DR. TROST APPOINTED DEAN

President A. E. Kerr of Dalhousie University has announced the appointment by the Board of Governors of Professor W. R. Trost, of the Department of Chemistry, as dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies, commencing September 1, 1961.

Dr. Trost took his bachelor's degree in chemistry with first-class honors from the University of Alberta in 1944, and his doctor's degree from McGill University in 1947. He spent the session 1947-48 in Oxford University on a fellowship of the Royal Society of Canada. He came to Dalhousie as assistant professor in 1948, was made associate professor in 1954, and full professor in 1960. He spent a sabbatical year in the Mines Branch, Ottawa, 1957-58.

Dr. Trost was the first chairman of the Division of Inorganic Chemistry, Chemical Institute of Canada, 1958-59 and was selected to be the Canadian delegate to the conference of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry, Munich, in August, 1959.

DR. JOHNSTONE RETIRES

Dr. J. H. L. Johnstone, who has been associated with Dalhousie as a student and teacher for over 50 years, has retired from the faculty of the University.

Dr. Johnstone received his B.Sc. from Dalhousie in 1912, his M.Sc. in 1914 and his Ph.D. from Yale in 1916.

During World War I he served with distinction in France and Salonika and was made a Member of the British Empire. At the outbreak of World War II, Dr. Johnstone and Professor G. H. Henderson established the first naval research station at Halifax and were responsible for the discovery and installation of the first anti-magnetic mine device used on Canadian naval ships. For his service in naval research during the War, Dr. Johnstone was made an Officer of the British Empire.

Dr. Johnstone began his teaching career at Dalhousie as an instructor in physics in 1912. He became assistant professor in 1920, associate professor in 1922, professor in 1925, head of the department of physics in 1945 and dean of the faculty of graduate studies in 1949.

He has been a member of the Defence Research Board, the National Research Council and the Fisheries Research Board. Dr. Johnstone continues to be a member of the Nova Scotia Research Foundation and plans to maintain an active role in this organization.

BOOK BY FIRST PRESIDENT IS REDISCOVERED

A Canadian literary rediscovery highlights the list of "New Canadian Library" titles published on May 20th by McClelland & Stewart Limited. The book is "The Stepsure Letters" by Thomas McCulloch which was first published in book form in 1862 as "The Letters of Mephibosheth Stepsure".

McCulloch, who founded Pictou Academy and who became the first President of Dalhousie University, began writing his humerous "Letters" early in the 19th century, and they originally appeared anonymously in the Acadian Recorder in 1821 and 1822.

The "letters" poked gentle fun at the shortcomings and the foibles of human nature of the time, and readers will discover in McCulloch a spiritual ancestor of Stephen Leacock and of Thomas Chandler Haliburton whose "Sam Slick The Clock-maker" came along some 15 years after the appearance of McCulloch's work.

The New Canadian Library edition of "The Stepsure Letters" is the first reappearance of McCulloch's book since its original publication, and there are only five copies of the original 1862 edition known to be in existence.

Special Dalhousie Alumni Day

Slated For November 11

The Dalhousie Alumni Association has arranged for a special Alumni Day to be held at the University on Saturday, November 11.

Carmen F. Moir is Chairman of the committee making arrangements for the Alumni Day and other members include Mrs. D. K. Murray, Mrs. H. T. Creighton and Aaron Zive. Included in the programme for the day will be a football game, and after-game dance, and an informal buffet supper.

The football game, which gets underway at 2.00 p.m., will see the Dalhousie Tigers' "A" Team at home to the Saint Mary's Huskies at Studley Field. The game is the last in the Tigers' regular season of play and promises to be a crowd-pleaser from the opening whistle until the final gun.

Alumni will be able to attend the game "en masse" and sit in a special reserved section on the mid-field lines. Even those Dalhousians who are not die-hard fans of the game will enjoy the exciting play and the keen rivalry that is always evident when these two Universities meet on the field of sport.

