FOREWORD

Year Books have been published before. Some have been successes, a few have not. Some have been dressed up in wordy prettiness and ostentatious flattery; more, that have attempted this, have failed.

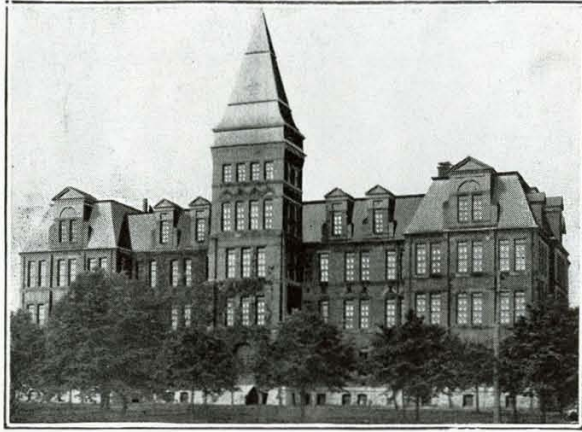

A graduate looks to a Year Book for fond memories, not for a display of the journalistic abilities of the various editors, or for their tactful evasion of the unfortunate truth. Memories stir the emotions and the favourite memories are the simpler ones.

ALUMNI MESSAGE

The officers, executive and members of the Alumni Association of Dalhousie College and University deem it a real honour to have the opportunity of co-operating in the Year Book for nineteen hundred and thirty-six and to congratulate the undergraduate body of the University on its industry and determination in producing this Volume to place on record the activities and achievements of its members.

Old Dalhousians follow with keen interest and unstinted enthusiasm the undertakings of the Dalhousians of today and wish them God-speed in all their pursuits.

It was a source of great satisfaction to the Alumni Executive to witness the vigor with which the students participated in Athletics of all kinds and in particular the renewed interest in hockey this year, and we send our heartiest congratulations for the splendid form which they exhibited in all their contests.

One of the primary duties of this Alumni Association is to foster interest and loyalty for the Alma Mater in Dalhousians who have passed through her gates and who are now engaged in the kaleidoscope of activities in various parts of the world. It is not always an easy task to keep an organization of this kind as active and coherent as the officers of the association desire. One of the methods whereby the Alumni tie is more firmly bound is by the re-union which, under ordinary circumstances is held every five years and at which former University Students gather from every part of the world, to renew old friendships and pledge their support to the best interests of Dalhousie.

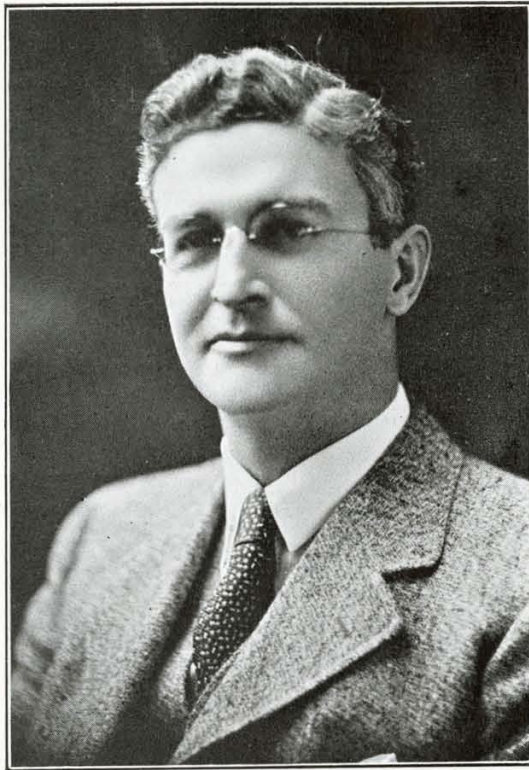

Owing to unsettled world economic conditions the Reunion of nineteen hundred and thirty-four was postponed for two years and plans were inaugurated to hold it this summer. After careful consideration however, it was decided that the year nineteen hundred and thirty-eight would be the proper time for such a rally. That marks the centenary of the first actual teaching at Dalhousie, and it is felt that with adequate preparation and careful organization that centenary may be celebrated in a manner truly in accordance with the importance of the occasion which it commemorates by a gala Reunion of all Dalhousians.

To you present day Dalhousians the Alumni look for advice and co-operation in all their undertakings in the interest of the University. Many of you will be going forth from academic life this year and we trust your interest in your college will not cease with Convocation but will increase as the years advance and that you will give some of your talents and energy to the undertakings of the Alumni Association.

To those of you who do leave Dalhousie this year, we wish every success in your entrance into the world beyond the University Halls. May your skies be ever clear and may no clouds of disappointment mar your horizon and to you and yours we wish all happiness, success and prosperity in the years to come.

CARLETON W. STANLEY, M.A., LL.D., Litt.D., F.R.S.C.
President of the University

Tous ces tomes que l'âge rogne
Couvraient ma planche et ma cloison,
J'étais parfois comme un ivrogne
Tant je m'emplissais de raison.

That, sometimes, is how you have felt about it all, (whether you felt it in English or French, verse or prose.) Now it is over, and perhaps other thoughts supervene. Perhaps some of the Time-fretted lore cleaves to you; perhaps in the bout with Intellect, other men's Intellect, an inspiration came to you, and became your own.

Despite much that is still said to the contrary, you will not find "the world" very different from college. It is no less rational, and not more dull. You will find, as before, that Life for you consists largely of what you import into it. "The mind is its own state." If you have formed habits of reading at college, or earlier; if you have learned to think for yourself; if you have a gay courage, then your education will continue, and leaving college will be a breach hardly noted in your experience. If, on the other hand, your mind and temper are still unmarked by these qualities, then it hardly matters what your scene.

All we who have had to do with instructing you in Dalhousie were long ago convinced that your class contained intelligence of a high order, and that many of you, both men and women, were endowed with a strong native character and a serious purpose in life. Dalhousie is the better for your sojourn here. It has been a pleasure to us to discuss with you some of the great things that have been said and done and discovered: an even greater pleasure to mark your eager response. We feel confident that in you Wisdom will be justified of her children, and that through you there will be a better world-citizenship, and nobler conceptions of freedom and tolerance.

I conclude with a cordial personal wish: for the good fortune of each one of you.

Carleton Stanley.

President.

TO THE CLASS OF '36

Some classes very quickly lose their identity, and as a unit they are forgotten. Others are remembered. What made a class outstanding in this way? It is the contribution which that class as a unit made to the University life. Something they did, has remained as a living element in the University tradition. They are remembered, not by their class year, but by what they did. You say, "There is very little that one class can do." That is true but I will go further:—the groups which accomplish even this mite are few and far between. However the structure of University tradition is built slowly by the occasional addition of these minute increments and when a class does make an addition to this structure, even though the addition be small, that class is not forgotten. You of the 1936 group made such a contribution. The scheme you inaugurated for introducing new students to University life, has become an established custom at Dalhousie. Your suggestion meant change and innovation. You met with opposition and criticism, but your scheme worked. In fact worked so well and resulted in such an improvement, that it is being copied by certain other Canadian Universities. Thus you, the Class of 1936, won for yourself a permanent place in our university structure, and you will be remembered.

Au revoir and best of luck,

HUGH P. BELL.

EDUCATION

This is the first time we have had the opportunity of introducing the Education Department as a post-graduate department to the Year Book. The last time a Year Book was published, there was no department, and when the department did come into existence, there was no Year Book.

So we welcome this opportunity of saying something through the Year Book about a new creation on the campus. It lacks all the tradition and age which characterizes the Law School, but it brings in the place of reverently mentioned personages, all the freshness and vitality of modernity.

We have been particularly fortunate in having at the head of the department this year, a man who also lends youth and vigour to Education not only within the confines of the University, but to the whole province. Fresh from a brilliant career in English Education, Mr. Fletcher has brought new ideas, real inspiration to the students of Education at Dalhousie, and no report of our activities would be complete without some mention of the splendid spirit which has been produced in the class by the cordial air of friendliness which has characterized Mr. Fletcher's associations with us. The hospitality which both Mrs. Fletcher and he have extended to us during the year, has made the course not only one, complete in training and theory, but also a pleasing interlude in a definitely marked out University course.

As a class we have been not a little removed from the general activities of the campus, and our position as post graduate students has placed a further barrier between the rest of the campus and ourselves. Yet we have formulated our own programs of activity. We cannot resist mentioning the famous, or should we say infamous pink teas on Friday, those terrific eating carnivals after a hard nights study for exams., very conducive to sociability but producing cases of chronic indigestion and insomnia for days afterwards. We still have visions of Mabel's doughnuts, Burns' stein, Gladys singing—they've all contributed to making the course a very real one. We found time even to organize a dance after Christmas exams., a night which we will always remember as having a large part in the kaleidoscopic pattern of our years' work.

Probably the greatest thrill of the course, came in the last term when we finally began our period of practice teaching in the schools.

Our contact for the first time with the work we will later be doing provided a topic of animated conversation and discussion, which is still raging hotly.

The class has had a special advantage over other university departments in that continuity was provided to the course by having one professor and one lecture-room.

That room, which has become the natural habitat of us all, we will never completely forget. Our library, which caused our librarians so many sleepless nights, with books, the essential ones of which, always mysteriously disappeared about a month before exams., the glaring notices demanding their immediate return, that crazy clock, which always did the wrong thing at the right time; visions of tables instead of desks, and informal discussions instead of rigorous lectures—we are leaving them all, now; but it is with pictures such as these in our minds that we say farewell for the present to the Ed. room, knowing well that as long as the "Homestead" remains and Prof. Fletcher is here we will be returning to see with regret other students living in the same atmosphere as gave us our best and most enjoyable year at College.

THE GRADUATING ENGINEERS

The Graduating Class of Engineers this year, although small in comparison with previous years, has nevertheless accomplished a few things, worthy of comment.

