PRAYER FOR A UNIVERSITY

The following invocation was given by Reverend Dr. C. M. Nicholson, Principal Pine Hill Divinity Hall, at the laying of the cornerstone of the new Arts Building on November 15, 1949.

“O Lord God, Father Almighty, Who hast through Thy loving purposes formed us in Thine own image so that Thou makest us to seek Thy Truth that Thy Truth may make us free, we Bless Thee for the labour and patience and sacrifice of Thy children in every age who have sought after Thy Truth and for those who have by their enterprises nourished the life of this University. We thank Thee for the courage and faith of all who in this day raise this building to serve the Cause of the Truth.

And now we beseech Thee to so inspire and inform the minds of those who teach here that they may evermore be servants of the Truth; and to so give Thine urgency and direction to the minds of these who study here that as the sons and daughters of this University they may increase her witness to the Truth.

These things we ask for Thy Mercy's Sake and for the glory of Thy name.

—Amen”

The continued existence of a strong Alumni Association requires more from the membership than a yearly financial contribution, essential as that contribution may be. To maintain the strength of such an organization it is necessary that young, active and interested graduates of the university enter the association each year to replace those who because of ill-health, age, or pressure of business are forced to limit their direct assistance to the work of the association. These young graduates are not going to enter automatically into the activities of the Alumni unless the organization had meant something to them while they were students. Since interest and affection are not developed between organizations but between individuals each member of the Alumni has the opportunity of strengthening the appeal which the association has for the young student. The offer of assistance or advice, the show of interest in current activities at the university, the recognition that student and Alumnus have a common bond of love for Dalhousie, are obvious points of personal contact which can ensure the continued maintenance of a strong Dalhousie Alumni Association.

A CORNERSTONE IS LAID

At a brief but very impressive ceremony on November 15th, 1949, the cornerstone for the new Arts Building at Dalhousie was laid, by J. MacGregor Stewart, K.C., former Chairman of the Dalhousie Board of Governors.

The ceremony opened with the playing of "O Canada" by the Dalhousie Band. The chairman of the Board of Governors, Colonel K. C. Laurie, called upon Reverend Dr. C. M. Nicholson, Principal of Pine Hill, to give the invocation.

Following the invocation, an introductory dedication address was given by Dr. A. E. Kerr, President of the University, who stated that "The Faculty of Arts is the heart of any University" and "Liberal Arts is the guardian of a Liberal education." Continuing his remarks Dr. Kerr stated that "We may interpret this building as an indication of the fact that the faculty and governors intend to keep the Faculty of Arts in the centre of the University."

Colonel Laurie then read the list of contents of a copper box that was to be sealed under the cornerstone. Numbered among the contents were copies of the 1949 University Calendar, the Calendar of the new Faculty of Graduate Studies, copies of the Alumni News and the Dalhousie Review, a copy of the Bicentenary issue of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald and an introductory history of Dalhousie, written by Dr. D. C. Harvey, Provincial Archivist.

The report on the work of construction was then given by Colonel E. G. M. Cape, contractor of the building, who declared "that the foundation is well and truly laid on bedrock and the cornerstone ready for laying."

The consulting architect Mr. L. R. Fairn, presented a silver trowel to Mr. Stewart, who laid the cornerstone.

Mr. J. MacGregor Stewart then addressed the gathering as follows:

It is fitting, on an occasion such as this, that our thoughts should first turn, in gratitude, to those thousands of men, women and companies, whose generous response to Dalhousie's current appeal for funds, has made possible the erection of this Arts and Administration Building, to be the central and dominant structure on the Campus.

This will be the control tower and nerve centre of Dalhousie for many years to come. Here also will be the home of the oldest and most important of the Faculties that make up the University. It will be the forge in which will be tested and tempered the intellectual and moral talents of the young men and women of to-day and tomorrow. The fate of Dalhousie's tradition and reputation will be in their hands and Dalhousie will be judged in the future by the leadership they are able to give and by the lives they lead. It was solely for the use and benefit of these young men and women that Dalhousie's appeal was made and so generously answered.

Next our thoughts turn to that group of great Dalhousians who, during the first three decades of this century, saw the vision of Dalhousie on this Studley Campus and devoted their time, their energy and their courage to converting that vision into a reality. Their leaders included Rev. John Forrest, Dr. A. Stanley Mackenzie, two great Presidents, and George S. Campbell, G. Fred Pearson, K.C., and Hector McInnes, K.C., three successive Chairmen of the Board of Governors, all five of them, alas, now gathered unto their fathers. They, with their fellow workers, bought this site, laid down the plans of the Campus to be, and raised the funds necessary for the initial construction. War and depression cut across their plans and they were obliged to leave to others the task of carrying on; but they left to Dalhousie a great heritage of achievement. Great as their efforts were, there simply was not enough money available to carry their plans through.

Shortage of funds is not a rare experience for educational institutions. Indeed, poverty is a badge of every good college. While it is accused of repressing noble rage, poverty is not without its compensations. It promotes clear thinking and sound judgment, for in its presence mistakes become calamities. It compels emphasis to be laid in the proper place. It forces us to prefer simplicity to profusion, depth to diffusion and form to embellishment; but it does place a very heavy burden on those who are charged with administering the affairs of a College. There are always pressing needs. A decision must be made among several essentials as to which shall have priority. That one is selected, the postponement of which will result in the greatest permanent injury to the University. That is why this Arts and Administration Building is now under construction.

But there are other sorely pressing needs. I will mention but four: More and better paid professors and instructors, residential accommodation for men, greatly increased facilities for scientific instruction and research, library extension. May I here express the hope that Dalhousie continue patiently but persistently to bring these needs home to men, women and companies of good will, for I am sure that when they realize how pressing are these needs, they will respond as to a challenge.

Next, I wish to congratulate the Chairman of the Board of Governors, the President, the Senate, the Building Committee, the Architects and the Contractors on the expedition with which they have formulated and prepared their plans and brought construction to its present stage.

