Class of 2004

Todd Adams

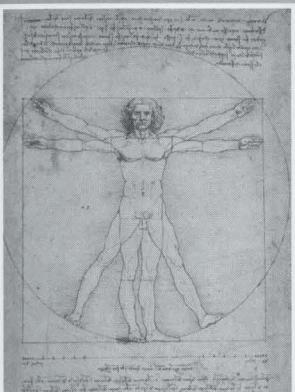

Mr. Adams hails from a bustling metropolitan known as Tilley. Well known for his love of sports Todd single handedly keeps the Dal physio team of losing by forfeit. Todd joined the class of 2004 after first completing a degree in biochemistry at UNB and working for period of time as a lab assistant, and then by being rejected from Dal dentistry, Dal medicinice, Dal Law, etc...etc. One can always tell when this guy is in class for his daily barrages of the phrase, "Ah man!", (pronounced "Ah Meanmn!!!") are a tell tale sign that Mr. Adams has entered the building. One can expect Mr. Adams to have his own orthopaedic private practise somewhere in New Brunswick if he every gets over how much more money dentists make than physios. Congrats Todd on this great achievement. We certainly miss that Tilley accent.

Kelly Burton

This experienced graduate hails from St. John's Nfld, but has taken residence in Oromocto, NB with her soon-to-be-hubby, John. Before gracing the class of 2004 with her frequent questions and hilarious comments. Kelly completed a Bsc Psych/Bio at MUN followed by a Bsc Kine at UNB. No stranger to "hot flashes", this class veteran should relate to the geriatric population, but Kelly's outgoing attitude and kind nature keeps her young at heart. Her excellent job in chairing this year's ball committee will be an asset she plans her upcoming long-awaited wedding. Kelly plans to return to Oromocto to pursue her physio career, but John's military position may lead them elsewhere. Congratulations Kelly Burton, BScPT, BScPsych/Bio, BscKine for completing your third degree and getting the record for the most letters behind your name! We love you Kelly! Best Wishes!

Marilyn Clark

Hails from Nine Mile Creek, PEI. Predictions for the future: The next Canadian Idol...or singing in a cigar bar, who knows really? Most likely to NEVER work in ortho. Loves: Caleb, Bailey, AW, sunflowers, drinking at Peakes, talking on phone, buying but not affording, and PEI beaches.

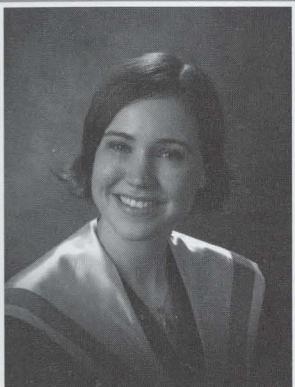

Dislikes: Drivers on the island, and people who spell Clark with an 'e', 1/2 naked guy, and Furby Turtles!

Desires: To find a hot tamale to 'tame'.

Known for: her infectious laugh, undiscovered singing voice, amazing eyes, travel and tourism skills, and knowing everything about everyone. We are going to miss our t.v. nights and stories from home. Don't go too far, we will miss you too much!

Love ya like a sister,

Nicki Conway

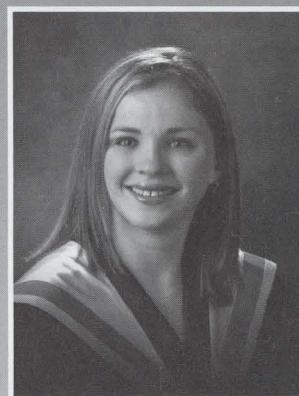

One of the gems of St John's Nicki Conway adds the most infectious smile to the class of 2004. It's hard to imagine that she is really quite shy, or so she claims! Hardly without her headphones it's rumored she knows the energizer bunny! Rest assured her taste in music is sound. Nicki has an honesty, and sincerity that makes her a valued friend and will serve her and her patients well. Your welcoming smile and genuine nature will remain an inspiration to us all.

