M&S
THE CANADIAN PUBLISHERS

October 26, 1988

Mr. Thomas H. Raddall
44 Park Street
Liverpool, Nova Scotia
BOT 1K0

Dear Mr. Raddall:

Although I admire your work, I have never had the pleasure of being your publisher. Until now, that is. The role of Publisher at M&S is a challenging one - with the company's distinguished history I am very conscious of Newton's phrase about standing on the shoulders of giants - but the most exciting part of it is that I will be working with authors like you.

Perhaps because of my editorial background, I believe that authors must be absolutely central to the workings of any good publishing house. "Without authors we are nothing", I reminded a recent publishing congress in the U.K., and some years ago at the Banff Publishing Workshop I instituted a lecture entitled simply "Don't Forget the Author".

Fine words, you say, but what do they mean in practice? First, I think you will find that my reputation is for treating authors respectfully and well. As a small specific point, I have already circulated word that whenever any M&S authors are in the house, I want to meet them. I will never be "too busy" to see visiting authors, or to return their phone calls in due course.

In short, I am determined to make sure that M&S is a place where writers feel that they are honoured, and where everyone in the company is aware that it exists only to serve its authors, bringing them in touch with their readers. As you are probably aware, we have been building up a wonderfully professional team able to publish, promote and sell books better, I think, than anyone else in the country.

I look forward to being in touch again soon.

With best wishes

Yours sincerely

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads 'Doug Gibson'.
