Your Alumni Office maintains a filing system containing information on about 10,000 Dalhousians. The value of such a record to the University and to the Alumni Association is obvious. Many individual alumni, too, have found the system of value, in locating old classmates and in many other ways. But the system only reaches its peak efficiency with your co-operation. A post-card or telephone call to advise the office of any change of address or occupation will help us to keep the records in tip-top shape.

A Degree of Merit

The Chairman of the Board of Governors, Mr. Donald McInnes, Q.C., in addressing the semi-annual meeting of the Alumni Association remarked, in effect, that Dalhousie did not aim to be a big university, but rather a place at which to get a degree of merit.

Dean Horace Read, of the Law School, recently announced that two 1959 graduates of the Law School had been awarded post graduate fellowships by the Law Institute of the Americas. He further stated that the two recipients, David Archibald Stewart and William James Sullivan, were the only Canadians to win a Law Institute Fellowship this year. And, what is more, these fellowships previously have been awarded to only nine Canadians and six of them were graduates of Dalhousie. They were holders of a degree of merit.

Activity and Interest

We would respectfully direct attention to a new feature in this issue, appearing as, "With Other Alumni".

It is not only interesting, but should be helpful, perhaps directional, to note what some other alumni associations are doing. There is no question about many alumni associations doing things, things that are really a benefit to their alma mater.

In an alumni, as in any other organized body, where there are objectives and activity there is interest. The two are inseparable. Vice versa, lack of activity, lack of interest. As we learned years ago, from the immortal "Howard", "the pot boils, friendship lives."

Back The Tigers

Four prominent Dalhousie alumni, all of them past presidents of the Alumni Association, believe in encouraging varsity football as an alumni activity, or in modern parlance, as a "project." There are probably many others who so believe. But these four have done something about it,—something definite. They have sent an appeal to a large number of alumni seeking donations to a fund designed to meet expenses of pre-season football training for Dal's first team.

The "touch" is light and the early response has been pleasing. Further details relative to the letter and the response are given on page 25 of this issue under the heading

We would like to point out that the fund is still open.

And, we would like to ask, where is the Dalhousie alumnus, or alumna, who would not like to see the Dal Tigers win championship honors in 1959? And where is the Dalhousian who would not take pride in inwardly saying, "I was behind that team!"

A Message from

The Dalhousie Alumni President

By Arthur J. Meagher

Dear Fellow Dalhousians:

The hum on the campus of riveting machines, cranes and bulldozers intermingled with blasting and other foreign, but welcome, noises issuing from huge mounds of earth which surround partially completed structures, building materials and swarms of workmen, is an omen of Dalhousie's great expansion. The Sir James Dunn Science Building is well under way. The foundations are being poured for the mens' residence. The existing Science Building will soon be converted to house the growing Department of Chemistry. Additions to Shirreff Hall and the Law and Medical Buildings are being talked of.

It is indeed a great honour to be chosen the president of the Dalhousie Alumni Association during this period of expansion and I only hope that the splendid records of Dr. A. B. Campbell and the other past presidents of the association can be maintained. Fortunately, the newly elected executive of the association will be greatly assisted by the recent action of the Board of Governors of the university in authorizing the appointment of a Director of Alumni Affairs. The activities of this official, whose duties will primarily be the development of the Dalhousie Alumni Association and the best possible relations between the University and its Alumni, should provide the added spark and follow up for the activities of the association.

The executive of the association has not met as yet to consider a program for the coming year. Foremost in our minds will be the continuing development of the Alumni News under our new, but experienced editor, Mr. George Herman; the organization and de-

AWARDED $4,000 SCHOLARSHIP

Award of a Ford Foundation Law Teachers Fellowship to William H. Charles, B.A., LL.B., a Dalhousie Law School graduate of 1958, is announced by Harvard University. The value of the fellowship is four thousand dollars.

Mr. Charles will attend the post-graduate department of Harvard Law School next year as a candidate for the Master of Laws degree. He was a very outstanding law student at Dalhousie, winning the Class of 1911 Prize, the Harvey Todd Reid Prize, the Smith Shield and the Stuart Lane Memorial Prize in Administrative Law.

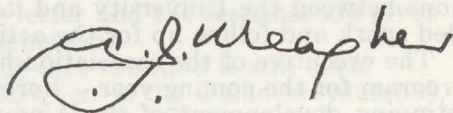

A veteran of the United States Air Force, he holds the B.A. degree from Sir George Williams College in Montreal and is a graduate of the East York Collegiate High School in Toronto. He is now practising law in Calgary. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Charles, of 694 Forty-Eighth Avenue, Lachine, Quebec, formerly resided in Winnipeg.

SHIRREFF HALL RUG

The Shirreff Hall Rug Fund, as stated in the annual report, now stands at $1200 approximately, of which more than half was contributed by 113 former residents of the Hall. While deeply appreciative of their ready response, it is thought that there must be many of the remaining 400 who received letters who intend to assist, but for various reasons have neglected to do so. If so, this is a reminder that the fund is still open, and a small contribution from them, or from any other sympathetic alumnae would be warmly welcomed.

velopment of existing and new branches of the association; the completion of the Dalhousie Alumni Fund for the Men's Residence; and increasing the interest of the Alumni in the activities of the university and the students.

It is the wish of all Dalhousians that Dalhousie, the Association and the activities of the students will continue to thrive during this coming year, but this will require the continued co-operation and interest of all Dalhousians. I know we can count on this.

President,
Dalhousie Alumni Association.

A message from

The President of Dalhousie University

Dr. A. E. Kerr

The following message from Dr. Kerr is a portion of his address to the University Convocation on the morning of May 14, which was devoted chiefly to the non-professional faculties. The President reviewed the developments that had taken place during the past year. He spoke of the increase that had been registered in the student body, the additions that had been made to the academic staff, and the physical expansion that the University had undertaken. He referred particularly to the Men's Residence and the Sir James Dunn Science Building presently under construction, and the Institute of Oceanography, which has just been organized with the financial support of the National Research Council of Canada. The Sir James Dunn Science Building will make possible a programme of study and research that would have been beyond the reach of the University without the up-to-date facilities that it will provide; and the Institute of Oceanography will not only add a number of scientists to the staff but will enable the University to undertake investigations in an area that is still largely unknown.

Continuing President Kerr said:

"I do not want to leave you with the impression that Dalhousie has become so engrossed in the natural sciences, important and exciting as they are, that it has forgotten the liberal arts. To do that would be the great betrayal of the universities' trust. The one thing, to quote a familiar text from the New Testament, it ought to do, and not leave the other undone. A very discerning critic of Canadian education has described the universities of the Maritime Provinces as citadels that guard the interests of the humanities and I hope Dalhousie will always enjoy that distinction.

"According to the wisdom of the ages man's moral and spiritual victories are his most important conquests. There is a danger in these days that he may equate the overcoming of the world with the sending of his satellites into space, stupendous as that achievement is, and aiming his missiles at the moon. Even when he has done these things his most imperative need will be for a faith that will ennoble and transform his individual and corporate life as a human being.

"In Carlyle's day the achievement that thrilled men was the railway on which they hurtled along at the incredible speed of perhaps thirty miles an hour. Carlyle himself left a vivid account of his train journey to Edinburgh, with Thomas Huxley as his companion, to be installed as Rector of his old University. But he was not foolish enough to suppose that a man can travel fast enough or far enough in any direction to get away from himself, or that any new invention can alter the fact that the real issues of man's life are within. 'Mount your railways' cried Carlyle. 'Travel at fifty miles an hour'—and that meant some indulgence in fantasy in his time. 'Nay more', he said, 'travel at five hundred miles an hour'—and man today has now achieved a speed in the air of four times that figure, and lived to tell the tale. But with a mighty effort of imagination Carlyle swept far ahead of even our generation that is ambitious to send a man to the moon, and shouted that though we 'do yacht voyages on the belts of Jupiter, and stalk deer on the rings of Saturn',—our most vital problem will still be to find a satisfactory way for a man to live with himself and with his fellowman, in conformity with the ineluctable will of God."

Referring to a famous definition of the functions of the University as that of transmitting to succeeding generations the best that mankind has thought or accomplished in the past, in which heritage morals and religion are of special importance, President Kerr said that too many modern universities have failed to take this definition of their task seriously. "In particular, they do too little to elucidate the place of religion, and they send out graduates who have not thought about it with the intelligence that they exercise in their other fields of interest".

"Perhaps our universities are still too close to the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries to render this service. H. G. Wells, in his Outline of History, on which I heard a world-famous historian say he would stake his professional reputation, wrote that the present divorce between religious teaching and organized education, which has characterized so much of our

MEDICAL BUDGET $1,000,000 PLUS

Dalhousie Medical School has a budget for the 1959-60 year that exceeds one million dollars. A statement to this effect was made by Dr. Chester Stewart, Dean of Medicine, in addressing a Halifax service club. The undergraduate teaching program for training medical students will take about $720,000. Dalhousie Public Health clinic requires approximately $50,000. Another $50,000 is the cost of training specialists in medicine and for providing courses for doctors practicing in the Atlantic Provinces. During the past six years 12,000 doctors have registered for various graduate programs at Dalhousie Medical School. Next year Dalhousie's medical research program will cost about $250,000.

western thinking since about the middle of the nineteenth century, is a 'transitory dislocation', since—and I quote—'education is the preparation of the individual for the community, and his religious training is the core of that preparation'. I suggest that until this dislocation is corrected, and the universities offer students not just scientific and secular knowledge but an 'ensemble of ideas about man and his place in the universe'—I borrow the phrase from a scholarly work on universities by a famous Spanish philosopher, recently deceased—they will not accomplish their highest mission.