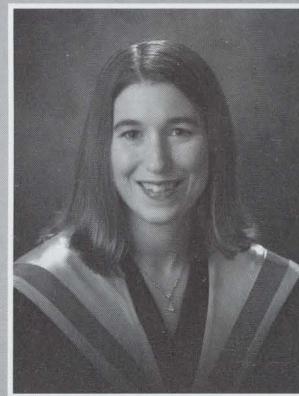

Alison Bates

Native to St. John, NB, Alison managed to balance partying with schoolwork to graduate with a BSc. in human kinetics from St. FX and proudly flashes the ring to prove it. AS DPTSS president, Alison was always involved in extracurricular activities and her money management skills may have led to record-breaking numbers for physio fund-raising. Alison can often be found at the local chocolate factory buying bulk as her love chocolate is guaranteed to get the best of her. Always keen to arrive early to get that perfect parking spot, Alison's hard-working attitude and dedication is sure to carry over in her Physiotherapy career. Homeward bound, Alison will most likely be found working in Saint John, but if she gets her own way, she will become a "Barker Beauty" or Willy Wonka's bride in the near future. Best of luck in all your future endeavors! We love you, Al!

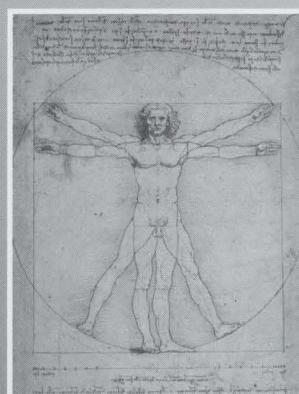

Patty Chisholm

After completing a BSc. in Human Kinetics at St. FX Patty left her hometown of Antigonish to grace the class of 2004 with her chronic h, hacking cough. Her days of taking off to Boston for Patriot's celebrations came to a halt on March 4th, 2003 when she and Dave were blessed with a beautiful baby boy, Dylan Thomas. Patty's drive and determination is evident in all she does (i.e. Taking only one week off after giving birth). Whether it was motherhood or Lori's nagging over the past 3 years, Patty has finally turned in the ball caps and sweats for lipstick and high heels. Because of Patty's obvious hatred of orthopedics, you will most likely find her working in the hospital in the areas of neuro or general med. Best of luck in your future career and we expect siblings for Dylan the minute you are eligible for maternity leave!

Michelle Comeau

Born and raised in Oak Point NB, Michelle grew up to be a determined and hard working girl, whether it was in school, playing handball, or fishing with her father. Coming from the Kinesiology program at UNB, Michelle made her way to Halifax to pursue her studies in Physiotherapy at Dalhousie University. While there she participated in numerous intramural sports including volleyball and soccer, along with other school activities...all the while making new friends and keeping up with her studies. You will always be remembered for your last minute assignments, the many nights on Jenn's couch, and always being up for a night out. It was a joy getting to know you! Your smiles and laughter will be missed. All the best!

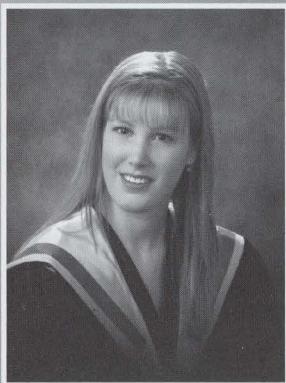

Erin Coonan

Erin brought to Dal Physio her unique insight and tremendous work ethic. Having completed her Masters of Pharmacology, she obviously knows how caffeine can be of assistance during those early morning lectures. Always makes time for a cup of java, even if it means being a minute or two late for class! Your attention to detail and intellect will carry you far! May you and Chris be happy in all your endeavors.

Dalhousie Physiotherapy

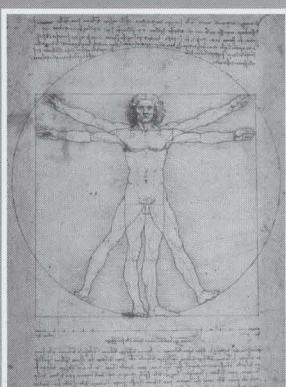

Karla DeYoung

Karla's lifelong dream of becoming a physiotherapist was realized when she was accepted to the Dalhousie school of physiotherapy. At first appearing sweet and innocent, this native of Dartmouth soon showed her other side. With her quiet sarcasm and shrewd comments, Karla surprised all of her friends on a regular basis. Juggling several jobs on top of our hectic schedule never seemed like a problem for this energetic student. We know that Karla will be a dedicated physiotherapist and make a positive contribution no matter where she works. Best of luck in the future.