In conclusion, may I express the hope that this great building may prove to be a worthy focal point and local habitation for Dalhousie's great tradition—a tradition of scholarship and of service in a community that is poor indeed in material things, but passing rich in the intellectual and moral fibre of its sons and daughters.

The new Arts Building is being built on the Studley Campus on the site of the old Murray Homestead. It will be in shape of a "U" with the main entrance facing Morris Street.

The main floor of the new building will be taken up by university administration offices, while the second floor will be almost entirely devoted to classrooms. Offices for the professors and assistants will be housed on the third floor. The basement will be partly taken up by a Common Room for male students, rest rooms and storage rooms.

By shifting the administrative offices to the new building it will make it possible to expand the MacDonald Library. The present Arts Building will become the residence of the Dalhousie Law School once the new Arts Building is completed. The Forrest Building will then be given over entirely to the work of the Medical and Dental Schools.

FACULTY OF LAW

The two most important items of news about the Law School this spring are the announcement of the appointment of Dean Vincent MacDonald to the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia and the announcement that Horace E. Read is to succeed Judge MacDonald as Dean of the Law School.

The appointment of Dean Vincent MacDonald, K.C., as a Justice of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia is the climax of a very active life. Vincent Christopher MacDonald, B.A., LL.B., K.C., has had an outstanding legal career. Called to the Bar of Nova Scotia in 1920, he engaged in law practice from 1920 to 1926, during which time from 1923-25 he was law clerk of the Nova Scotia Legislature, and served from 1920 to 1926 as a lecturer in law at Dalhousie Law School and Osgoode Hall Law School, Toronto, 1926-30.

He has been Professor of Law Dalhousie University since 1930, and Dean of Law, at Dalhousie since 1934.

During the war he acted as Acting Assistant Deputy Minister of Labor in Ottawa, while on leave from Dalhousie.

A frequent contributor to legal magazines, he served from 1929-34 as editor, Dominion Law Reports. He was a member Nova Scotia Bar Council from 1934 to 1948.

Adviser on Constitutional Law to the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations, he was a member of the Royal Commission on Shipbuilding in Ontario and Quebec in 1940, and served as Controller of Loading Operations, Port of Halifax, in 1942.

More recently he served as adviser to the Newfoundland Delegation that went to Ottawa to discuss terms of Confederation and in 1948 he was named president of the Conference of the Governing Board of the Legal Profession in Canada.

The appointment of Horace Emerson Read, as Dean of the Dalhousie Law School is a very popular appointment.

Horace Emerson Read, B.A., LL.B., LL.M., S.J.D., K.C., O.B.E., Professor of Law at the University of Minnesota received his Bachelor of Laws from Dalhousie in 1924 and joined the firm of Archibald and Read, in Truro. Later he went to Harvard as a Pugsley Fellow in International Law and received the degree of Master of Laws from Harvard.

He returned to Dalhousie where he was successively lecturer instructor, assistant professor, associate professor and finally George Munro Professor of Law, a post he gained in 1931.

He returned to Harvard as a Research Fellow and took his Doctorate in Law in 1934. Since that time he has been Professor of Law at the University of Minnesota.

Professor Read served during World War One with the 219th Battalion, Nova Scotia Highlanders overseas and later was transferred to the Royal Flying Corps.

During World War Two he was chairman of the Canadian Naval Regulations Revision Committee, from 1943 to 1945, and directed the complete revision and rewriting of Canadian Naval Regulations. He also drafted the Canadian Naval Service Act in 1944, for which he was awarded the Order of the British Empire.

Professor Read is the author of a book, "The Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Judgements in the British Commonwealth," which was issued as one of a Harvard series of publications. He has been editor of various legal case books and was for a time associate editor of the Canadian Law Reports. He has contributed many articles to legal publications and is well-known for his writings.

He is an active member of the Canadian Legion and recently was General Chairman of the Great Lakes command of the Legion.

He is married to the former Helena Louise Miller, B.A., of Windsor, N. S. They have two children, Aveleigh Anne and Robert Miller.

NOTES FROM THE MEDICAL SCHOOL

Since the last edition of the Alumni News there have been several changes in staff at the Medical School. In Pathology, Dr. Ralph P. Smith who has been with the University for over twenty years resigned to accept a position of Pathologist to the Luther Hospital at Eau Claire, Wisconsin. He has been replaced by Dr. Norman G. B. McLetchie. Dr. McLetchie is a graduate of Glasgow, Scotland, 1938. He took his M.D. in Pathology at the same university in 1944. He was lecturer in Pathology in Glasgow in 1939 and in the same year Assistant Pathologist to the Glasgow Infirmary. He served in the Royal Army Medical Corps with the rank of Major from 1943 on. In 1946 he was appointed lecturer in Pathology at Bristol University. From 1947 until the present date Dr. McLetchie has served as Director of Laboratories at the Regina General Hospital and the Regina Grey Nuns Hospital. In the same Department Dr. J. H. Fodden, Associate Professor has obtained certification in Pathology from the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada and Dr. J. W. Abbiss, Associate Professor who has been acting head of the Department for the present term has obtained Certification in both Pathology and Bacteriology. Dr. Harold Read has now taken over the teaching in Haematology. Dr. W. L. Sharp of the staff of Camp Hill Hospital has joined the Department as Demonstrator in Pathology and Mr. D. M. Simpson, Ph. D. as Demonstrator in Bacteriology.

Beginning next year the Department of Pathology and Bacteriology will be separated. The Department of Bacteriology will be under the direction of Dr. R. W. Reed. Dr. Reed took his M.A. in Bacteriology from Queen's in 1942 and then joined the Canadian Army, his time being devoted to the bacteriological research. At the cessation of war he entered McGill Medical School from which he graduated in 1949. He is at present Bacteriologist to the Montreal General Hospital.