Meanwhile, if Dalhousie has taught you to think with integrity, and has planted even a few pillars in your temple of faith, you may find your own way forward, keeping 'alive to all true values', holding fast to 'whatsoever things are pure and true and lovely and of good report', and making a place in your philosophy not only for the revelations of the scientist, but for the things that the historian and the poet, the prophet and the philosopher and the saint, together, have to teach".

A Message from

The Dalhousie Students Council

By Stuart G. Mac Kinnon

Dalhousie's Student Union Building

"... Drawing into a common fellowship the members of the several Colleges and Faculties, ... gathering into a true society the teacher and the student, the graduate and undergraduate; ... the members ... may discover within its walls the true education that is to be found in good fellowship, in friendly disputation and debate in the conversation of wise and earnest men, in music, pictures and the play, in the casual book, in sports and games and the mastery of the body and lastly, that ... its halls may be dedicated to the task of arming youth with strength and suppleness of limb, with a clarity of mind and depth of understanding, and with a spirit of true religion and high endeavour."

This extract from the Prayer of the Founders of Hart House at the University of Toronto indicates something of their great dream of the role that the House would play in the life of the University community. At Dalhousie we have no such centre but we do have our dreams, and with courage and perseverance we will some day soon see their realization.

For many years it has been felt that Dalhousie needed a student union building but nothing was done about it until 1957 when the Student Council set up a committee to make a survey of the financing, administration, and function of union buildings in North America. As a result of the report of this committee the Council voted to set aside $15,000 as the beginning of a fund for a student union building, and recommended that the building be situated somewhere between Forrest and Studley.

When the committee report was presented to the Board of Governors in the spring of 1958, the Board approved in principle the idea of a student union building at Dalhousie.

The 1958-59 Council carried on committee work on the union building. The committee investigated the needs of campus organizations and ran a contest for the best drawing and plan of a building. It is felt that at the very least the building should contain a lounge, meeting rooms, snack bar, offices for the Gazette, Pharos, Student Council and other organizations, and that provision should be made for expansion of facilities.

Kind of Hard To Believe

(Dalhousie Gazette)

At a Council of Students' dinner given by the Chairman of the Board of Governors and the President of the University the question was raised: What has happened to the Law and Med songs and cheers? All Council members looked blank; they had never heard of them. Has the apathy on the campus become so widespread that the old historic songs and cheers of the two largest professional schools died out without notice of their passing? This seems unbelievable but true. Dr. Kerr has sent us copies of the two songs and we print them below in hopes that the two schools will learn them and come out singing at the top of their lungs next hockey and basketball games. A challenge as to which school can sing the louder would help speed the learning we feel. We suggest that a member of each executive be delegated to trace the yells as well. Let's have some spirit!

THE LAW

There's not a flaw, flaw, flaw,
In the boys in Law, Law, Law,
The students up at Dalhousie,
There's not a flaw, flaw, flaw,
In the boys in Law, Law, Law,
That's the work for you and me.
They smoke and chaw, chaw, chaw,
Those boys in Law, Law, Law,
And drink the very best cold tea.
An LL.B. is the thing for me, to H-with the Medical's old M.D.
Leave your girl and come along with me, to Law at Dalhousie.

THE MED

There was a Med, from Dalhousie,
Zwilliwilliwick, bum, bum
Who loved an awful mess to see,
Zwilliwilliwick, bum, bum
He'd spend twelve hours a day or more,
Zwilliwilliwick, juchheirassa,
Dissecting corpses steeped in gore,
Zwilliwilliwick, bum, bum.

The measure of support of the student body came in February of this year when a motion to increase the student council fee in order to raise money for the erection of a student union building was passed unanimously at a student forum.

Planning will be continued by a Student Council committee this Summer and will include consultation with architects, and general mapping out of a means of financing the building. Wise counsel will be needed for the task and it is expected that the Board of Governors and the Alumni will be asked to appoint representatives to the planning committee.

In the fall the proposal to raise Council fees, put forward by the forum, will be presented for the approval of the student body in the form of a referendum.

It is evident that the students are on the move. They fully realize that the initiative and prime responsibility must rest with them, but realize too that a structure to fill Dalhousie's needs will cost several hundred thousand dollars, which the students alone cannot hope to raise. The students look to the Alumni for strong support in this very meaningful aspect of life at Dalhousie.

The Alumni Fund

By C.B. Havey, Past President Dalhousie Alumni Association

In November 1955, the Dalhousie Alumni Association inaugurated what was intended to be its major project, the Alumni Fund. The Fund was designed to provide a channel through which alumni might contribute to the financial support of the University.

To make the idea somewhat more tangible, we set as a goal for the first five years the raising of at least $100,000 to be applied towards the provision of a men's residence, long considered one of Dalhousie's most pressing needs. During the first eighteen months we received contributions at a rate sufficient to enable us to reach this goal. By May 1957, the fund stood at approximately $31,000. However, in the succeeding two years we faltered a bit—the total was approximately $55,000 in May 1959. It will be necessary to raise some $45,000 in the next eighteen months if we are to reach our objective.

Thus far only 703 individual alumni have contributed to the fund, many of them more than once. While it is true that in the first instance our appeal was limited to the alumni not subjected to the more skilled professional approach made to graduates in Medicine, Dentistry and Law (10% of whose contributions were allocated to the fund), it is equally true that many to whom the appeal was made have not responded as yet. We must get support from many more of the 7,500 alumni on our active mailing list, if we are to contribute our mite to the cost of construction of the men's residence.

Grants from the Canada Council have made it possible for the Board of Governors to proceed with construction of the residence, but leave a large amount to be raised from other sources. We feel that much of the balance should come from the alumni, who know better than anyone else that such a residence is needed and how much it will mean to Dalhousie.

If and when we make the proposed contribution towards the cost of the residence, we shall have reached our first objective.

In setting up the Alumni Fund, our long-range objective was—and is—to encourage all alumni to contribute regularly to the support of the University and thus to establish a comparatively predictable source of revenue which will be available either for current operating expenses or for such special projects as may arise in the future.

We cannot reasonably expect continued support from others if we do not ourselves contribute in such measure as we can afford.

Progress Reported at Alumni Annual Meeting

Satisfactory advances throughout the year, an all-time high in paid-up memberships, progress toward the appointment of a full-time director of Alumni Affairs, a successful appeal for the Shirreff Hall Library Rug fund, were reported at the annual meeting of Dalhousie Alumni Association.

The happy gathering was held in Shirreff Hall Monday, May 11 with the President, Dr. A. B. Campbell, presiding. At 6.30 p.m., a reception for the graduating classes, afforded a pleasant opportunity for old and new alumni to get acquainted with each other.

The brief, and bright business session that followed included the adoption of reports presented by President Campbell, by Rita A. Creighton, vice president of the Alumni and Chairman of the Women's Division, and the financial statement by Treasurer G. M. McConnell. The results of the balloting for alumni officers, executive alumni and alumnae governors was announced. The complete list for the year is published on page one of this issue.

A highlight of the evening was the address by Past President George Farquhar when he nominated Right Honorable J. L. Ilsley, Chief Justice of Nova Scotia as honorary president of the association.

The meeting concluded with felicitations as retiring President Campbell handed over the gavel to the new president, Professor Arthur Meagher.

We have much pleasure in publishing, herewith, the above mentioned reports and the address by Mr. Farquhar.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

This report must begin on a note of sorrow. On March 17 the Hon. Sidney E. Smith died suddenly in Ottawa following his return home from a speaking engagement in this city. He was in many ways the most distinguished Alumnus of our Law School where he lectured for some years following graduation and was later Dean from 1929 to 1934. A suitable resolution and letter of sympathy was sent to Mrs. Smith by your executive. I ask that you stand for a period of silence in respect to the memory of this great man.

The reports you have heard show satisfactory progress throughout the year. I am happy that I can give a similar report on all our activities.

First of all our paid-up membership is now over 2,000 which is, I believe, an all-time high. We have also nine new Life Members which is also a record. This increase is due to the excellent work of our membership secretary, Mr. Carmen Moir and to Mrs. Giffin in the Alumni Office. I want to thank them on your behalf. There is lots of room to grow as we sent the Alumni News to over 8,000 who are all potential members of this Association.

On June 19, 1958, while the Medical Association met in Halifax, the Dalhousie Medical Alumni Association was formed as a branch or affiliate of this Association. A constitution based on our own was adopted at a dinner meeting which was the largest of its kind to date. It is felt that this branch will be of interest to a large number of graduates who came to Medical School from other universities. A committee is working on the relation of this new body to our Association. I can report satisfactory progress. This will be continued by the new executive and a complete report brought to you at our next annual meeting.