Immediately following the game the last of the alumni sponsored After-Game Dances will be held in the Men's Residence. Both students and alumni will be present at the dance and piping hot chocolate will be available in the residence coffee shop.

The dance music will be provided by a four-piece orchestra and the affair will offer Dalhousians of yesteryear an opportunity to meet and talk to the Dalhousians of today. There will also be comfortable lounges available for those who have forgotten how to glide smoothly across the dance floor and prefer to "sit-it-out."

After the dance, alumni will adjourn to Shirreff Hall for an informal buffet supper. There will be no strenuous programme or guest speakers at the buffet. Instead, alumni will be encouraged to "sit a spell" after supper and relax with old as well as new-found college friends.

Alumni from out of town should appreciate this part of the day as it will give them a chance to talk over bygone days with some of the friends they haven't seen since "the good old days on campus".

Dalhousians from near and far are invited to visit the University on Alumni Day, and guests will be most welcome. Tickets may be obtained by writing to the "Alumni Office, Dalhousie University, Halifax, N. S."

Reserved tickets for the football game are $1.25, the after-game dance is free, and the buffet supper will be $1.00 per person. Tickets are available for alumni and their guests, and while they may be purchased for the game only, or for the buffet only, it is expected that most alumni will want to take in all activities during the day.

Alumni Sponsor After-Game Dances

The Alumni Association will sponsor three After-Game Dances during the football season this year. The dances will be held in the Men's Residence on October 14th, 28th and November 11th following the Tigers' home games with U.N.B., Shearwater and Saint Mary's.

Dalhousie students and their dates will be invited to attend the dances and members of the alumni are also invited to drop in after the game. Dancing will be from 4:30 until 6:30 with a four piece orchestra in attendance. Hot chocolate and other snacks will be available from the residence coffee shop.

The dances have been arranged by a special committee consisting of Mrs. D. K. Murray, Reginald Cluney and Dr. Guy MacLean.

Library Renaissance

By J. P. WILKINSON

Dalhousie's Macdonald Memorial Library

The story has been told in the headlines of the press. "Is Our Library Obsolete?" asked the Gazette in January of 1960, "New Boss Sparks Library Reform" it reported in October. "Mrs. Jean Carter Taking Over Post at Dal" said the Mail-Star in the next month; and "University Names Fullerton to Dal Library Post" it headlined in May 1961. And behind the news items were the want ads: "Dalhousie University advertises for the position of Science Librarian"; ". . . for the position of Medical Librarian"; ". . . University Library Order Department Head". And yet, despite the publicity and the advertisements, it must have seemed to the undergraduate in 1960-61 that very little had changed or was changing at Macdonald Memorial Library.

What has happened is simple enough to explain but impossible as yet to evaluate. In May 1960 the capable and popular Chief Librarian, D. G. Lochhead, resigned from the Dalhousie Faculty. In September his replacement arrived, and almost immediately advertisements appeared for senior librarians with subject qualifications to head up the new Dalhousie Library "Divisions." In one sense, of course, the approach to library administration which was soon to reveal itself at Dalhousie had been introduced back in February 1959 when the Mail-Star reported the "appointment of Miss Eunice Beeson as the first Sir James Dunn Law Librarian"; for, with Miss Beeson's arrival, Dalhousie for the first time headed up a branch library with an excellently qualified—B.A. (Colorado), B.S. in L. S. (Simmons), LL.B. (Northeastern)—and thoroughly competent professional librarian. The Divisional Plan, which was inaugurated with the appointment of Mrs. Carter as Humanities Librarian in November, 1960, simply recognized that the Arts and Sciences, like the 'professional' faculties, are best served by librarians with subject competence correlated to the books and readers they will bring together.

In September and October of 1960 an initial attempt was made to superimpose a Divisional structure upon the existing framework of personnel and service organization then existing in the Macdonald Memorial Library. Such a compromise solution proved unrealistic, and it became apparent by December 1960 that a complete reorganization of the Library's operation was essential. Plans were therefore projected for the reorientation of all order and processing routines as well as of public service procedures. Multiple order forms were designed to replace the old hand-written ledgers and accession records; and the purpose of the Order Department as a business office was re-emphasized. At the same time the work-flow of the Catalogue Department was re-designed to develop the essential inter-relation between clerical and professional duties.

