Mr T. H. Raddall
 Liverpool, N. S.

Dear sir:-

I felt that I must write to you to express my thanks for the many happy hours that your pen has brought to me.

Three of your books are in my library and the fourth one lays beneath our Christmas tree. It just would not seem like Christmas now, unless one of your books lies under the tree.

My wife says "no more of Raddall's books for Christmas". The reason being that once I get my nose past the cover, I am gone for the day. However, I can think of nothing as pleasant as a Christmas day in front of the fire-place with your new book.

Personally, though, I think "His Majesty's Yankees" is tops, so far, but not very far ahead of the others.

Many of my friends are now going for your books, too. In fact one was so enthusiastic that he went out and purchased the complete set.

I often see people reading your books on the street-cars, when coming home at night.

I am looking forward to having a long line of your books on my shelves. So my earnest wishes for you are that you have a peaceful and a prosperous New Year in which to carry your gifted pen to even greater heights.

Yours truly
Warren G. Harding