We held our semi-annual dinner meeting on Thursday, March 12. It was a very enjoyable evening and I am sure everyone was interested in hearing Dr. George Wilson speak on his experiences at Dalhousie since he came here 39 years ago. I want to thank Dr. Wilson again on your behalf. I want also to thank Dr. Lambertson, David Coward, Leon Cole, and the members of the Dalhousie Dramatic and Glee Society for the excellent musical programme they gave us.

I am sure that we are all happy to see the progress of the new buildings on the campus. The Sir James Dunn Memorial building will house the departments of Physics, Engineering and Geology. It will be a scientific centre for the whole of Canada and will be the finest building of its kind on this continent.

The foundation of the Men's Residence is well underway. This building will house 150 students and have a dining room to accommodate approximately 250. It is encouraging to think that our future semi-annual and annual meetings may be held in this new building.

Our Dalhousie Alumni Fund which has contributed to having the residence built at this time, is not growing as rapidly as it should. We have now on hand $55,391. This is made up of $5,000 contributed from the Association Fund, approximately $20,000 which was allotted from the amount raised in the separate campaigns by the faculties of Medicine, Dentistry and Law. $30,391, which has been contributed by 703 individuals, many of whom are sending a regular yearly contribution to this fund. Here again we have great possibilities for increase when all our Alumni have been interested.

Perhaps the most significant thing to happen this past year is the progress being made toward the appointment of a full-time DIRECTOR OF ALUMNI AFFAIRS. Full information regarding this position was given in the folder included with each ballot. A number of applications have been received which will be considered in the near future. There is every prospect of having a suitable full-time Director in charge of all Alumni activities during the coming year.

We were fortunate in securing Mr. George Herman, B.A., as our editor for the issue of the Alumni News which reached you in January. He is continuing his work for the next issue. I want to thank Mr. Herman for his kindness and co-operation in the past year.

Finally, I want to thank the executive for their co-operation during the past two years. I feel that it has been a real privilege to work with them and I do appreciate the conscientious manner in which they considered the various questions discussed at our meetings. I want also to express our thanks to Miss Reynolds and her staff for the service they are rendering us at this meeting.

A. B. CAMPBELL,
President.

REPORT BY CHAIRMAN OF WOMEN'S DIVISION

Mr. President, Dr. and Mrs. Kerr and Members:

Although the distaff side of the Alumni Association has had only two general meetings, it has shared in several other activities. Seventy members served at the Convocation Tea last Spring, and our executive members assisted with preparations for the semi-annual dinner in February.

It was my pleasant duty to represent the Alumnae at the three special Autumn Convocations, and at the social gatherings attendant upon them, and also to be present at the receptions held for new students and for students in the Faculty of Graduate Studies.

At our Fall meeting we were fortunate in having Miss Marion Dauphineé, Dr. Roberta Nichols, Professor Andrew MacKay and Professor Peter Waite participate in a panel discussion on the subject "The Ideal Arts Course." Dr. J. B. Hardie acted as chairman. This meeting was very well attended.

On October 25th the Executive Committee held a tea at the home of the Chairman, for women students in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and the Law School. Our guests were most appreciative of this gesture of welcome shown them by the Alumnae.

The weather man was most unkind to us on the day of our Annual Tea and Sale, but so attractive were our wares that it was a complete sell-out, our new venture the Book Stall proving very popular. The net receipts were in excess of $500. From this amount a $200 scholarship is to be given to a woman student doing graduate work at Dalhousie.

Our Spring meeting took the form of a buffet supper provided by various members, and was followed by a much enjoyed showing of colored slides of her native Spain presented by Dr. Maria Teresa Garcia-Lopez of the Department of Modern Languages at Dalhousie.

Miss Helen Reynolds, Dean of Women, has continued to create a happy atmosphere for our meetings at Shirreff Hall and assisted us greatly with arrangements for our Fall Sale. A special expression of thanks is due this year to Miss Reynolds and to Mrs. Giffin of the Alumni Office, who together compiled a list of former residents of the Hall, drafted a letter, and sent out an appeal to them, asking for financial support of our Shirreff Hall Library Rug Fund. This appeal was most successful and has realized to date over $600 with prospects of more to follow.

The Alumni Executive has passed a resolution permitting the Women's Division to administer the money it raises—the treasurer is therefore passing over to us $646.06. This means that with the above mentioned $600, I am able to report that $1200 can now be allocated toward the $2,000 objective for the Library rug.

My personal thanks go to Mrs. Gordon Blair, our Secretary Treasurer, and to all members of the Executive of the Women's Division for their co-operation and willing assistance throughout the year.

All of which is respectfully submitted

Rita A. Creighton,
Vice-President of the Alumni and Chairman of the Women's Division.

$20,640 TO ASSIST DAL STUDY

Federal Health Minister J. Waldo Monteith has approved a federal grant to Dalhousie University toward cost of special studies. Robert J. McCleave, Dalhousie graduate and Member of Parliament for Halifax said he had been advised by the minister that $20,640 had been approved for this purpose. The funds will be used to assist in cost of an investigation into the psychological and physical factors associated with complications in pregnancy which will be carried out at the university. The money, made available under the mental health grant system, is to provide for the salary of a full-time psychiatrist and other personnel, and for materials, equipment and supplies used in the study.

PRESENTATION TO DR. E. I. SCAMMELL

The Board met May 5 following the adjourned meeting of The Provincial Medical Board's representative committee which was given a report by Dr. M. J. Scammell to mark his retirement. Following thereupon there was a presentation of letters, written by a wide range of members, which was presented to mark the presentation being made by Dr. A. B. Stoddard, past president of the Board. Other present were Dr. A. B. Stoddard, Dr. President of the P.M.S. Dr. Peter Belliveau, and Dr. J. C. Ballin, Past President of the Board. Dr. M. G. Thompson, the Board's Past-President, was unable to attend due to ill health.

APPOINTMENT OF DIRECTOR OF ALUMNI AFFAIRS

In response to a recent circular which was sent out to each member of the Dalhousie Alumni Association, the Association received applications from several Alumni interested in filling the position of Director of Alumni Affairs.

The applications are being considered by a Special Committee appointed by the Board of Governors of the University for that purpose and there is a good possibility that the Director may be selected from the applicants. However, if this should not materialize, it would greatly assist the Committee if any member of the Association, who is acquainted with any person interested and qualified to fill the position, would have that individual communicate with the Alumni Office immediately.

PRESENTATION TO DR. H. L. SCAMMELL

On Saturday, May 9, following the semi-annual meeting of The Provincial Medical Board, a complimentary dinner was given in honor of Dr. H. L. Scammell to mark his retirement as registrar, following more than twenty-five years of faithful service. A wrist watch, suitably inscribed, was presented to him, the presentation being made by Dr. A. B. Campbell, past president of the Board. Others present were Dr. A. E. Doull, Jr., President of the P.M.B., Dr. Pierre Belliveau, and Dr. J. C. Ballem, Past Presidents of the Board, Dr. M. G. Tompkins, the fourth living Past-President, was unable to attend due to ill health.

Mr. Farquhar's Nomination of Rt. Hon. Mr. Ilsley

Mr. President:

I rise to place a name in nomination for the post of Honorary President of the Dalhousie Alumni Association for the ensuing year—a post created some time back to give an opportunity to this Association to express appreciation, from time to time, to particular individuals whom the Association would honor—this being the highest honor in the gift of this Association.

But first will you bear with one who has long since passed the three score years and ten and allow me by way of introduction to go back to my early days during the last two decades of the nineteenth century. Sir John A. MacDonald was then Prime Minister of Canada and Blake the leader of the opposition. I can still see, as if it were yesterday, the great streamer in the old blacksmith shop, stretching half across the wall, with Sir John A. and the Union Jack's gleaming folds spreading to the breeze, and underneath the words "A British subject I was born and a British subject I will die". In those days there were no autos, no radios, no paved roads, not even a gravelled road, and not even bicycles, and there was lots of time to read in that ideal un-hurried life and so I could tell you something about India, South Africa, New Zealand, and of course England and Scotland, for we had relatives scattered all over and papers regularly came from all these places. The result was that I could tell you about Gladstone, or what went on in these different countries, but I knew mighty little about Canada or even Nova Scotia till I was far on in my teens. My roots were not here but across the sea where I was born.

Then I began to realise how little I knew about my own land, Canada, and so, while still a school boy, I had Hansard sent me regularly and laboriously read it through, page after page. To my uncritical eye a member of Parliament was one of the wisest of beings. He was chosen out from among thousands of others and so, as I thought, he must be one of the cleverest and wisest of men. So, avidly I read Hansard. Then one day my critical faculty awoke. It came about in this way. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was speaking. It must have been in 1896 for he was speaking on preferential trade with Britain, the time Canada gave Britain a preference in the Canadian market. He ended his speech with a moving peroration, borrowing the words of Ruth, the Moabite, spoken when Naomi was going back to Israel and had advised Ruth to remain behind among her own people. Ruth said, "Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following thee: for whither thou goest, I will go: and where thou lodgest, will I lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God, my God. Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried". Then followed a speech from the other side of the House, and next a speech from one of Sir Wilfrid's followers, and he ended his speech something like this, "I don't know where the Honorable, the First Minister, got the quotation but I presume it was from the pen of the immortal Shakespeare and then he rolled the same words with gusto in his conclusion. There followed another speaker and then a third follower of Laurier's took up the tale concluding something like this, 'As the first Minister has so aptly quoted the words of the immortal Shakespeare, "Whither thou goest, I will go, etc. etc."' and my ideal of a member became a little less shining.