Unfortunately the plans for modifying the Macdonald Memorial Library's operation received successive and serious setbacks early in 1961 with the resignations of two of the senior members of the staff. The departure of the Head of the Catalogue Department in June and of the Head of the Order Department in July left the onus of introducing the necessary innovations upon a staff largely unfamiliar with the existing routines, and the resulting hiatus was both time-consuming and exasperating. It is a remarkable tribute to the ability and enthusiasm of the present Library staff that the proposed modifications were largely implemented during the desperately short period of one Summer, so that the Library could open in the Fall of '61 with an expanded service capacity.

The Library's operation was improved, or at least modified, in four respects. The first of these, involving the preparations department has already been indicated. It is as yet too soon to determine the effect of the modifications in the order routines; but, as of September 1961, the number of staff in the Order Department had been reduced by 25%, and was expected to reduce by another 25%; the unprocessed backlog of books in the Department had been reduced by approximately 50%; and the first regular monthly statement had been sent to all faculty Departments concerned.

Similarly, the ultimate results of the new system upon the Catalogue Department cannot be even predicted. The work flow in this Department was completely re-patterned, and the two part-time clerical positions were made full-time. No increases were made in the professional staff; however, part of the cataloguing operation was entrusted to Library Assistants with university but not library school degrees. With interested and generous co-operation of the A. B. Dick Offices in Halifax, an A. B. Dick 445 Mimeograph machine was modified to Library specifications and installed in the Cataloguing area. This machine, capable of producing 10,000 catalogue cards an hour at an approximate cost in materials of .1c per unit card, has already resulted in substantial savings in time and money, and may well supplant some of the services now rendered to Dalhousie by the Library of Congress. In July 1961, the first month of reorganized operation, the 501 volumes processed by the Cataloguing Department was more than 25% higher than any previous month's total in the history of the Department.

In another respect also the Library's procedure was altered. During 1960-61 the three Divisional heads explored with extraordinary enthusiasm and full faculty co-operation the potentialities of their new positions; and it soon became clear that Divisionalism to be fully effective must be a physical as well as an administrative concept. It was decided to provide a Reading Room and Reading Room book collection for the Humanities and similar facilities for the Social Sciences. The work necessary to implement such a decision may be appreciated if we remember that as recently as July 1961 there was no open shelf circulating book collection of any sort available to first and second year undergraduates in the Macdonald Memorial Library. For every title moved, as many as six records had to be changed and every book had to be marked with its new location symbol. Nevertheless, by October 1946, 4,000 volumes had been selected from the stack collection by the Library Divisions and by the faculty and had been placed, partly in newly purchased book-cases, in undergraduate reading areas. New shelving, as well as new tables and chairs were provided by the Board of Governors and the President, Dr. A. E. Kerr, despite the limited resources available to the University; and Professor A. F. Chisholm, the University Engineer, gave high priority to the multitude of details which inevitably arose during the relocation of furniture and equipment. Indeed, the establishment of the Divisional Reading Rooms, involving as it did the active interest and cooperation of so many departments of the University, occasioned on the part of the Library a deep sense of gratitude for all the support it had received.

The ability and enthusiasm of the new Divisional Librarians changed the administrative pattern as well as the physical arrangement of the Library. Frequent and informal meetings of the senior Library personnel during the period of reorganization suggested the need for regular meetings between the Divisional Heads and the University Librarian. This need was underlined by the appointment in August 1961 of a highly qualified Medical Librarian, Mr. T. H. Rees, who shared with the Law Librarian, Miss Beeson, a desire to participate in the discussions regarding changes in policy of the Main Library. The first important result of the meetings of the 'Library Council', as the senior assembly came to be called, was the September 1961 decision of the Medical Library to adopt the Order Recommendation Forms and Multiple Order Slips developed by the Macdonald Memorial Library Staff. A second important, though less concrete result was the better understanding of mutual problems on the part of all members of the Council. There is little doubt that the formal meetings of this group, scheduled as needed, will be of inestimable assistance in solving other outstanding problems, such as those concerning the establishment of a local bindery; the duplication of expensive materials on campus; and the proper standardization of University Library procedures where such standardization is advisable.

