FOREWORD

In days gone by, the lighthouse PHAROS guided ships through stormy seas to safe anchorage in the harbour of Alexandria.

Today, as the gathering darkness of force and brutality overshadows the world, may the light of wisdom and education guide us to safety.

And so we present our PHAROS, the Year Book of Dalhousie University, the College by the Sea.

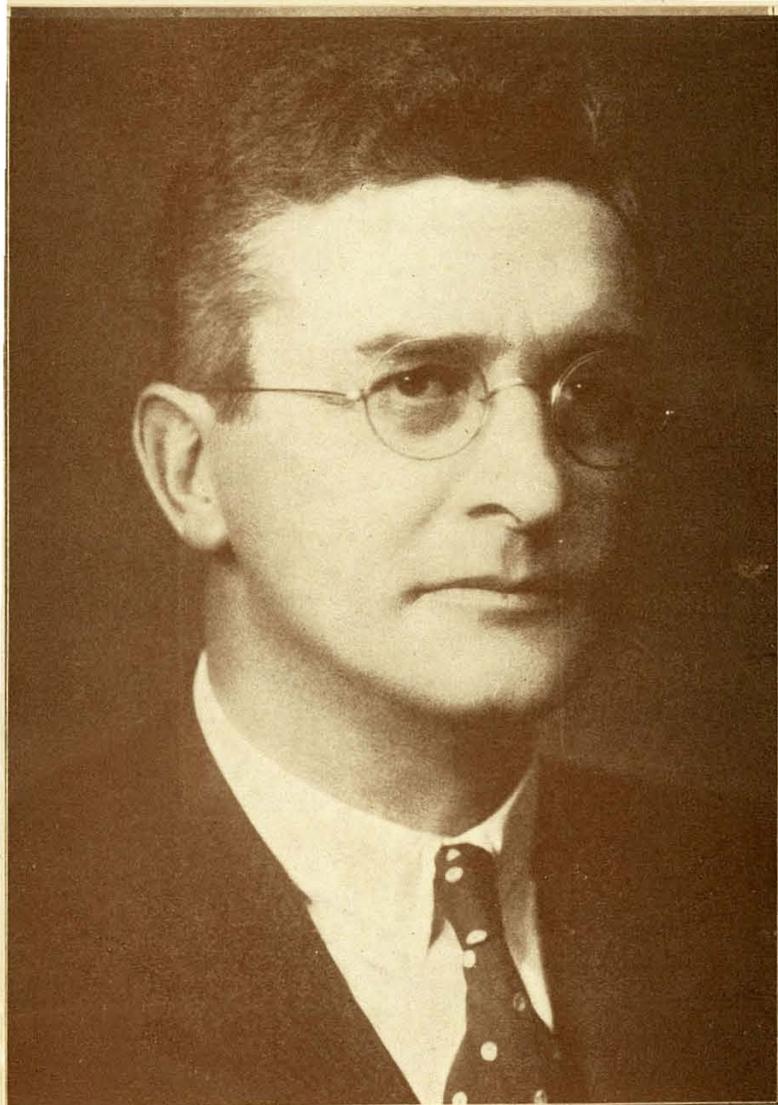

Bollinger

*I dreamt last night:
Such dreams my mind could scarce encompass—
Dreams of ancient days and men—
And yet — so ancient? Or merely
Shadows of the present cast
By some strange misty beacon
On a timeless shore.*

*I dreamt last night:
Out of abysmal darkness came
Strange silvered shafts of light that rent
The curtain of the void until
At last my straining eye could see
A beacon on some nameless shore,
Lapped by a nameless sea.*

*I dreamt last night:
The beacon's light swept o'er the sea
Bringing a wondrous sight to view—
A fleet of ships before me lay,
With white sails taut against the breeze,
Proud pennants streaming from the masts,
As through the dusk they sailed.*

*I dreamt last night:
As though the beacon's light grew stronger,
Beyond the fleet I seemed to see
Dim figures of familiar cast;
Separate from the ships they were,
Yet intimately bound to them,
And to the beacon's light*

President of the University

To The Graduating Class of 1940

In wishing you well I find it hard, in these days, to utter conventional phrases. I wonder whether the thoughts of any of you occasionally flow in a channel like this:

Gin I was God, sittin' up there abeen,
Weariet nae doot noo a' my darg was deen,
Deaved wi' the harps an' hymns oonendin' ringin',
Tired o' the flockin' angels hairse wi' singin',
To some clood-edge I'd daunder furth an', feth,
Look ower an' watch hoo things were gyaun aneth.
Syne, gin I saw hoo men I'd made mysel'
Had startit in to pooshan, sheet an' fell,
To reive an' rape, an' fairly mak' a hell
O' my braw birlin' Earth,— a hale week's wark—
I'd cast my coat again, rowe up my sark,
An' or they'd time to lench a second ark,
Tak' back my word an' sen' anither spate,
Droon oot the hale hypotheec, dicht the sklatae,
Own my mistak', an', aince I'd cleared the brod,
Start a'thing ower again, gin I was God.

PHAROS

CARLETON B. NICKERSON, A.M.

Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science

Probably never before has a graduating class been faced with your responsibilities. I make this assertion with no thought of discouragement but rather to state a fact. In future years, any progress toward curing the ills of this world must be brought about by the efforts of the educated men and women of your generation. Whether your contribution toward this end be small or great, it is certain to be effective and, for my part, I am confident of the ultimate result.

With all best wishes for your success.

PHAROS

To the first graduating class to enter a world again at war I can say no light or easy word of promise. You go to share a burden that you did not help to make. Try to take it up without fear and without bitterness. Your elders had their trials and did not always fail: their problems were fewer but their means were less. So to the class of 1940 I say, not "Farewell to a world of peace", but "Welcome to a world of opportunity". You are needed.

Each year the good name of the Medical School is carried into different parts of Canada and the United States. On each graduating class is placed the responsibility of maintaining this reputation of sincerity of purpose and high ideals. Whether it be your lot to minister to the needs of some remote rural district; whether you do your bit for the cause of Democracy by joining His Majesty's Army or Navy; or whether you take a junior post in one of the larger centres of medical learning — do your part to uphold the present reputation of the Medical School.

With sincere wishes for good health and success.

LAW

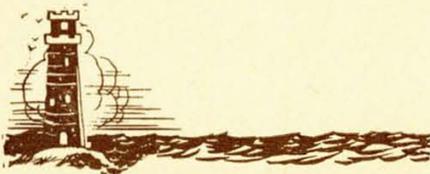

VINCENT C. MacDONALD
B.A., LL.B., K.C.

Dean of the Faculty of Law

As you take leave of Dalhousie you may well be tempted to believe that Graduation marks a definite break with your past. Life, however, is not lived in periods so well defined as those before graduation and after. It is a continuous process, each phase of which is a preparation for all that comes after. How well you have been prepared, or have prepared yourselves, for worthy and successful lives as men of law the future will prove. I venture to believe that the future will find you well or ill-prepared accordingly as you now view your profession as a trade to be practised for personal profit or as a noble calling to be pursued for unselfish ends.

History of The Class of 1940

WALTER R. LAWSON—Class Historian

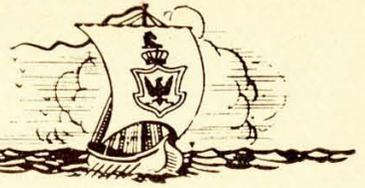

Relatively speaking, we always have been a small class. Since the day we appeared at Dalhousie, until the day we as a class leave our University, our ranks remained very thin. But I think that in order to do justice to my classmates, I must maintain that the class more than made up in student activities what we lacked in quantity.

Early in this little historical sketch it is well to mention those of our originals who entered with us but who do not graduate in 1940. We have lost members of the class through entrance to professional schools, transfer to other universities, the eternal scholastic difficulties, and also this year we have lost some of our members to the Armed Forces of the Empire. However, in lieu of those gone, we have welcomed newcomers to our ranks from other classes and universities.

It scarcely seems four years ago that our group, gathered as we were from all walks of life, reached Dalhousie. However, as time went on, through Freshman Week and its varied activities; through the organization of our class as a society under the helpful guidance of then Senior, John Carroll, as Freshman Representative; through the Freshman Class Glee Club Show—our famous "Cinderella"; through our class trip to Acadia to meet the Acadia Frosh and engage them in Hockey and Basketball; through the introduction of the new Freshman class by us when we were Sophomores; through our various class parties down to the Junior Prom so successfully staged in our Junior year; through all these activities and many more we have changed greatly in our years at our College by the Sea. And when the last of the Convocation ceremonies have finished, a far different class will leave Dalhousie on that Spring day of 1940, far different from the aggregation that we spoke of gathering in bewilderment in the Fall of 1936.

This note strives to avoid personalities, but it would not be complete without mentioning a few of the notables from our midst who have served our class and our University well. As to the officers of our class: Prof. Bennet has been during all our time here our Honorary President and we have elected him to hold this office for life. Doug. McKean has served for three of our undergrad years as Class President and has been chosen Life-President. Bud MacDougall was President of the class of 1940 in our first year here. Peggy Merkel held the office of Vice-President and she will continue in office till the end of time. Our class Secretaries have been Allison Conrad, Shirley Kirkpatrick and now Marjorie MacIntosh becomes Life Secretary. Our Treasurers have been Bill McKay, Bob Walter, Jim Read and Walter Lawson. Bob Walter will handle the class monies for life. Joan Blackwood was elected Class Prophet.

Some of our boys were notably athletic. Such names as Tom White and Ron Wallace in Boxing; Art Mercer in Tennis; Vic Haines, George MacAvity and Webbie MacDonald in football, will stick with us. We have had many members of the class prominent in student government and activities. On the Council of Students, Joan Blackwood, Marjorie MacIntosh, Bob Walter, Doug. Cameron and Doug McKean. On the D.A.A.C., Doug Cameron, Chris McAlden and Butch Lawson have acted. With the Glee Club, Joan Blackwood, Shirley Kirkpatrick, Lloyd Dalton and Murray Gould have been particularly active. Webster MacDonald was Editor of the Gazette for a year. This year's Malcolm Honour Award goes to Joan Blackwood. We have named only those who in the humble opinion of your historian have been exceptionally prominent in their respective fields. All of the class has taken part in student affairs, but there can only be a few leaders.