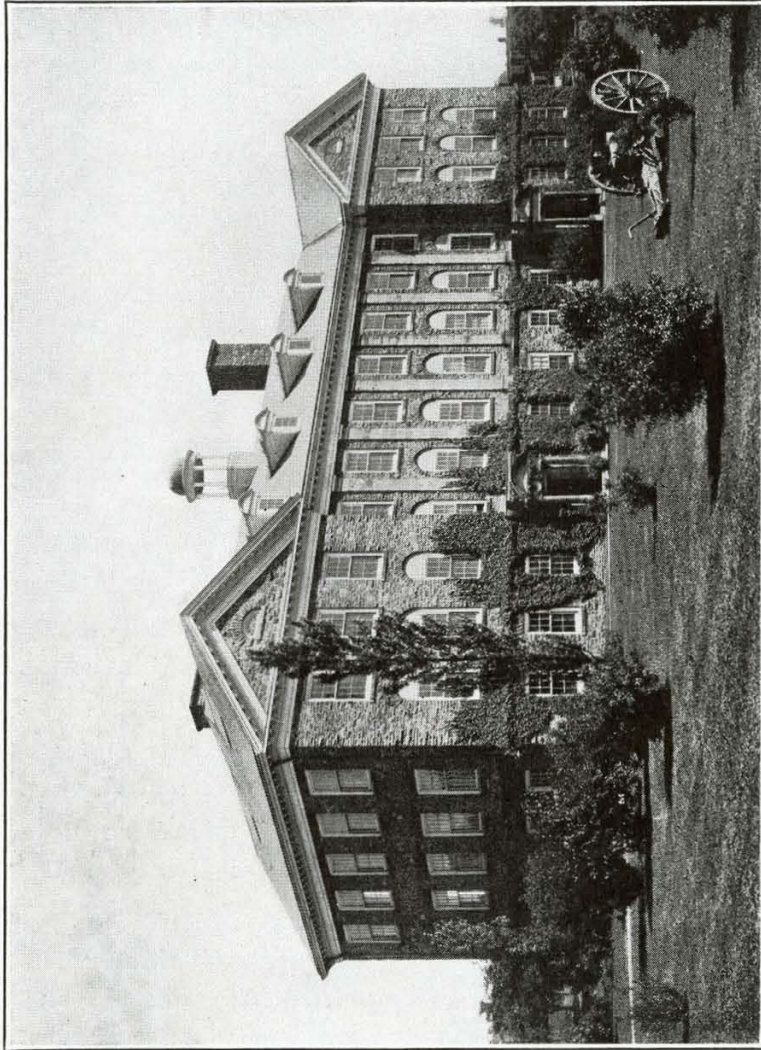

For the past few years the Engineering Society has combined with the Commerce Society in interfaculty sport and the annual dance. The football team made an encouraging showing, advancing to the semi-finals with the Freshmen before being beaten. The hockey team was also beaten by the Frosh in the early stages of the league. The basketball and softball teams put lots of pep in the games but were unsuccessful.

The Millionaires-Boilermakers Ball, however, was a complete success financially and socially. The combined societies made $9.70 on the dance and every one decided that it was reminiscent of old times when the Boilermakers Ball was the talk of the campus.

One of the greatest accomplishments of the Society this year, was to induce Prof. Theakston to attend the banquet. "Theaky" came out of his shell and gave an excellent talk on the Engineering Faculty. Other speakers were Prof. Spencer Ball, Prof. D. C. Harvey, who fascinated his audience by his description of early Dalhousie, and Prof. W. P. Copp whose interest in the Society is still appreciated by the members.

TO THE] GRADUATES IN LAW

V. C. MACDONALD, B.A., LL.B., K. C.
Dean of the Faculty of Law

It is our hope that you carry with you from your years in this Faculty at least two items of equipment for success in the years to come. The first is some knowledge of the reason and letter of the law and some training in the technique of its application. This is a matter making for professional proficiency. The second item is a conviction that law is a social mechanism which it is the business of lawyers to operate and adapt for the common good. This is a matter of realizing the obligation of the legal profession to see to it that the law shall continue to fulfill its function.

We would have you recognize the truth of Webster's saying that "accuracy and diligence are more necessary to a lawyer than great comprehension of mind or brilliancy of intellect"; that if a man "would be a great lawyer he must first consent to become a great drudge."

We would have you remember, also, that, as Weldon said a half-century ago, the political duties which rest upon all citizens will be best performed by those who have given them the most thought, and that no lawyer—and certainly no lawyer imbued with the traditions of this Faculty—should remain indifferent to the call to public service.

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS IN MEDICINE

H. G. GRANT, M. D. C. M., M. R. C. S.,
Dean of the Faculty of Medicine.

In a few weeks your long period of training will be over, and after the usual solemnities have been observed, you will be given the right to practise the Art of Medicine.

First, let me offer my sincere congratulations. The course, of necessity, is difficult, and those who have come through deserve all honour.

There are many things on which I would advise you, but realizing the ordeals that graduating classes have to suffer I shall confine my comments to a few.

Some of you have already decided to go on with further study, but it is natural to assume that all are concerned with the question of permanent settlement. Will it be the country or the city? General practice or specialization?

In the last two decades there has been a great change in medical practice. The tendency has been from the country into the towns and cities, from general practice to the specialties. Better roads and improved hospital facilities have had much to do with this. The need today is for well trained physicians in the rural districts, and this need should not be overlooked. True, the difficulties of transportation are annoying, and the monetary reward is none too great; but there is another side to it. There is no better experience for a young physician than a few years of rural practice. The difficulties and emergencies must be met alone and this, as nothing else, develops that confidence which is born of experience. It also trains the physician to see disease in its proper perspective, and thus constitutes an excellent foundation for later specialization.

Have you explored the possibilities of preventive medicine? The old conception of sanitary inspection and the enforcing of quarantine still remains. The modern attitude is, however, entirely different. Increased interest is shown in many ways. Governments, Federal and Provincial, are increasing their expenditures for Public Health, so also are the cities. The Universities are recognizing its importance both in teaching and in research. Never did the future of preventive medicine look brighter than it does today, never has there been a greater challenge to medical science. Many of the communicable diseases have been brought under control; the degenerative diseases are, however, steadily increasing. The next move in preventive medicine is more knowledge of the epidemiology of Heart Disease, Nephritis, and Cancer, so that the great losses sustained in middle life may be lessened.

Has medicine fulfilled its obligations to Society? If so, what are these rumblings we hear throughout Canada and the United States of State Medicine and Health Insurance? The proponents of Health Insurance point out that in the past medical service has been available only to the more fortunate members of society, and that those lower in the social scale, and the poor, have had inadequate service or have done without. Health Insurance is the proposed cure. So far, the physicians of America have not been sympathetic. Many have been the reasons given, although the logic is not convincing. The doctors maintain that governments are using the medical profession for purely selfish motives; that under such a system the individuality of the doctor is destroyed, that the profession is being exploited and in consequence is in grave danger. Against this we have the experience of Germany, France, the Scandinavian countries, and of England. It has been tried there for many years and although in the beginning many difficulties had to be overcome, it is now agreed by leaders of the medical profession and those in other walks of life, that the scheme is sound and that the public health has materially improved since its adoption. Health Insurance is the main topic of interest among Canadian physicians today. The Canadian Medical Association have drawn up a plan for use in the event of its adoption. British Columbia has approved the scheme and other provinces have it under advisement. This is one of the important issues you will have to deal within the next few years.

When you consider these matters bear in mind the true purpose of your profession, the relief of suffering, the prevention and cure of disease.

Again congratulations, and success to all.

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS IN DENTISTRY

W. W. Woodbury, B. Sc., D. D. S.
Dean of the Faculty of Dentistry

The Dental graduates will recall that on the cover of one of our professional journals appears the legend "Observe, Compare, Reflect, Record." It is a good legend to ponder and the order of the words is significant. It suggests the mind that refuses to stick in a rut, the lover of truth that Bacon described "as being gifted by nature with desire to seek, patience to doubt, fondness to meditate, slowness to assert, readiness to reconsider."

We can probably make our greatest contribution to professional advance by building up this spirit within ourselves, because the more there are of us with this point of view the more chance that worthwhile efforts to extend the boundaries of our knowledge will be adequately encouraged, and the more hope that conditions we can only alleviate may some day be so well understood that they can be prevented. And finally it will mean our mental salvation as far as our work is concerned, for it will be not only our means of livelihood and of service to our fellows, but also it will become a stimulating intellectual adventure.

Unfortunate enough to enter the college when hazing was still in effect we were greeted with a barrage of abuse, to say nothing of the onions, tomatoes and antiquated eggs which were hurled at us while performing on the stage of the Garrick Theatre. However under the guidance of Lou Christie our Council Representative, we successfully weathered the ordeal and then took the reigns of government in our own hands by electing Dr. Hugh Bell as Honourary President; Dan Saunderson, President; Doris Nickerson, Vice-President; Connie Jost, Secretary, and Bob Stanfield, Treasurer.

The outstanding achievement of our first year activities was the winning of the Bennett Debating Shield with a team led by Bruce Ferguson and Elizabeth Ballem. Some of the members helped the Intermediate team to the City Rugby Championship. We were also represented on the tennis and Intermediate Basketball Teams. In the Interfaculty sport sphere the Freshmen offered keen competition in every league and made our best showing in hockey by advancing to the finals.

Our one Class Party held at the Yacht Squadron was most successful in that it depressed our finances so that we were in the "red" the rest of our year.

Dominating Sophomores in 1933-1934 we decided not to subject the incoming Freshmen to the traditional hazing and introduced under our executive, which remained the same, except Mary Ledingham as Vice-President, and Janet MacGregor as Secretary, a new initiation plan which now promises to become a lasting institution. Bob Stanfield represented us on the Council that year.

On the whole the year was a smooth, happy and uneventful one, the high light being the presentation of the Freshie-Soph. By this time our members though dwindling in number were actively participating in many campus activities. We were well represented in Glee Club and various other societies, while in the athletic field we were included on the rosters of tennis, football, basketball and swimming teams. The Arts and Science interfaculty teams were also ably supported by a number of our class.

The only privileges withdrawn during the year were key leaves for Shirreff-Hall girls and hotel rooms at dances. With courageous indifference we faced the loss of freedom and bore our misfortune in silence.

1934 - 1935

In the fall of '34 the only changes in our executive were the Vice-President and Secretary, for which offices Janet MacGregor and Margaret Kerr were elected. On the Students Council Don Saunderson and Ruth Summer represented the class.

