

Transportation is expensive, so their product is taken to market by bicycle.

Here one of our lepers is preparing for the long ride to town to sell the eggs that will help buy food and other materials the villagers cannot make or grow themselves.

Your gift will help us start this new village on the way toward self-support.