Dear Tom

I suppose that by this time you have just about given up hope of hearing from me. The reason I did not write before is that I wanted to be sure the word before writing.

I have just come back from a trip to Montreal and made a few inquiries while there as to the proper nickname for relatives of mine who have three red heads in the family. and the proper slang is Roux for males and Rousse for females. for instance Le grand roux or le petit roux also checked with the best French dictionary available and it also says of slang used in Quebec as "Roux carotte" but that is purely modern slang

Hoping this might help
Lou