And so we leave Dalhousie, the first class to leave since the outbreak of the war. What does the future hold in store for our numbers thrown into a world resounding with the clash of arms? Such men as Al Bigelow, Vic Haines, George MacAvity and Byron Hatfield, who entered Dalhousie by our sides, now represent the class in the army, navy and air force. How many of the rest of our boys will follow in their footsteps? Will it be much the same as 1915?

What will happen in the future one cannot vision, but one thing we do know—that we leave Dalhousie better equipped to meet any eventualities because we now have something we did not bring with us, something we did not take lectures to acquire, something we didn't pick up at a party or a football game, but—something—the Spirit of Dalhousie.

CLASS PROPHECY

JOAN BLACKWOOD

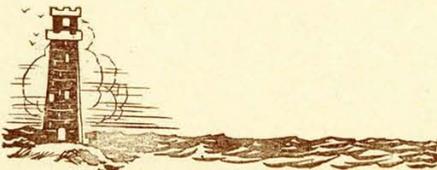

August, 1955.

In the midst of the gay, excited crowds, I experienced a moment almost of sorrow as I boarded the "Queen Elizabeth"—to think that the encroachment of aeroplanes in transatlantic travel had reduced this palatial liner to make a round-the-world cruise at almost excursion rates. This feeling was soon lost, however, as I looked at the enormous number of people who apparently had the same idea as I. Surely among that great crowd I should find some long-lost friends!

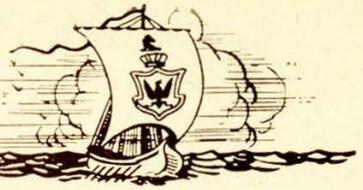

At that very moment a familiar bleat tickled my ear, and I turned to see the resplendent uniform of the Chief Purser inhabited by Doug Cameron. He explained that he had been unable to break the habit of taking gate receipts, and had time to tell me that many others of our former classmates were already on board. He beckoned to a steward to take me to my quarters. "Very sorry, madam," said he, "but we've had to double up on the accommodations on account of the crowd." By this time I had recognized Karl Tufts, another member of Class '40. He confessed that the lure of the sea had been too much for him, and he had left the ministry. He told me further that I would find many I knew on the crew of the liner. The new owner was Bob Walter—and in answer to my surprised look he said that Bob had won it tossing nickels with the president of the company who had formerly owned it. Alan Turner was in charge of the ship's bar, assisted by Danny Matheson and Burton Crowe. Other stewards were "Butch" Blanchard, Julius Solomon, Frank Lacey, and Art Mercer.

On reaching the cabin, I found that my cabin-mate for the cruise was Reta Harrison, now a successful author of college text-books. She was resting after having finished what she considered her masterpiece, "The Art and Practice of Skipping Classes". Reta had much to tell me of former classmates. Marion Little, now a leader of cosmopolitan society, was in Paris following her third divorce. She was accompanied by Kay Smith, who had just retired at the height of her career as glamor queen of the screen. More surprising than anything was that "Corky" Corkum had eloped with a sea captain, and by way of consolation Doug McKean had deserted the ministry and married a blonde chorus girl. They had been highly successful as a team of night club entertainers, but had recently dropped out of sight.

We decided to go up and find out just how many of our friends were on board. On deck the first person we saw was Chief Petty Officer Pete McCreath, looking infinitely sadder but no wiser than when I last saw him. Reta whispered to me that was just recovering from his six hundred and fifty-third love affair. We had not gone much farther when a cry of recognition halted us. It was Joan Furlong, en route to England to join her husband, the Vice-Admiral of the British Fleet. She told us that she had just seen Sally Smith, now a much sought-after widow (sorry Evatt!) Sally had renounced all that, however, and was acting as the head of a School for Delinquent Girls. On the staff with her were two others of our classmates—Clare Penny and Ruth Wylie. Murray Gould, she said, was now in Europe conferring with his associates on some unexpected problems in connection with the building of the Atlantic Bridge. He was also famous for having started a School for Marriage for boys, familiarly known as the Survey Camp. Assisting him in the former project were Don Lewis, Nordau Goodamn, Dave Burch, Elton Smith, Chris MacAlden, and George Meagher.

A familiar drawl put a temporary end to our animated conversation, and we discovered Marjorie MacIntosh, who was going on an extended leave with her husband, the head of the Canadian forces. She told us that Joan Cunningham and her husband were doing excellent missionary work in the wilds of Darkest Cape Breton.

At that moment that music of the ship's orchestra drew us inside, where we found Del Benoit at the piano. When she was free, she joined our group, and was able to add to our store of information concerning our college friends. Hazel Brownhill, she said, was collaborating with Julia Swanburg in setting the poems of Catullus to swing music. She had just finished a similar job with Doris Hilchey on Old English songs.

A loud noise in the cocktail lounge attracted our attention. The sight that met our eyes was enough to bring tears to the eyes of a true Dalhousian, so much did it resemble the daily scene in the Gym Store. There was a dense cloud of smoke, in which we were able to make out a number of derby-hatted men, one more so than all the others. It was "Butch" Lawson, now graduated from a "ward-heeler" to the boss of a political machine. Among his adherents, all intoning "Yes" at regular intervals, we noted classmates Caines, Wareham, Hatfield, Gilbert, Tonning, Creechman, and House. Sitting in a nearby corner was Lloyd Dalton, furiously drafting a petition against the existing government, for its shameful neglect of the sad and misunderstood condition of the Australian duck-billed Platypus.

As we went on our voyage of discovery, another well-known face appeared. It was that of Marg Mack, whose successful doctor husband was going to take a refresher course at the great research station established on a remote island in the Pacific by Bill Tidmarsh, who had become disgusted with his former life as a society photographer. He had worked for the fashion magazine edited by Webster MacDonald, before he deserted to the field of politics. Marg told us that many famous doctors and their wives, once our classmates, were on board for the same purpose. She named John Wiswell, Don MacKeigan, Dot Saffron, Clyde Strickland, and Irving Perlin. We asked what had become of Claude Leighton, and Marg told us that he had become famous for the experiments through which he had been able to teach the waltzing mouse to jitterbug.

In answer to our eager inquiries, Marg also told us that Peggy Merkel, wife of the Canadian premier, was famous for her gracious hospitality, and that Prudence MacKim was secretary to the premier. Other members of Class '40 now in Parliament were Arch Garland, member from the newly created province of Newfoundland, Bill Bradbury, and Harry Grant .

Tired from all this reunion, we agreed to adjourn until later in the afternoon. However, a heavy sea was running, and when I came on deck, in place of the morning's throngs, there was a solitary figure, which I at once recognized as that of Betty Sandall. When the preliminary rejoicings were over, Betty explained that she was taking a vacation from her arduous duties as Mayoress of a rapidly expanding town in British Columbia—also a vacation from her four energetic sons, she said rather ruefully. We reminisced happily for a time, and she was able to enlighten me further as to the fate of some others of our class. Audie Miles, she said, was also living in British Columbia, the wife of a Vancouver dentist. Two of our Commerce graduates, Koven and Sienewicz, had invented a unique process of making bricks from straw, and had made a fortune from manufacturing their own product.

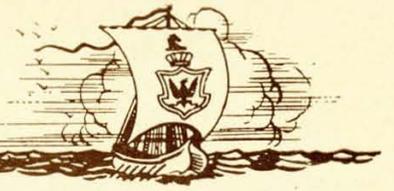

Betty also told me that many of our classmates had been doing great things in the field of education. Helen Hatt and Ted Hallett had collaborated on several biologico-educational books, the latest of which was, "The Educational Psychology of the Infant Amoeba". Odessa Smith was the head of the largest girls' school in Canada, and associated with her on the large staff were Jean MacDonald, Peggy Gorham, Margery Moore and Pat O'Neill. In spite of its revolutionary doctrines (they taught that girls could successfully combine homes and careers, and the teachers had to be carefully chosen exponents of this teaching) the school was a great success. Olive Wood had been doing pioneer work in adult education among the savages of Newfoundland.

At this point, our memories were distracted by a motorcycle racing around the deck. It screamed to a stop in front of us, and its rider leered at us with his one good eye—the other being permanently and artistically black. With a start we recognized "Whizzer" Whyte. He offered to show us around the ship, starting with the engine-room. We gladly agreed, thinking that a touch of life in the raw might be all right. The engine-room turned out to be almost painfully neat and gleaming, so we demanded to see the stoke-hold. What was our surprise to find that the presiding genius in this miniature Hades was an ex-Pine Hill boy, Stan MacQueen. "Just practicing", was all that he would say by way of explanation. He pointed with pride to some of his rugged underlings—"All graduated same time as I did," he said, "and not one of 'em in the shape I am! "We recognized among the brutes Hal Baird, Eugene Dowell, George MacLeod, Carl Tupper and Harry Grant.

When we made our escape back to the civilized world and compared notes, we discovered that we had made a complete check-up on all our former classmates of Class '40. Utterly pleased with ourselves, we drifted off in the direction of the cocktail lounge, whence came the pleasant sound of tinkling glasses and of tossed nickels—

Arts and Science Society

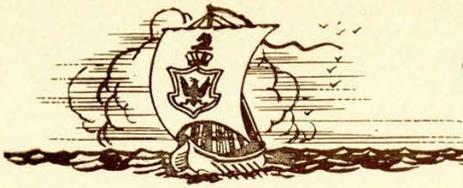

At once the newest and oldest society on the campus, the Arts and Science Society this year promised to become the focus of long sought Studley unity. Begun as a debating society at the beginning of this century, last year it adopted a new constitution and expanded its functions to meet the requirements of all Arts and Science students. An important purpose of the new constitution is to govern elections to the Students' Council. The new procedure has now been tried and is felt to be far more satisfactory than the previous system of class nominations. This year President Don MacKeigan has been the instigator of co-operation among the three Studley Societies for the purpose of financing Frosh ventures. The success of this plan remains to be seen and its continuation rests with the future.