Armed with the poise and dignity of Juniors we began to look forward to the fast approaching day of Judgment and exodus. The bright spot of the year was the winning of the Rhodes Scholarship for Nova Scotia by Bruce Ferguson. Class parties became fewer and less juvenile, our biggest undertaking being the Junior-Senior dance.

During this year there was a tremendous upheaval to find out "What's wrong with Dalhousie?" Some glaring evils were brought to light but few practical effects have been brought to light.

1935 - 1936

We began our final year at the "College by the Sea" with the customary election of officers. Don Saunderson retained the presidency for the fourth year, while new officers filled the other posts. Fran Drummie was elected Vice-President; Fran Gardener, Secretary, and Earle Fraser, Treasurer. Representatives on the Council were Geore Murphy and Ruth Sumner, who became Vice-President of this student body.

Immediately after Christmas holidays we staged the most terrific party of our career, when the class indians cut loose at an Old Clothes' Party held in the lower Gym.

More than ever before class members were outstanding in extra curricular activities and held many important officers on the campus.

DONALD M. ROSS, B.A.

I. O. D. E. POST GRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP FOR NOVA SCOTIA 1936 - 37

This year it was awarded to Donald Murray Ross of Class '34 Dalhousie. At present he is a graduate student in Zoology. He came to Dalhousie in 1931 from Sydney Academy having been awarded the McConnell Scholarship. He leaned towards the Sciences, particularly Biology. As an undergraduate student he received the Khaki, Bruce and Allan Pollock Scholarships. He received his Bachelor of Arts with great distinction and the Governor General's Medal and the Avery Prize. For two years he was an instructor in Zoology. He has been doing post graduate work in chemical embryology. Next year he intends to go to England in order to pursue research in experimental Zoology at Cambridge.

CLASS OF '37

Class '37 after two very successful years at Dalhousie looked to a successful Junior year and was not disappointed. A meeting was held in the first month of the term and a very large number attended. However many of the original members had moved up to Class '36 and the total enrollment of the class suffered greatly. Plans for a Class party were discussed and in the latter part of November a very enjoyable evening was spent dancing to Jerry Naugler's Music in the Lower Gymnasium. At the opening of the second term the members of Class '37 started preparations for the annual party given to the Seniors by the Juniors. This year the name was changed from the Junior-Senior Dance to the Junior Prom. The Junior Prom proved a most successful evening both socially and financially. The success was due to the cooperation of a large number of the class members.

This year's officers were as follows:

President .....	GORDON H. THOMPSON
Vice-President .....	HELEN HOLMAN
Treasurer .....	HENRY ROSS
Secretary .....	GENE MORISON
Social Committee .....	MARY WATSON RUDD HATTIE ART MERKEL

At the final meeting held in the Arts Building a financial report was presented and it was found that the Class had a comfortable balance in the bank. After a short discussion the officers for next year were elected.

They are:

President .....	GORDON H. THOMPSON
Vice-President .....	KAY FINLAYSON
Treasurer .....	ERIC MERCER
Secretary .....	HELEN HOLMAN
Social Committee .....	KAY SIRCOM RUDD HATTIE HENRY ROSS

A brief retrospection over the important campus activities of this present declining college year, finds Class '38 actively identified with many of them. While numerically the Sophomores cannot boast the maximum in activities, at least in quality of enterprise they should rank second to none.

Taking the events in chronological order, perhaps the most significant event of the early college season is brought to the fore—the initiation program for the incoming Freshman Class, under Sophomore auspices. This item might justifiably be dismissed by saying that its objective, namely to welcome the newcomers to Dalhousie, to help them get acquainted in the quickest way possible, particularly among themselves, and to give them a good time, was realized in a very encouraging manner. However we might go still further and say that the initiation program this year has, along with its two most recent predecessors, set a precedent for the reception of the Freshman, in a word the departure from the antiquated physical initiation has given place to a more modern and self justifying program. The dismissal of this item brings us to the time honored annual Freshie Soph—the legitimate grand finale to the initiation. Very little more need be said except to mention how fitting a climax it made to a most successful program of reception. This function, the first important one of its kind on the social calendar had all the factors that go to determine a successful dance—being numerically, socially and financially successful.

And now from the lighter, less serious aspect of campus function we find the Sophomores diverting their attention to the realms of debating. The annual Bennett Shield debates never fail to discover latent talent that kindles in the persons concerned a lust for the benefits and satisfaction debating offers. This year the talent emerged from the ranks of the Sophs, whose debating team, runners up with Class '36, defeated the lordly seniors with dramatic appeal. And so Class '38 is indebted to Dorothy Bentley and Edward Cragg for adding new laurels to the Class repertoire.

And so a resume of the year's salient activities has been reverted to. We have noted particularly that each event was tendered with creditable success and at this point the executive composed of Fred Barton, President; Jean Fitzgerald, Vice-President; Elizabeth Cox, Secretary and Roland Hurst, Treasurer, wish to express their appreciation for the indispensable cooperation which made 1935-36 a memorable year for the class.

On the strength of these considerations it is not difficult to conjecture great things in store for next year, and as a more comprehensive prediction, let us state that the class will undoubtedly, before it convenes for the last time as students, bequeath something really tangible to its future Alma Mater. Then and not until then, will its aim be accomplished.

COMMERCE SOCIETY

The year 1935-36 was a very successful one for the Commerce Society. Although our number was somewhat smaller than usual, a very enthusiastic spirit prevailed throughout the year, not only in the class room but in other activities as well.

In inter-faculty sports the Commerce athletes proved themselves worthy opponents of the other contenders. The football team was finally eliminated from competition after a gruelling two game series with the Freshman squad, who afterwards captured the inter-faculty championship. The hockey team, after showing great form, was forced to yield the sectional title to the more experienced Law team. At the present time the basketball league is uncompleted, with Commerce still in a position to take the championship.

The Millionaires-Boilermakers dance, held early in January, again proved to be one of the most popular and successful social events of the college year. The innovation, suggested by Prof. MacDonald, of having meetings of the Society held at Studley and addressed by prominent Maritime business men proved very interesting to the members.

The annual banquet held at the Nova Scotian provided a fitting climax to an enthusiastic year's activities. The members of the Society regret to learn that our able instructor, Mr. Donald Archibald, will not be on the staff next year but wish him every success in his chosen profession.

The retiring executive wish to thank the members of the Commerce staff as well as the Society members for their assistance and co-operation during the year and feel certain that the new officers will receive the same aid in the future.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY

The Dalhousie University Engineering Society has had a very successful year. From the financial aspect the year's activities were most satisfactory. This is of peculiar significance to the Society which has more than once faced substantial deficits. This year saw a renewed interest in the Society and practically every Engineer (about 40) joined the Society and paid his dues.

The Annual Banquet as usual was held in the Nova Scotian and was honoured by the presence of Professors Falconer, Copp and Theakston. For the first time the Society was able to entertain the members free of charge.

The Millionaires-Boilermakers Ball was held early in January and was well attended as well as enjoyable. The Commerce Society deserve credit for the financial success, a small profit being in evidence.

The request of the Society for improved lighting in the drafting rooms was granted by the University and for which the Engineers are grateful although they feel that the ultimate in that direction has not been reached. Through the Society's store over $700.00 worth of drafting equipment was sold at wholesale prices to the Engineering Students, thus saving them many dollars.

In Sports, the Engineers turned out to Football, Softball, Hockey and Basketball and while no championships were won, good sportsmanship was evident in all the competitions.

This year for the first time the Society was pleased to welcome a feminine aspirant to the Engineering Profession in the person of Miss Virginia MacDonald. After Christmas meetings of the Society contained talks given by various members which were well received. Next year it is planned to have more of these talks with members of the Engineering profession addressing the Society.

The renewed interest and numbers of the Society speak well for even greater achievements next year.

The Faculty of Law was organized in 1883. A curriculum was then prescribed extending over three years and leading to the degree of Bachelor of Laws. The curriculum has been modified from time to time and at present closely corresponds to the Standard Curriculum recommended by the Canadian Bar Association. The Law Society has had a continuous history of over forty years and is the oldest society on the Campus.

In September the Society was saddened by the death of the Honourable Benjamin Russell who held the professorship of Contracts from the founding of the School in 1883 until 1921. Judge Russell at all times displayed a keen interest in the activities of the law students, and a fitting tribute to his memory was placed on the records of the Society.

A history making episode occurred during the early part of the year when Miss Merle Purtill was elected as Manager of the Law Football Team. Miss Purtill is believed to be the first lady in the Dominion, to hold such a position. The precedent was so well regarded that the Engineering Society followed suit in short order.

The members of the Society took an active interest in all campus activities. In passing it may be noted that the Society counts among its members the following:—The Editors, Business Manager, Staff Artist and Society Editor of the Gazette; three Malcolm Honour Award Students, the Presidents of Sodales, the Newman and Effective Speaking Clubs together with practically all the Debating Talent of the University; the Manager, Captain and nine of the senior players in Football; the Manager and several basketball players; three hockey players; one member of the Tennis team; as well as the manager, coach and one member of the Boxing Team.

After extensive preparation and advertising under the efficient management of the Social Committee headed by George Thompson, the Annual Law Ball, under the distinguished patronage of the Honourable the Chief Justice of Nova Scotia, Sir Joseph Chisholm, and the Honourable the Premier, A. L. Macdonald, was held on Friday, November 22nd, at the Nova Scotian Hotel. It was the only major dance of the year showing a balance on the credit side of the ledger. To the soothing strains of Jerry Naugler's last waltz the Committee declared a profit of seventeen cents.

The Moot Court, under the guidance of a Committee headed by Fraser Bentley was run in an efficient manner. The cases presented would do justice to a Court of more competent jurisdiction.

