Law, Criminology and Jurisprudence.

The professorship was established in 1951 as the result of a gift from the Algoma Steel Corporation Limited and was named in honour of its president, the late Sir James Dunn, Bart., Q.C., LL.D., one of the most distinguished graduates of the Law School. The first holder of the Chair, appointed in 1952, was Professor W.R. Lederman who recently became Dean of the Faculty of Law at Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario.

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF LAW

Daniel Merlin Nunn, B.A., B.Ed., LL.B., LL.M., has been appointed assistant professor of law at Dalhousie Law School.

Professor Nunn was awarded the Master of Laws degree with distinction by Harvard University in June of this year. He attended Harvard Law School as a post-graduate student in Corporation and Labour Law, having been granted a Ford Foundation fellowship in 1957.

He was one of the top ranking students at Dalhousie Law School in recent years. He was a winner of the Nova Scotia Barristers' Society Scholarship and the F. L. Milner Prize. He received the degree of Bachelor of Arts from St. Francis Xavier University in 1950 and a Bachelor of Education from the same university in 1951. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Bruce Nunn of Sydney, Cape Breton.

Two Important Medical Appointments

With the recent appointment of Dr. William A. Cochrane as full-time Associate Professor of Paediatrics and Associate physician at the Children's Hospital, Dalhousie University has its first full-time teacher in Paediatrics.

The announcement of Dr. Cochrane's new post was made simultaneously with that of Dr. Kurt Aterman as associate professor of Pathology and director of the Children's hospital laboratory.

The joint announcement was made by Dr. A.E. Kerr, President of Dalhousie and Mr. Stanley Lee, chairman of the hospital's Board of Directors.

Dr. Cochrane, graduate of the University of Toronto in 1949, has undertaken post graduate study at Toronto, Cincinnati, London, England, and Boston. He holds the certificate in Paediatrics of the American Board of Paediatrics and is a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.

Keenly interested in the research aspects of his specialty, Dr. Cochrane has done extensive work in the nutritional aspects of mental deficiency in infants and in childhood diabetes. He is also interested in the use of radioactive isotopes in the study of certain diseases of childhood.

This full-time position has been established with the aid of a generous grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation.

Dalhousie, in common with most other Canadian and American schools, has found it necessary to engage a few full-time specialists as teachers in the clinical departments. Dr. Kerr pointed out that the increasing complexity of modern education demands the services of men able to devote all of their time and energies to the teaching and clinical problems in which the university and hospital have common interests. However, the Medical School will continue to depend to a great extent on the devoted services of the practising physicians of Halifax, he added.

Hospital Director Stanley Lee emphasized that Dr. Cochrane's appointment was only one of several recent moves to expand the services of the Children's Hospital, including the appointment of Dr. Norman B. Coward as Professor of Paediatrics and head of the Department of Medicine in the Children's Hospital, and the establishment of a clinical pathology laboratory under the direction of Dr. Kurt Aterman.

Dr. Aterman who came here from England, is a graduate in Medicine both from Charles University, Prague, and Queen's University, Belfast, Northern Ireland. He has had extensive post-graduate study in Paediatrics and Pathology at the Hospital for Sick Children, Great Ormond Street, London, and the West Middlesex Hospital. He also spent two years at Harvard Medical School and the University of Chicago.

Dr. Aterman has had extensive research experience with some 25 publications since 1950 to his credit.

Miss Meagher, told reporters: "This is the most important occasion for me since I entered the foreign service. There's only one first time such as this."

Women members of Israel's armed services provided the guard of honor for Miss Meagher, who arrived at the ceremony in the presidential limousine.

She wore a smart, dark grey suit with a collar of Canadian mink. Her bell-shaped blue hat sported a white feather.

Mrs. Meir stood beside President Ben-Zvi as the speeches were made.

Among the senior officials on hand was Michael Comay, Israel's first ambassador to Canada and now deputy director-general of the foreign ministry.

Miss Meagher, a tall slender woman, is a former school teacher. So is Mrs. Neir.

Prior to becoming Canadian ambassador to Israel, Miss Meagher served in Tel Aviv as Canadian charge d'affaires.

She taught school in the Nova Scotia capital for 10 years before joining the External Affairs department in 1942 as a temporary clerk in an all-male department. She qualified as a permanent employee five years later.

After special assignments in Washington she was posted to Mexico for four years. Later she served, with the department's United Nations branch in Geneva, Chile and New York.

In 1953, Miss Meagher was posted to London as first secretary. She became counsellor in 1956 and was named charge d'affaires in Tel Aviv last year.