The Society was well represented in interfaculty sport, the teams being under the capable management of Otto Antoft, Gordon Hennigar, Clarence Fraser, and Allen Turner.

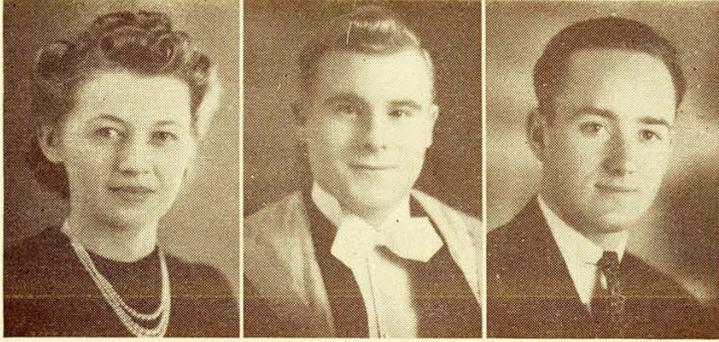

The Special Events Committee was composed of Webster MacDonald, Doug McKean, and Betty Sandall.

The Society hopes to wind up the year with some sort of social event, and if they do it will no doubt be a great success. To next year's Executive go our best wishes. May the Society grow in influence and usefulness!

Commerce Society

The year 1939-40 has seen Commerce make still further progress. Since Professor Stewart Bates became Head of the Commerce Department two years ago, there has been a steady increase in registration, and this year the services of Mr. Harvey Crowell have been procured as lecturer in Accounting. Under these capable men the Department will continue to grow rapidly.

The Commerce Society has increased its membership to nearly double that of last year, and growth has instilled a new enthusiasm. For the first time in several years the Society has entered into the realms of sport—teams were entered in inter-faculty Basketball, Softball and Hockey.

The Millionaires' Ball, held in the gymnasium again, commenced the social functions of the second term. The annual banquet also took place in the second session. Both these events were very successful and promised well for the future of the Society.

The election of the new executive has not yet taken place, but we would like to thank all those who have helped to make this year so successful.

To the graduates, the Society extends its best wishes for every success in the future.

Engineering Society

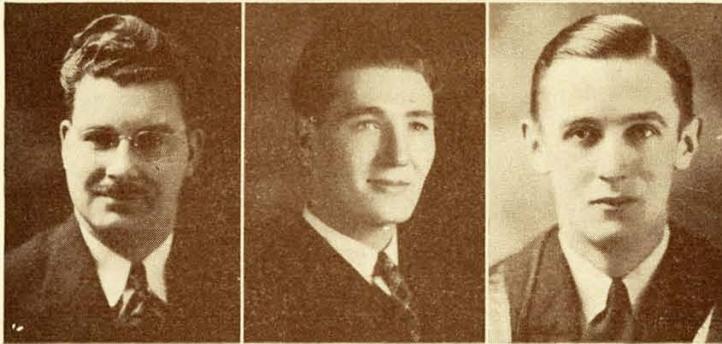

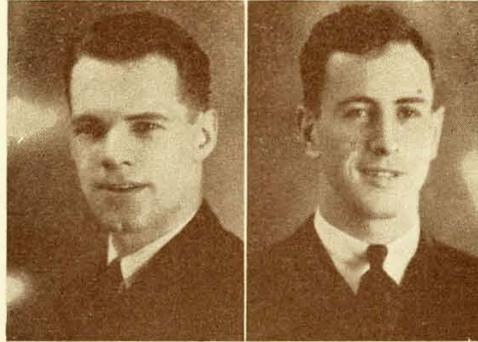

1939-1940 proved a highly successful year for the Dalhousie Engineering Society, with a large Freshman class increasing membership to a point above the usual number. The two big functions of the year, "The Boilermakers' Banquet and Supper Dance", were the highlights in the social sphere, with a record attendance at the Ball. No small part of the success of the two affairs was due to the capable management of the committees.

The annual trip of the Society was to the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Corporation and the Eastern Car Factory at New Glasgow. An instructive tour of the plants made the trip interesting and educational.

The fine year of the Engineering Society is due principally to the executive, and especially the Secretary-Treasurer, Eugene Dowell. With graduation, many of the Society's most valuable members will be lost, hearty supporters will be gone, but it is hoped that the spirit that they will leave behind will provide impetus to carry the Engineering Society to greater accomplishments in the future.

In retrospect, we have maintained the co-operation and unity or organization which has in the past been so characteristic of the Dalhousie Engineers. A chapter in the history of the Society has been written, to which we can look back with pride.

The Medical Society

Carrying on the work of last year's executive the Medical Society has continued to devote itself to its twin aim of scholarship and fellowship.

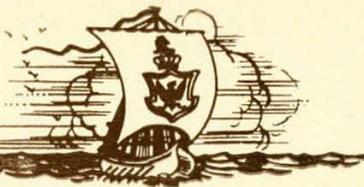

In keeping with the state of war existing in the country, Lt.-Col. Victor Mader explained to the first meeting of the year the organization of the Medical Corps in the field. Talks on academic subjects have been delivered by Dr. Grant, Dr. Murphy and Dr. Atlee and films shown.

On the rugby field Medicine has once more annexed the Interfaculty title and participated in softball, basketball and hockey, with as yet undetermined success.

The Med Ball enjoyed its annual popularity, with the Medical Banquet a joy as yet to be experienced.

The Dalhousie Medical Journal

With the issue of April 1940, the Dalhousie Medical Journal celebrates its fifth anniversary as the undergraduate publication of the Dalhousie Student Medical Society. Reviewing the five years of publication one may see that the Journal has carried out the plan of its founders: to serve as a medium by which the students may have training in the preparation and publication of scientific articles.

The articles published have all been on selected subjects. Their final form has been the result of intensive study and careful editorial work. In this respect a vote of thanks is due the Faculty Advisory Board for its sincere co-operation. The thorough work of the student has been supplemented by the wider experience of the clinician.

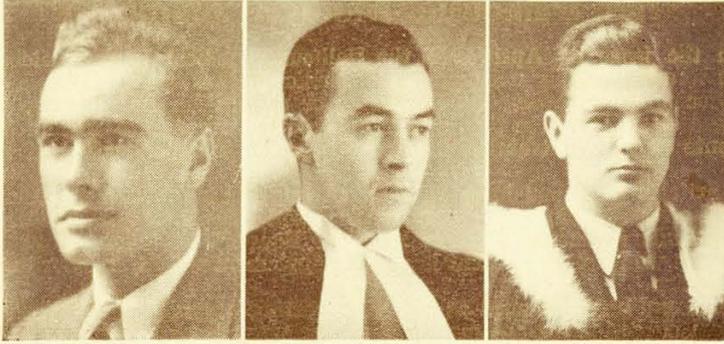

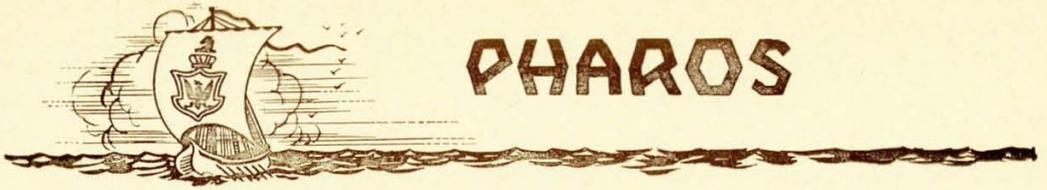

The Journal has continued as a self-supporting organ, taking its sustenance partly from subscriptions but mainly from its extensive advertising. The excellent work of the advertising manager has increased by approximately 50% the number of pages advertising the products of drug houses and local merchants.

The token of a gold "D" has been awarded to seven writers and members of the staff who have fulfilled the requirements in writing and editorial work. Foremost among these is Dr. C. M. Bethune, whose work as Editor of Alumni News is deeply appreciated. The student awards were as follows: G. V. Parsons, F. H. Stieffel, J. S. Manchester, P. A. Isaacson, F. D. Wanamaker, and L. Raider.

Back: MacIntosh, MacNeil, Murphy, Crosby, Robb, Davis, Fraser, Morrison, Schwartz.

The Law Society

The Law Society has once again contributed notably to student life on the campus.

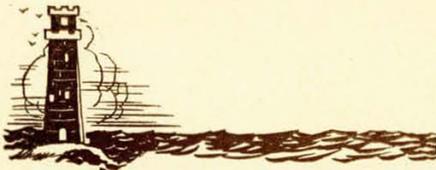

After extensive preparation and advertising under the efficient management of the Committee headed by Vadim Koretsky and consisting also of Peter Nicholson and Eric Teasdale, the Annual Law Ball was held on Friday, November 17th at the Nova Scotian Hotel. As usual, the Ball was under the distinguished patronage of the Honorable, the Chief Justice of Nova Scotia, Sir Joseph Chisholm, and of the Honorable Angus L. Macdonald, Premier of Nova Scotia.

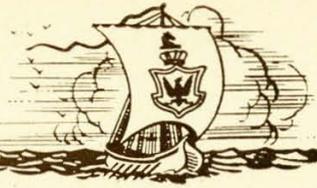

The Moot Court, under the guidance of a Committee consisting of Don Storey, Stuart Lane and Graham MacDougall was run in an efficient manner. The case presented would do justice to a Court of more competent jurisdiction. The Smith Shield will this year be debated for by Leslie Stewart, John Dickey, Stuart Lane, and Jack Finlay; the alternate being Graham MacDougall.

Law has entered strong teams in all branches of Interfaculty Sport and has been a consistent threat to all other contenders. Managers of the Law teams were: Wilf Burchell, Football; Don Anderson, Basketball; Syd Gillies, Softball, and John Mullane, Hockey.

The Dalhousie Mock Parliament is once again a feature of the College winter term with its atmosphere of pomp and ceremony of the Houses of Parliament. Mr. L. Fraser will be Speaker, as usual, with the Right Honorable Delmar Amiro acting as Prime Minister and the Right Honorable Alexandar Hart leading the Opposition. The formation of a strong independent party under the guidance of John Dickey should provide added interest to the proceedings.

The year will be brought to a fitting close by the annual Law Society Banquet in honor of the graduating students. We have no doubt that this will be the sine qua non of a successful legal year.