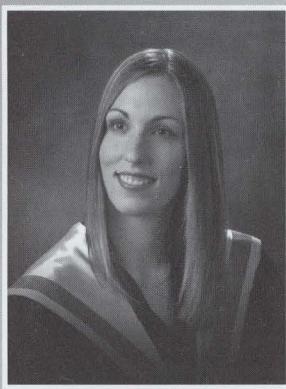

Laura Flanagan

As the youngest member of our class, Laura will always be remembered for her boundless energy. Whether swimming, running, or rowing this self proclaimed fitness enthusiast enjoyed every moment of her days as a student. Her contagious laugh and friendly nature made every day a little brighter. An avid procrastinator, Laura never seemed stressed and always seemed to come out on top. With her adventurous spirit and dreams of travel we are unsure of where Laura will settle, but we know that she will surpass even her own expectations.

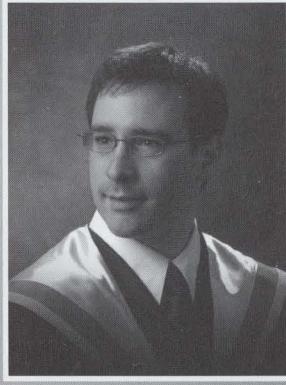

Holly Kaye

Hails from Penobsquis, New Brunswick
Predictions for the future: Marry Justin and have his babies...and a beagle. Will most likely work in ortho, and stay in New Brunswick.
Loves: Justin, frogs, eating chicken balls at 9pm, 'hot bods', Mattie, chocolate, and exercising with Kristy.
Dislikes: 1/2 naked guy, Furby Turtles, people who steal ornaments from doors.
Known for: Her sayings (whiggetty-whack; I'm not hung over, I'm just tired and have a headache), hard work, and her not so sweet innocence.
We are going to miss our grocery runs, and your thoughtful, giving nature. You are a sweet, caring person and will be a great asset wherever you decide to work.
Love you lots,

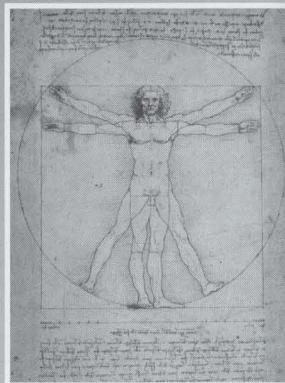

Todd Lacey

Todd Lacey grew up in rural, NS. After high school he headed off to Mount Allison University, where he obtained a BSc in Biology/Psychology and met his finance, Lisa. While in the Dal's physiotherapy program, Todd has spent his time learning and mastering physiotherapy skills/techniques, taking part in a variety of school activities (yearbook, education curriculum committee, job fair, pub crawls, etc, etc), and talking to his finance on the phone. Even though Todd may appear like a very serious person, those that know him have also been witness to his subtle jokes and wild side. Another thing Todd is known for is asking a lot of questions in class. This curiosity and search for knowledge is founded in his need to give his patients the best care possible. Along with this, Todd is caring, empathetic, and genuine, which makes him an exceptional person, and will make him an exceptional Physiotherapist and husband to his soon to be wife.

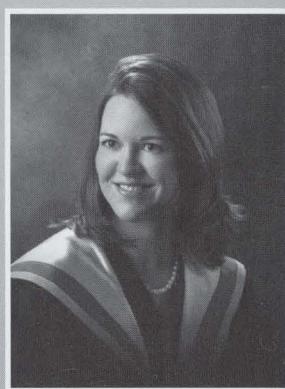

Tanya Feehan

Arriving from Inverness, this converted Caper quickly made the transition to Halifax and the School of Physiotherapy. Tanya's understanding personality and warm nature made her unforgettable to the physiotherapy class of 2004. Her sense of humor, her willingness to help others, and her thoughtful insights were a great contribution to all of her classmates. Tanya's dedication and hard work were unparalleled and have contributed greatly to her success. We know that Tanya will make an excellent physiotherapist. Good luck and best wishes for the future.