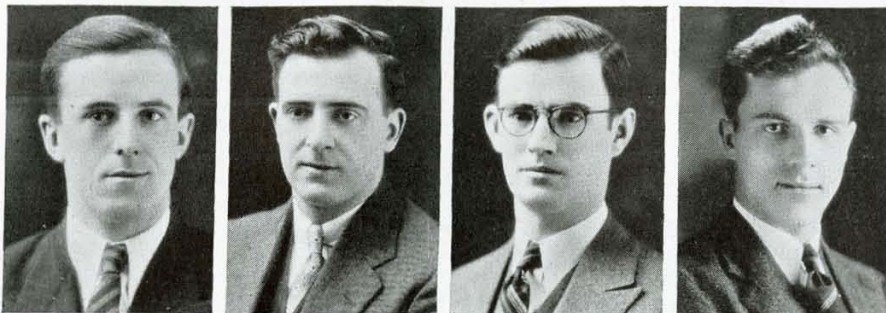

A month and a half was granted to Premier W. F. "Baldy" Armstrong to read up the answers to all the political questions in preparation for the Annual Mock Parliament. Three sessions were held under the Speakership of L. W. Fraser, and the mixture of "politics" and "puns" was enjoyed to the fullest extent. Highlights of the sessions were the maiden speech of "Kitty" Finlayson, representing the Yukon; "Windy" Leonard's eulogy of the Splendours of Paradise; Ike Mercer's arrest due to unparliamentary language in calling the imposing leader of the Reconstruction Party, Byrne, a "windbag," and the Premier, a "hypocrite." The tradition of the previous Mock Parliaments for excellence of debate and knowledge of the political issues of the day was ably upheld.

The year was brought to a fitting close by the Annual Society Banquet held at the Nova Scotian, in honor of the twenty-eight graduates. The banquet was distinguished by the brilliance of the speeches, the prominence of the guests and the large number of members present.

MEDICINE 1936

On September 7th, 1931, in the port of Halifax, the well found ship, Medicine '36, lay at her pier, ready for sea. On that same day, Murray MacNeil, Shipping Master for her owners, the Dalhousie University Shipping Co., signed on a crew of 48 foremast hands. A motley crew we were, about half having served on the Studley of the same line, including two Spaniards from Porto Rico, the remainder culled from the ships Mount Allison, Acadia, Memorial, New York, and Prince of Wales.

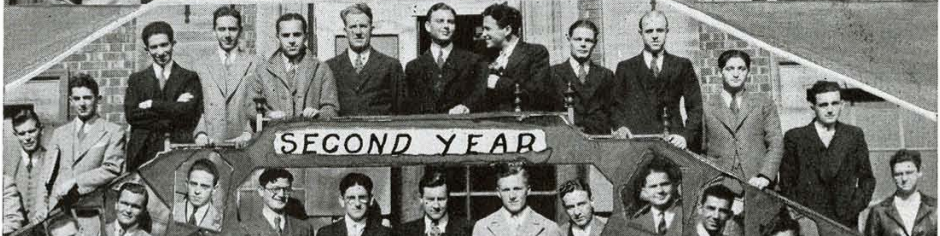

Next day the crew went aboard and were greeted by Acting Captain W. H. Hattie, who regretted the enforced absence through illness of Captain John Stewart, that grand old master to whom he paid fitting tribute, and in a few well chosen words abjured us to stand by the ship and always uphold the high ideals of the profession on which we were about to enter. Before we sailed we met our officers, martinetts all, and because of whose iron discipline eighteen of our men either deserted or were discharged in the first year.

After some time we were making fair time through the stormy waters of the Sea of Anatomy, visiting the little known islands of Histology and Embryology, and spending much time in Biochemistry Gulf on the Coast of Physiology. About December of that year, Acting Captain Hattie died, mourned and loved by all his crew. Chief Officer Bean was in command for the remainder of that year. When the seasonal April and May gales took us, it put a great strain on our physical endurance and sent many of our crew to swallow the anchor or join other ships.

After our annual dry docking and refitting, we again sailed in September with only thirty of our original crew and six newcomers in the forecabin and a new captain, H. G. Grant, with Mainland, Young,

DENTISTRY

To summarize in a few words the achievements and present condition of the Dental School is a task, difficult indeed.

As to the achievements, it suffices to say that the graduates of this faculty maintain an enviable record, in the standings of the Dominion Council and the various State Board examinations in the United States. Although the staff is small, nevertheless it makes up in quality. Of this reputation the Dental students feel justly proud.

Last year, the dean so long associated with the school passed on. His name will ever be spoken in sincere respect and gratitude by those of us who were fortunate enough to have studied under him.

His position has been ably filled by Dean W. W. Woodbury, a man known throughout the continent as an authority in Orthodontics.

We are especially grateful to Dr. J. S. Bagnall for his unselfish efforts on the school's behalf. One thing is sure the graduates will always look with pride upon their Alma Mater and will closely watch the Dental School for its advances in the future.

In spite of their small numbers, the students have not confined themselves within the dental infirmary but have blossomed forth in the interfaculty athletic life of the University. Their efforts are well known to all—truly, remarkable indeed!

DALHOUSIE GLEE AND DRAMATIC CLUB

Glee Club looks back on a successful year of varied entertainment. The productions have included a three act play, several one act plays and musical programs.

To stimulate interest among the students, Mr. J. P. Connolly has very kindly given a shield to go to the group who present the best short play of the year. This has been won by Pine Hill with "Judgment of Indra." Other plays entered in the competition were "Thank You, Doctor," by the Freshmen, "Seven to One," by Shirreff Hall, and "Suppressed Desires," by the Newman Club.

As usual, the first show of the year was given for the benefit of the Freshmen. It was musical in character, starring singers and dancers from former shows, who managed to overcome the difficulties of putting on a show within two weeks of coming back.

The Freshman Show brought to the stage much new talent, both dramatic and musical, as well as a display of willingness to cooperate in every way. The first part of the program was a one act play; the second, an imitation of a radio amateur hour, given with great realism. The most noticeable quality of the show was the enthusiasm with which everyone, whether getting applause or "the gong," did his act.

Two one act plays were presented in November. Shirreff Hall gave "Seven to One" with a cast of seven girls. Pine Hill put on the winning play, "Judgment of Indra."

The football season saw the return of an old Dalhousie institution,—the band. Under the direction of Johnnie Morrison, its members, conspicuous in patriotic yellow and black, did much to aid a revival of the "college spirit." They have played for football and hockey games.

The first show after Christmas was a three act farce "The Haunted House," which was enthusiastically received by an unusually large audience. Due to this fine reception by the students, it was put on again for the public.

The next show consisted of a play "Suppressed Desires" by the Newman Club. Then Pine Hill came forward again with "Who Killed Cock Robin?" an opera in two acts.

The big show of the year, the Munroe Day show, was a musical, with the setting in the "Black and Gold" nightclub. Dancing and singing, with acts by Soapnagle and Suds (Jack Arnell and Murray Gould). The chorus was trained by Margo MacManus. The Performers were Fran Gardner, Sid Messinger, Lou Morrison and Lucho Fraser, Bill Stevens, Herman Halperin and Phil Stein.

Thanks should be given to Mr. J. P. Connolly for his assistance throughout the year; to Mr. C. Bennett for acting as judge of the plays; to Mr. Brodie, of the Physics Department; to Pat MacDonald for his assistance with the Freshman Show and his able direction of the two Pine Hill shows; to Johnnie Morrison for the Munroe Day show; to Herman Halperin for directing "The Haunted House," the Shirreff Hall and the Freshman plays.

"D's" go to Doc Roy, Fran Drummie, Fran Gardner, Jack Dobson, Pat MacDonald, Hal Taylor and Rudd Hattie.

CANADIAN OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS.

The Dalhousie Contingent of the Canadian Officers Training Corps has completed another successful year.

The smoker held early in October at the Munroe Room was a great success. The members and guests discussed plans for the coming year, for the week end camp at MacNab's Island, and the remainder of the evening was spent in watching some interesting moving pictures showing tactical schemes being worked out and the finale came with the serving of refreshments.

The annual camp at MacNab's Island was well attended and luckily there was one fine day in which the campers could complete their annual classification on the ranges.

The pre-Christmas training took up the more elementary subjects in tactics and drill. Due to the Christmas Examinations the term had to be terminated quite early to allow the men to study for the impending examinations.

After Christmas, more serious training was undertaken, a light automatic crew was chosen and A company was broken up into platoons in order that company drill might be carried out. The lectures advanced rapidly and by the 10th of March about ten Dalhousie boys wrote their examinations for qualification as a lieutenant, while two others wrote their captain's papers. In January, Dalhousie entered two teams in the Halifax Indoor Garrison Rifle Association. The Senior team has been quite successful, holding first place in the Colwell Cup and second in the Moir's and Probert Cups at the time of writing.

The year's training will be completed by the annual inspection to be held on the 30th of March. After this the annual banquet will be held at one of the larger hotels, where all the boys can gather together for a good time to finish up the year's training.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club this year, like those of the past, conducted somewhat the same program for its members—regular monthly meetings, at which topics of common interest to the members were discussed, one club party, and the presentation of a one act play "Suppressed Desires," under the auspices of the Dalhousie Glee Club. These activities have been more or less stereotyped ones for the Club for some years past, and have always been tendered with creditable success.

Since its inception in 1919, with the object of bringing into closer relationship with each other the Catholic Students of the University, the club has always attempted, at least, to fulfil the noble purposes which motivated its founders to make the founding a reality.

While the society's activities have been necessarily limited, due to the many other outlets of student activity, its members feel obliged, as true Dalhousians, to partake in, it has thrived nevertheless and become more conscious of the essential part it plays in the life of the Catholic students of Dalhousie.

Continually imbued with an integrity of purpose it has always enjoyed the respect and cooperation of the student body of the "college by the sea."

And now that the curtain is nearly drawn on the college year of '35-'36, the executive and members alike, have a common feeling that it has been a most fruitful one for the Newman Club, and trust that the years to come will witness strides along the lines for which the club was created.

THE MOOT COURT

One of the characteristic features of the Law School since its inception has been that of the Moot Court, which has had a history co-extensive with that of the School itself. This history was crystallized in 1927 when Sydney Earle Smith offered a shield in annual competition between four members of the Third Year Class, two of whom, on the basis of their pleading and argument are selected to have their names placed on the shield.

Every student participates in the trials, the third, second and first year students act in the capacity of Judges, Senior and Junior Counsels respectively. The activities of the Court are controlled by a Moot Court Selection Committee, chosen from the representatives of the Third Year, who, assisted by the Law Faculty, arrange the docket and set the appeals down for trial.