The Dental Society

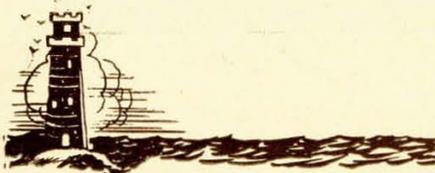

The Dalhousie Dental Society looks in retrospect upon an eminently successful year. Success in forging a chain of co-operative student activities; achievement of the universal academic goal of faculty-student good will; interesting talks from Dr. W. W. Woodbury and Dr. G. A. Chudleigh; and the staging of a Faculty-Student Banquet on February 20th.

This year's executive included—President: Marshall; Sec'y.-Treas.: Nickerson; Representatives: 1st year, Black; 2nd year, Vaughan; 3rd year Brown; 4th year, Smith.

To Dr. W. W. Woodbury, the Dental Society wishes to express its thanks for his interesting speech on "The Relationship between Dentistry and Medicine". Stressing the fact that Dentistry, as a branch of the Healing Art, is a specialty of medicine, the Dean of the Faculty artfully clarified many of the issues that confuse the undergraduate.

To Dr. G. A. Chudleigh, for a most interesting "clinic" on silicate and oxyphosphate cements, we are likewise indebted.

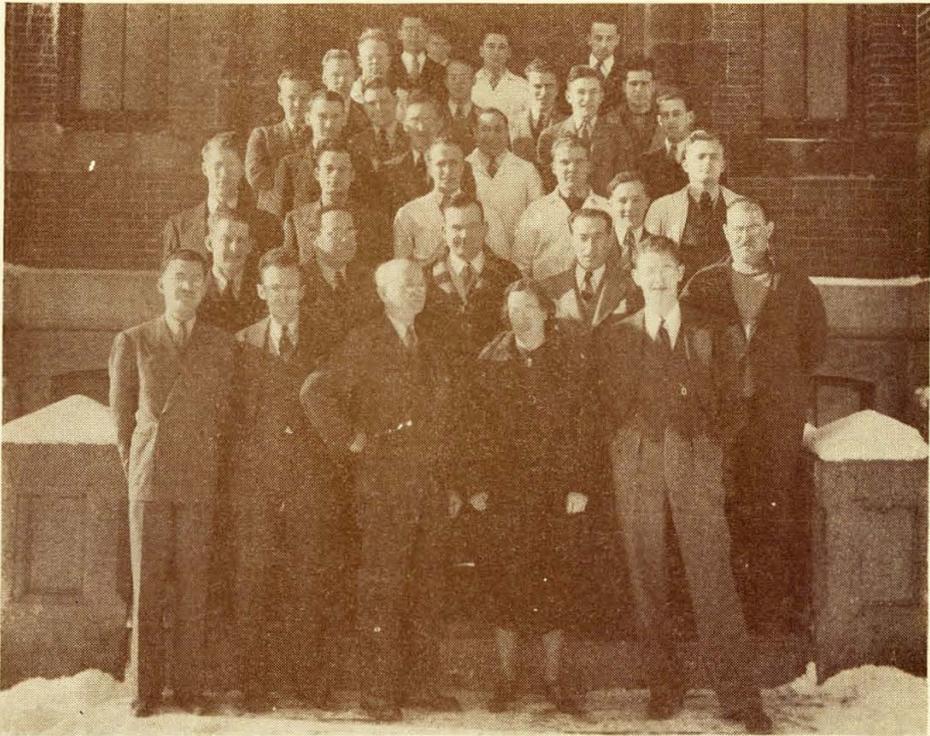

The purpose of the University is not only to train men in their profession, but also to mould their character, and the example of our Faculty as to general camaradie, integrity and courtesy may well be used as a goal. The Dental Society has performed its task quite well because it has made the student "know himself" by knowing his mentors and his class-mates, and has consequently supplemented the academic endeavours of the Faculty.

The Council of The Students

The routine of the Council of Students includes many stereotyped activities which vary little from year to year. But in addition, each new executive body is called upon to initiate new enterprises and to deal with new student problems of one kind or another.

One factor that does stand out in the records for this year is the unusual number of by-elections for Council vacancies. The Freshman representative, George Hagen, was mobilized with the Halifax Rifles early in the fall, and Harry D. Smith was appointed to fill the vacancy. Shortly after, Smith left for France on a scholarship and Douglas Cameron stepped into the position. Gordon Kinley, Arts and Science representative, joined the Air Force, and his place was taken by John McInnis.

Among the new offices created on the Council this year was that of Inventory Manager whose responsibility it is to become familiar with the properties of each organization at the beginning of the year to minimize the number of missing properties which in the past has been far too great. The Supervisor of Advertising was also appointed for the first time this year. A committee is at present making the necessary arrangements to have all the constitutions of the various student organizations printed in booklet form for distribution to the students.

A glimpse of that elusive College Spirit was obtained during the week leading up to the championship Dalhousie-Caledonia football game. A series of activities including sing-songs, organization meetings, pep rallies, etc., under the sponsorship of the Council succeeded in bringing out very effectively that latent enthusiasm which can be demonstrated in nearly every student.

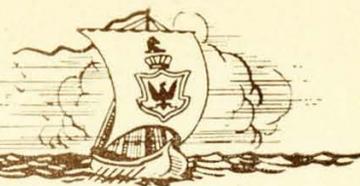

The announcement of the Malcolm Honor Award takes on a new form this year. A series of build-up articles in the Gazette, culminating in the announcement of the award on the radio early in February, has imparted to the student body a new conception of the importance and significance of this coveted prize. The actual presentation of the award as heretofore has been preserved as an essential feature of Munro Day.

The Wurlitzer, which was the subject of much talk and not a little criticism last year, has been accepted as a permanent fixture. It is providing the music for the series of free dances of an informal nature held in the lower gymnasium on Saturday nights.

And now, to those students and organizations who by their cooperation and moral support have helped to make our term of office such a productive one, we extend our thanks. To those who are to be our successors, we say bon voyage.

D. A. A. C.

Dalhousie's athletic year is fast drawing to a close. The Dalhousie Amateur Athletic Club, in the discharge of its duties in connection with the administration of college sport, has more than upheld the standard set by student organizations of previous years.

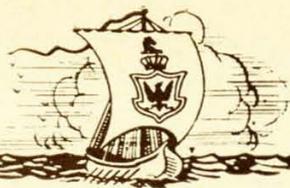

The D.A.A.C. is the ruling body over Dalhousie athletics. The work relative to the execution of the Club's program is carried out in a quiet and efficient manner by the Managing Committee. It consists of an executive elected by the male students of the university, representatives elected by each faculty, and faculty members chosen by the Managing Committee. The committee is responsible for stating the Club's policy in athletics, and determines each year the channels through which Dal shall direct her athletic effort. It is to the D.A.A.C. Managing Committee that the ordinary Dalhousie student is indebted for an opportunity to exercise his athletic inclinations.

One of the highlights of the year was the substitution on an Inter-Varsity Track Meet for the Interfaculty Track Meet. Dalhousie's track team took to the field and made a remarkable showing.

Dalhousie this year truly had her most successful football season in many years. After sweeping all opposition before them in the City League, the Tigers lost a close 3-0 game to Caledonia for the McCurdy Cup.

PHAROS

After winning the Maritime Intercollegiate Tennis Title for seven consecutive years, Dal was this year ousted in a close tournament by Mount Allison. However, next year we expect to have the championship back again.

Basketball is at the date of writing in full progress, and both senior and intermediate teams are fighting hard for top berths in their respective leagues.

Hockey teams were entered in the Halifax City Hockey League and in the Halifax Intercollegiate Hockey League. The Tiger pucksters made a creditable showing in both leagues, and reached the finals in the intercollegiate competition.

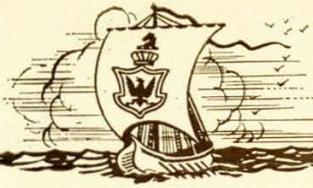

This year has seen renewed interest in interfaculty sport, another program sponsored by the D.A.A.C. In football, honors went to Medicine, while in softball Dentistry captured the title. The hockey and basketball leagues are in full swing, and it would be difficult to pick the winners.

There has been a great stimulus of interest in badminton, gymnastics, volley-ball, and hand-ball. The Boxing Team is looking forward to the Intercollegiate Meet at St. Francis Xavier, and hopes to bring back several titles.

At present plans are underway to have a bigger and better Letter Banquet, as a tribute to those who, during this year, have carried the gold and black colours in some branch of athletics.

The Managing Committee of the D.A.A.C. would like to take this opportunity to express their thanks to managers, coaches, referees, officials and to all who have contributed in anyway towards a furtherance of athletic harmony at Dalhousie.

The Glee Club

The policy of Glee Club for the last two years has been to start the first term with a play put on by Halifax Dalhousians. Throughout September they are able to put in lots of time practicing and so prepare a good play with which to introduce the Frosh to Dalhousie dramatics. This year the first play was Oscar Wilde's, "The Importance of Being Earnest". It was well done under the direction of Rev. Llewellyn Graham of All Saints Cathedral.

Gordon Hiseler, who had been elected this year's president, did not return to Dalhousie, though as stage manager he is still giving valuable assistance backstage. Henry Reardon was elected in his place.

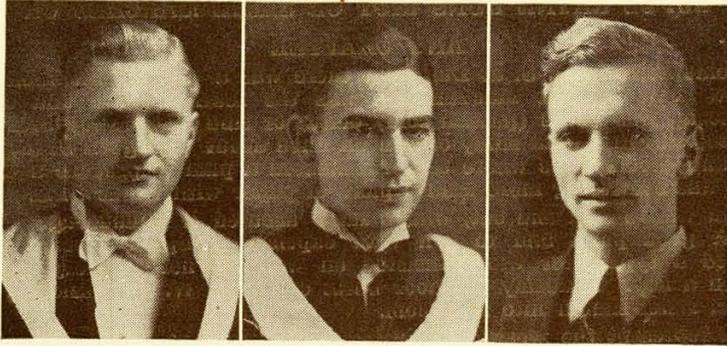

The Frosh this year did themselves proud. The able direction and hard work of Mr. Graham Allen, a former Glee Club President, and of Miss Phyllis Wray, brought out their talents to advantage, and the result was one of the best entertainments the Frosh have given us for a long time. The one-act play, "Thank You, Doctor", directed by Rev. Llewellyn Graham was also good, and is one of the entrants for the Connolly Shield.

