

Legislature Will Be Asked To Police Animal Imports

A bill requesting that companies or persons be prevented from "bringing animals into the province for advertising or similar purposes without presenting proof that the animals will adapt to the climate" will be laid before the provincial government.

The decision to submit the bill was made by the Halifax Women's Auxiliary of the Kindness Club following the death Wednesday of the Anil elephant at the company's East River hardboard plant.

The request also will ask that the companies or persons be required to prove availability of suitable living accommodations.

Mrs. Margaret Stanbury, president of the newly-formed club, said the auxiliary had been attempting to re-locate the elephant in Prince Edward Island's Wild Life Park.

She also said a petition against cruelty in the seal hunt has been sent to Prime Minister Pearson.

Other officers elected at the meeting included Mrs. Ronald Hafer, vice-president; Mrs. Mark O'Conner, secretary and Mrs. Herman Kaplan, treasurer. Workshop convener is Mrs. John Church.

A major factor in the club's program is finding and caring for stray animals; returning them to their owners or re-locating them in suitable homes.
