

MARITIME QUARTERLY

280 PORTLAND ST.
DARTMOUTH, NOVA SCOTIA

February 8, 1945.

Mr. Thomas Raddall,
Liverpool, N. S.

Dear Mr. Raddall:

During our very enjoyable talk, I forgot to mention that Harry Stephens, of C.H.N.S., Halifax, asked me to introduce myself by the use of his name. It was he who told me that you would probably help us in our effort.

If you can see your way clear to contribute a little article, it will certainly be greatly appreciated and will assist in what we believe to be of benefit to Maritime Canada.

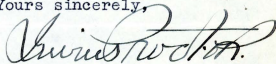

Anything that you care to, do from five hundred to fifteen hundred words or more, would be very acceptable.

As we have a great deal of the more serious and educational material, something of a lighter and entertaining nature, but still with a Maritime appeal, would help us most.

If you are in a position to do anything, we would like to have it at your earliest convenience as we are now turning our "Copy" over to Frank Burns.

Thanking you for your interest and hospitality.

Yours sincerely,

Thomas H. Raddall

Liverpool, Nova Scotia

February 13th, 1945

Mr. Irwin Proctor,
280 Portland Street,
Dartmouth, N. S.

Dear Mr. Proctor,

Here is the article I promised for the MARITIME QUARTERLY. I make one stipulation about its use. The article is not to be edited, mutilated or garbled in any way. This is my rule with everything I write and I stick to it. If the article is unsuitable in any way, please return it and we can forget the whole thing.

Sincerely,

(Note: The article was entitled "The Old House", & was a description of the house I bought in West Milton in 1926, preparatory to my marriage in 1927.

Proctor's "Maritime Quarterly" paid nothing for the written content. He secured a moderate amount of advertising & published his first issue in the summer of 1945. It was also the last. Proctor disappeared soon afterwards.

J. H. R.)

MARITIME QUARTERLY

280 PORTLAND ST.
DARTMOUTH, NOVA SCOTIA

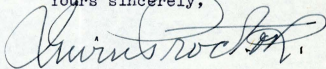

February 26, 1945.

Mr. Thomas H. Raddall,
Liverpool,
Nova Scotia.

Dear Mr. Raddall:

I received your letter and enclosed
Article.I wish to thank you very sincerely for this and might say that there is no desire to change it in any way, as I do not think that it could be improved upon.

Yours sincerely,

IP/FC

IRWIN PROCTOR