Perhaps the most important change of all in the University Library, however, was one not of policy but of presentation. This last change occurred in the area of Library book budgeting, and resulted from the conviction that the Library could not consistently effect economies in its operation unless it developed a system of internal budgeting. The operational changes resulting from the new system were complex and at times unforeseen; but economies were effected through the reclassification of positions as they fell vacant; through the reassignment of junior personnel; through the introduction of machine processing; and through the use of requisition controls in the distribution of supplies. The use of effective internal budgeting, however, served only to underline the point made so often by Mr. Lochhead before his resignation; that, despite the generous level of University support received by the Library (in 1960-61 the Library received 5.4% of the total institutional budget), the Macdonald Memorial Library could not adequately support graduate and faculty research without additional funds for books and personnel, and such additional funds could not be obtained from present University income. By 1960 despite the best efforts of the University administration, the Library, and the Faculties the Dalhousie University Libraries had dropped 1,003,113 volumes further behind the University of Toronto Libraries than in 1926—a lag of almost 300,000 books a decade—and the gap was rapidly increasing. The Library ranked twelfth in Canada in 1960; but its book budgets were less than a quarter those of some of the new Canadian University Libraries, and no amount of internal reorganization could save the Dalhousie collection from oblivion if its book fund support failed. The University, however, rose strongly to the challenge of its Library's needs, and the 1961-62 book fund allocation for the Macdonald Library was 12% higher than ever before. The Library's Divisions, too, met the challenge, pouring over $2000 into such

Dalhousie Incorporates

College of Pharmacy

The Maritime College of Pharmacy, which has operated as an independent institution in affiliation with Dalhousie University for fifty years, was incorporated into the university on July 1, after an agreement reached by the board of governors of the university and the board of trustees of the college. The decision was taken on the recommendation of a survey committee appointed by the Canadian Foundation for the Advancement of Pharmacy in 1959.

The college, originally the Nova Scotia College of Pharmacy, has for half a century provided the training required by law for the practice of Pharmacy in these Atlantic Provinces and has rendered the profession invaluable services. It has operated successfully under the leadership of Dean G. A. Burbidge, 1911-1943; Dean J. D. Walsh, 1943-1952; and Dean J. E. Cooke, 1952-1961; and a board appointed by the several provincial pharmaceutical societies concerned.

The survey committee, composed of basic sets as the Education Index and the Industrial Arts Index and Dissertation Abstracts in an attempt to build up at least the basic reference collection to a research level. Yet, despite these efforts, a lack of adequate financial support apparently must continue to haunt the new Dalhousie Library as it did the old; and, amidst all the changes in personnel and in policy, the problem of means persists.

Nevertheless, whether this final problem is overcome or not, the story of the headlines is a true one. Into an old and hitherto conservative library has come a spirit of innovation and change. Whether the changes are improvements remains, of course, to be seen; but the interest in the Dalhousie University Libraries is very apparent; and because "of making many books there is no end", this interest is likely to continue; for surely Thomas Carlyle's words apply here still, "The true University of these days is a Collection of Books".

several of the outstanding pharmaceutical educators in Canada, concluded that the college should now become an integral part of Dalhousie, in order to share in the general advantages of the university, and particularly to raise its academic requirements to the new level that may shortly become uniform throughout Canada.

The committee expressed the belief that within the predictable future the number of candidates for the bachelor's degree in pharmacy pursuing their studies at any one time in the college should be in the vicinity of one hundred. The opinion of local pharmacists on this point is somewhat more conservative, but it is admitted by all that the college must expand in order to meet the growing demand for qualified pharmacists in its constituency.