So my critical faculty alive, I began to discriminate. I knew who talked sense and who talked anything but; who were partisan to the core and who discussed the subject on its merits. So it came about as time went on and public issues were discussed, I tired of hearing simply partisan speeches on either side and finally attended only meetings addressed by the representatives and leaders.

Then in the middle of the twenties there was a general election and in Kings-Hants they selected a young graduate of Acadia to represent one of the political parties. On a Saturday night he was to speak in Shubenacadie. I happened to be in the neighborhood and decided to attend the meeting and size him up. So I sat and listened as one and another droned on, from eight till nine, from nine to ten, from ten to eleven, everlastingly weary. Soon it would be Sunday morning—the candidate had been delayed. Finally as the hands of the clock struck eleven, he arrived. Now said I to myself, "This tired audience will test your mettle. If you keep them for more than fifteen minutes, I question your judgment". In came a bashful slight young man and kept us for just twenty minutes. There was no invective, no disparaging of opponents, but a straight concise, analytical, logical presentation of the issues, a delight to which to listen. In that twenty minutes he covered a lot of ground and in a way that stuck in the mind. I went home and told my wife that there was a new star in the sky—if he could only manage to get elected.

Well, he was elected and, elected, was most assiduous in his attendance in Parliament. A back bencher has plenty of time but he wasted none of it, but studied every question which came before the House. It was not very long before the Librarian of the Parliamentary Library said of him, that he made more use of the Library than any other member of the House.

He did another thing which struck me forcibly. When the session was over and he returned home, each Summer he made a sort of Report to the Nation to his constituents, giving a resume of what went on at Ottawa, devoid of partisanship, a practically objective report. Somewhere in those years I met a friend from his constituency, who said to me, "When I have business at Ottawa and I go to him about any matter, he gives me the closest attention and couldn't do more if I was one of his own supporters. I have never voted for his party in my life, but I can't vote against him". Next I heard what was said of him by the late Hon. C. H. Cahan, then a member of the government, speaking of him, he said, "He is one of the most useful members of the House. When he is on a committee, he deals with everything on its merits without a trace of partisanship".

It was no surprise then, when later, with a change of Government at Ottawa he was taken into the cabinet and later on his name became a household word as Canada's war-time Finance Minister. And here was an astonishing thing. The more he raised the taxes, the more he won the confidence of the people. Nobody likes to pay taxes, but they had confidence in this quiet, resolute, unspectacular Finance Minister who taxed till everybody felt it and paid off half the enormous cost of the war while the conflict was still raging. A remarkable performance.

I don't think I need to say more, other than that this gentleman, while Acadia is his first love, is a graduate of our own Law School and from time to time has given lectures to its students. Mr. President, I beg leave to nominate the Right Honorable J. L. Ilesley, Chief Justice of Nova Scotia as Honorary President of this Association.

There was not a dull moment at the semi-annual meeting of the Alumni Association held in the Nova Scotian hotel on February 12. After brief remarks by the president, Dr. A. B. Campbell, the meeting rolled on its interesting course. A piano duet by David Coward and Leslie Cole, and a mixed chorus by the Dalhousie Glee and Dramatic Society in selections from "Paint Your Wagon," a show that was given at Studley later in the month, were applauded to the echo.

Mrs. H. T. Creighton proposed the toast to the University most fittingly in a carefully prepared speech, not too long and not too short, but just right and was followed with the closest attention. Response was made by Donald McInnes, Q.C., the newly appointed Chairman of the Board of Governors. His mother graduated in 1887, and his father in 1888, closely associated with the university throughout his life and likewise Chairman of the Board when he was gathered to his fathers. The new Chairman, in a few well chosen words, spoke of Dalhousie, its past and continuing growth, the expansion still taking place, but stressed that the aim was not size, not to be a big university, but rather the quality of its work, its recognition "as a place to which to go if you want a degree of merit". He made a fine impression marked by the prolonged and enthusiastic applause which followed.

Professor Guy R. MacLean then introduced the speaker of the evening, Professor George E. Wilson, in a few terse remarks, ending that no introduction was needed as the speaker was known to everybody who had attended the University in the last forty years. Professor Wilson then took the floor and held the audience in the hollow of his hand as he just talked and reminisced about the past thirty-nine years at Dal. Fresh from Harvard, he landed at the old North Street station at night. Nobody met him and he set out to search for a place to stay the night. This was in 1918. He forgot to mention it, but this was when the war was still on and following the explosion, when it took months on end to get even glass to replace the shattered windows in hotels, stores and homes. He tried one hotel, then another, but they were all filled and he finally resigned himself to sleeping on a billiard table—not just the happiest introduction to his new sphere of labor. Then he kept his audience in gales of laughter as he drew pen and ink sketches of the staff of those other days: of his dignified reception by President MacKenzie in cap and gown: of professor Eben MacKay: of walking with professor Archie MacMechan out to the Sackville church and how the dignified “Archie” spouted poetry and declaimed, letting himself go uninhibited, a side of the great English professor his classes never saw: of how professor Howard Murray, the disciplinarian, asked to join Wilson and a small party on a visit to Rome: of how staying a month in Rome, “Howard” was non-plussed, things were in their wrong places, the seven hills had gotten shifted, this ought to be there and that ought to be here, and from day to day with this refrain ringing in his ears, Wilson at last said, “Well, why complain to me, after all I didn’t build the place.”

It was all great fun, Wilson speaking ad lib, a sort of unreportable speech. The old professors came alive again, and memories were stirred as we were carried back through the years. After a few brief words from President Kerr the meeting came to a close. The proceedings throughout were of a very high order and it is not too much to say that this may be classed as one of the finest Alumni gatherings. (G. F.)

Law Graduates Win Honors

William J. Sullivan

David A. Stewart

Two members of the graduating class of 1959 at Dalhousie Law School have been awarded post graduate fellowships by the Law Institute of the Americas. The recipients are David Archibald Stewart of Moncton, New Brunswick, and William James Sullivan of Trail, British Columbia. The fellowships are each valued at over $2500 and are for study in Comparative Commercial Law at the Southwestern Legal Centre at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas, and are tenable for the academic year 1959-60. Both students will be candidates for the degree of Master of Comparative Law.

Mr. Stewart was graduated from Mount Allison University in 1956 with the Bachelor of Arts degree. He is the son of W. C. Stewart, Q.C. and Mrs. Stewart of Moncton. While at the Law School he won the Frederick P. Bligh Scholarship which is awarded to the student of the first year, who, having made a high scholastic average, in the opinion of the Faculty shows the most promise of achieving high standards of professional and public service.

Mr. Sullivan completed his college work in Economics and Politics at Queen's University. His mother, Mrs. S. M. Sullivan, resides in Trail, British Columbia.

The Only Canadians

Stewart and Sullivan were the only Canadians to win a Law Institute Fellowship this year. It has been previously awarded to only nine Canadians, and six of them have been graduates of Dalhousie Law School. It was awarded to George A. Rogers in 1952, to Howard Crosby in 1955 and to G. Ian Farquhar in 1957, all of them former residents of Halifax. In 1956 the recipient was Alan M. Sinclair of Saint John, N. B.

In 1957 these fellowships were won by George F. W. Inrig of Picton, Ontario, and Charles J. Gillespie of Moncton, N. B. Rogers is now counsel for a large oil company in Calgary. Crosby is engaged in the practice of law with the Department of the Attorney General in Halifax. Sinclair is a professor of Law at Southern Methodist University, and Farquhar is practising in Calgary. Inrig and Gillespie are now completing their work for the post graduate degree.

All of the Dalhousie Law graduates who have been awarded this fellowship have been very successful in their post graduate work.

Word has been received that Inrig obtained the highest average of all of the graduate Law students at the Southwestern Legal Centre during the past university semester.

Awarded $3,000 Scholarship

James Thomas MacQuarrie, a member of the 1959 graduating class at Dalhousie University Law School, has been awarded an International Legal Studies Fellowship by the University of Pennsylvania Law School. The fellowship is valued at three thousand dollars.

He will do postgraduate work there in Labor Law and Corporations during the 1959-1960 academic year as a candidate for the Master of Laws degree. He received the Bachelor of Commerce degree from Dalhousie in 1957 and has been outstanding as a law student. In February of this year he was co-winner of the Moot Court final competition and was awarded the Hon. Sidney Smith Shield and the Harvey Todd Reid Prize.

He is the son of Mr. Justice Joseph H. MacQuarrie and Mrs. MacQuarrie of 121 Coburg Road, Halifax, and is a graduate of Queen Elizabeth High School.