Jenn Flynn

Born and raised in Fredericton New Brunswick, this outgoing girl came to physiotherapy a year after graduation from UNB with a bachelor of science in Biology. You're most likely to find Jenn running at the gym, shopping, dancing, or spending time with her family and friends. Our class will forever remember Jenn as the gracious Christmas party hostess who spent way too much time and money preparing food for the event. If you're still not sure who she is, you can probably find her in the Book of World Records for fitting 63 people in her small 2 bedroom apartment. All this aside, Jenn's fun loving personality and knowledge in physiotherapy will definitely help her become the successful physiotherapist she is destined to be.

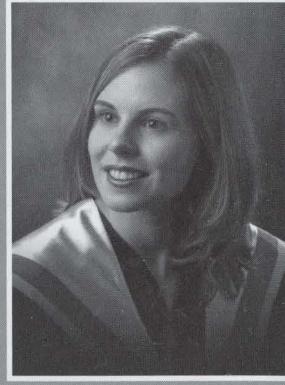

Natalie Kluke

With her quiet demeanor and sweet personality, Natalie eased her way into her role as a physiotherapy student. Despite her well developed procrastination skills, Natalie always did extremely well in her classes. Her innocent comments and questions often brought smiles to our faces, reminding us of her innate sincerity. Natalie's thoughtful and caring nature will ensure her success as a physiotherapist. We wish her the best that life can offer, she certainly deserves it.

Laura Little

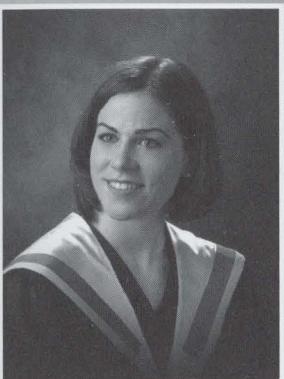

From the little town of Harvey, NB, Laura brings with her a background in kinesiology and a heart of gold...which was captured by her classmate, friend, and later to be husband Shaun. Laura's seemingly effortless ability to befriend her classmates always making to talk speaks volumes about her caring depth of character. Just think Laura, you'll never have to spend that kind of time in the library again! All the best in your exciting future.

Class of 2004

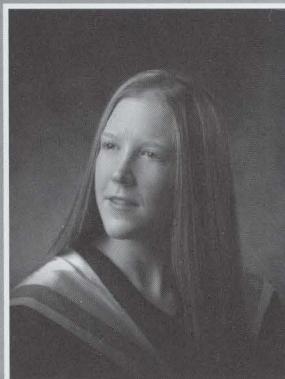

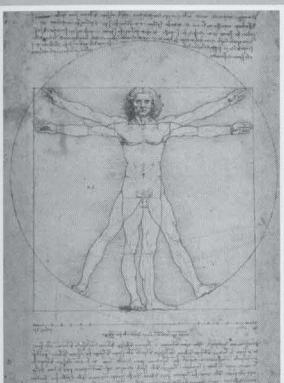

Sarah MacDonald

Sarah hails from the small town of Bridgetown, Nova Scotia. Always quick to brighten anyone's day with a compliment, she is always sweet and sincere. A dedicated student and athlete, Sarah's always busy. Despite her disappearances every weekend to see Chad, Sarah is quick to encourage everyone to get involved in one event or another. She will definitely go far in life and likely pass even her own expectations. Good luck and best wishes wherever life may take you.

Steve MacNeil

Steve is a proud graduate from the Chemistry Honours Program at Saint Francis Xavier University and would be happy to discuss his Thesis with anyone interested. Since his arrival at Dalhousie he has made many friends through his humour and easy going attitude. Although quite a popular student, Steve has always had trouble recruiting for his famous parties. We wish this wonderful Jedi good luck in the future and "May the Force be with you Steve".