The college will in future be known simply as the college of Pharmacy and will be a division within the newly created Dalhousie Faculty of Health Professions. The School of Nursing will also belong to this faculty, as will certain other new disciplines whose formation the university authorities have already approved.

Dr. A. E. Kerr has announced the appointment of Dr. James Gordon Duff of the University of Saskatchewan as the first director of the College of Pharmacy, within the administrative organization of the new faculty. Dr. Duff has been awarded grants, from time to time, to carry on scholarly research in his field by the government and by the University of Saskatchewan, by the University of Florida where he obtained his doctorate, by the National Research Council of Canada, and by the Canadian Foundation for the Advancement of Pharmacy.

He has contributed articles to the Canadian Journal of Chemistry and the Journal of Organic Chemistry, and will be one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Conference of Canadian Pharmaceutical Faculties in August, after spending part of the summer in Europe.

Teaching Staff Enlarged to Keep Pace With University's Growth

During the summer 37 full-time and 9 part-time appointments were made to the teaching staff of the University.

While several of the appointments were made to fill vacancies created by normal turnover, the majority of the new staff were engaged under the University's new programme of staff expansion.

The expansion of the teaching staff at Dalhousie has been made necessary by the spectacular growth of the University during recent years and reflects the determination of the Board of Governors to maintain a high standard of undergraduate and graduate teaching.

Of the total appointments, 20 were made as additions to the staff in the arts and science faculty, and were appointed to the various departments as follows: four in Mathematics, three in English, three in Modern Languages, two in Biology, and one each in Physics, Chemistry, Education, Economics, Psychology, Commerce, Political Science and Geology.

CONTRIBUTES TO U. S. ARMY MEDICAL HISTORY

With the recent release of Preventive Medicine in World War II, Volume V, the name of Dr. James A. Doull, who received his M.D. from Dalhousie University in 1914, comes to the fore as one of its eminent contributors.

The volume, "Communicable Diseases Transmitted Through Contact or By Unknown Means," is the sixteenth in the series, "History of the Medical Department, U.S. Army, in World War II." Among the diseases which it covers in detail are actinomycosis, leprosy, leptospirosis, schistosomiasis, and yaws—as well as hookworm, fungus infections, impetigo, scabies, trachoma, infectious mononucleosis, poliomyelitis, Q fever, viral hepatitis, and venereal diseases.

Dr. Doull, medical director of the Leonard Wood Memorial (American Leprosy Foundation), is the author of the chapter dealing with leprosy. Along with all the 27 contributors, he volunteered his services without recompense. Formerly Professor of Hygiene and Public Health at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, and a retired medical director of the United States Public Health Service he is a member of the leprosy panel of the World Health Organization. He is past president of the American Epidemiological Society, and a former member of the executive board of the American Public Health Association.

Dr. Doull is a resident of Arlington, Virginia.

Halifax Infirmary Designated As Teaching Hospital

The Halifax Infirmary became officially designated a teaching hospital by the terms of an agreement signed in May by officers of the hospital and Dalhousie University.

Similar agreements are at the moment in existence with Victoria General, Children's, Grace Maternity, Camp Hill and Stadacona hospitals and with the Nova Scotia Rehabilitation Centre.

The new agreement has added 172 teaching beds to those available to Dalhousie medical students. The agreement was signed on May 5 in the Board Room of the University by representatives of the hospital and the Board of Governors of Dalhousie.

Winnipeg Alumni Enjoy Social Evening

Our Winnipeg alumni enjoyed a pleasant social evening on June 26 at the home of Branch President, Mrs. G. B. Wiswell.

Guest of honour was Rev. W. M. Grant, D.D., who graduated from Dalhousie in 1901 and had recently visited Halifax during Convocation Week. Dr. Grant entertained those present with a short talk on the University as it is today.

Arrangements for the event were made by Mrs. Wiswell, Miss Pearl Brownell and Vaughn Baird.