The Ottawa Journal commenting on the honor conferred on this graduate of Dalhousie University said, "Miss Margaret Meagher would always have special mention in the history books of Canada as the first Canadian woman to represent her country with the rank of ambassador. . . . ."

"She has qualifications that indicate she may make a name for herself and on that account wins a second place of distinction in the records. As a former teacher, she has a studious bent and confidence in dealing with people, including those who put a strain on patience. She has worked her way up through the department, serving in several foreign countries, in London and in the United Nations branch. Last year she became the second woman named by Canada as a charge d'affaires, being stationed in Israel, and now she is an ambassador to that country.

"In Mrs. Golda Meir, Israel's foreign minister, Miss Meagher will have no shrinking violet to deal with. Mrs. Meir, who has one of the hardest tasks of the kind, is a well-seasoned, two-fisted, somewhat undiplomatic diplomat. Israel, surrounded by hostile neighbors that are unreconciled to its existence, is a sensitive country in a troubled part of the world. Ambassador Meagher has been given no sinecure for an initiation".

Honor Outstanding British Scientists

Dalhousie University conferred the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws, on three outstanding British scientists, at a special convocation September 10.

The distinguished trio included two Noble prize winners, Edgar Douglas, Lord Adrian, vice chancellor of the University of Cambridge and Master of Trinity College, Sir Edward Appleton, principal and vice chancellor of the University of Edinburgh, and Dr. G. A. Currie, vice chancellor of the University of New Zealand.

The Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, chancellor of Dalhousie University conferred the degrees on the candidates who were presented by University President, Dr. A. E. Kerr. Canon Puxley of Kings University pronounced the invocation and benediction.

In honoring Lord Adrian, it was pointed out by Dr. Kerr, Dalhousie University recognized the outstanding contributions this internationally acclaimed Neurophysiologist, educational administrator and author has made to the medical world. Lord Adrian, won the Nobel Prize for his work in the physiology of the nervous system. He is a chevalier of the Legion of Honor (French), holds the gold medal of the Royal Society of Medicine of which he is a Past President, and has many other honors including 25 honorary degrees. He was created a Baron in the Honors list of Queen Elizabeth, in 1955.

Of Sir Edward Appleton, Dr. Kerr said: "His work on the ionosphere led to a great development in radio research and to the development of 'radar', which has been called the most essential reason for allied victory in the Second World War". Sir Edward who was honored with a degree honoris causa for the 18th time, was a Fellow and Medallist of the Royal Society and was honored with the Nobel Prize in Physics, a knighthood, the presidency of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, among other honors.

Speaking of Dr. Currie, the president said: "Apart from his learning and achievements in Biology, Geology and Agriculture, both academic and applied, and as the vice-chancellor of two universities in the Antipodes, George Alexander Currie has a more intimate claim upon our interest and respect: as a triple graduate of the University of Aberdeen, he has shared our association with the family seat of the Earls of Dalhousie from which this University derives its origin and its name".

Want More Federal Money For Nova Scotia Universities

Dalhousie and the other Nova Scotia universities and colleges are much behind resolution No. 7 which was presented to the Federal-Provincial Canadian Conference on Education in Ottawa in September. This resolution called for the federal grants to universities and colleges of Canada to "be made on a more realistic and equitable basis".

The 1957-58 basis of the grants was a federal vote of one dollar per capita for Canada's total population, assigned to the provinces in terms of each province's population and distributed within each province in terms of the number of full-time degree-course students enrolled at each institution.

The Conference regarded this total annual vote of some $17,000-000 as quite inadequate in view of "the increasing proportion of student enrolment to total population and the rising cost per student." The upsurge of child-life in Canada in the past decade and a half is one of the highest in the world and we are now faced with nearly six million young Canadians under the age of fifteen. Moreover, an ever higher proportion of the upper age-group keeps coming to college. As a result, university enrolment will at least double between 1955 and 1965 and quadruple between 1955 and 1973.

University Costs and Student Fees

Every student costs the university several hundred dollars more than tuition fees can cover, quite apart from the fabulous expense of new buildings to accommodate the incoming tide of classes. Nor are unit-costs static. So much that universities must use, now costs more than double what it did at the onset of World War II. In every province of Canada, the need is urgent for more financial aid from every possible source. The provinces have been preoccupied with the provision of extra buildings and teachers for an "exploding" school population. As that explosion now reaches the universities, it is their turn to face a financial crisis.