In Biochemistry Professor E. G. Young has resigned to head up the Maritime Regional Laboratory of the National Research Council at Halifax. Dr. J. A. McCarter, who has been Associate Professor in the Department since 1948 has been appointed to the Professorship.

Since the loss of Dr. A. M. Fraser, Professor of Pharmacology who died in July, 1949, the Department has been carried on by Dr. J. G. Aldous with the help of Mr. A. K. Reynolds. Dr. Aldous has now been appointed to the Professorship, his duties to begin in September. In Physiology Dr. M. Schachter has resigned to accept a research fellowship with the National Research Council of Great Britain.

The Twenty-third Refresher Course was held during the last week of October and was one of the most successful ever held. Dr. Arthur L. Murphy was Chairman of the Refresher Course Committee. Clinics and lectures were conducted during the whole week. The visitors were Sir James Learmonth, Regius Professor of Surgery, Edinburgh University, who gave the first Dr. John Stewart Lecture in Surgery; Dr. John L. Fromer, Director, Department of Dermatology, Lahey Clinic, Boston; Dr. Harold R. Griffith, Associate Professor of Anaesthe-sia, McGill University; Dr. C. M. Jones, Department of Radiology, Halifax Infirmary; Dr. D. W. Gordon Murray, Senior Demonstrator in Surgery, University of Toronto; Dr. J. P. O'Reardon, Medical Director, the Canadian Red Cross; Dr. A. William Reggio, Medical Director, United States Public Health Service; and Dr. Willard O. Thompson, Professor of Medicine, the University of Illinois. There were one hundred and sixty-eight doctors registered for this course.

The Anatomy Department has continued its X-ray study of age changes in the bones and joints on healthy professional and business men and the investigation has been extended by Dr. Murray to include observations on blood pressure, muscle force and special tests of vision and hearing. Records of the first part of the survey including about two thousand films are now being worked up. This research has been greatly helped by those who volunteered as subjects including members of the Board of Governors, the University staff and members of the Halifax Rotary Club.

Dr. Mainland has been invited by Yale University to go there for a week in May in order to give lectures and consultations in investigational methods to students and members of the Faculty in Science and Medicine.

The Department of Histology and Embryology has gradually built up an excellent library of educational films and colored slides which is used also by the Dental Faculty, the Department of Biology and the Department of Anatomy.

In the Department of Biochemistry, the studies on nutrition of children of one to six years are continuing with the financial assistance of a grant from the Department of National Health and Welfare. These studies now include radiographs to attempt to relate rate of calcification with dietary patterns and are being carried on with the cooperation of the Department of Anatomy.

With the financial assistance of The Nova Scotia Research Foundation, Miss Margaret MacPherson is carrying out extensive analyses of the commoner seaweeds of the Maritime Provinces to determine seasonal variations as have been done in Scotland. This bears an important relation to the time of harvesting for certain constituents, such as carrageenin from Irish moss and alginates from rockweeds and kelps.

Electrophoretic analyses with the Tiselius apparatus are in progress. Russell V. Webber has now determined the distribution of plasma proteins in over one hundred cases where such alterations occur. Diseases involving hepatic and lymphatic dysfunction have been studied in particular and new facts pointing to the origin of the globulins have been discovered. The staff of the Victoria General Hospital have cooperated to make this study possible and financial assistance has been received from the medical division of The National Research Council.

Another co-operative study financed by The Banting Research Foundation has been carried on with the help of Dr. M. Schachter of the Department of Physiology. Dogs with both gastric and pancreatic fistulas have been prepared surgically. From these it is possible to collect pure pancreatic juice and the material is being analyzed, chemically and electro-phoretically in relation to the effects of different diets.

The cancer research laboratory under the direction of Dr. R. W. Begg and supported by the Canadian Cancer Institute is now producing some interesting results of the systemic effects of certain types of malignant tumors in rats.

Lengthening of the first and second years will permit more instruction in the important subject of nutrition to be given in the regular courses in biochemistry.

Dr. Harold Read and Dr. C. M. Harlow have taken over the instruction of Laboratory Diagnosis to third year students.

The establishment of the Dr. John Stewart Memorial Lecture through the generosity of the Provincial Medical Board of Nova Scotia was another important event of the year. For many years Dr. John Stewart of Halifax, was Nova Scotia's outstanding surgeon. His association with Lord Lister, his technical skill and excellent judgement, along with his remarkable qualities of mind and heart commanded the love and respect of Nova Scotians in all walks of life. He was Officer in Command of the Dalhousie Hospital Unit in Great War I, and as Dean of Medicine was an outstanding figure in the life of the University for many years. He was President of the Provincial Medicine Board and in recognition of his outstanding service that body felt that something should be done to perpetuate his memory in a significant fashion. As a result it proposed that the University inaugurate a John Stewart Memorial Lecture in his memory to be given from time to time at the annual Refresher Course in Medicine. The Board suggested that the subject should be one of wide interest and the speaker an outstanding member of the Medical profession. It promised all possible support to the scheme. As a result the first John Stewart Memorial Lecture was given by Sir James Learmonth, Professor of Surgery and Regius Professor of Clinical Surgery, University of Edinburgh, during the 1949 Refresher Course in Medicine. It was a very fitting choice that the first lecture should be given by the Head of the Department of Surgery in the School of Medicine from which Dr. Stewart graduated. The event was an outstanding success and it is hoped that it will be repeated as an annual event.

On March 14th, and 15th the Medical School was honoured by a visit from Sir Reginald Watson-Jones, of London, England. He is one of the world's authorities on orthopaedic surgery. In the morning of the 14th he spoke to the medical students. At lunch of the same day he was the guest of President A. E. Kerr. At 4:30 in the afternoon a reception was held at the Victoria General Hospital. In the evening he was the guest of the Halifax Branch of the Medical Society and a reception and dinner was held with Dr. Victor O. Mader of Halifax presiding. Following the dinner Sir Reginald addressed the doctors on orthopaedic surgery. On the following day Sir Reginald accompanied by Dr. V. O. Mader, Dr. W. Alan Curry and Dr. E. F. Ross visited the medical school and from there to Camp Hill Hospital.

INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Like the Scriptural lamp that gives light to all that are in the house, a university must be a place of light from which illumination is cast over every area of darkness, whether of ignorance, or superstition, or of prejudice; and it must not be merely a place of internal light, for the university must stand in its community as a beacon seen from all sides, and symbolizing the unity of the arts and sciences and their application to the immediate life around.

Recognizing the truth of this principle, Dalhousie University in 1936 undertook to make its resources in the field of the Social Sciences more widely available to the Maritime community and later to the whole of Canada.

This function is carried out through the Institute of Public Affairs whose task it is to provide for students inside the University and outside, instruction in social, economic and governmental problems, to assist public authorities in the solution of these problems, and to undertake and encourage research directed towards this goal.

For more than a decade the Institute of Public Affairs and its affiliates has served the Maritimes and Canada through social research, training in public administration, in local government and in management-labour relations. Started on an experimental basis with funds from an American Foundation, the Institute has over the years built a constituency of its own from which it receives encouragement and financial support.

The Institute has been successful in bringing together members of both the great trade union Congresses of Canada and leaders in industry and government, to discuss and study common problems in the realm of the Social Sciences. This is an achievement unique in the history of university extension activities anywhere in Canada.

The success of the Institute in bringing together representatives of industry, labour and government is ably demonstrated in the series of radio forum broadcasts carried each week over five radio stations in the Maritime Provinces and in which informed discussion of important and frequently controversial issues is brought to a large radio audience.

The Maritime Bureau of Industrial Relations which constitutes one of the major aspects of the Institute's activities includes in its membership a number of leading Canadian business and industrial firms and provides an important medium for tackling the interlocking problems of a democratic community.

The Maritime Labour Institute through its continuing programme of study, conferences and radio broadcasts and its unique Council, comprising representatives of the two main branches of organized labour in Canada, is concrete evidence of the success of the university's effort to serve and bring together various economic groups in the country.

The Nova Scotia Municipal Bureau, originally conceived as a research centre for studying the changing needs of the rural and urban districts of the Provinces has extended to include within the scope of its activities, conferences and studies relating to problems of government not only at municipal but at provincial and federal level as well.

Recognizing the need for a publication that would be nationwide in circulation and would bring informed discussion of social and economic issues to the attention of the laymen as well as to the expert, the Institute, in 1937, established the quarterly journal Public Affairs.

Public Affairs today enjoys an enviable reputation throughout Canada and abroad. Its circulation exceeds that of any other university publication in Canada and it is at present self-sustaining. The policy of the Institute is to expand and develop Public Affairs to the point where it will serve Canada as a journal of information and opinion on current Canadian problems in much the same way that The Economist and similar publications serve the United Kingdom.

The Institute of Public Affairs has made a lasting impact upon the consciousness of leaders in industry, labour and government. With the increased complexities of public administration and of management-labour relations, demands upon the Institute's facilities are constantly growing.

The present Director of the Institute is Charles Frederick Fraser who was introduced to the readers of the journal, Public Affairs, by Dr. A. E. Kerr, President of Dalhousie University in the following words:—

The appointment of Charles Frederick Fraser as Director of the Institute of Public Affairs marks the opening of a new chapter in this activity of Dalhousie University.

Mr. Fraser comes to the Institute with a distinguished record in educational, legal and cultural affairs. Born in Halifax, Nova Scotia, he studied at Dalhousie (M.A. '32, LL.B. '35), Harvard (LL.M. '36) and London School of Economics. At Harvard, he was appointed Sheldon Travelling Fellow in Law and was later awarded a grant-in-aid by the Social Science Research Council. In 1938-39, he was Associate Professor of Law at Northeastern University, Boston.

After serving as Third Secretary with the Legal Branch of Canada's Department of External Affairs, he returned to Halifax in 1941 to become Managing Editor of The Halifax Chronicle and The Halifax Star for five years. In 1946, he joined the Secretariat of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and was stationed at various times in London, Paris, Lake Success and Ottawa.

The Institute of Public Affairs, under the guidance of the late Dr. Lothar Richter, gained a unique reputation as a centre for research, education, and publishing in the social sciences. The three subsidiary organizations—the Maritime Bureau of Industrial Relations, the Maritime Labour Institute, and the Nova Scotia Municipal Bureau—have been developed for specialized purposes, extending the service which Dalhousie University offers to its regional constituency. The entire enterprise has been reconstituted as a part of the extension work of the University, functioning under a committee set up by the Board of Governors.

I am confident that the Institute of Public Affairs, with Mr. Fraser as its Director and as Editor of its journal, Public Affairs, will continue to make a distinctive contribution to Canadian life and thought.

THE WOMEN'S DIVISION

Dear Mr. Editor:

It must be Spring again as you have once more requested news of the Women's Division. Since our last issue we had our annual Musical Tea and Sale on November sixteenth at Shirreff Hall and it proved particularly successful this year. The Hall was thronged with guests and the net proceeds amounted to five hundred and ten dollars.

The ladies co-operated with the men this year at the annual Smoker for all men students by catering. This proved a large task but many willing students helpers made it a success, and the evening proved a much less costly venture than usual on their account.

At the October meeting a committee was named to confer with the Warden to bring in recommendations for spending the "Tea" money on some improvements for Shirreff Hall. This committee rendered its report at the March meeting and suggested new draperies for the dining room soon to be redecorated, a record cabinet to hold the collection of records started last year, a fireside chair for the library, and the balance, if any, to buy plates. This was passed by the members and a committee was appointed to proceed with the shopping.

The March meeting held at Shirreff Hall on the sixteenth took the form of a supper and program. Over one hundred attended, including our guests, the Co-Vettes, i.e. the wives of the Veterans attending college. A gift of twenty dollars was received for the Hall library from our Montreal chapter. It was also announced that the Student Loan Fund was in a healthy condition and two loans had been issued this year. The Emily Bevan Harrington Fund, also for the Library, has now accumulated to over $350.00 and is available for use. The Association also agreed to pay a librarian a fee to catalogue new books as they arrive.