The docket this year consisted of fourteen civil appeals and one criminal trial. In the latter, one Beazley, a Studley Undergraduate, was charged with the heinous criminal offence, "Quare Claunum Fregit," before Judges Simon Webber, Allan Sprague and Harrison Cleveland. Charles Bentley appeared for the prosecution and Harvey Webber for the accused. Highlights of the trial were: Exhibits "A" and "B"; and the expert medical testimony of Robert Batt which, coupled with Bentley's brilliant argument, convicted the accused.

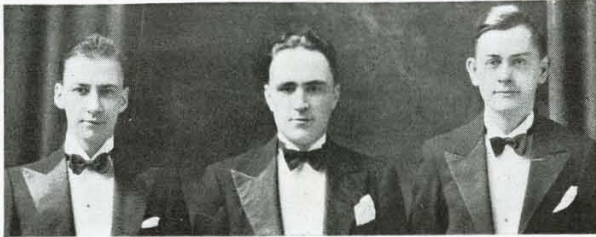

In the final appeal of the sittings four Third Year Men, who had been selected for their showing in competition of the previous year argued the case of Green v. The Canadian National Railways, on appeal from the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada and reported 1932, S. C. R. at 689, before their Lordships Mr. Justice Hall and Mr. Justice Doull, two of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, and Mr. Frank D. Smith, K.C., President of the Nova Scotia Barristers' Society. Mr. Fraser Bentley and Mr. Allan Ramsay argued for the Appellants, with Mr. Harrison Cleveland and Mr. Irving Pink for the Respondents.

The case developed into an interesting argument, and a close contest. After due deliberation, the Judges, Mr. Justice Hall dissenting, found for the Appellants. The announcement of the winners of the Smith Shield for 1935—36 followed this Judgment. Mr. Ramsay and Mr. Pink being declared victorious.

The arguments throughout the year are on a competitive basis. The Selection Committee selects four candidates and an alternate, to argue the final case competing for the Smith Shield the ensuing year. The choice of this year's Committee is as follows:

Allan Sprague, Harold Connor, Robert Baldwin, Edward Arab, Daniel Harvey, alternate.

The Committee expresses its appreciation and thanks for the assistance of the Law Faculty, and the cooperation of the students in carrying on the Moot Court in the traditional manner.

SODALES DEBATING SOCIETY

In the Spring of 1935, at the annual meeting of the Society, Charles A. Manning, Law '36, was re-elected President; Ralph W. Kane, Arts '36, Vice-President, and Gordon K. Daley, Commerce '36, Secretary. And a debating schedule was drawn up which provided for a great increase in the number of debates for the ensuing year. And the past year has been characterized by a marked interest in debating, and, also, by the talent which the schedule has brought out.

In Intercollegiate debates, Dalhousie participated in nine: Kings (3); St. Marys (2); Mt. Allison (2); U. N. B. (1) and St. F. X. (1). Of these four were at home, and Sodales was successful in five. These debates were held under the extended schedule of the Maritime Debating League, each University represented by two men.

The outstanding feature of the year's activities was a Tour of the Eastern States by J. Ernest Richardson, representing Dalhousie, and William Morrissey, representing University of New Brunswick, under the auspices of the N. F. C. U. S. This Team participated in eight debates against United States teams and lost but one decision.

Dalhousie was again represented in the Radio Commission Series. The previous year Ernest Richardson and Irving Pink won the Eastern Shield, but this year it was won by St. F. X. Sodales debated three times over the air, winning from University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., and McGill, but lost to St. F. X. in the finals.

The N. F. C. U. S. debate opened the Society's activities for the year. The Upper Canada Team, composed of the representatives of Bishop's College and University of Western Ontario was successful over Smith MacIvor and Irving Selikoff.

The outstanding debate of the year at home was between the Law School Team, composed of John Fisher and Ernest Richardson, and Lloyd Keeting and James MacBrien representing Saint John Law School. This was the first of an annual series of debates arranged between the two Schools, with the first victory going to the Law School.

In Interclass competition, there was a marked increase in interest and quality over previous years. The Seniors, represented by Margaret Kerr and Earle Frserr were successful over the junior representatives, Kay Finlayson and Graham Murray. The Sophomores represented by Dorothy Bentley and Edward F. Cragg won from the Freshman represented by Joan Furlong and John Grant. In the finals, the Sophomore Team were declared the winners, and awarded the Bennett Shield for 1935-'36.

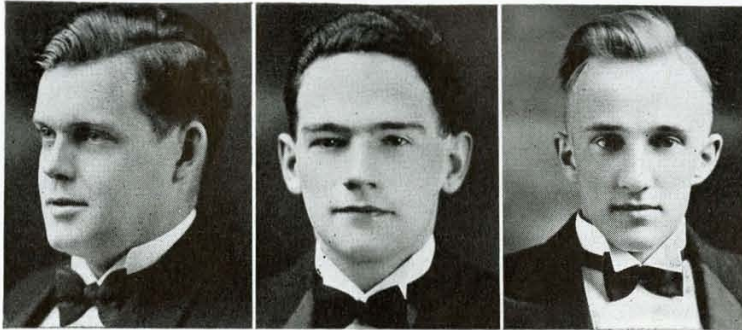

Those winning "D's" were: J. Ernest Richardson, Halifax; Charles A. Manning, New Glasgow; Smith MacIvor, Glace Bay; Isaac Mercer, St. John's; Edward Arab, Halifax; Simon Webber, Halifax; Harvey Webber, Halifax; Babbitt Parlee, Moncton. Those participating in one debate: John Fisher, Sackville, N. B.; Irving Selikoff, New York; Edward Higgins, Halifax.

To Prof. Bennett, Dr. Johnston and Prof. Curtis, the Executive wish to express their thanks for the assistance they have given the Society during the past year, and to all those who have acted as judges and assisted in other ways to make for the success of the year's activities. And to their successors in office, they extend a hearty greeting and extend to them the sincere wish that they may have a successful year.

From a state of almost absolute inactivity to be the most active and efficient committee on the Campus. Such is the distinction held by the Management Committee of the D. A. A. C., the governing body of Athletics at Dalhousie. During the past year this Body has quietly carried out its work due to a hearty spirit of cooperation that has existed among its members. Although at times the Management Committee may have seemed officious and domineering it was because they were doing what was best in the interest of sport at Dalhousie.

NEW GYMNASIUM

THE COUNCIL OF THE STUDENTS

Composed of twelve students representing the different faculties of the university and a Permanent Secretary-Treasurer, this body constitutes the centralizing mechanism of the various student activities. It aims to promote, encourage and support all organization for the greater good and enjoyment of the students it represents. And, by an organized control of finances, to govern the many student activities so that the complex aggregation of student societies, clubs and organizations may act as a coordinated machine, with each part individual, yet working with the whole.

Because of the wide field covered, and the scope of the activities it controls, and also because of insufficient funds, the Council has not succeeded in carrying out every detail of its prescribed work, but it has greatly helped to centralize and unify the phases of student life at Dalhousie.

The Council is an integral part of college life, and as such it will continue to carry on representative government and act for the unification and furtherance of Dalhousie activities.

One of the most important acts of the Council this year was reestablishing the Dalhousie Year Book which had been discontinued in 1934 for lack of funds. The Year Book will be a permanent institution at Dalhousie in the future since in a recent plebiscite the student body accepted a plan by a vote of three to one, whereby every registered student must pay on enrollment every year the sum of two dollars.

Also this year a Gate Committee made up of two Council members was formed. This committee had charge of all student gate receipts, collecting the money and making a report to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Council. It worked very satisfactorily, eliminating much of the confusion that had resulted when the different student organizations handled their own gate receipts.

Student Forums under the chairmanship of John Fisher produced many fine suggestions for the Council to work on. The chief ones were a revision of the Constitution of the Council and the setting up of a Student Date Bureau to eliminate as far as possible the conflicting dates of student functions. The revision of the constitution will be carried out by the succeeding Council. However the Date Bureau was brought into being and worked as satisfactorily as could be expected but next year it is hoped that it will meet with greater success.

This year the N. F. C. U. S. representative, George Thompson collected much valuable information for the Council and other student organizations. It was felt by the Council that the membership to the Federation was a valuable asset. Mr. Thompson reported that the work of the N. F. C. U. S. was increasing in importance and suggested that the Council avail itself of its many services more frequently.