Dalhousie Alumni Football Fund

Early in May the letter which follows, was sent to Alumni whom we felt would be sufficiently interested to donate the amount requested. The results have been encouraging. To date $850 has been received by the Alumni Office from 150 Dalhousians. A number have given very generously.

Dear Fellow Dalhousian:

We the undersigned have undertaken to act as an unofficial committee to assist the Dalhousie football team in meeting the competition which has developed during the past few years.

As a start in that direction, we feel that it will help our team to enable them to return to the campus right after Labor Day so that they may start training for the opening of the season which is usually the last week-end in September.

To pay one man's board and lodging for the period in question will require approximately sixty dollars. The coach informs us that he feels that he can muster a squad of twenty who will be willing to give up any wages they might earn during that period providing their living expenses are paid. We are sure that no one will question the value of this pre-season training. At the present time it is mid-season before the team is in condition. We also feel that men receive injuries which could be avoided if they were able to get toughened up before going into active competition.

This letter is being sent to men like you, whom we feel, will be interested in assisting our team. Will you please consider this carefully and if you are in favour of our action, forward five dollars $5.00 to the Dalhousie Alumni Office, c/o Mrs. Giffin. If you feel like sending a larger amount, it will be gratefully received. A receipt will be sent to you. Cheques should be made payable to the Dalhousie Alumni Football Fund. Any unexpended balance will be used to assist in providing a training table which will allow members of the team to attend practice regularly without being forced to miss a suitable meal. A financial statement will be published in the Alumni News.

We trust that you will consider this request favourably.

Yours very truly,

C. B. Havey,

Murray M. Rankin,

A. Gordon Archibald,

A. B. Campbell.

Not Enough Practice

We feel that some explanation should be given for sending this letter over the signatures of four of our members, acting as an unofficial committee.

In April the Football Coach, Mr. Mervin Shaw, B.Sc. (P.Ed.), attended a meeting of the Alumni Executive. The situation of the football team was fully discussed.

It was felt that Dalhousie was losing ground because the players were not getting enough time for practice and training. The two service teams have a large number of men to choose from, and ample opportunity to practice. They are well toughened up when the season opens. The other college in the league has built a team largely made up of students with experience in football gained elsewhere. They bring their squad back early in September for several weeks pre-season training. The advantage of this experience and training showed in their first game with Dalhousie last year which we lost 55-0. This score would have been larger only for the fighting spirit of our men. Our defeat was due to inexperience and lack of training. Some men were injured because they were not in proper condition. One man had his shoulder injured in the second quarter. At half time I helped tape it so that he could take some part in the third and fourth quarters, as he was anxious to continue doing his share to keep the score down. He showed good courage, but ran the risk of permanent disability. I do not think this injury would have occurred had he been in fit physical condition. In spite of their handicap, the Dalhousie Tigers had a creditable record for the season. Of the eight games they played they won four.

Deserve Credit

Young men and women who take part in athletics in Dalhousie deserve a great deal of credit. The academic standard is high. Every student must work hard to make the grade. Taking time out for practice is a real sacrifice. In football especially, practice is held after classes are over. It often ends so late that by the time the men have showered and dressed it is too late to get a proper meal. The need of a training table on even a part-time basis is obvious.

No Athletic Scholarships

With this background, the Alumni Executive were sympathetic but found it difficult to take any definite action. Dalhousie is an institution of higher learning, whose function is to educate students. It has always been recognized that while athletics have a place in college life, they are entirely secondary to academic standards. Your executive felt that this situation was proper and had no desire to have anything to do with athletic scholarships. It was obvious that the funds of The Alumni Association, which are obtained from $3 yearly memberships and fifty dollar life memberships, could not be used for one team exclusively. Moreover the income of the association is not sufficient to allow this type of expenditure. In this situation, we four who signed the letter, felt justified in forming an unofficial committee to make the appeal outlined. We did not feel justified in going to the expense of sending this letter to the 8,000 Dalhousians who receive "The Alumni News." It was sent to over 800 alumni. The response has been good, but it could be better. We really need $1,200.

If You Haven't

IF you have received a letter, and made your contribution, we want to thank you most sincerely for your assistance.

IF you have received a letter, and have not yet contributed, will you please re-consider the matter favorably?

IF you have not received the letter, will you please read this article carefully and if you are in favor of our appeal, forward your donation to The Alumni Office. Thank You!

Signed on behalf of the Committee,

A. B. Campbell,

Immediate Past President of the Alumni Association.

Dal's First Ph.D.

Dr. Kenneth Rozee

Kenneth Roy Rozee, of Halifax, was awarded the degree Doctor of Philosophy at the May Convocation and had the distinction of being the first one to be granted a Ph.D. degree in Dalhousie's 140 year history. Dr. Rozee's degree was earned in the bacteriological sciences, the only field in which a doctorate is awarded at present by Dalhousie.

Doings of Recent Grads

(By Helen Scammell)

I can still remember a bleak November day five years ago when a complete dearth of news hit the Gazette Office. The editors looked at the front page with nearly twelve inches of blank space and pondered whether or not a large soft drink advertisement could be put in where the blank existed. This was a low point to which Editors Bill Ingarfield and Fred Lister would not bend. As we stared across the campus, seeing the white-coated Science students come in for a coffee break, our news story appeared. It began to snow. The headline read, "Snowfall Blankets Dal Campus".

Once again, the writer of this article is in a quandry. My assignment is to write an article on the doings of recent graduates from Dalhousie, where they are and some interesting things they have done. Now let me say at once that my lack is not because recent Dalhousie graduates have failed to find new fields to conquer but rather that the finger of the author is not pressed on the pulse.

The president of the Class of 1955, David Fraser, is carving a niche for himself. He, along with his brother Paul, are running their own law office in Halifax. In addition to law activities David is the president of the Nova Scotia Young Progressive Conservative Association.

Still speaking of Davids from recent years, brings to mind the "engraved D" possessed by David, surname Peel. Having spent recent years in Paris, it is rumoured that China is next on David's travelling agenda. How many of you reading this column remember David in one of his less dignified roles in "It's A Steal?" This review also starred classmate Mary Paterson who is starring in a Grade 5 class at Shannon Park. Do you ever sing the "Game Warden" song for the class, Mary?

It is interesting to follow a chain of ideas on paper, because the thoughts of the aforementioned persons lead my mind towards Europe and some Dalhousie graduates over there. The first one to come to mind is George "Burpee" Hallett. Recent bulletins on George reveal that he is doing his post-graduate work at the University of London. At the same university are Nancy Lane, Campus Queen of 1957, and Loanne Young. The Brown brothers, Doug who was president of the Dalhousie Students Council in 1956, and John who received the Malcolm Honour Award in 1956, are in London. Dr. Mary Hunter, who received her M.D., C.M. in 1955, has spent the past few years doing post-graduate work in London and Edinburgh and lately, in Germany. She plans to return to continue

Quarterback Club For Alumni

With the coming football season, Dalhousie is to have a Quarterback Club. It will be open to those interested alumni who want to follow the Dalhousie Tigers as well as learn something about Canadian football.

The club will meet once a week when the season starts and films will be shown of the Dalhousie team as well as some professional teams in action. This will be followed by a short discussion of some of the strategy of the game as well as a question and answer period.

Notice will be sent out concerning the time and place of the first meeting. "We sincerely hope", says Coach Shaw, "that you come to these meetings and that the Dalhousie Quarterback Club will be a big success."

her work in Toronto. Sally Roper, whom most people will remember, if not personally, then through her unique college career, is doing post-graduate work in Heidleburg, Germany. Still keeping in the interesting place at the interesting moment, Sally has just completed a jaunt to Berlin, both East and West. I wonder if she is in Geneva now?

Back to the British Isles and thoughts of past philosophy classes. Al Sinclair and David Murray are in "digs" at Oxford while Simon Gray is attending rival Cambridge. I wonder why Cambridge lost the annual boat race after defeating Oxford for so many years? Were ex-Dalhousians on the teams? Marigold Fry, who received her Master's Degree from Dalhousie in Classics, became a Ph.D. from Oxford University last year and is now assistant professor of Philosophy at Bishop's College in Lennoxville, Quebec.

Having travelled from Halifax to Britain to Continental Europe, and back to Lower Canada, the carpet must return to its starting point. If this report awakens any memories for anyone or a determination to renew old acquaintances or even the desire to widen your horizons it will accomplish its purpose. If not—bridge anyone?