We had a very interesting talk on work at the Immigration Pier by a new Canadian from Latvia, Miss K. Pedersen who graciously answered our questions for us afterwards.

I take this opportunity to thank my Executive. It has been a pleasure to work with this fine group of Dalhousians, both men and women, and I hope the incoming Executive will find the same friendly co-operation that Mr. Smith and I have enjoyed.

Yours truly

Muriel C. Duxbury,

Vice-President

DR. G. G. SEDGEWICK

The following tribute to the late Dr. G. G. Sedgewick appeared in the December 1949 issue of the B. C. Teacher:

The death of Dr. G. G. Sedgewick, on September 4, was a great loss to the teachers of this province. No other teacher or professor has ever filled or can fill the unique place he held in the affection of his friends, his students and his public. To number his friends is as impossible as to measure his influence on the minds and thoughts of those who met him. The influence of Dr. Sedgewick—the man, the scholar, and the teacher—is felt in classrooms throughout the whole of British Columbia wherever his students teach.

Garnet Gladwin Sedgewick was born in Middle Musquodoboit, Nova Scotia, in 1882. He attended New Glasgow High School and Dalhousie University, and later obtained his master's degree and his doctorate at Harvard University. During the rest of his life he was a teacher, first in Nova Scotia and later in British Columbia. From 1905 to 1907 he was principal of Naniamo High School, then after teaching a year at St. Andrew's College in Toronto, he came to Vancouver High School, where he taught two years before going to Harvard. On securing his doctorate he taught at Washington University and at the University of Missouri. In 1918 he joined the staff of the University of British Columbia and for twenty years he worked in the Department of English to raise educational standards, to promote liberal ideals and to inculcate and stimulate an enduring liking for literature,—but most of all to train his students to study and to think.

An outstanding scholar, he made each lecture a memorable experience. His methods were his own, but they developed and cultivated an interest in literature, which was at once appreciative and critical. Just as no one could question his intellectual integrity, so no one could question his teaching methods. He was an exacting teacher intolerant of the slipshod, the sham and the shoddy, demanding precise, careful work—but generous in appreciation of good work. As he often told his teacher-students, good teaching demands effort on the part of both teacher and student. While it is the teacher's duty to see that pupils apply themselves, boys and girls actually like to work, therefore it devolves upon the teacher to train students to perform tasks that call for real effort and that lead to increased knowledge and appreciation of whatever they are studying. This belief he applied to his own teaching, so that his students have memories of his lectures—amusing, pleasant, serious; they have some appreciation of the literature he liked so well, and they are grateful for his challenging, penetrating, uncompromising methods of teaching.

Dr. Sedgewick found time to write a newspaper column, to prepare a weekly broadcast, to lecture to the many groups who asked his help, and to write articles for numerous educational and professional journals. His interest and support in civic and cultural activities was practical and generous, and his efforts on behalf of education in this province untiring.

The tribute recorded on the books of the Senate of the University expresses the feelings of all who were associated with him:

"The Senate is profoundly sensible of its loss in the death of Garnet Gladwin Sedgewick, Head of the Department of English and long a member of this body. His frequent contributions to Senate debate and discussion were marked by a humane wisdom and breadth of culture, enlivened by a keen critical faculty and an ironic wit. His utterances were the overflow of a unique and memorable personality: we 'shall not look upon his like again,'"

DALHOUSIE'S FIRST HOMECOMING WEEK-END

Dalhousie's first Homecoming Week-end was an outstanding success, with over three hundred of the Alumni and many of the students participating in the excellent program which was offered. The Student's Council under its President Mr. Arthur Moriera deserves to be congratulated for sponsoring such an idea and for carrying out in a very efficient manner such a well planned program of entertainment.

Registration took place on Friday morning Nov. 11th. Although the day was cold, a fair number turned out for the football game between Dalhousie and Wanderers in the afternoon. In the evening a very enjoyable dance was held in the Gymnasium with over one hundred and fifty couples attending.

Saturday morning was devoted to a meeting of the professors and the Alumni. An exciting ground hockey game between Dalhousie and Edgehill, which ended in a 1-1 score, was played in the afternoon. A basketball game between Dalhousie and the Grads was also played in the afternoon with Dalhousie winning by two points.

On Saturday evening the Glee Club presented a two-act play "Wurzel Flummery" which was handled in a very capable manner. The Glee Club Chorus, contralto Diane Parker, a duo of Tom Hal and Bob Johnson, and a dual piano team of Joyce Whittier and Phillip Hebb each contributed to an evening of outstanding entertainment.

The week end activities were brought to a close on Sunday afternoon with a Chapel Service held in the Gymnasium with Dr. A. E. Kerr giving the sermon. After the Service a reception was held at Shirreff Hall for the Alumni, faculty and students. At this reception there were many expressions of approval of the program offered for the week-end and it was generally agreed that the students were most courteous and thoughtful hosts.

SKATING RINK FOR DALHOUSIE

President Kerr has announced that the Board of Governors has accepted the tender of the Cameron Construction Company of New Glasgow for the building of a rink on the campus at the east end of the football field.

It is expected that the rink will be completed and ready for use by the middle of October.

The ice surface will measure 200 feet by 85 feet, larger than the Halifax Forum, and only the finest of equipment will be installed.

The freezing plant will be of the most modern design including a snow-disposal mechanism.

In general, the interior of the building will be unrivaled by any of its kind in the Maritimes. There will be a completely unobstructed view of the whole ice surface for the 2000 seated spectators, and standing room for more than 1000 extra. A spacious canteen, men's and women's wash rooms, student office, two dressing rooms, a shower room, and equipment storage space, will take up the rest of the interior.

The main entrance to the building will be on South Street, but passages will connect the building to both the men's and women's locker rooms in the gymnasium.