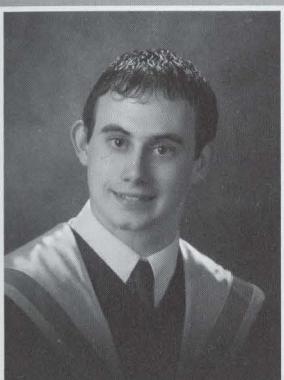

Jenn MacKinnon

This tiny caper will always be remembered for her quick wit and her caring nature. Always ready to listen and provide words of encouragement to her classmates, Jenn is a friend to all people she meets. With her laid back personality, she often surprised the class with her entertaining comments. This unassuming student's upbeat personality was a great contribution to our class. No matter where Jenn settles, she will undoubtedly earn the friendship and respect of everyone she meets. Good luck and best wishes for the future.

Chris Mercer

I guess they grow them tall in Bay Roberts Newfoundland. Our giant joined us after studying Kinesiology at Memorial University of Newfoundland. Being exactly 2 times the size of the smallest guy in the class it was no surprise when he was give the name of "Too Tall" by the boys in the class. Coming from the best place on earth, Chris showed us what it means to have a good time, which he was able to balance along with great academics (as long as Erin was in a good mood, and had all her assignments finished). He was blessed to meet Erin, a fellow student in the class to whom he is now happily married, but when the first baby comes along we are much afraid there is going to be a fight for the cradle. Take care Chris and best of luck with everything.

Ronald Miles

The class would not be the same without this gent hailing from St George's NF. With involvement in volunteerism within the school and the community Ron shows a positive impact on all those that he encounters. How did he find the time to do it all? Ron became a master of MetroTransit! Full of a charm and senserity that goes even deeper than his newfoundland roots Ron always made time for his classmates and will do the same for his many future patients. Ron will be success in everthing he does due to the shear size of his heart and that extraordinary work ethic

Laura Moulard

This girl from Truro Nova Scotia was no stranger to Dal as she came to us after completing her Bachelor of Science degree. Laura has made great contributions to our class including organizing last year's Mystery Bus Tour, co-chairing the international committee, participating in For the Health of it for the past 3 years, participating in intramural sports, whether as a part of the team or in the stands cheering, and last but not least making appearances at all social events. Laura has also helped make the past 3 years much more interesting with encouraging words during rough times and with her sarcasm and humorous presentations. Laura's upbeat personality will definitely be a great asset to the physiotherapy team she joins, wherever that may be.

Robyn Murphy

This loyal fan of Anne of Green Gables hails from the land of the bright red mud. Robyn Murphy (AKA Martha Stewart) left her favorite hobby of potato picking to move to the big city. After completing two years of a BSc. In Biology/ Neuroscience at Dalhousie, Robyn graced the class of 2004 with her creativity and obsessive-compulsive tendencies. On a typical day, Robyn can be found engrossed in her day planner in an attempt to organize her many extracurricular responsibilities. Her ambitious nature and work ethic compelled her to chair FTHOI and the grad committee. We will always be grateful for the extra time and effort she so willingly gave to the class of 2004. Because of Robyn's adventurous personality, we can't predict where she will end up, but it would ideally be working in pediatrics somewhere in the Caribbean with Lori close by! All the best Robs, we love you!

Kristy Murray

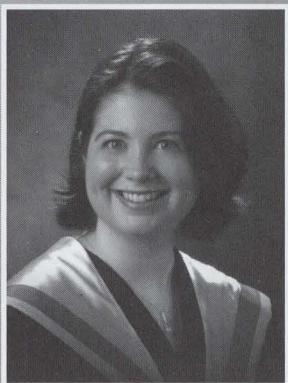

Kristy comes to us with a biology degree and pillow in hand. A frequent napper during the day, Kristy has become accustomed to working during the wee hours of the morning. Since her roommates are far from night owls, Kristy has had to entertain herself at night with snacks and personal concerts with her discman. Kristy has always been a willing volunteer for school activities. Even ortho, where she left us all scratching our heads during the foot and ankle lab. Kristy has been a great friend to all of us for 3 years and even though she's a little slower than the average Park Vic resident we still love her and all her quirks. We predict Kristy may go stateside for a year, but will then return to Canada for her dream job in a clinic that doesn't open until 11am, accommodates for hourly naps and endorses recess time.

