

445 McLeod Street,
Ottawa, Ontario,
January 19, 1947.

Mr. Thomas H. Raddall,
Liverpool, Nova Scotia.

Dear Mr, Raddall,

I am reviewing your latest book, "Pride's Fancy" in our Book Study Group of our Business and Professional Women's Club shortly, and I am being presumptuous enough to ask you for some biographical material to use. I had already written Maclean's for this but they were not able to give me any.

I had the privilege of hearing you talk to a group of Service people at Dalhousie some two years ago and enjoyed very much your stories and your advice to these budding writers. I have enjoyed your books and stories, particularly those of Nova Scotia, which have been very real. I was privileged to cover quite a lot of your province in the eighteen months I spent there. One of the most interesting trips was one to Tancook where I went from Chester in September of 1944. You may be sure I read your article with the greatest enjoyment.

I trust you will be able to oblige me in this.

Very truly yours,

Helen Millikin

*Recd
Jan 25/47*