The outside measurements will be 248 feet by 120 feet, and the walls will be of tile stucco. It is hoped by the Board that the walls will soon be covered with ivy in keeping with the rest of the buildings on the campus.

The tender submitted by the Cameron Construction Co. was for $168,600. Architect's fees will be in addition.

The building will be a Memorial Rink in memory of students who served in World War II.

DALHOUSIE STUDENTS AVAILABLE FOR SUMMER EMPLOYMENT

Dalhousie students are available for summer employment of all kinds in the Halifax-Dartmouth area and throughout the province.

In the city, students are available for odd jobs—from baby sitting to removing storm windows, cleaning cellars and yards, house-cleaning, scrubbing and waxing floors, gardening. The rate for odd jobs is seventy-five cents per hour.

Jobs are becoming hard to get and you can afford to be selective—let the Dalhousie student Employment Service solve your problem by providing a suitable person for the job. By so doing you will be rendering a real service to fellow Dalhousians who are willing and anxious to work for that much needed supplementary income.

Contact Dalhousie Student Employment Service at 13 Carleton Street, Phone 3-8960.

A GOLD "D" FOR ROY ATWOOD

One of the most popular awards given at this year's celebration of Monro Day was the award of a gold engraved "D" to Mr. Roy Atwood, proprietor of the Dalhousie University canteen since 1930. During the 20 years that he had been on the campus, as manager of the Book Room and cafeteria, Roy has been a sincere friend to the students and he has taken a deep interest in their activities.

The depth of his interest was plainly demonstrated this year when he made a gift of $1200 "to be used for the benefit of the students attending the University." This $1200. had been saved by Roy over the past twenty years during which time he had regularly put aside part of his earnings with the express purpose of donating it to the students.

The following editorial which appeared in the Halifax Mail-Star pays a well-deserved tribute to the spirit which prompted this gift:

REALLY SEEING

There are people who act toward their money as if it were something they were going to take along with them to pay the ferryman who awaits us all. Often they are people who have made a mark in one enterprise or another. In moments of cynicism they seem to some of us to constitute the majority of those who have been "successful".

Then something happens. A blind vendor of candies, soft drinks and trifles appears unexpectedly to say he has $1,200 to give away. He knows boys and girls and young men and young women and their activities. He knows, too, that seldom is there enough money to go around. He wants to do something about that.

He does not tie strings to the money he gives. First, he abstracts a hundred dollars from the roll and says: "Let's have a party we'll all enjoy." And so they have the party and $1,100 is left over for youth. Roy Atwood, proprietor of the Dalhousie University canteen, did that.

The institution has had many benefactors, but it is doubtful if it has had any greater than he. Students have had the counsel of learned men who have pointed the way. By this gift they have been led a little way along that way—and by a blind man.

When skepticism and cynicism are at their height, it is good to have things like Atwood's gift. They restore faith. If men like Roy Atwood, blinded, like Walter Callow, blinded and paralyzed, can inspire and lead and, in the forefront, go along the road themselves, a lot of us will have to admit that it takes a great deal more than eyes to give vision.

DALHOUSIE'S NEW LOOK

Harking back over a period of nearly three decades and visualizing the tremendous physical changes that have occurred during the interim in the "old red college by the sea" one is overwhelmed with conflicting feelings of ecstasy and dismay at the marvellous spectacle of the old reincarnated with the "new look". Tradition, if that has any truth therein, recalls an instance of note, during "Lord John's" incumbency, of certain artistically inclined painters whose aptitude with the brush was demonstrated externally on the massive granite blocks which have supported Forrest Hall for over sixty years. In vivid contrast to that external decoration prank of yesteryear, an internal redecoration has taken place. Today, a youthful gaiety of color has effaced the sombre, dingy, wooden panelling and plastered walls, revealing advantageously the moulded cornices of ceilings and keystone arches. Yea, verily the master hand of that venerable architect, Mr. J. C. Dumaresq, has been brought to light again accentuating his love of the triple beaded design on all the wainscotting and standing finish. Gone are the old splintering, hard pine of the corridor floors. Now, smooth glass like surfaces of highly polished linoleum extend their full length. Stairs entirely renovated with matching linoleum treads and edged with heavy duty chromium nosing greet the eye of the student or returning graduate with an invitation to explore further the higher levels of that monument in red brick so dear to all Dalhousians.

If the invitation fails because youthful vigor has waned with the passing years a friendly aid is still at hand. Who does not remember the double doors on each floor which never led anywhere and were seldom opened? Those same portals are very much in use now and, after sixty years of pedestrian travel from floor to floor, 'shank's mare' has finally succumbed and a hidden elevator is provided to scale the heights. No, not excessively modernistic but in keeping with the more 'leisurely' occupation of learning. Do I hear some rude remarks about the adjective? Speed is not essential so with that sacrifice made we can thoroughly enjoy a trip in the slow moving cab of the recently installed elevator. Foresight on the part of the architect in the planning of the structure made possible this much needed convenience.

Some doubt (we hope it was) must have been entertained in the mind of the contractor as to the possibility of such a means of transportation ever being installed, for in excavating for the pit at the bottom of the existing shaft, it was discovered that no foundation supported the towering brick masonry extending fifteen feet above the roof's level. Only one corner was supported on an outcropping ledge of slate. The remainder simply rested on flat slabs of similar material laid on the surface of the ground. This of course, was remedied immediately so it is quite safe for the 'select' to rise (as they should) from bottom to top in perfect safety.

Where once a dingy, dusty attic littered with empty winchesters and carboys, books and taxidermist's creations held uninterrupted sway for many years a veritable transformation has occurred. On reaching the top level now one sees that out of this chaos, largely through the fertile ingenuity of Dalhousie's capable Engineer in charge of Buildings and Grounds, there has been recovered space sufficient to hold the major portion of the Biological Department. Here laboratories, Library and a large Medical Museum have found suitable accommodation. Hardwood flooring throughout the whole area makes it very inviting, indeed quite a contrast to the linoleum covered floors of the rest of the Building.