Dalhousie Physiotherapy

Diana Sullivan

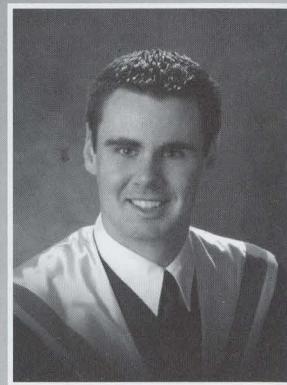

Hails from Peterborough, Ontario (UC). Predictions for the future: Life in suburbia (neuro, puppies, children(?)), follow 'ball and chain' around Canada, PhD. Loves: Al, eating out, IKEA, Penhorn, 'filling her boots', garbage cans on Spring Garden, pastry boards, Clay Aiken and Gary Beals. Dislikes: people who are not 'half wise', Penhorn, stories about Newman, Furby Turtles. Desires: a life filled with "meat, not cloud". Known for: hostess with the most-ess, useless(?) knowledge, sarcasm, $10 dollar words.

We are going to miss being 'culturalized' - nobody does it like you -RRrrrrr. Congratulations on your marriage and puppy. We love you lots,

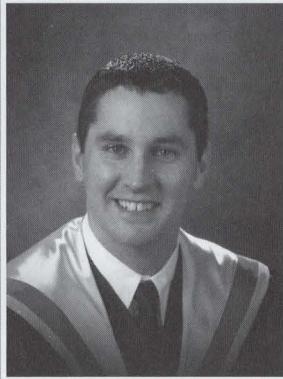

Andrew White

The other A.W., Andrew joined us from Rothesay NB, after having completed his degree in Kinesiology at UNB. Andrew might have been known as Mr. CPA, or Gail's unlikely liaison, What were you thinking! Often found honing his Ortho skills, this fine therapist will go far, no doubt to become a prominent NFL team therapist, and or CPA prez! Continue to fight the good fight and show the world what kind of versatility we offer! You've got our vote!

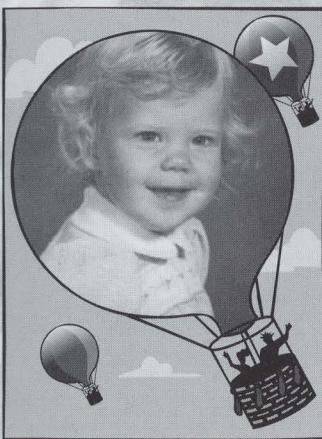

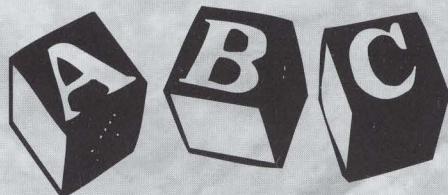

Andrew Wilson

Thinking that 6 years of school and only one health profession was not quite enough, "mature" student Andrew Wilson came to us to yet again challenge his thirst for knowledge. Often thought of as the nicest guy in class, Andrew is always happy to do anything for someone and always with a smile. It's been a pretty big three years for Andrew, some of the highlights include: a marriage (sorry ladies), a baby on the way and making some good friends. We all wish Andrew continued happiness the best of luck on his masters.

Editors' Message

Working on the yearbook this past year has presented us with a number of challenges, each of which were met with the excitement of putting together this important keepsake. For those of you still in school, we offer the message that you are a part of a very special community. For those graduates that have moved on, we hope this yearbook fills you with memories of our long journey and our all too brief time together. Personally, it gives us great pride having you as our colleagues.

Sincerely,
Todd and Ron.

P.s. keep in touch, it's never to late to catch up with old friends.