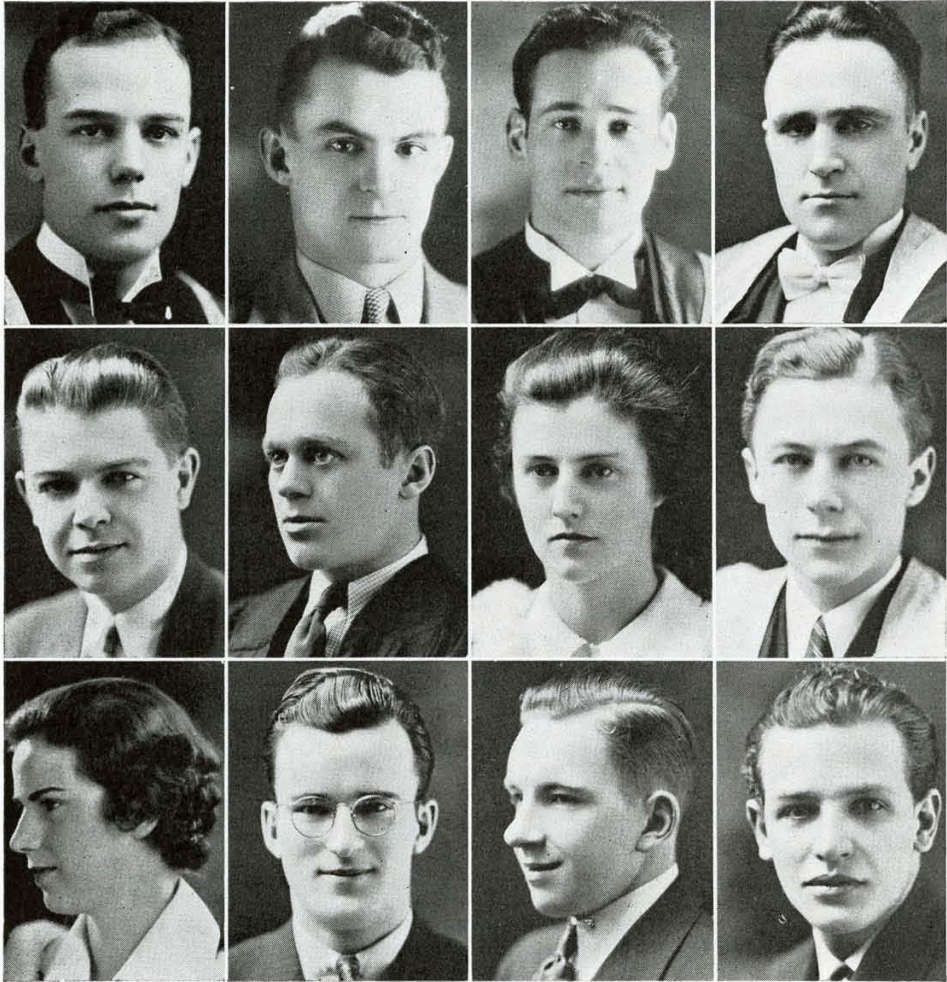

Munro Day was held this year and the Council was pleased to note that the students were appreciating the celebration and cooperating to a greater degree than they had in the past. Munro Day is now firmly established as a permanent institution at Dalhousie and it is hoped that its importance will not diminish. Friendly rivalry is maintained between the Studley and Forrest Building Campuses in the annual competition for the Munro Day Shield which was introduced into the Munro Day celebration last year. The students of the Studley Campus have been the winners in the past two years.

A very difficult situation has arisen this year in the renewing of the Dalhousie-Kings Agreement. At present the Councils of both institutions are not able to reach an agreement as to the revision of some of its articles and it is expected that an arbitration board will be the only way out of the difficulty.

A new event was introduced into Dalhousie this year by the Council. A Peace Hour has been set aside by the University at the request of the Council who is cooperating with other Canadian Universities in a Canada-wide college peace hour. The success of this event is due to the efforts of Eric Mercer who was appointed by the Council to organize the affair.

The Council was gratified this year to note a revival of the Dalhousie spirit of old. This was due in a large degree to the cooperation of the student body as a whole with the college organizations. The Council expresses its appreciation for the cooperation of the student body and in particular the executives of the D. A. A. C., Sodales and the Glee Club and the editors of the Gazette, in the past year for their efforts in creating greater student interest at Dalhousie University.

THE GAZETTE

This year has witnessed one of the best Gazettes in the history of the school. For a number of years past student interest in the college paper has sadly waned. This year under the capable and energetic editorship of Nathan Green and Irving Pink the paper has undergone a rejuvenation.

The editors with a very capable staff have aroused the school interest from this state of lethargy. At the end of last year college spirit was at a low ebb. Through the medium of the Gazette enthusiasm was aroused and the student body turned out whole heartedly to support the various university activities.

The Gazette this year has possessed a more universal note of appeal, the efforts of the editors has been to cater to each and every faculty and interest. One of the most interesting features has been the innovation of a column called "Take Your Medicine," "T. Y. M." or as the Engineers say "This Year's Monstrosity." There have been other interesting features such as "Something To Think About," Short Stories, Poetry, and last but not least "To The Co-eds," and numerous others of which space does not permit mention to be made.

The Gazette of 1935-36 will be particularly remembered for its innovation of Alumni Issues. These mark the culmination of an attempt, which has proved very successful, of amalgamating the Alumni News the official alumni organ, which had ceased, to function with the Gazette. The result has been the publication of two special issues of the Gazette this year of eight pages each, the largest Gazette every published in the history of the paper.

A very definite attempt was made to revive co-ed interest in the Gazette. The result was a Co-ed issue of "the oldest college paper in America." The editors tell us that the girls contributed every inch of copy, and more they even made the layout under the capable supervision of Miss Elisabeth Ballem.

The Gazette's Memorial Issue to His Late Majesty King George V was a real credit to the University.

On the whole the Gazette had a most successful year. The editors have equalled, if not surpassed the standard of former years, Congratulations.

THE DALHOUSIE MEDICAL JOURNAL

The Dalhousie Medical Journal, founded by the Students' Medical Society in February, 1936, is the youngest institution of the University. The aim of the Society is to issue three times yearly a publication which will be of interest and scientific value to medical men both graduate and undergraduate, affording to the former a link with their Alma Mater and fellow graduates, and to the latter both an incentive to extra-curricular medical investigation and an opportunity to acquire a training in the writing and publication of scientific articles.

The contents of the first issue, published in March, afford ample proof both of the interest of the student body and of their ability to produce a worth-while publication. Credit for this success must be given to the Editorial Board, and especially to the Editor-in-Chief, Mr. Gold; also to the members of the Medical Faculty who gave their enthusiastic support to the editors. Congratulations are due also to the Business Manager and his assistants on making the first issue a financial success, despite a free mailing list of over three hundred to graduates of Dalhousie Medical College in the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland.

Future success, Medical Students, depends on YOU.

DAWSON GEOLOGICAL CLUB

President.....HELEN R. BELVEA
Secretary.....W. KEITH WICKWIRE
Treasurer.....RICHARD LYNCH

The Dawson Geological Club is an organization to encourage an interest in Geology. The Club has a large and interested membership of both students and others outside the University who have contributed to making this year one of the most successful in its history. During the pre-christmas term two very instructive field trips were enjoyed by the members, one to the Gypsum quarries near Windsor, the other to the Acadia iron mines at Londonderry. Since the field season is short, meetings are held during the winter months. During the present season interesting and informative talks have been given by Mr. J. O. Bower, Dr. C. C. Coffin, Dr. G. H. Henderson, Prof. G. V. Douglas. Several meetings have been open to all interested in the subjects under discussion.

The Student Christian Movement introduced two outstanding speakers to Dalhousie and Halifax audiences, this year: T. Z. Koo and R. H. Edwin Espy.

Dalhousie was represented by ten students at the annual meeting and National Conference of the S. C. M. of Canada, September, 1935, and by six students at the Quadrennial Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement, at Indianapolis, December, 1935.

Immediately preceding the opening of college, twenty-five students spent four days at Seabright St. Margaret's Bay, in a local "setting-up" conference.

Dr. H. L. Bronson led three study groups on the "Records of the Life of Jesus" and a group interested in modern economic theory met weekly with Prof. R. A. MacKay.

The Dalhousie Student Christian Movement acknowledges gratefully the stimulus and advice received from the National headquarters of the Movement and from Rev. John D. Copp.

CLASSICAL CLUB

President.....J. H. CLEVELAND
Secretary.....DON MACLEOD

During this seventh year of its existence the Dalhousie-King's Classical Club has had five meetings at the homes of different members.

This year the Club celebrated the 2000th Anniversary of Horace's birth by the selection of special subjects for discussion and by a banquet which was held in the Lord Nelson Hotel in December. At the opening meeting two papers were given on the Sources of Horace by Miss Mary Fraser and Carmine de Catanzaro. At New Year's a Plautine Comedy "Quinimmus" was presented at the home of President Stanley by the following members: Misses Mary Fraser, Mabel Murphy, Gladys Longard and Messrs Cleveland, Catauzaro, Arnold, Adams and Buckland. Dr. Griffin gave an illustrated lecture on the Venusian countryside at the February meeting. The final meeting for the year included the election of officers for next term. A paper on "The Olympic Games" was given by Don Macleod.

THE N. F. C. U. S.

The N. F. C. U. S., or as it is more correctly called the National Federation of Canadian University Students, is simply a federal organization of the students in Canadian universities. Its members are the students themselves, rather than the student governing organizations in each university. The Federation does not concern itself with the internal management of student affairs in the separate universities, except in so far as it offers facilities for the interchange of information on problems of student life and government. It exists for the purpose of maintaining and promoting on a national scale such services as the separate university organizations operating singly would find it difficult or impossible to supply. Beyond this the Federation has an international outlook in that it contacts and seeks to cooperate with similar organizations in other countries, such as the International Student Service, the C. I. E., and the National Student Federation of America. The N. F. C. U. S. has operated with notable success and now in its tenth year of operation it may be said to occupy a truly important place in Canadian student life. The unfortunate position of the N. F. C. U. S. is that its accomplishments are known generally only to those who come in direct contact with it. How many students know that the N. F. C. U. S. (in cooperation with the Canadian railway companies) is the organization that secured the special Christmas train fares for students? That the eighty odd "exchange scholarships" have been arranged by the Federation (in cooperation with the Canadian universities)? That a discount of 33 1-3% on all athletic equipment has been arranged with one of the leading sporting goods companies in Canada? That special trade discounts have been arranged by the Federation, regarding royalties on plays, and that this means a great saving to university dramatic societies? That the only Imperial Students' Conference was conducted by the N. F. C. U. S.? That almost all international and national students debating tours have been under the sponsorship of the Federation? These and other activities of interest and saving to the students in Canadian Universities have been done by the N. F. C. U. S., but in so doing they have received little or no publicity.

Under the Exchange Scholarships plan two Dalhousie students are studying this year in "exchange" universities—Bernard Graham is at University of Toronto, and Elwyn Hughes is at McGill University. Edith Blair, who was a federation scholar at Queens last year, has returned to Dalhousie.

One of Federations debating tours last fall was that of a two man team from the Maritimes touring the New England States. The team was composed of Ernest Richardson of Dalhousie and Wm. Morrissey of U. N. B. Participation in seven debates—three of them decision and four "non-decision"—brought winning decisions at Mount Holyoke and Middlebury, and a loss at Springfield. The "non-decision" debates were at Bates, Harvard, University of Maine and New York University. On this two weeks tour two subjects were debated.

The N. F. C. U. S. is not an Utopian dream but a very practical and useful organization that Canadian students may well wholeheartedly support.

FOOTBALL

By Robert F. McLellan

Starting the football season of 1935 with high hopes of vindicating the rather poor showing of the previous year, the Dal. squad put in three weeks of intensive training, under the expert tutorage of Professors Fletcher and MacDonald, getting into shape for the first game. When the day of the first struggle rolled around, the Dalhousians were favorites to win against their old rivals, the Acadia Axemen, but fate had decreed otherwise, for the final score was, Dal. 3, Acadia 5.

