Mr. Thomas Raddall

Dear Tom:-

You will hardly remember me, but I did meet you in Liverpool in Aug. 1931 when I visited our mutual friend Brent Smith during the re-union of the 1st. C.C.S. I have enjoyed reading your books very much. "His Majesty's Yankees" was particularly interesting, knowing what I do about Liverpool.

Now, the reason for this letter. Can you tell me where T. B. Smith is now? I have not heard from him for years and would like to drop him a line, for old time's sake.

Hoping that this is not going to cause you too much trouble

I am, yours sincerely

A. H. Walton.