In order to provide an evening's entertainment for some of the men of His Majesty's Army, Navy and Air Force, the Glee Club is preparing a program of songs, dances and other variety numbers. This is the sort of thing Dalhousians might do more often.

Under the co-direction of Professor Bennet and Mr. J. P. Connolly, the team that scored last year's hit with "Twelfth Night", rehearsals are under way for "Charlie's Aunt". At the same time, the Musical Revue and Variety Show for Munro Day is being put in shape, and the list of available talent assures us that it will be a fitting end for festivities on that day.

The Glee Club Executive wish to thank all those who have and are making the shows possible and who have helped them to come off smoothly and successfully.

Sodales

The past year saw a very decided curtailment of all intercollegiate activities, due to the prime necessity for all Canadians to shoulder responsibilities inconsistent with the enjoyment of this phase of student life. Debating being considered a minor activity on most campuses was the first to suffer by these conditions. The N.F.C.U.S. cancelled all its debating activities, and, following their action, general lethargy set in on the sectional Debating Unions of the Maritimes.

The policy of Sodales was not internally affected by this general collapse of debating interest, and there was instituted the most progressive campaign attempted by this society in several years. The Students' Council heartily endorsed the action of Sodales. Wide discretionary powers were required by the society, and these the Council granted at one of its regular meetings after much consideration.

Debates with nearly all Maritime institutions were budgeted for, but unfortunately the response from our sister Colleges and Universities was not enthusiastic, and thus was Sodales directly affected by external conditions. It is hoped, however, that many of the institutions may find it in keeping with their activities to permit debating teams representing Dalhousie to visit and engage them on the field of forensic endeavor.

A great number of interfaculty and inter-city debates were also provided for, and it is expected that these will be carried out during the Easter term.

RUFUS RAYNE RUNS RIOT OR SLIME MARCHES ON

ANY CHAPTER

Somewhere in N. S. at Dalhousie there was a weekly blat named the Gazoot. One Wubber MacTunneled was the fearful editor and one J. Winndebag was nudes (pardon cold) editor of said blat. They both were wont to west in a dark slimy cavern all lined about with goon skins, other blats and Gloomytrees where they formulated a plan to produce a Gazoot which was something more than a piece of paper with words on it.

"In what's foul and out, what's fair," shouted J. Winndebag.

"A good point and to hell with expense," gurgled Wubber as he pounded a typewriter which insisted on writing "nerts" every time he touched a key. Suddenly the door burst open and W. P. Fizzleque, Arts '42 etc. roller-skated into the room.

"I represent the frosh," he blurted and passed out in the handy arms of Major Catfish who with the aid of several of his cohorts carried Wilbert P. to Roy's Coffee Shoppe where he remained for the rest of the year. As the cohorts left Corporal Corky screamed. "There's a war on, we want more recruits," with which he collapsed in the Better 'Ole or a reasonable facsimile thereof.

Of a sudden the scene changes; a touch of cold ivory is introduced for the first time in twenty-one years. Though the war drums throb again and the battle flags unfurl, there is a vision of the two pylons on Vimy Ridge and above them the caption, "Still stands thine ancient sacrifice." The Gazette pays a proper tribute.

Slime Marches On—and Wubber MacTunneled, that slip in the march of slime, marches off to join Don 2-Story Flophouse and his cohorts for a slight scrimmage with a few Cape Breton Scots. The Gazoot had the affrontery to make much of this small tussle for even Rufus Rayne when asked the score said quote "I can't remember" unquote.

As Prof. du Venom, Binnit et al began to say it with plowers, as delegates began to depart for a C.S.A. conference, the Gazoot threw itself into the waste basket; but reeled drunkenly back for the second round with good old 1940.

As the delegates returned from St. Anne with a small charge, the Gazoot carried many stories of the battle between the C.S.A. in purple trunks and the Filthy Fifteen in everybody's trunk. The decision went to the Filthy Fifteen and Rufus Rayne locked the delegates in Pretty Barnone's trunk.

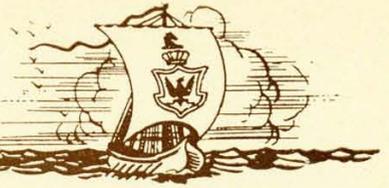

Slime again goes on the march—Shady Hawkins comes to Dal and the Gazoot gives the gals a break. Feminine viewpoints and illogisms are stressed.

As the last curtain falls on the college year the awards committee began throwing souvenir D's to, Joan Blackwood, John Windebank, Doug Cameron, John Dickey and Bob Maitland.

Will Charlie Gordon ever edit such Pig Sty?

Will there ever be such editorials, such a feature page, such a literary section, such sports, such write-ups? Will there ever . . . ad infinitum?

The Dalhousie Band

The Dalhousie Band has put in a busy year during the 1939-40 term. It has turned out for football, hockey, basketball, a skating session, and for Glee Club. It will probably turn out in the near future to entertain the services. The band members have shown great enthusiasm and their playing has won them many favorable comments. This is largely due to the new bandmaster George Little. George has been a Dal student and is at present on the staff of the Maritime Academy of Music. He will be at Dal next year and the band hopes he will be able to direct them again.

At the first of the year the band started out with vacancies due to graduation. But these were filled by new students.

The band committee consists of Lloyd Dalton, band repr., Bud MacDougall, Council rep., Ralph Plummer, D.A.A.C. rep.

The Delta Gamma Society

Delta Gamma has as its members all women students of Dalhousie University, and all women's activities come under its jurisdiction. These activities necessarily cover a wide range, as it is the purpose of Delta Gamma to make available to all its members all of the benefits of university life.

The President, President of the D.G.A.C., and managers of Debating and Social Activities met with the Freshettes during Freshmen Week. This was followed by a formal meeting at Shirreff Hall, at which we were privileged to hear a most interesting talk by Dr. Pelluet. At this meeting a First Aid class was organized.

Open House has been successfully continued this year, and an informal dance in aid of the Community Chest was held at Shirreff Hall on November 14th, which realized a substantial sum for this charitable organization.

Under the capable management of Shirley Kirkpatrick, a very successful one-act play, "Men Are Missing", was entered by Delta Gamma for the Connolly Shield. We are indebted to Mr. Robertson for his excellent directing.

Debating has flourished this year under the expert management of Maureen Allen. The schedule calls for debates with Mount Allison and U.N.B. The intercollegiate team consists of Rowena Benson, Betty Sandall, and Louise Bishop.

An increased interest has been manifested in all departments of sport by the girls this year. There has been a greater turnout than ever in basketball, ground hockey, tennis and badminton: all this in spite of the curtailed hours in the gym. It is hoped that a swimming team will be organized.

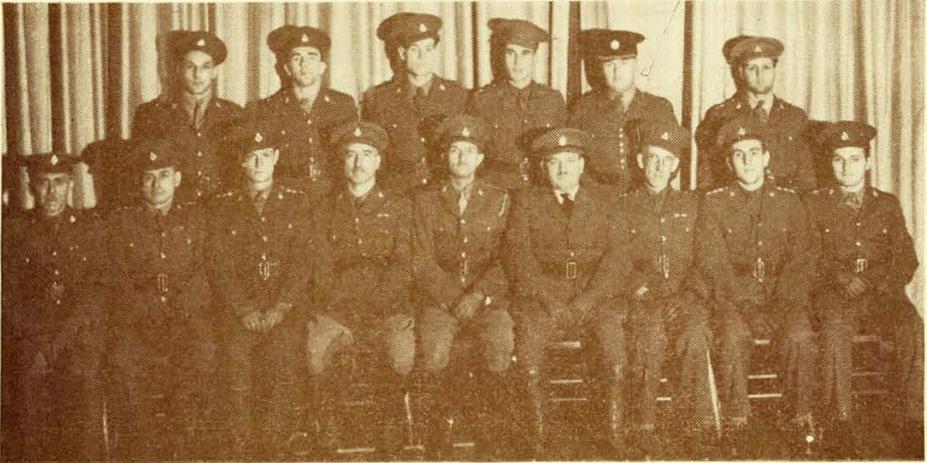

Delta Gamma also sponsored a "Sadie Hawkins Day" in conjunction with the Council which was a great success.

Even a brief resume shows that Delta Gamma looks backward to an active season, and forward to an even better one next year.

C. O. T. C.

The Dalhousie University Contingent, C.O.T.C. was enlarged this year to accommodate the increased enrolment due to the war. More intensified training was introduced to increase the efficiency of the men. New phases of training are mostly of a practical nature. Field Engineering was undertaken, directed by Captain G. V. Douglas, and all men were given an opportunity to study the layout of trenches and their organization. Night operations were carried out to acquaint all with the principles of patrol work and working parties. Recently the battalion spent a day practicing the organization and carrying out of tactical schemes. The lectures have been much more comprehensive and now include Military Law. During the fall, the unit shot the qualification tests at the Bedford Ranges, and shooting has continued throughout the term in the unit's miniature rifle range in the basement of the Archives Building.

Many promotions have been made among faculty and student members of the unit. Major R. E. D. Cattley took over command of the battalion, and Captain J. R. Cameron became second in command and Chief Instructor. The unit suffered the loss of S. M. Turner, R.C.R., but has obtained the services of S. M. Lolly, R.C.R. The increased administrative work has necessitated the appointment of a full time Chief Instructor and of an Orderly Clerk, S. M. Buskin.

During the last war, the Dalhousie C.O.T.C. trained many officers who served in the armed services. The unit is confident that it will be able to perform this same service in the present national war effort.

HENRY ROSS, Dalhousie Representative

By virtue of Dalhousie's membership in the National Federation of Canadian University Students, we are linked to the other University Student Councils throughout Canada. Through the medium of the N.F.C.U.S. official opinions of the students may be expressed and exchange of information between universities facilitated.