Ending the first half of the next game 8-0 in their favour, the Dalhousians had to struggle against both the "breaks" and the sun, with the result that the Wanderers were able to score eight points and the game ended in a draw.

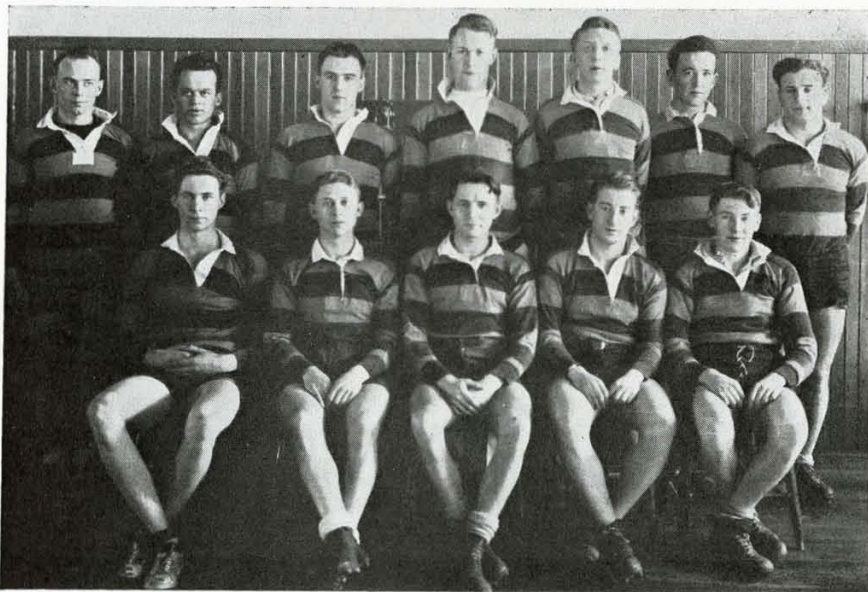

Before the next league game, the Senior team took a trip to Cape Breton to play Caledonia at Glace Bay, and although it did not produce much good football, we saw how good football is played. The less said about the score, the better. Playing at St. Francis Xavier on the way home, our team though crippled with injuries from the previous game was able to eke out a win.

In the next league game at Acadia, the team struck their stride for the first time and showed that they really could play ball, even in the rain, for they trimmed Acadia 11-0. The game is also remembered for the fact that "Red" Payne forgot to take the sweaters.

In the last league game, the Tigers dropped away below their previous form and lost a 5-0 decision to the Wanderers. Acadia won the league, Wanderers were second and Dal. took last place.

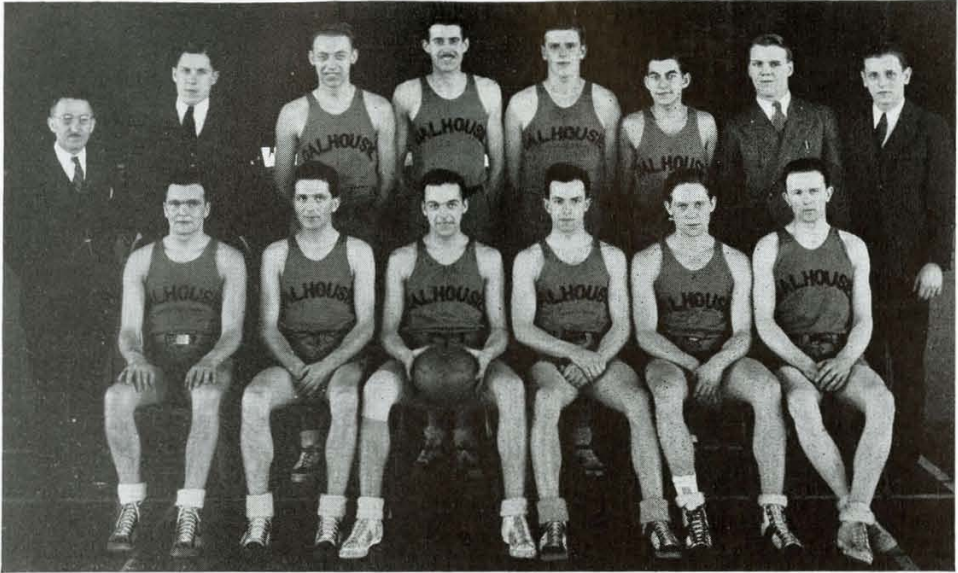

The Intermediates fared no better in their league, though there is a reason for this—they were robbed of many of their best players who played senior to fill up gaps in that team. However these intermediate games were valuable to the squad in that they provided experience to the players many of whom were not played senior due to their lack of experience.

Too much credit cannot be given to Professors Fletcher and MacDonald who devoted much time to whipping the squad into shape. Possibly the results of their coaching will be seen next year when both teams will be out in front.

BASKETBALL

By Ian MacKeigan

This year the yellow and black cagers unfortunately were unable to add another cup to the rows already won in this sport. Nevertheless it was a very satisfactory year—quite eclipsing pre-season prospects. Starting from scratch with a squad containing only three of last year's champions, Mr. Stirling whipped together a team which, led by lanky Capt. Mit Musgrave and Teddy Crease set a scoring record almost equal to last year. The Tigers pumped leather through the hoop for 243 points, only twelve less than last year's record, while opposing teams scored 210 as compared with 185 last year—not bad for a team which lost five out of nine games.

And that's not all! The boys held the semi-pro Bar Harbour Buicks to a 31-38 score; trounced Mount Allison's highly publicized team in two successive games; and upheld our record of not letting Acadia get ahead of us by outscoring the valley team in the total score of the two games played, although losing a close game at Wolfville.

Those who deserve credit for their gameness in fighting our battles this year are Capt. Musgrave, Ted Crease (both of whom graduate), D. Crease, Cy Miller, Leo Green, Shainhouse MacLeod, McIntosh, Serlin, Tokosh, and Baird, not forgetting Coach Stirling.

Led by "Toar" Baird, veteran Dubilier, and Capt. Maury Dean, the tigers' pups put up a good fight from start to finish. Although they came third in a five-team loop, they showed that whatever may be wrong with Dalhousie, there is nothing wrong with Dal. sportsmanship, and they uncovered much fine material for the senior teams of the future.

The valiant fighters on our baby squad were Capt. Dean, D. Dubilier, Ed. Stewart, "Babe" Stewart, Lyall, G. Murphy, Kerman, Saunderson and Baird. Give them a hand, boys—they deserve it!

HOCKEY

During the past year Hockey at Dalhousie came back into the limelight, when the Team went through the best season that has been seen at this college for a good many years.

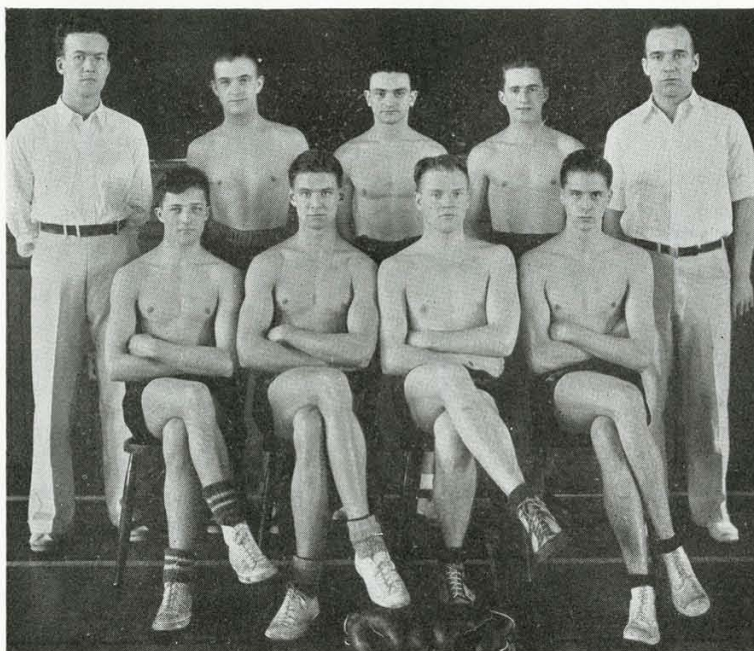

The team entered the City League, and coached by Ernie Mosher, swept through their twelve games in a burst of brilliant hockey. Not until they had won the League and began to play the finals did the terrific pace begin to tell, and even then they kept trying.

To our Hockey Team goes the honour of being Dalhousie's most successful team in the season 1935-36.

BOXING

After an absence of one year from Intercollegiate boxing competition this year Dalhousie sent a team to Fredericton, the scene of the Championships. There in spite of several misfortunes they succeeded in capturing one Championship and came very close to winning two others. A great deal of the credit for the teams' fine showing is due to Allie MacSween who supervised the conditioning and coaching of the boxers.

TENNIS

By Edgar Stewart

One of the most successful years since the inauguration of tennis as a major sport at Dalhousie saw our tennis team sweep all opposition aside to retain the Maritime Intercollegiate Championship which we won first in 1932 and have held ever since.

After breaking even in two practices matches with a graduate team we began the defence of our title. The Dalhousie team won the provincial title and the right to meet the New Brunswick winners in the Maritime final when it defeated Acadia by the one-sided score of 12 matches to 4 on the courts of the Carleton and Waegwoltic Clubs on Saturday October 5, while Mount Allison was overwhelming U. N. B. 13-3 at Fredericton.

Everything pointed to a very close contest when the two winners met in the final round at Sackville but Dalhousie proved far too strong for the conquerors of U. N. B. and Mt. Allison's title hopes vanished in a 12-3 defeat with one match unfinished.

The management wishes to express its gratitude to Prof. Mercer to whose untiring efforts in coaching was mainly due the success of the team and also to the Waegwoltic Club for the use of its courts for the Dalhousie-Acadia match.

BADMINTON

By Ray Murphy, Mgr.

Badminton this year enjoyed its best season since its introduction at Dalhousie several years ago.

To a great extent the fine showing of the McCurdy Cup team was due to the effort and time given to that team by the coach, Prof. C. H. Mercer and Mrs. Woodbury.

