

May 15, 1972

Mr. Timothy O'Keefe
Martin Brian & O'Keefe Ltd.
37 Museum Street
London WC1, England

Dear Tim:

It was great to hear from you after all this time. I would love to know what you have published and what you are going to publish. It would be nice if we could re-establish some collaboration. As a matter of fact, we are publishing like mad, and I would like to tell you more about it all. I will be in London on June 19th -- tied up in a meeting all day, and having to leave the morning of the 20th, but perhaps we can get together at least for a little while.

Arlecchino, the wonderful dog, died in February last year. It was very sad, indeed. However, he left me some offspring and the three puppies I kept are now studying arithmetic, music and typing like mad, and of course will undoubtedly result in a new book.

With my very best wishes,

Yours cordially,

Elisabeth Mann Borgese

Martin Brian & O'Keeffe Ltd

PUBLISHERS

37 Museum Street, London WC1
01-405 8302

14th March 1972

Mrs Elisabeth Mann Borgese,
Via Vecchia Fiesolana,
San Domenico, Firenze

Dear Elisabeth,

I thought of you the other day when I heard Prof. Ritchie-Calder talking on the radio here about this extraordinary dog, called Arlecchino, who actually typed letters of apology! He said he had encountered the dog in California, and I deduced, laboriously, that you too must be there. Anyway, it was very gratifying to have some news of you and the ménage!

I am struggling away to get the above off the ground; we've published only a few books as yet but there seem to be signs of good work that might be possible. The story of the interval is not particularly interesting but I'd like the chance, if you happen once again to pass through London, to have an overdue word with you.

My very best wishes,

Timothy O'Keeffe

Martin Brian & O'Keeffe Ltd

PUBLISHERS

37 Museum Street, London WC1

01-405 8302

586-1925

24th May 1972

Mrs Elisabeth Mann Borgee,
The Center for the Study of D.I.,
Box 4068, Santa Barbara,
Calif. 98103

Dear Elisabeth,

even/

Yes, indeed, if you are in London let us meet - provided you have a spare half hour: that's a more hectic schedule than usual/for you!

Poor Arli: I thought it could only have been him that Ritchie Calder was speaking about but at least it's good to know that the lessons carry on with his progeny and that arithmetic and music have been added to the syllabus. How about quadratic equations?

Good luck,

Timothy O'Keeffe

Martin Brian & O'Keeffe Ltd

PUBLISHERS

37 Museum Street, London WC1
01-405 8302

18th July 1972

Mrs Elisabeth Mann Borgeese,
Pacem in Terribus,
International Ocean Institute,
Royal University of Malta,
Msida

Dear Elisabeth,

Many thanks for your letter. I was sorry not to have seen you, though had to laugh at your telephoning the 'other' Timothy O'Keeffe in the telephone directory. I think that man gets more calls and letters for me than I do!

Malta seems to be a nice place 'to do the oceans from', and let's hope you will leave them cleaner than you find them. It's a tough battle but we are just getting into our publishing stride, though we obviously have to work on a small scale (much the best way, all the same). I'll send you a proof of what I think is an important book, SCIENCE AT THE CROSSROADS by a very scholarly Professor who, after all these years, has discovered to his horror that Einstein's Special Theory of Relativity was miscalculated. You might give it to one of your physicist friends to read, who might anyway have heard something of the controversy already.

Ah, Forte! It would be lovely but it's impossible. All that cunning table tennis we'd be playing...

Love,

Timothy O'Keeffe (Managing) · Brian Rooney · Martin Green

September 17, 1972

Mr. Timothy O'Keeffe
Martin Brian & O'Keeffe Ltd.
37 Museum Street
London W01
E N G L A N D

Dear Tim,

Thanks for the book which I found here on my return from Jamaica. Looks terribly interesting. Before reading it myself I am passing it on to my colleague, Ritchie Calder. I'll write to you soon about it.

Love,

Elisabeth Mann Borgese

Book + cc letter to R.C.

Martin Brian & O'Keeffe Ltd

PUBLISHERS

37 Museum Street, London WC1

01-405 8302

1st September 1972

Dear Elisabeth,

I am sending the proof of the book I mentioned earlier, Professor Dingle's SCIENCE AT THE CROSSROADS.