The central office is located in Hart House, University of Toronto, where E. A. MacDonald, also Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Union of Varsity, has his office. It so happens that the President of the N.F.C.U.S. this year is Sidney Hermant, who is also President of the Varsity Student's Administrative Council. Both these men are keenly interested in the future welfare of the Federation and will make every effort to further its interests.

During the next two years an effort will be made to cooperate with other national student organizations and give assistance to them in their endeavours where possible.

At this time one of the most important undertakings of the N.F.C.U.S. is the organization of a National Emergency Committee whose purpose is to co-operate with the Department of Defence during the present crisis and to assist in the rehabilitation problems following the war.

Student Christian Movement

President—Mary Doull

Vice-President and Grad. Rep.—Glynn Firth

The S.C.M. has had a comparatively full program this year. We began last term with a freshman meeting and social where Rev. J. W. A. Nicholson gave an address. This was followed by a fall camp conference during the last weekend in October, at which the main leader was Margaret Kinney, Associate Secretary of the National Movement. Graduate and Undergraduate meetings were held during Margaret Kinney's five-day visit.

Four delegates, John Grant, Ian Ross, John Windebank and Rowena Benson, as well as Ruth Haythorne, attended the National Conference on the "World Mission of Christianity" at Toronto, at Christmas.

Plans are being made for the Maritime Spring Camp, to take place during the last week in May. The groups studying the "Records of the Life of Jesus" under the leadership of Dr. Bronson continue this year. A group is studying under Ruth Haythorne, and another, under Prof. Wilson, is studying "Democracy and the Present Crisis".

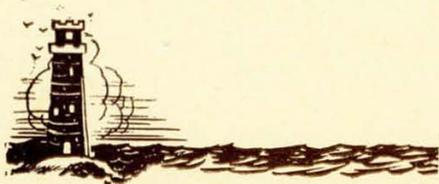

A new venture of the S.C.M. this term is the series of weekly worship services being held in King's Chapel. This began with a Christmas Carol service on the last Sunday before Christmas. The group expects to do a similar service at Easter.

Senior Football

TOM LAIDLAW, Manager

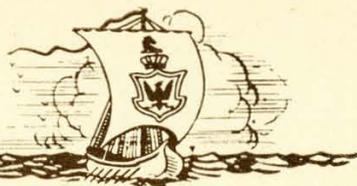

This year Dalhousie was fortunate in that, for the first time, through the efforts of interested alumni, we had the services of a full-time coach. Thanks to this, and to the calibre of the players, the football season was a more than usually successful one, and for the first time since 1936, Dalhousie was within striking distance of the McCurdy Cup.

Despite the annual toll of injuries which kept at least kept six of our men out of the game for part or most of the season, competition for places on the team was keen, and the strategic ability of Coach Ralston was taxed at the posting of every lineup. An early victory at Acadia in the opening game, October 7th, was a favourable omen for the remainder of the City League Matches, and the team carried on undefeated until it met Caledonia November 11th, losing the Provincial Title 3-0 in a memorable game.

Every credit is due to the players who practised faithfully, to Coach Ralston and to the enthusiastic support of the Alumni and the D.A.A.C. And not the least worthy of credit are those men who nursed injuries in the stands or who played their parts on the second team.

Next year's team should not be greatly weakened by graduation, but it is too early to estimate the effect of the war on the team. In any event, it would be well not to forget that wars may be won on the playing fields of Dalhousie as well as of Eton, and to those who represent us in 1940, we of 1939 wish every success, fair weather and good matches.

Intermediate Football

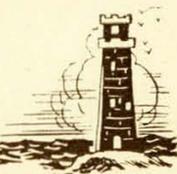

JAMES MacLEAN, Manager

At the beginning of the season, the Dalhousie Cubs showed great promise of taking the league title when they won the first two games of the schedule. However, promotions to the Senior Team and injuries took their toll, and the lineup had to be changed continually near the end of the season. Nevertheless, the Cubs gave a good account of themselves in all their games—they won from Wanderers and Acadia, tied with Kings, then lost to Truro and Acadia in hard fought games.

The team this year was largely composed of Freshmen who gave every indication of becoming first class senior players in the next few years. Coach Ralston spent a great deal of time with the team, which was, we would like to assure him, greatly appreciated.

Dalhousie Basketball, 1939-40

WALTER R. LAWSON, Manager

Immediately football gear was hung up for the year, late in the fall, our new physical director, Burnie Ralston, called the first basketball workouts. From the start it was apparent that basketball was to be a bigger and better affair under Burnie than it had been at Dal for a long time. Practically all of both last year's senior and intermediate teams are back at school this year. These plus some new material made up the large turnouts at the first of the season. Soon the squad was cut to about twenty men who were drilled hard up until practice had to stop for Christmas examinations. Immediately after Christmas serious, hard practice was started and the squad was drilled down to a finely conditioned, snarling pack of Tigers from which the senior and intermediate teams were chosen.

At the time of writing the intermediate league is about half over and the Dalhousie Cubs have five wins in six starts. We hope and expect that they will come through with the first city intermediate title to come to Dal in quite a time.

The senior league was later than the intermediate and at this date it is impossible to make any predictions, but we know that the cream of Dalhousie's hoop artists are going out there and on paper they look like the biggest and best, and certainly the best conditioned and practiced team that we have placed on the court in a number of years.

Mike Smith, who played last year with the Tigers, has been elected to the captaincy of the senior team that we expect so much of this year. Archie MacKenzie, playing his third year with the Cubs, has been chosen captain of and is leading that team to victory.

A great deal of the improvement in the standard of basketball being played at Dalhousie this year is due to the work of coach and physical director, Burnie Ralston. A hard and conscientious worker himself he expects and gets the same type of co-operation from the boys. Regular and efficient coaching has in years past been a crying need at Dalhousie and it is indeed gratifying to see this need filled by so competent and popular an instructor as Burnie Ralston.

Dalhousie Hockey Team

CAMERON McNEIL, Manager

This year, as in the past, the management was faced with the problem of entering a League that would be suitable for college participation and which did not involve too many trips. For this reason we entered the City Intermediate League, composed of Air Force, Navy, Tramways, Kings and Dalhousie teams.

Playing a splendid brand of hockey through the schedule, our team did not qualify for the playoffs, due principally to the exceptionally high standard of ability displayed by the older and more experienced players on the other teams.

Dalhousie has also entered a team in the Intercollegiate League and will play against Tech and St. Mary's College. At the time of writing our chances of success in this league are very good, and high hopes are entertained for a possible N. S. Championship.

Track and Field

BOB BLOIS, Manager

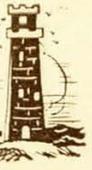

The season of 1939-40 saw Dalhousie return to Track and Field Sport. On October 17, 1939, Dalhousie was host to a Maritime Intersivity Track and Field Invitation Meet, sponsored by Dalhousie University, King's, Technical and St. Mary's Colleges. The meet proved very successful, mainly through the efforts of Ralph Plumer and Physical Instructor Burnie Ralston, the latter acting as director of the meet.

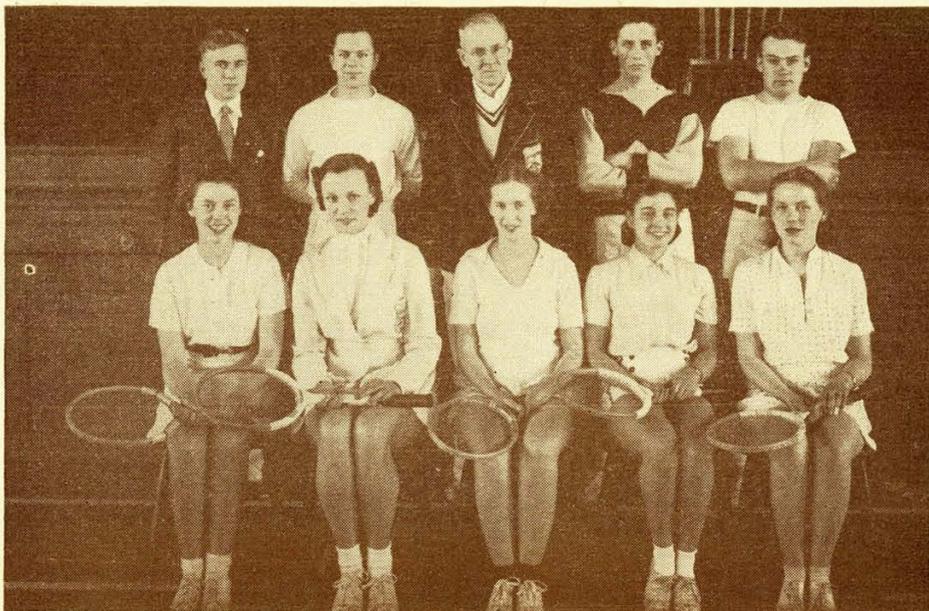

Teams from seven universities participated in the meet representing Dalhousie, Acadia, King's, Mt. Allison, St. Francis Xavier, St. Mary's and Technical College.

The meet was a close race from start to finish, Mt. Allison finally winning with a total of 45 points. Dalhousie and St. Francis Xavier tied for second place with 36 points. The day was rounded off by a banquet for participants and officials.

MacRitchie set a new record for the discus throw. Nonamaker, Feindel, Cantelope and Lawson were prominent, though all made a good showing.

This meet proved beyond doubt that Dalhousie has a wealth of track material, and it is felt that if such a meet be held next year Dalhousie will be able to field an equally worthy team.

Standing—Forbes Mountain, Karl Garten, Prof. Mercer, Colin Smith, Art Mercer.

Tennis

M. A. FORBES MOUNTAIN, Manager

For the first time since the organization of intercollegiate tennis in 1932, Dalhousie failed to win the Maritime Championship. The team retained the provincial title by beating Acadia University 13-3, but Mt. Allison University nosed out in front with a score of 10-9. As well can be imagined the tournament was close and excitement ran high, it being necessary to play the nineteenth match to decide the championship. All the members of the team deserve much credit for the fine showing against the Mt. Allison team which was very strong.