While losing the first game to the Militia Officer's Club 23-7, Dal. held the same team to a 15—all draw in the return match. This was the first time in the history of the league that the Militia Officer's Club (present title holders) came so close to losing a league match. Although Dal. lost the two matches with the Halifax Badminton Club the score in both cases was very close.

The student interest in Badminton was very keen and before the start of the League, eight tournaments were played in which a great many of the newcomers had an opportunity to take part in real competitive badminton.

The team had a very successful trip to Sackville, winning two tournaments, one against the Mt. Allison students and the other against the Mt. Allison Faculty Club. A return match was played at Dalhousie.

Neither the winner of the Currie Cup for ladies singles nor of the Oland Cup for the men's singles has been declared at time of writing.

To the Dalhousie Badminton players that we are going to lose this year by graduation, we wish to extend "Bon voyage" and "Good Luck."

GROUND HOCKEY

Ground Hockey under the scientific direction of our coach John Willis, had a very successful and constructive year. The girls had many games with their old rivals H. L. C. and some were won and some were lost.

On Saturday, Oct. 26, the team went to Windsor, where they played and defeated Edgehill for the first time in many years. The return game was cancelled due to unfavourable weather conditions.

Ground Hockey leapt into the limelight (via the local press) when it became co-educational. This was due to the fact that several boys began to turn out to watch and then to criticize the girls' style. It was not long until the girls challenged their critics to a game, which was played on November 1st and won by the girls' Hockey Team. The boys soon learnt their hockey however and were usually the victors in the games that followed.

The season closed around the middle of November with only a few minor casualties—some bruised shins and one broken nose.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

By Kay Sircom

Practice started about the middle of November under the direction of Coach Bob Goudey. Boys' rules were used until after Christmas when it was found that the Dal. coeds were unable to enter the City League. Then they changed to Girls' rules in preparation for the Inter-Collegiate League. Practice games were played with the Y. W. C. A., the Halifax Academy and the Maple Leafs.

The first league game was between Mt. Allison and Dal. with victory going to the former team. Our coeds next encounter was with Acadia. Again they were defeated. But the team which won the Inter-Collegiate League last year was not downhearted and Dal. won the last two games. At the time of writing the score of games won in the League is:

Dalhousie	2
Acadia	2
Mt. Allison	1

There is still a game to be played between Acadia and Mt. Allison.

The outstanding player on the Dal. team is the Captain, Isobel Fraser, whose shooting secured us 18 out of 23 points in one game and 24 out of 34 in another.

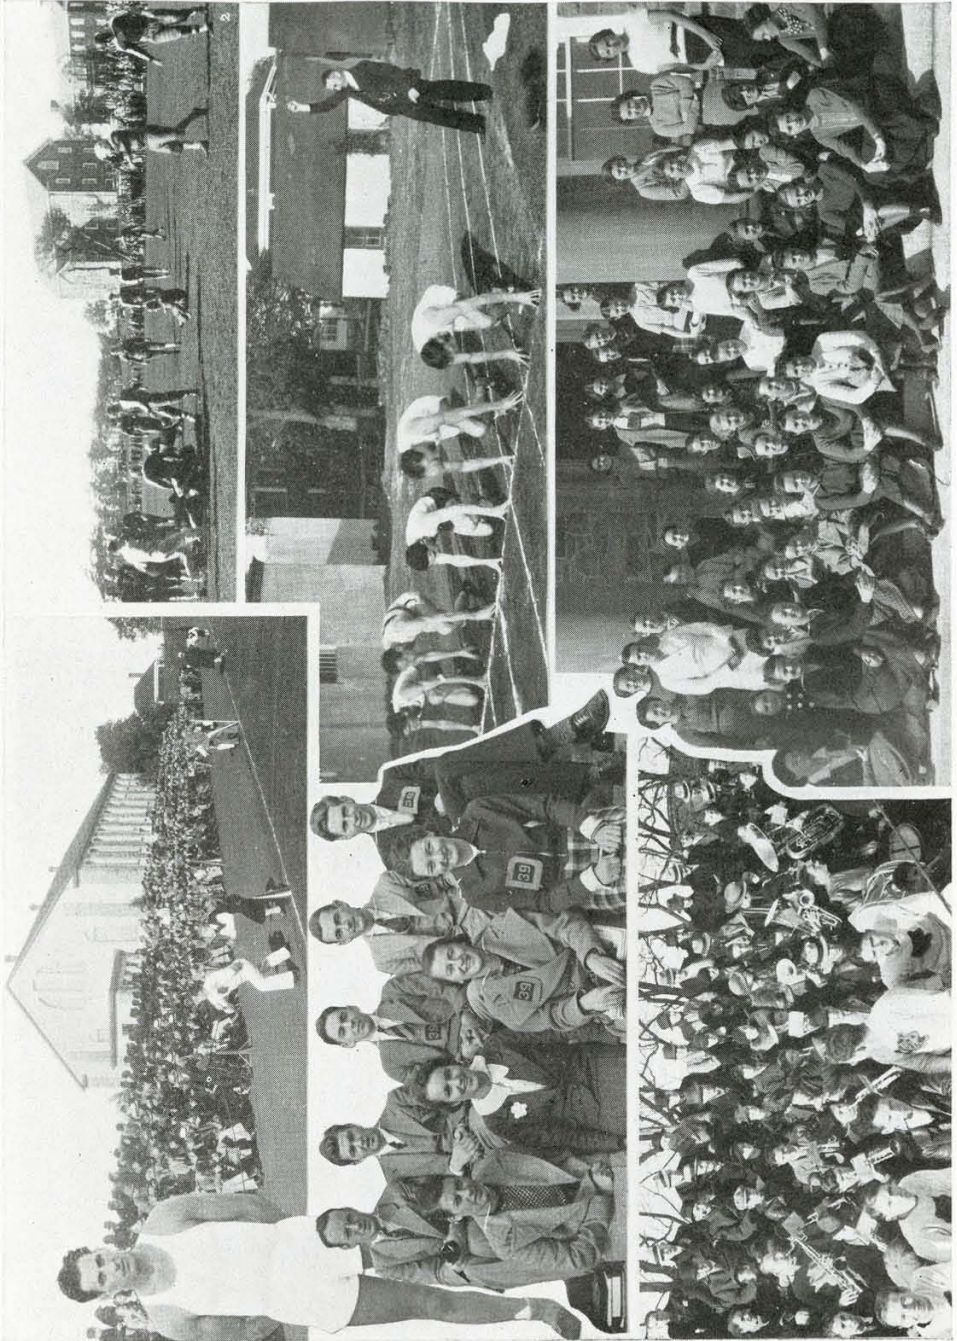

The coeds still have another game to play against the Y. W. C. A. for the Quigley Cup.

Cruikshank, Smith, MacKeen and Burbidge ruling the quarter deck. This was the worst voyage yet, and two of our men died in December and were buried at sea. Due to bad weather, the constant driving of the officers and long watches with all hands on deck, there was much dissatisfaction, which finally developed into open mutiny against the tyranny of the junior officer of the Materia Medica watch. One of the new afterguard, MacKeen, the junior officer of Smith's watch, was a hard taskmaster but a good and able seaman, with the reputation of his ship and crew at heart. The seasonal gales of April and May claimed seven more casualties. That year we said good-bye to the Sea of Anatomy, Biochemistry Gulf, the Coast of Physiology, Bacteriology. Bright and partly explored Pathology Inlet, Neurology Shoals were left behind in the stormy weather of December, and it was here that two of our men received injuries which hampered them until the end of the season.

In September 1933, we again set sail with twenty-nine of the original crew and one additional to complete our complement, Officer Smith was still with us, and he had much control over all the watches as he guided the ship along the rock strewn shores and treacherous reefs of Pathology Inlet. But we prospered under his watchful eye and soon the Mainlands of Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics and Gynaecology loomed up before us. We had few casualties as compared with other years, losing only four of our number, but all were glad of the respite allowed by the summer's layover. During the year one of our crew was appointed captain of our pleasure boat the "Glee Club" and well did he carry out his duties.

In Sept., 1934, we again assembled on the quarter deck for the signing of articles. Twenty-eight stalwart seasoned seamen this time, two of whom had profited by a year's shore leave from the ship Medicine '35 and were ready to bring new strength to swell our numbers. We set sail, with fair winds and a smooth sea, down the coasts of Medicine and Surgery, circumnavigating Paediatric Island. Even the stormy season which this year was in the cycle of the Provincial Boards seemed less strenuous, the clear visibility and smoother seas of the previous months had made the topography of the land more easily mastered.

In May, 1935, while entering Interne Roads the wind fell and the oily seas and cloudless sky presaged a long calm. We could see Convocation Port through the shoreline haze a short distance away, and, with true sailor yearning we wanted our shore leave, but we still had much trading to do among Clinical Islands and the order "to the boats" ended our dreams of city life.

During the year two of our crew had held important commands, the Glee Club pleasure boat again being captained by a sailor from Med. '36 and the Seaman's Union headed by our own boatswain. Both were A. B.'s. of fine standing and did credit to the ship's company.

We have been in the smaller craft nearly a year, the biggest of these the Victoria General took twelve of us and many of the officers, the others were all smaller, taking one or two men and officers to guide them. During this year we have done much successful trading and we are looking forward to the return to our Mother Ship in a short time. Another of our shipmates guided the work of the Seaman's Union this year from on board the V. G., and looked after its interests well. We know we will approach Convocation Port, and dock at Gymnasium Pier with mixed feelings of joy and sorrow, the former from successfully reaching our journey's end, the latter from the realization that always comes to a sailor, on parting from shipmates and ship. Forgotten will be the hardships and rigours of the voyage as, when the ship is moored, the last command given, with duffle bags in hand and dressed in shore-going clothes, we jump ashore. Capt. Grant will then present our credentials to President Stanley and from him we shall receive our tickets, officially ending our voyage.

ENVOI

Good Luck in your stars who have read these pages
and come at last to the story's end,
Good hope in your heart, good wealth in your pocket,
a happy love and a loyal friend.

And when the years, in their happy passing,
Have brought you their welath of sun and rain,
May you find a quiet hour for turning
Back to this tale of youth again!