Come All Ye Old Dalhousians

Listen To This Tale:

COME all ye old Dalhousians and listen to my tale
 Which still can make me shudder, and might have made me wail:
 I was a verdant Freshmen in those dear days of yore
 And ardently absorbed each bit of well worn Campus lore;
 That Archie had a wooden leg was only one of these,
 His rusty gown I still can see a-blowing in the breeze,
 As from his class in English 1 he made his stately way,
 With a suspicion of a limp, a bearded face and gray;
 If your home was in Cape Breton and you did not wear a collar,
 But instead a "Jersey Sweatah" you could bet your bottom dollar,
 You would get a "pluck" at Christmas, and a "forty" in the Spring,
 And you entered into English 2, a shivering, frightened thing.
 But if Carlyle you quoted your path was strewn with roses,
 You became a member of his notable Bluenoses.
 Now I had nibbled Sartor, and threw a "wicked line,"
 On clipper ships I'd seen—that suited Archie fine,
 So to reward these virtues, O Evil Day and black!
 He gave me the privilege of working in the Stack.
 In that booklined battleship he was the great big cannon,
 His Midshipmite was Zaidee, his bo's'n "Biddy" Shannon;
 I was given Extra Reading! See what my big mouth got me,
 I should have heeded better what my dear old mother taught me:
 "If my son you'd be a sucker you should ever watch and look,
 "Or that big mouth of yours will get you fixed securely on a hook."
 Well, one day in late October, with the weather clear and warm,
 Archie had decided to go "yawting on the Awm",
 Dressed in his "ducks and blazer", he stopped off at the Stack,
 To give this ass a burden to bear 'til he got back;
 The day outside was balmy and the Devil made me boil
 That on a day so lovely I should sit, sweat and toil,
 Yes Satan made me well aware of all my woes and cares,
 As I followed poor old Archie up those steep steel-treaded stairs.
 Just then the thought came to me to test the Campus fable,
 I had the opportunity, I had the pin, and able.
 I had the pin poised in the air one inch from Archie's calf
 When suddenly there came the thought—now this will make you laugh:
 What if the pin strikes flesh and blood, and neither wood or steel,
 Where will you be O foolish one if that there leg can feel?
 Cold fear gripped at my vitals, now pardon me I pray,
 But I fuked the opportunity and threw that pin away.
 Years later I discovered how near I'd brushed disaster,
 When sinful Satan tempted me to prick my dear old master. . .

297 Received Degrees

On Thursday, May 14, 297 students from the five faculties, were graduated from Dalhousie University. There were two convocations, both in the Gymnasium, both well attended, and both presided over by President Kerr.

At 10:30 a.m. students in the faculties of science, commerce, arts and nursing science received degrees, and diplomas were presented to graduates in engineering, public health nursing, teaching and supervision in schools of nursing.

During the convocation exercises the university granted its first Doctor of Philosophy degree along with six master degrees. Four prominent Canadians received honorary degrees.

Two graduates of Dalhousie University, Dr. Arthur Jewitt, principal and vice-chancellor of Bishop's College and Dr. Fulton Anderson, department of philosophy, University of Toronto, were the main convocation speakers.

At 2:30 p.m. degrees were conferred on graduates in education, law, medicine and dentistry with diplomas presented in education and pharmacy.

A 28-year old Halifax man, Kenneth R. Rozee, received a Doctor of Philosophy degree. He had previously received both his BSc. and MSc. degrees from the local institution. Mr. Rozee completed two years of research at Dalhousie as a Defence Board of Canada research grantee on his specialty, virology.

Honorary degrees were conferred on Dr. Jewitt, Professor Anderson and Hon. Mr. Justice V. J. Pottier, judge of the Halifax County Court; Mrs. I. W. Killam, wife of industrialist Izaak W. Killam, received her degree in absentia.

Following is a breakdown of Maritime graduates by provinces: Nova Scotia, 187; New Brunswick, 27; Prince Edward Island, 15 and Newfoundland, 17.

A portion of Dr. Kerr's convocation addresses appears in this issue under the heading "A Message from the President of Dalhousie University."

For polio in childhood caused the lameness that we saw,
Had I pricked him at that moment I'd have pricked him "on the raw".

So listen verdant Freshmen, if you'd save yourself from sin,
You may safely carry matches, but never have a pin.

Two honorary degree recipients are shown with Dalhousie President Dr. A. E. Kerr following (1959) Spring Convocation Exercises. Left to right, Professor Fulton Anderson, Head of the Department of Philosophy, University of Toronto, Dr. Kerr, and Hon. Mr. Justice V. J. Pottier, Judge of the County Court for Halifax County, Justice in Admiralty for the District of Nova Scotia, Nova Scotia Royal Commissioner on Education, Finance, and Halifax Commissioner on Taxation.

Other honorary degree recipients not shown are: Dr. Arthur Jewitt, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Quebec and Mrs. I. W. Killam, Toronto.

Dean Horace Read's Tribute To His Friend and Predecessor Sidney Smith

With the sudden death of Sidney Smith, the nation lost a devoted servant, Canadian education lost one of its ablest leaders, and we at Dalhousie lost a great and warm-hearted friend.

Most people know the principal achievements of Sidney Smith's career, and many have testified eloquently of his accomplishments as a university president and statesman. Let us here remember particularly his days at Dalhousie. He excelled in all aspects of his life: as a student, as a law teacher and scholar, as a university administrator, and as a citizen. A true son of King's College, he was also a loyal alumnus of Dalhousie whose chief interest and affection centered in the Law School. Memory of him is recalled there today by The Smith Shield, donated by him for annual Moot Court competition, a visible token of the beneficial impact of his eight years as teacher and Dean upon the teaching methods and spirit of the School.

When, in 1920, a third full-time faculty member was authorized for the Law School, Dean MacRae, who had decided to introduce the case method of instruction at Dalhousie, chose Sidney Smith and sent him to learn it in its home, the Harvard Law School. Thus, he became the first Canadian law teacher to master that method and he used it with conspicuous success as all who were his students gratefully recall. In 1924 he joined the Faculty of Osgoode Hall Law School, but in 1929 was chosen, at the age of thirty-two, to become Dalhousie's youngest Dean. At that time he wrote with characteristic sincerity to his Dalhousie colleagues: "We must all help to keep up the traditions so well-founded by Weldon and furthered by MacRae and John Read. That line of predecessors demands from us all the best which we have. For myself, I lay down a second plank: honesty of purpose, common sense, energy and erudition in law. May God give me the strength and capacity to achieve that, but above all may I have the purpose to ask and seek it." Needless to say he gained and kept the confidence and cooperation of all and inspired all with what he called "the let's go spirit". He emphasized research as the essential basis of good teaching. When, five years later, he left to become the president of the University of Manitoba, he and his full-time staff of three had published three case-books and many articles on a variety of legal subjects, prepared a text book and firmly established the case method at Dalhousie. He had served as Editor of the Canadian Bar Review and two others of his faculty had edited the Dominion Law

Reports. A high proportion of his students have in their later years contributed largely to the scholarly, professional and public life of Canada.

Always Cheerful and Friendly

Always cheerful and friendly, he encouraged constructive criticism. It has been truly said that few men were more criticized or more loved by their friends. Certainly it is true that few have so well maintained their avowed principles and standards. When he left Nova Scotia to assume the presidency of the University of Manitoba his remarks at a farewell luncheon given in his honor embodied the creed by which he afterward shaped his distinguished career: "I am not taking with me any educational policy designed in Halifax for Manitoba. Any successful university policy must be related to the time and place of the particular institution. I will endeavour to take with me, as other sons of Dalhousie who have left the sea-girt province for the West, a resolution to give of my best in fair thinking, square dealing, hard work, common sense, and devotion to the institution and the community which I serve."

Here was a man who developed his innate qualities of leadership to the full, who as dean of a law school and president of two great universities, won the acclaim and support of thousands of citizens for his policies and gained the affection and confidence of faculty and students. Once when addressing a group of students he declared: "Strong in body and mind, you personify the promise of a new day. You are our hope for the maintenance of the Rule of Law which characterizes our British heritage, the more generous protection of the helpless and ampler opportunity for the sturdy. We believe in you." His attitudes and policies at Dalhousie and elsewhere were consistent with this declaration of faith.

There is real tragedy in the ending of a career at an age when the maximum effectiveness had been achieved and years of creative statecraft seemed to lie ahead. But there is satisfaction in the realization that Sidney Smith did so much so well. Dalhousians knew his sincerity, his irrepressible humor, his intellectual strength, his high spirits and his warmth. We will cherish him always in memory. (H.E.R.)

Tribute to Dr. Sydney Smith

BY

DR. ERNEST MARSHALL HOWSE
IN CHALMERS UNITED CHURCH,
OTTAWA, March 19th, 1959

"In Divinity and Love What's best worth saying can't be said."

And here again what's best worth saying would break through language and escape.

He was my friend; and of deliberate intent I shall not seek the luminous phrase, the glowing metaphor, which might imaginatively etch upon our inward vision the eminent man whom now we mourn.

He was my friend; and no tribute to his high talent is more worthy of remembering than that, among this catholic assemblage of those who pay formal tribute to his distinguished service, so many others can join with me in that proud litany: He was my friend.

Long years ago as a student in Dalhousie University I came to know him and to seek his counsel; and since that time the destiny that shapes our ends kept us in a contact which was almost unbroken and which steadily nurtured in me a widening admiration and a deepening affection.

For twenty years, first in Winnipeg then in Toronto, he and his family were my parishioners. I came to include within my warm regard the dear companion of his life, of whom he would say, as Mark Twain said of Livy, "Wherever she was, there was Eden". I watched his daughters grow up. I ordained him an Elder—an office the obligations of which he held in profound respect. But his largeness of heart and his overflowing friendliness, so reassuring to my timid reserve, led far beyond the normal ties of minister and official.