There is another aspect of the federal grant problem that is crucial for Nova Scotia. The distribution of professional schools is not homogeneous among the provinces. In the four Atlantic provinces, Nova Scotia is the only province with college training in medicine, pharmacy, dentistry and agriculture and it handles most of the Atlantic region's law and engineering. As a result, it has a much higher percentage of students (approximately forty per cent) from outside its borders than is the case in any other province. Since, however, the federal grant is based on the provincial population, Nova Scotian universities do not get a cent extra for all of these students from outside, so far as the federal grants are concerned.

Rates Per Student Across Canada

The result of all this, in the several provinces, may be seen from the following figures for the rate per student in each province in 1956-57: Newfoundland, $561; Prince Edward Island, $320; Alberta, $290; Saskatchewan, $265; Ontario, $261; New Brunswick, $200; Quebec, $194; Manitoba, $192; British Columbia, $176; Nova Scotia, $155.

The argument is sometimes raised that Nova Scotia's rate is low because an excessive number of its young people go on to university. The federal census of 1951 flatly contradicts this theory. At age nineteen, the percentage of the provincial age-group still in the class-room is: British Columbia 16.8; Alberta 16.7; Saskatchewan 16.3; Ontario 15.0; and Nova Scotia 12.2. At age twenty, the percentages are: British Columbia 10.0; Alberta 8.9; Saskatchewan 8.9; Ontario 10.1; and Nova Scotia 7.1. At age twenty-one, the percentages are: British Columbia 7.3; Alberta 5.4; Saskatchewan 5.5; Ontario 6.9; and Nova Scotia 4.3. It seems obvious that the excessive registration in our universities is not made up of Nova Scotians. Nova Scotian colleges do the work while other provinces' colleges get the money.

The ideal solution, from the Nova Scotian's point of view, would be a standard national rate per student. Unfortunately, the provinces that are now getting more than that average, would hardly surrender their privileged position without a fight. A more probable but less equitable solution would be the setting up of a national minimum, supported by extra federal money. That injustice should be perpetuated forever seems hard to swallow. The increase of fifty per cent in the grants to all provinces, announced in August, 1958, has been welcomed everywhere, but it still leaves untouched the colossal discrimination against Nova Scotia in the basis of distribution.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

From the leaves of the Dalhousie Gazette

DELTA GAMMA—First meeting of Delta Gamma was held on October 3. The program consisted of address on Dalhousie of the past and present. The girls were lucky in having Mrs. Truman, the first lady graduate to describe Dalhousie of the old days, while Miss Gunn read an interesting description of the present state of affairs. And a special treat was enjoyed in looking at some fine Pre-Raphaelite pictures belonging to Principal Magill. The meeting was a decided success, and the expression of enjoyment seemed to augur well for the coming year.

* * * * *

On account of having put a good English rugby team on the field, Dalhousie and the supporters of her athletic club have been subjected to severe criticisms by many of the citizens and more than one of the newspapers of this city.

* * * * *

On Wednesday morning, February 10, 1908, the Dalhousie Hockey team left the city for Sydney and Glace Bay. Antigonish brought a bunch of St. F.X. boys to the station to wish us "Bon Voyage" and we were sorry to have to pass through without giving them a game.

DAL PROFESSOR WINS AWARD

Congratulations to Dr. R. L. de C. H. Saunders, head of the Department of Anatomy at Dalhousie University, one of three Canadians, to win a James Picker Foundation award for 1958-'59!

The three Canadian Picker Foundation awards for 1958-'59 totalled $7,500. The other two went to Dr. Albert Jutras, department of radiology, Hotel Dieu Hospital, Montreal, and Dr. J. S. Dunbar, Montreal Children's Hospital.

The National Academy-National Research Council of the United States, which continues to administer the U. S. portion of the program, announced that their awards for 1958-'59 on behalf of the James Picker Foundation amount to about $74,000 and consist of ten research grants, six fellowships, and one grant for a scholar in radiological research.

Dr. Saunders, M.D., F.R.S.E., F.R.S.A., (London), was born in Grahamstown, South Africa. He was educated at Rhodes University, South Africa, and Edinburgh University, Scotland.

After he came to Dalhousie he was first assistant, then associate professor of anatomy; then professor of pathological anatomy, and head of the department since 1950.

A Canadian citizen, he was elected this year to be a Fellow of the New York Academy of Science. He is also a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and a member of the British, Canadian and American Association of Anatomists, (a council member of the British and Canadian associations).

He was awarded a travel grant from Nuffield Foundation for a three months visit to England in 1955, and took part in a year-long symposium on X-ray microscopy at Cambridge University in 1956-'57.

Dr. Saunders is co-author, with W. Redisch and F. F. Tangco, of a book entitled: Peripheral Circulation in Health and Disease. He has also written other articles in the field of X-ray microscopy.