Mounting still higher, if one possesses enough agility for a fifteen foot almost perpendicular climb, we reach the roof and emerge onto a cat walk which leads directly to the old Tower. Since the decapitation of the Tower which was a landmark of note in Halifax's roof horizon, and the removal of which caused quite a great deal of sentimental criticism at the time, the vacant interior had never been used. Now this empty hall has been utilized as an animal room and experimental preparation laboratory for another branch of Dalhousie's ever expanding research departments. Complete with research equipment, electric heating, and mechanical ventilation, this last outpost of the Forrest Building has been pressed into service. So the story goes. In keeping with this amazing recovery by a revolutionary process (which has been borne very patiently by all the members and staff of the Forrest Building) the women cleaners, whose work is perhaps overlooked by the more pressing academic activities but nevertheless is of valuable importance, have been provided with uniforms which add to the tone of the interior. As in the past, when conducted tours of the Buildings were made to acquaint the incoming freshettes and freshmen with the various units of the University spread over a wide area, it will still be possible for them to view Halifax and its environs from the roof of old Forrest Hall.

Today, as college doors are again thrown open wide, a new generation of Dalhousians, eager and attentive, will see and someday as old Dalhousians will remember this "new look" impression of old Dalhousie. This will be their tradition which they will recall and impart to their children. Contrary to the lamentable theme "Change and decay in all around I see," may the continuous, progressive expansion of Dalhousie defy such a sordid outlook and blossom forth as occasion arises in such growth, both spiritual and physical, as exemplifies tradition at its best.

JOHN R. MACLEOD

A TEXTBOOK BY DR. MELVILLE CUMMING

It has been reported in an article published by a Halifax newspaper that Nova Scotia is soon to get its first textbook devoted entirely to its industry of agriculture and written by a man who has played a leading part in the development of this industry in Nova Scotia during the past fifty years.

The article states "The book, being written by Dr. Melville Cumming, who retired from the Provincial Department of Agriculture two years ago, will be available for use in schools, colleges and farm organizations which now have to depend to a great extent on United States publications based on that country's agricultural economy."

Reference is made in the article to the positions which have been held by Dr. Cumming in the following words, "Dr. Cumming has held four different posts with the Nova Scotia Agriculture Department since returning to his native province in 1905. He was principal of the Nova Scotia Agriculture College and Secretary of Agriculture from 1905 to 1927, Director of Marketing from 1927 to 1933, and then Agriculture Department statistician until his retirement in 1947."

Out of this long experience Dr. Cumming has gained a wealth of knowledge which should make him particularly well qualified to write a textbook on agriculture in Nova Scotia. That he should undertake the writing of such a book after his retirement from his position with the Department of Agriculture is indicative of his energy and his deep interest in the welfare of his native province. Through his book he will continue to contribute to this welfare.

THE ALUMNI SMOKER

On Wednesday evening November 2, some three hundred and fifty students and graduates gathered in the gymnasium for the Alumni Smoker. As usual a program of college songs, talk, entertainment and refreshments ensured the success of the evening.

At 8:15 the Dalhousie band opened the program. The guests were then welcomed by the president of the Alumni Association, Mr. G. Ray Smith. With Gordon Graham as Master of Ceremonies and with the assistance of Jerry Naugler a sing-song was then conducted. Following the sing-song Dr. A. E. Kerr spoke to the guests and introduced the new members of the various faculties. The Alumni Glee Club offered an amusing skit and the Dalhousie Glee Club contributed a few songs. Bob MacDougall gave an impersonation and a sing-song led by Miss Lila Treadwell with her accordion completed the program. The thanks of the students was expressed by Art Moriera, President of the Students' Council.

The evening proved to be most enjoyable and great credit is due to the Smoker Committee under the Chairmanship of Mr. H. R. Wyman, and to Mrs. F. R. Dubury and her very efficient Refreshment Committee.

FIRST YEAR UNDERGRADUATES AND GENERAL STUDENTS
1869-70

By JUDGE PATTERSON

John A. Boak was a General Student in Session of '68-'69. He did not return after his Freshman year.

William Cameron took a full course in Arts, and proceeded to the study of Medicine. He was in his third year in medicine when his father's health failed, and William had to abandon his studies and take upon himself the burden—though he never felt it a burden—of supporting his mother. His ability and gifts were recognized by his Party, and he sat for twelve years in the House of Assembly, and no one in the House was more highly regarded. He became Municipal Clerk for Pictou Co.—a position he filled to the satisfaction of everyone. Howard Murray who knew him intimately has said to me more than once that "Bil" Cameron was the wittiest man he ever knew. I went to his school when he was Assistant Principal of the New Glasgow High School. I did or said something out of the way one day; he looked me up and down, "Patterson," said he, "you are either a genius or a jackass—probably the latter." Donald Cameron, B.A., LL.B., a former member of the Board of Governors was his son.

David F. Creelman, of Stewiacke, N. S., became a Minister of the Presbyterian Church, and if I mistake not spent most of his ministerial life in Newfoundland. He was a real good student—headed his class in many subjects.

John W. Forbes returned for his second year—then became the teacher of the school in Churchville, Pictou Co.—the school in which he had his own earliest training. He did not keep a school and call it an Academy, but he glorified one country school and did great good to many generations of pupils.

Of Charles and Alfred Harvey, Bruce A. Lawson, Henry MacDonald, Archibald J. Sinclair, James W. Smith and John Wylie I have no information.

John H. Logan, Melville Logan, James A. McKeen and Walter Mitchell have been already noticed.

Charles D. MacDonald was the son of A. C. MacDonald, Pictou, one time speaker of the House of Assembly. He very early showed he was a "lad of parts". He went to Dalhousie, and developed a genius for languages. Before he was twenty-four he spoke fluently, English of course, French, German, and of all things Gaelic. He studied law and practised first in his old home town, Pictou, then in Halifax, and then in Edmonton. He was a brilliant lawyer, but cursed with a violent temper that caused him to quarrel oftentimes with his client, his witnesses, and his assistant counsel. Even the Judges more frequently got the "counter check quarrelsome" than they did the "retort courteous". But at heart he was generous and kindly.