I recall that on my first Sunday morning in Westminster Church, Winnipeg, he went home from church and in his characteristic way immediately wrote me a letter, not only to send a word of more than necessary praise—he belonged to what Lord Ardmillan once called the Great Society of Encouragers—but also to add that his duties might keep him from many regular meetings but that if I ever needed him he would always be ready. His friendship soon outranged those generous words. In a wider realm than law he became my counsel.

In the duties of the local congregation, in the higher courts of the church, in war-time committees, and on fishing trips in Summer time, I came by varied association to know the measure of his strength, the versatility of his resource, the inclusiveness of his sympathy, the irrepressible buoyancy of his spirit. He “warmed both hands before the fire of life”; and a little bit of the world was always better where he was.

The almost incredible tidings of his unexpected death struck me first of all with the sharp reminder that “No man is an Island”, and that my life is diminished because his is ended.

Before we mourn the diplomat and statesman many a voice will echo mine: He was my Friend.

* * * * *

But, gathered here in the House of God for the last solemn and tender offices of faith and love, we cannot limit our concern to personal sorrow. Beyond the circle of his home and friends, Sidney Smith was a man of affairs, a man with a touch of greatness, a man who played a large part in his nation and in the world.

He was given ten talents and he invested them all. He bequeathed to his generation a legacy for the bounty of which the world had not to wait upon the cruelty of death, but which he had already been dispensing these many years in many fruitful ways. He added a life of noble usefulness to the high traditions of Canada. He has earned his accolade, “Well done thou good and faithful servant: enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.”

Less than two years ago he heard the final call of Duty. It came with notes abrupt and challenging. But quickly he began to feel that refusal would mean to be untrue to the best he was and knew. At the time he talked to me about it with the tremendous seriousness that lay beneath the initial banter. I can see him now, in his chair at home, pausing till his tea got cold, as he reflectively said that he had given what he could to education, and that if, in such time as he had to live, he could, under God, do something for the world and for the permanent peace of mankind, he would be content. He did not lose his life in his high service to mankind, he gave it.

Alas! he had so short a time. In the overwhelming pressure of events he must often have felt as Cecil Rhodes, “So much to do, so

DAL DOCTORS RECEIVE GRANTS

Three Dalhousie University cancer research workers, Dr. J. A. McCarter, Dr. W. I. Morse and Dr. S. D. Wainwright, have been granted a total of $20,690 in Cancer Research Grants and Fellowships for 1959-60 by the National Cancer Institute of Canada.

Dr. McCarter will receive $10,300 for studies of epidermal carcinogenesis, Dr. Morse $5,300 for studies in estrogen metabolism in carcinoma of prostate and Dr. Wainwright $5,000 for studies in mechanism and genetic control of protein biosynthesis.

little done". Yet even in that fleeting interval his service was incalculable. Because truth and sincerity shone through him, a lustre that, like light, could not be painted, he was able to convince many men from many nations that though Canada was speaking through a new voice, she was speaking through a representative of unimpeachable integrity, of genuine goodwill, of instinctive friendliness; a man with sufficient purpose to be sure, and sufficient strength to be flexible.

His unexpected death at the moment he was moving into the full stride of his labour is a heavy tragedy for Canada and for humanity. But at least he fell on the field. Not his to know the faded light of dwindling years. Not his to feel his final days an appendix in small print to bygone deeds.

As Dryden says:

"And could we choose the time, and choose aright, Tis best to die our honour at the height"

So he waved his farewell, his honour at the height. And he passed from those he served and those he loved to the "starlit strip between the companionship of yesterday and the reunion of to-morrow".

"No farther seek his merits to disclose,
Or draw his frailties from their dread abode
(There they alike in trembling hope repose)
The bosom of his Father and his God".

“With Other Alumni”

THE NAME “ALUMNUS”

The name “Alumnus,” you will recall, is from a fine old Latin verb—alere, to nourish.

This nourishing tells of a due life-action, a natural and expected fact in any society. Now, alumni are not limbs chopped and dropped from the body. So the nourishing is not ended. Alumni make up a real prolongation, a true part of that one whole which is the University society.

Again, this nourishing is not one-sided. It works both ways. Alma mater must continue to nourish alumni and they—alumni filii et almae filiae—must continue to nourish alma mater.

How does the University nourish alumni? She gave us once the seeds, many and fertile, for an unlimited growth in mind and character. But she does more, right here and now. For she is not a mere fond memory; rather she remains with and around us, real and tangible, herself ever growing in stature, status and prestige and pouring out to us along the folds of her gown the cultural riches constantly growing within her. She is a light, not dim and past but present and ever brighter and making us stand out and reflect her greater lustre.

And it is precisely by reflecting the lustre of the University that we alumni continue to nourish her. This reflection has been great in the past; hence the debt of the University to her alumni. But now the reflection must be greater in keeping with the greater light. Alumni will more and more show forth the glory of the University. (Reprinted from Ottawa Bulletin des Anciens)

THE MOVINGEST GROUP

Sir George Williams College Alumni

The task of compiling a graduates' directory is a gigantic one. A university's alumni would seem to be the “movingest” group of people anywhere—at least that's what it appears to us. We've double-checked names, addresses etc. against our association's files. We've attempted to make corrections up to the last moment. The time lag between receipt of the completed questionnaires and the publication of the directory (it took months of planning) also left us open to a number of possible errors. I hope we'll be forgiven if there are any.

$200,000 ALUMNI FUND

McMaster Alumni News

The McMaster Alumni Expansion Fund boasts a total of $152,306 in cash and pledges. This amount represents 76 per cent of the $200,000 objective and has been contributed by 2136 or 34 per cent of the graduates.

“To be three-quarters of the way to our goal is most encouraging,” said Syl Apps, Chairman of the Fund Committee, in commenting on the position of the Fund on March 16. “Yet I am rather surprised that only one out of three graduates have gotten behind the drive so far. I thought that many more would have shown an interest in our project by now.”

The $200,000 objective is what the Alumni Association has set as its share in the University's current expansion program. The money is to be used to build the theatre which is planned as part of the new Arts and Administration Building.

AN ALUMNI FUND

University of Alberta New Trail

In November, 1957, the General Alumni Association launched a campaign to raise $25,000 to assist the Jubilee Gymnasium (Rink, Pool, Gymnasium) Project, on the campus.

To date the target has been substantially over-subscribed. Gross receipts for the Christian and Winslow Hamilton Memorial Pool now total $27,050.98, and money is still coming in.

Eight years have elapsed since U. of A. alumni were asked to contribute financially to a building campaign on the campus. At that time they mustered approximately $7,000 which was used to help furnish the Students' Union Building.

Excavations have started west of the Students' Union Building. Completion is anticipated in 1960. Graduates of the University of Alberta can be proud of their accomplishment.

A REVITALISED ALUMNI

University British Columbia Chronicle

The U.B.C. Alumni Association has undergone a remarkable process of revitalisation during the past year. This process began with the Development Fund drive and it has picked up momentum during the year until now there are seven projects either completed or under study by various committees.

The most recently completed of these projects—Homecoming—was indicative of the increased interest which Alumni are showing in their Alma Mater.

All these projects are real evidence that the Alumni Association has discovered new avenues of work which will allow Graduates to be of greater service to the University and the community at large.

IMPORTANT CHANGE

Alumni Journal University Manitoba

The new buildings erected and others in the process of building; the move of St. John's and St. Paul's College to the central site; all are manifestations of rapid physical growth and a portent of development leading to a University area of which we will all be proud.

But the signs of growing greatness lie deeper. One must look beyond the surface of brick and mortar to see the stirring of a new kind of University. By far the most important change that has occurred in the past few years has been the growing emphasis placed on research in the University of Manitoba.

FIRST TO CAP WOMEN

Mount Allison Record

At dinner, over which President W. T. Ross Flemington presided, the vice-chancellor of the University of Cambridge, Lord Adrian, spoke briefly. "Here", he said, "we have a university which tells us a great deal about the way a university should develop to deal with the arts faculties and the basic sciences". He commended Mount Allison on being the first university in the British Empire to confer a degree upon a woman.