PERSONALS

A most welcome visitor to the Alumni Office and Campus during the summer was Dr. James Barnes, B.A. '99, M.A. '00 a native of Halifax and now residing at Haverford, Pennsylvania. His contemporaries will recall that he received his degree with honors in mathematics and physics, and the following year on obtaining his M.A. he was awarded the 1851 Exhibition Scholarship, which he held for three years. He studied at Johns Hopkins, receiving his Ph.D. in 1904, and for a number of years was Professor of Physics at Bryn Mawr College. In 1930 he went to the Franklin Institute as Director of the Physics Section, and later was appointed Associate Director of the Museum, which position he held until his retirement in June of this year. Dr. Barnes has published over thirty articles on original experimental and theoretical work done in various college and industrial laboratories and for which he was starred in "American Men of Science". This work was mostly in the field of X-rays, ultra-violet, visible and infra-red radiations and will be found in the Philosophical Magazine, Physical Review, Astrophysical Journal, etc., and references to them in many textbooks. He is a member of numerous scientific Associations. An American citizen since 1919, he is a Major in the Ordnance Reserve Corps of the U.S. Army, now retired.

Dr. Malcolm B. Dockerty, M.D., C.M. '34, is now director of the laboratories at Methodist and St. Mary's Hospitals at the Mayo Clinic, since their recent integration. The following appeared in "Mayovox", a Mayo Clinic publication:

"A change in organization of the Section of Surgical Pathology took place this quarter following the departure of Dr. John R. McDonald who had been in charge of the laboratory at Methodist Hospital. The laboratories at Methodist and St. Mary's are now administered as a single unit under the direction of Dr. Malcolm B. Dockerty. Fellows are assigned to both areas. There is a limited interchange of professional personnel which provides necessary coverage during clinical trips and attendance at national meetings. An advantage of the integration, Dr. Dockerty points out, is the fact that a large volume of referred material now funnelling through a common channel, becomes available for study by all staff members and fellows and eventually becomes part of a common pool for the teaching of fellows. All fellows assigned to Surgical Pathology now attend the same lectures and demonstrations conducted by various members of the Clinic Staff. Consolidation of the two Surgical Pathology Laboratories is in the Mayo tradition, Dr. Dockerty believes."

Dr. E. J. Gordon, M.D., C.M. '41, is employed at Doctors' Hospital, Detroit, doing Surgery. After graduation he practised in Amherst and Pughwash, and then took postgraduate surgical study in England. Following this, he interned at Henry Ford Hospital Detroit, completing his residency in 1954. In 1956 he received his F.R.C.S. (C) and in 1957 became a diplomate of the American Board of Surgery.

Mother du Sacre Coeur, the former Beatrice Margaret Smith, B.A. '25, M.A. '27, was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart in June. In 1927 she was appointed to the Classics department of Marymount College, Tarrytown, N.Y., and in 1937 was made Dean of the College. Following the completion of her doctoral studies at Fordham University, she received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Latin. In 1953 she was appointed Marymount College's fourth president.

George J. van Beek, B.Sc. '47, Chief Engineer of Courtaulds (Canada) Ltd., has been appointed to the Board of Directors of the newly-formed company of Courtaulds Moulded Products of Canada Ltd., which will manufacture fibre glass pleasure boats.

Commander R. Gordon Harris, B.Sc. '31, now resides in Edmonton where he holds the appointment of Comptroller of Medical Services (Alberta) Inc. It will be recalled that he was the one who collected and presented the Hugh Graeme Fraser Memorial Scholarship Fund to the University in 1933. Prior to the War he was articled with the firm of Crowell, Balcom & company in Halifax. Called for active service in 1939, he served with the Royal Canadian Navy until 1952, including a period in Japan in 1951. In 1952 he retired at Esquimalt with the rank of Commander. During the next four years he was employed in the oil industry in Calgary, and last year received his present appointment.

Professor R. M. Wiles, B.A. '27, Professor of English at McMaster University and Mrs. Wiles are spending a year in England on sabbatical leave. With the assistance of a Senior Fellowship from the Canada Council, Prof. Wiles hopes to complete the writing of a book on the earliest English provincial newspapers. He is living in London, but his research will take him to fifty or sixty towns all over England.

Dr. James C. Vibert, M.D., C.M. '51, received the degree of master of science in surgery from the University of Minnesota in June. He has completed a fellowship in surgery at the Mayo Foundation, Rochester, Minn., which is a part of the Graduate School of the University of Minnesota. He is practising in Truro.