To Coach Professor Mercer goes the thanks of the management for the aid and encouragement that he gave the team and we sincerely hope that next year he will again, as in the past, guide the tennis team of Dalhousie to the Maritime Championship.

Owing to inclement weather it was not possible this year to hold a student tennis tournament as was originally thought of, but we hope that next fall this tournament will be a reality.

Badminton

M. A. FORBES MOUNTAIN, Manager

This season marks a new chapter in the history of Badminton at Dalhousie. Owing to conditions arising from the war the former McCurdy Cup matches had to be cancelled. It was then decided to enter a team in both the Halifax Church Badminton League and the Young People's Badminton League. At present both teams are doing well and it is to be hoped that Dalhousie will be at the top of both leagues at the close of the season. It is also to be noted with pride that this year the team is a wholly student team. We were unfortunate this year in losing the services of Professor Mercer, but he did not leave us entirely and his coaching was appreciated by various members of the team. Then we were able to obtain as Coach Clyde Sperry, whose good work may be traced in the improved playing of the team.

Although the floor was not available for Badminton as much as in previous years, the students were out at all opportunities and the student Badminton tournament for the various cups was a success. Plans are being made to hold a Maritime Intercollegiate Badminton tournament and we have every hope that if it is held some of the titles will remain at Dalhousie.

Co-ed Basketball

MARJORIE MacINTOSH, Manager

The Interclass League that was started last year has received even more interest from the students this year. There are four teams in the league: Freshette A and B teams, Sophomore, and Junior-Senior teams. An incentive to interest in this league has been a cup procured for us by Red Payne. Our thanks to him. The Interclass League is looked after by the assistant manager, Marjorie Manning.

This year, after a meeting in Truro of the colleges interested, a new intercollegiate league was formed, called the Maritime Girls' Intercollegiate Athletic Union, mainly for the purpose of promoting intercollegiate basketball. The colleges in the league are: U.N.B., Mount Allison, Acadia and Dalhousie. So far we have played only Acadia and were defeated, but are confident of redeeming ourselves in future games.

We all wish to express our thanks to Miss Wray for her interest and excellent coaching during this season.

Ground Hockey

DOROTHY MacKENZIE, Manager

Ground hockey this year reached a new high. There was a greater display of enthusiasm than we have seen for a long time, and the turnout on most occasions was excellent. Miss Wray did much to arouse interest among all the girls, especially among the Freshettes. The new class produced numerous fine players and a couple of stars. In addition, most of last year's players were back on the field and the two combined to produce a better team than there has been for some time. We had our usual enjoyable games with Halifax Ladies' College, as well as a very pleasant trip to Edgehill and a return game at Studley. There was some talk of games with the English Navy boys but these didn't come through. However, the hilarious, if rather irregular, match with the Dal boys quite made up for this. On behalf of all those who have played I should like to thank Miss Wray for her enthusiastic, willing and unselfish coaching.

Boxing Team

E. MERCHANT, Manager

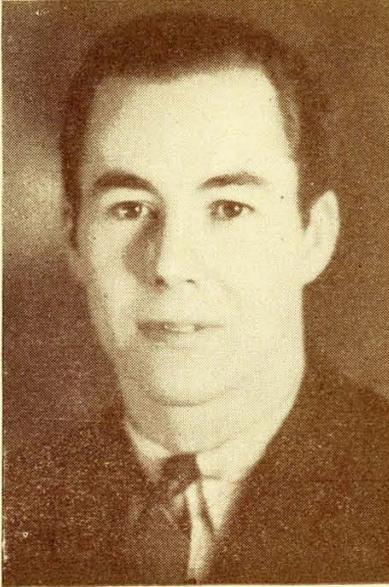

This year at St. Francis Xavier University the Annual Maritime Intercollegiate Boxing Championships will be held. The bouts will take place sometime in March and to this end Dalhousie's boxing enthusiasts have been hard at work for some months. It is expected that Mt. Allison, U.N.B., St. F. X., Tech and Dalhousie will be represented.

At the present time Tom White, a member of Dalhousie's last year team is the title-holder in the Lightweight Class.

Among the candidates are:

Joseph Koven—Featherweight	Cyril Kempston—Welterweight
Tom White—Lightweight	Bain Munro—Middleweight
T. Spiro—Lightweight	M. Skinner—Middleweight
Abe Becker—Heavyweight

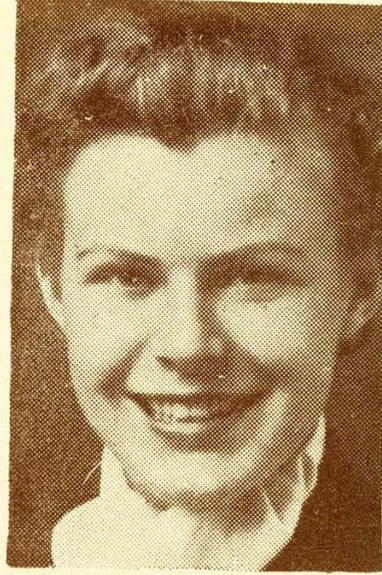

BURNETT ALEXANDER RALSTON

This year Burnett Alexander Ralston has ably filled the post of Director of Physical Education at Dalhousie.

"Burnie", as he is known to all, attended Halifax Academy and St. John High School, then on to Acadia to graduate with a B.Sc. He also spent a year at Dalhousie. During that time his ability in every branch of sport marked him as one of the leading athletes in the Maritimes. His career in sport was climaxed, when in 1939 he was awarded the Clarke Athletic Award as the outstanding St. John Sportsman of the year.

The showing of the Dalhousie Football Team against Caledonia in 1939 and his handling of the Tiger's Basketball squad, illustrate that he also has great coaching ability. It is with pleasure that we welcome "Burnie" to Dalhousie and wish him every success for the future.

PHYLLIS WRAY

Dalhousie's introduction to Phyllis Wray was in the fall of 1937 when she was Physical Instructress at the Y.W.C.A. and directed some Physical Training classes at the University. The next year, she accepted the position of Physical Instructress and Director of Girls' Sports at Dalhousie.

Miss Wray was born in Lethbridge, Alberta. After attending St. Hilda's in Calgary, she went to Margaret Eaton and received her diploma of Physical Education in 1937.

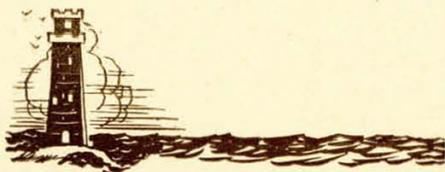

Since her arrival at Dalhousie, the interest in co-ed sports has increased nearly one hundred per cent. Under her capable and willing instruction, the co-eds can learn anything from golf to swimming.

AWARDS

PHAROS

The Malcolm Honor Society

In the summer of 1903 James Malcolm, a graduate in Arts that spring, gave his life in a heroic attempt to save a drowning comrade. Those who knew him realised that such a death was a fitting close to a life of unselfish service to others. To keep the ideals of Jimmy Malcolm before the eyes of all Dalhousians, the James Malcolm Honor Society was formed. As members of this society are chosen those of each year's graduating class, who, in the opinion of fellow-students have shown, in the proper degree, the spirit which inspired his life. Its award of a small gold key is the highest honor which can be conferred by Dalhousie students on one of their number.

JOAN SYLVIA BLACKWOOD

Students' Council, Gazette, Glee Club, Gymnasium Committee, Delta Gamma, Midlothian Society, Year Book, Co-ed Basketball, Badminton—all these owe at least a proportion of their success in the last few years to her efforts. But more notable than Joan's actual achievements in these branches of campus life has been her dependability and ever gracious manner, no matter how important or trivial the task.

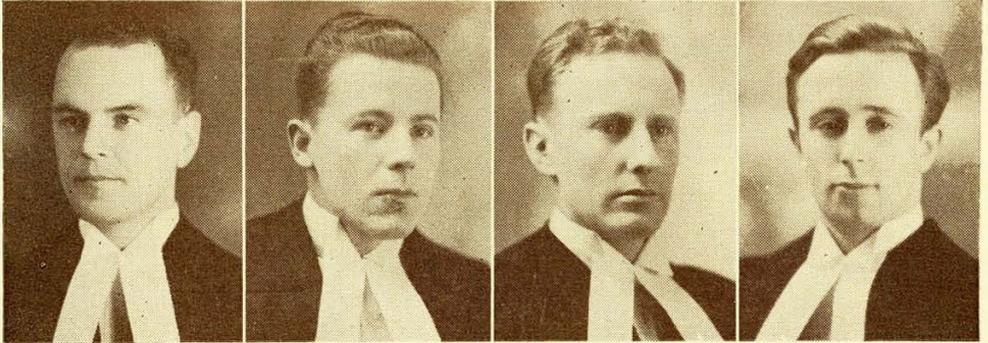

We, the Students of Dalhousie, have seen and appreciated her unselfish and efficient service to the University, and now express our appreciation in the best way we know.

Congratulations, and—thanks, Joan.

Smith Shield

The Smith Shield is a debating award for senior Law students, the highest undergraduate honor of that Faculty. The debate itself takes place late in the year, beyond the date of publication of the Year Book. However, the competitors have been chosen from the graduating class for this year's contest, and this constitutes in itself a signal honor.

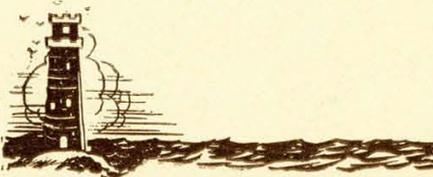

James Alexander Doull

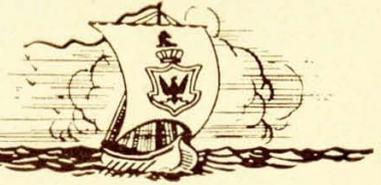

Rhodes Scholarship

This scholarship, tenable at Oxford University, is awarded annually to some Nova Scotian student according to stipulations in the will of Cecil Rhodes. The basis of selection includes scholastic and athletic ability, force of character, manhood, courage, kindness and kindred virtues.

Dalhousians, therefore, are proud that one of their number has again been chosen for this honor. The winner this year is James Alexander Doull, of Halifax. At Dalhousie, he majored in Classics, and will now continue his studies at Oxford.