To Represent Dalhousie at International Conference

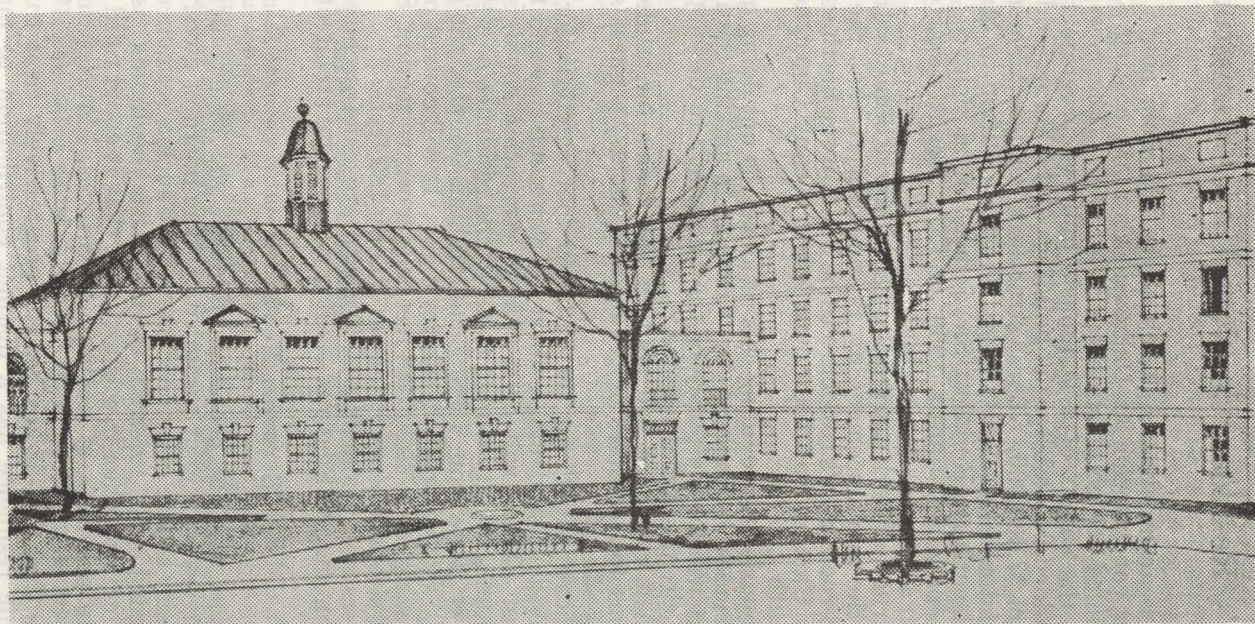

Dalhousie University is to be represented by Dr. W. R. Trost, associate professor of chemistry at the Conference and Congress of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry in Munich, Germany, August 26 to September 6.

Prof. Trost, who is national chairman of the inorganic chemistry division of the Canadian Institute of Chemistry, will be one of five to represent Canada at the international meeting.

A member of the Dalhousie University science faculty for the past 10 years, Dr. Trost is a graduate of the University of Alberta and McGill University. He did post-doctoral work as a Royal Society Fellow at Oxford University.

Aims of the conference, which will be attended by representatives of all the major nations, including those behind the "Iron Curtain," are to discuss and reach agreement on technical problems in the chemistry field.

Men's Residence Under Construction

Architect's drawing of the new $1,470,000. residence for men, now under construction at the north-east section of the Studley Campus. The north and south wings are not shown in this sketch.

Men's Residence is Now Under Construction

Here is an architect's sketch of the 158-room men's residence now under construction at Dalhousie Campus, costing $1,470,000 and scheduled for completion early in 1960. The new residence will mark the climax of a Dalhousie building program that since 1950 has added five substantial buildings and a library addition at a total cost of $7,000,000. These structures include, Memorial Rink, Arts and Administration Building, Kipling addition to MacDonald Library, Dentistry Building, Sir James Dunn Science Building, scheduled for completion in 1960, and the recently started Men's residence. Dalhousie is growing!

Construction work started the last of March almost immediately following the announcement by President Kerr that the contract for the 158-room men's residence to be built on the north east corner of Studley Campus had been awarded to Kenny Construction Co. of Yarmouth.

"Dalhousie, in providing this residence, is not doing more than making a modest beginning," Dr. Kerr said in making the announcement. "It will be the policy of the university to develop its residences as circumstances require."

The new residence will contain 153 rooms for students, four larger rooms for lecturers or graduate students, a guest suite and a janitor's suite.

Specifications call for an 87-by-40 foot cafeteria for resident and non-resident students, a library of the same size and two common rooms. There will be a chapel, recreation room, snackbar, laundries and a faculty dining room in the residence as well.

Built of stone from Lake Echo, Halifax County, the residence will be "U" shaped and four stories high. It will consist of a north and south wing, each 30 by 158 feet, and a centre section, 88 by 162 feet. The site will occupy an area 300 by 180 feet.

Mathers and Haldenby of Toronto are chief architects, with Duffus, Romans and Single of Halifax as associate architects.

Stresses Need

Dr. Kerr said the proposed residence was undertaken after a careful canvass by a joint committee of the board of governors and the university senate convinced them that such a residence was urgently needed. He referred to Dalhousie beginning as a non-residential college when it was assumed that it could fulfil its function by the provision of lectures, classrooms, libraries and laboratories.

"Since that time it has become progressively clear that life in an academic residence has a distinct contribution to make to a student's education. Sessions of both the Association of Universities of the British Commonwealth and the Conference of Canadian Universities were devoted in recent years to an appraisal of the contribution that a residence is able to make to the total education of those concerned. It was maintained by some of the speakers in the presentations made at the Commonwealth meeting that residences are most desirable, and that non-residential universities must plan an extra-curricular program that would be a substitute for some of the advantages that life in a residence provides."

Dr. Kerr said the consensus reported by one of the larger Canadian universities where the question of residences was discussed at length was that "a young man who is book-minded and who lives in a family where personal work is easy is better in his own home than boarding in a college residence. For all other students the residence is an advantage from an academic point of view."

Rewriting Court Martial Proceedings

Dean Horace Read and other members of the faculty of Dalhousie University's Law School are rewriting the rules of evidence which govern court-martial proceedings of Canadian armed service personnel.

Aim of the new rules of evidence is to bring uniformity of courts martial to all three services, and to guarantee protection to accused personnel on the same basis as that provided in civil courts.

DIDN'T LIKE POST MOR- TEMS

Eben used to have a Saturday morning 2-hour lab class. If a student had two absent marks he was "dished" for the exams. A well known Dalhousian tells this one. He entered the lab while Eben was calling the roll, got a look that was bereft of a smile and from then on carried on as usual. Next Saturday morning the student thought he had better do a bit of checking. The following dialogue ensued:

Student: "Dr. McKay did you mark me present last Saturday?"

Eben: "I'll see."

Student: "Did you, sir?"

Eben: "I did not."

Student: "Will you sir?"

Eben: "Why should I?"

Student: "I came in sir, while you were calling the roll, you were at the 'Hs', and as you looked at me when I entered I thought you had marked me present."

Brief silence.

Student: "Will you, sir, mark me present?"

Eben: "I will this time. I won't on another such occasion. I do not like post mortems."

Student: "Thank you sir."

Dr. S. W. Williamson, M.D., C.M., of Yarmouth was recently made an honorary Rotarian in celebration of his 90th birthday. At the club luncheon high tribute was paid to the doctor's life of service to his family, his church and his community. Although taking things a little easier than in days gone by, Dr. Williamson is still practising the profession he has followed for 63 years.

Dr. Samuel Whitehouse, M.D., C.M. '16, a native of Yarmouth, has recently been appointed president of the Baltimore Medical Society. The following tribute in part appeared in the Baltimore News - Post: "Nova-Scotia born, and still in uniform, he came to Baltimore in 1919. The 40 years since then have put his name high among the most distinguished names in his profession. His selection as president of the Baltimore Medical Society is a well-earned tribute to his attainments as an internist, dealing with diseases of the internal organs. He is on the staffs of four hospitals—Hopkins, Women's, Sinai, and Union Memorial—and chief of the electrocardiograph department of the last named This editorial, is not merely a tribute to a distinguished doctor honored by his own profession. It is a tribute to a distinguished human being."

Dr. D. R. MacRae, M.D., C.M. '06, and Mrs. MacRae, recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Halifax. Dr. MacRae formerly practised at Sydney Mines, C. B. before his retirement a few years ago.

Hon. Milton F. Gregg, Law '23-'24, and Mrs. Gregg, are now living at Pettes Cove in the North Head district of Grand Manan where they have purchased a home. Mr. Gregg has recently returned from Iraq where he was resident representative of the United Nations for one year.

John E. Campbell, Pharmacy '49, was elected president of the Westville

Board of Trade at their annual meeting. He is proprietor of Campbell's Pharmacy in that town.

Gordon Stanfield, D. Eng. '37, was elected a director of the Mutual Life Insurance Company at their annual meeting held in Waterloo, Ontario. He is president of the Starr Manufacturing Works Ltd., Dartmouth, N. S. and a director of the Acadia Trust Company, Central Agencies and the N. S. Light and Power Company. He is a member of the Engineering Institute of Canada, and is chairman this year of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Dr. Donald O. Hebb, B.A. '25, is president-elect of the American Psychological Association. He is past president of the Canadian Psychological Association and author of several books and articles in his field. The American Journal of Psychology has described Dr. Hebb's "Organization of Behavior", a book published since the war, as "the most important contribution to psychological theory in recent years". Dr. Hebb, who is a Ph. D. from Harvard, is the first non-American to have been elected president of the American Psychological Association. Dr. Hebb has recently been elected as a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada.

Dr. J. M. Corston, Sci. '31-'34, M.D., C.M. (Lond), '41, has been elected a Fellow of the Royal College of Obstetrics and Gynaecology. He is also a Fellow of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynaecology. He has been a member of the Dalhousie University Faculty of Medicine for the past 9 years.
