Hi Gump,

Well, here I am, two months and a couple of days from that long walk down that short aisle. And even though it is just around the corner, I still find it a little hard to believe that after 33 years of single life I'm giving up the socks on the floor and eating with my hands for marriage. At well, reckless youth well-spent, I am now more than ready for this. Helps that I've found such a terrific woman - and I'm lucky in that she's crazy about me too. She's looking forward to meeting you this summer.

I'm not expecting you in Winnipeg for the wedding, but we will be returning to the Maritimes afterwards and going to Tommy's wedding in August.

One thing I want to do while I'm in the Manitoba capital is visit the museum or wherever it is that your father's artifacts are housed. Could you please get the address for me. Oh, and I also have a favour. Stephanie or Tracy will be doing ~~a~~ reading (does that make sense - doing a reading??) at the wedding, and Robin and I aren't religiously inclined to hear more biblical babble than necessary.

I thought it would be wonderful to have a piece of your writing to read. It certainly would mean a lot to me and to Robin who dearly admires your work as much as I do. If you can think of some relevant passage - about life or love or whatever - I'd appreciate hearing from you. Perhaps Uncle Tom can help with this. Oh, and don't worry about it if you draw a blank. I'm searching for stuff myself.

Anyway, 'til I see you this summer - take care. Say hi to Tom and Pam and the cousins. I imagine they're getting wound up about young Tom's upcoming nuptials. Oh yes, and speaking of big events in the future, what's the latest on The Nymph project? Jees, I hope that clears the ground!

Talk to you later,

DONNIS