Alexander H. McKay, almost immediately on graduation became Principal of Pictou Academy, and restored the tradition of McCulloch and Dawson, which Bayne and MacKenzie fostered but had not time to restore. Under McKay the Academy grew and prospered as never before; and it was a sad day for it when he left to become Principal of the High School, Halifax, and very soon to become Superintendent of Education—a position he filled with honour and distinction for a quarter of a century. An ardent Dalhousian to the very last, he never missed a meeting of the Alumni Association.

J. Millen Robinson was, if I mistake not, the second student from New Brunswick to come to Dalhousie. After graduation he studied Law, and upon admission to the Bar practiced with some success in Halifax. But he soon heard a call to the ministry, and upon completion of his theological studies was called to the large and growing Presbyterian Church in Moncton. There his great work, and it was a great work, was done. Clearly he had made no mistake in abandoning Law.

NEW TEACHING FELLOWSHIPS FOR DALHOUSIE UNIVERSITY

Dr. A. E. Kerr, President of Dalhousie University, has announced that generous donations have recently been made by a number of citizens and business firms of Halifax to provide funds, for a two year period, for five Teaching Fellowships in the newly created Faculty of Graduate Studies. The Fellowships will each have a value of $750 per annum.

The purpose of the Fellowships is to make it possible for outstanding students in the Maritime Provinces who hold a Bachelor's degree to continue study towards a Master's degree in some department of the Faculty of Graduate Studies. The holders will also assist in the undergraduate instruction carried on in the University.

Mr. O. F. MacKenzie, President of Halifax Fisheries Limited, has given funds to provide for one Fellowship in memory of the late Dr. A. S. MacKenzie, a former president of Dalhousie University. Funds for the other Fellowships have been given by Moirs Limited, the Nova Scotia Light and Power Company, Oland and Sons, and Wm. Stairs, Son and Morrow Limited.

THE MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS SOCIETY OF CANADA

It has been drawn to the attention of the Alumni News that there are four Dalhousians on the councils of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada which is located at Box 187, Postal Station "B" 678 St. Catherine St. W., Montreal 3, P.Q. On the Advisory Council of the Society there are, among others, The Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, K.C., and Dr. Sidney E. Smith, K.C. On the Executive Council of the Society two other Dalhousians, H. H. Bell and A. G. MacKinnon may be found.

This Society, which has received its charter from the Dominion Government, has been organized for a very worthy purpose. Its aims include the spreading of available information on the diagnosis and care of Multiple Sclerosis cases, the gathering of statistics on its occurrence, and the support of a research programme looking toward the discovery of the cause of this disease. A publication issued by the Society reads in part.

The quest to find the cause and to discover the cure has enlisted not only the services of medical research teams but physicists, chemists and allergists, and is limited only by the extent of public support.

Research, in part sponsored by the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada, is already under way at the Montreal Neurological Institute and it is hoped to extend this to other centres. Chapters are in process of formation across Canada for the purpose of aiding in the work.

If you know of anyone suffering from MS, or are interested in helping to solve this mystery, will you please communicate with the Society.

Funds are needed to fulfil the purposes of the Society, i.e., to gather facts on the prevalence and geographical distribution of MS, to stimulate and sponsor research on MS and to make available the findings of research.

To advance the frontier of knowledge and uncover the MS mystery requires skill, time and equipment. The pace of the advance may lag if too few workers and too narrow a front is employed. The medical and scientific skill is at hand and only adequate financial resources are lacking.

The Society has every confidence that, even as the problem of MS must be solved, it can be solved and will be solved with your generous support.

Donations to the Society are deductible for Income Tax assessment purposes and official receipts will be issued by the Society. The annual membership fee is $2.00.

Two new prizes have been established in Third Year Law this year. A prize of $50.00 is being awarded annually by the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation to the student making the highest mark in Mortgages and a prize of $50.00 is being awarded annually by the Canada Permanent Trust Company to the student making the highest mark in Equity II.

RESEARCH ASSISTANTSHIP AWARDED

Word has just been received that C. K. Hoyt, B.Sc., a student in the Faculty of Graduate Studies, Dalhousie University, has just been awarded a Research Assistantship of annual value $2,000 to be held in the Physics Department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Mr. Hoyt, who is a native of North Sydney, Nova Scotia has had a brilliant career at Dalhousie. He received his B.Sc. degree in 1949 with High Honors in Physics and was the winner of the Governor-General's gold medal for attaining the highest scholastic standing in the graduating class. He is at present the holder of the James Gordon MacGregor Fellowship in Physics and is working towards the degree of M.Sc., which he expects to receive in April 1950. The award of this research assistantship is a great honor not only to Mr. Hoyt but to Dalhousie University, as such appointments are seldom, if ever, made except to a man who has been in attendance for at least a year in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. Hoyt plans to take up his appointment next September and will continue graduate study and research towards next the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

An alumnus of Dalhousie University, Judge George Patterson, M.A LL.D., of New Glasgow has donated a splendid collection of Gaelic books to the Dalhousie MacDonald Memorial Library, it has been announced.

Among the collection the two volumes of most interest in general to scholars and collectors are an "elegantly" bound edition of "The Poems of Ossian" published along with another edition in 1807 and a volume entitled "The Book of the Dean of Lismore". The latter is a collection of Gaelic poetry current in the South West Highlands in the early 16th century.

Other valuable books of the collection are translations into Gaelic of the Bible and the Psalms. Of the more recent works are collections made and published in Pictou by Rev. James MacGregor and in New Glasgow of poems collected in Canada by Rev. A. MacLean Sinclair.

With these are many volumes of Gaelic verse and of prose translations and commentaries.