Best of Luck, Jimmy Doull.

DEAR DIARY

Sept. 29—Another college year begun today — registered this morning. Swell to see all the gang again. Wandered over to the Hall to the Freshman Party tonight with a couple of the fellows. Weren't supposed to be there, of course, but decided that the girls could use a break. Also wanted to look over the Freshette crop. Answer: Mmm! Not bad!

Oct. 2 — Classes began. Always something to take the joy out of life!

Oct. 5—Students' Council Dance tonight. Very fine party—very fine indeed. The freshettes look better and better, bless their little hearts! Of course one must move carefully in these things, but there's one in particular . . .

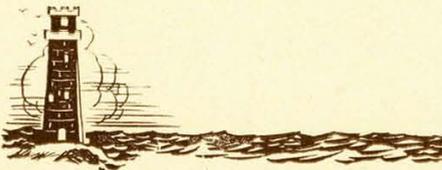

Oct. 6—Finally decide to make life worth living for a Freshette, and what happens? They have a Shirreff Hall initiation, and she can't go out!

Oct. 12—First Glee Club show of the year, "The Importance of Being Earnest". Very fine start for the year, say I.

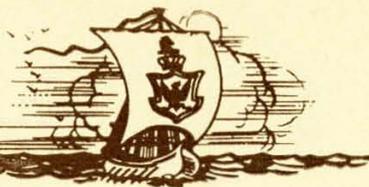

Oct. 13—The Freshie-Soph Dance—first time I've indulged in years—in the dance, I mean. Can't say it's what it used to be when it was a formal, way back when I was a young thing; but it had its points all the same.

Oct. 17—The Intercollegiate Track Meet today. Very dismal day—besides which we lost; but at least there were no classes. Very nice little dance after the meet.

Oct. 28—Today I am a social success! Yes, my dear diary, I was invited to the Delta Gamma Open House. Very nice party; lovely girls; in fact, a fine large evening.

PHAROS

Oct. 31—Ah! The witching night! Threw a party at the house. Costumes! Wish more of the girls would come as ballet dancers, pirates (very suitable for some I've known)—or somebody would come as the Petty girl . . .

Nov. 2—First big formal of the year—the Med Ball. Impressions of the latter half of the dance a trifle vague—but very pleasant!

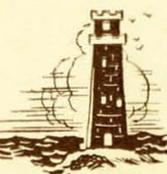

Nov. 9—It must be that I've switched to Sweet Caps—or Lifebuoy—that did it. Yes, I went to the Shirreff Hall Formal tonight. What is the secret of my power over women? Dunno. But it was a super party, anyway.

Nov. 10—Could scarcely believe what I saw tonight. College spirit openly and unashamedly manifested at Dalhousie! Pep-rally, snake-dance, bonfire—can this be Dalhousie? Never saw so much enthusiasm. Hot dogs and dancing (or are they one and the same thing?) at the Gym afterwards. Done out, but never had so much fun in my life.

Nov. 11—Armistice Day has come and gone, and with it the big game we all practised so hard for. Caledonia won, but, believe me, they worked hard for it. Hard game to lose—big crowd there. Tea-dance (so-called) at the Gym after the game.

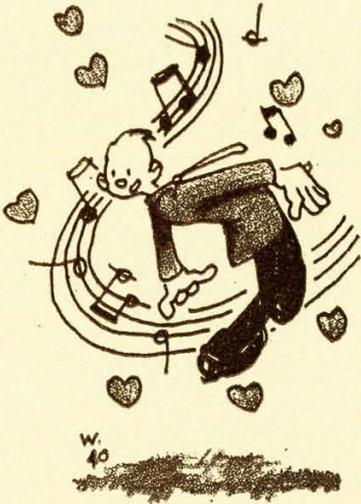

Nov. 14—Can it be I have lost my manly appeal? A Delta Gamma dance tonight, and I didn't go. Curses, I say. One of the fellows at the house went, and said heap good party.

Nov. 16—Freshmen showed what they could do at the Glee Club show tonight—and they could do all right. The play was only fair, but the revue was good—they've got a lot of talent in the class. The girlies looked especially beautiful. Dance better than usual, but those (censored) tag dances!!

Nov. 17—Did mean to start to work this week—but there was the Law Ball tonight, and who could resist? and I don't mean the dance. Much fun, though!

Nov. 20—Met Kissy Cameron at last—oh, man!!!

Nov. 24—Labor pains—did start work today. Might as well, with all the girls going either to the King's Formal last night, or to Pine Hill Formal tonight. Fine thing!

Dec. 2—Just heard an awful thing—favoritism has struck this university. The President, no less, had a party and asked most of the campus lovelies and only invited Navy lads (British at that). Remind me to buy a uniform tomorrow.

Dec. 12—Omgawd! Exams began!

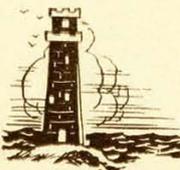

Dec. 19—Either I finished exams or they finished me. Christmas and New Year's—here I come!

Jan. 3—Back again with only one pluck, and a decent curtain drawn over the holiday activities.

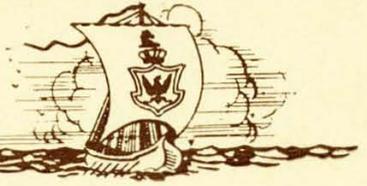

Jan. 5—The new season off to a flying start with the Commerce Ball. May not be many of these Commerce boys, but they sure can stage a party—or was it just the gal that made it so good?

Jan. 12—The Boilermakers' Ball tonight—very much up to standard. Good time had by all—especially by the Phi Delts!

Jan. 17—What a day! The Council decided to withdraw from the C.S.A., and my old bones tell me there'll be hell to pay.

PHAROS

Then a riotous hockey game—the Council vs. D.A.A.C.—girls playing on both teams (practically over Red Payne's dead body). Poor hockey, but good fun. Skating session followed.

Jan. 19—S'funny—I'm told there was one lone Phi Chi at classes today. Maybe last night's Formal had something to do with it?

Jan. 23—More fun and rioting at the Student Forum today. Absolutely nothing decided, but it was a field-day for those lawyers.

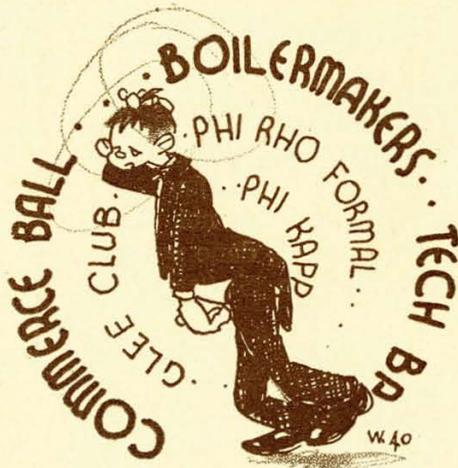

Jan. 31—First Glee Club Show of the New Year—two one-act plays for the Connolly Shield. The dear girls looked very nice on stage in the first play—second play at least interesting. Dance afterward, and, oh joy! no tag dances!

Feb.—Another Forum meeting re vote of censure moved against the Council—close shave, but they won out.

Feb. 4—Very hectic week-end for some people—Phi Rho Formal Thursday night (my deah, they had the loveliest favors!). Phi Kap Formal, and Tech Ball Friday night—and Saturday is Saturday. Me, I'm the peaceful type.

Feb. 7—Another Glee Club Show—the pace is beginning to tell. The Pi Phi's done noble, and the revue afterward was interesting. Dance, too.

Feb. 9—Didn't go myself, but hear tell there was some college spirit shown at the Dal Girls vs. U. N. B. basketball game—the band played, and even faint cheers were heard by the more keen-eared of the spectators. Where, oh where is the lofty restraint of Dalhousians of other years in these matters?

PHAROS

March 6th—

Ward-healers out in force, 'mid derbies and strong cigars, frightening the Frosh into voting the right way. Right! Council Elections!

March 12th—

Munro Day—the year's wind up. (I must get down to work soon.) Sports, speeches, Glee Club dance—more darn fun, but I guess I'm getting old—the pace tells. Don't think I'll go to Herbie's lecture tomorrow.

March 20th—

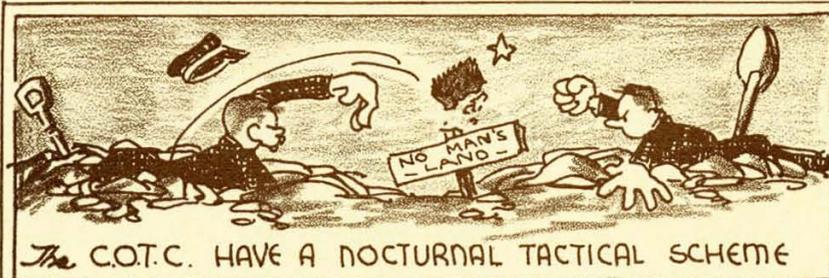

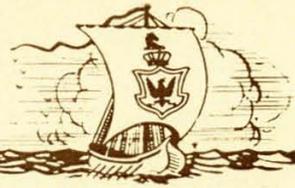

Revolt of the V. G. Interns—it will be a happier and better place now.

April 15th—

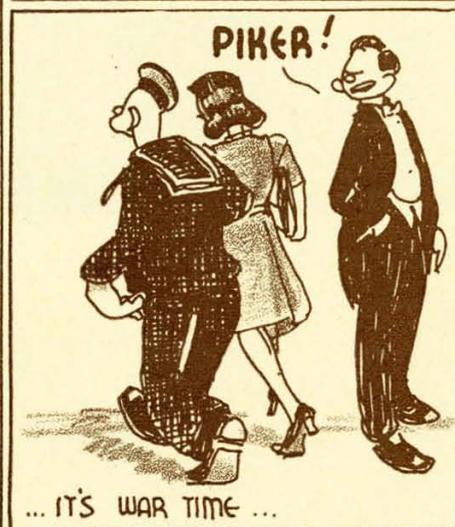

This is farewll, O Diary. Have just been reminded that here it is almost exam time, and not a stroke of work done yet. Shall see you again "come May".
