Mr. H. Pearson Gundy,
Editor, Queen's Quarterly,
Kingston, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Gundy:

Thank you for the complimentary copy of the Quarterly containing the article by young Hawkins. I read it with interest, especially his (or his mentor Professor Pacey's) deduction that⁹ was "overshadowed for many years by the memory of his imposing father". This notion would have amused my father, as it does me -- we were stubborn individuals all our lives, as anyone who knew us could attest.

With my deep appreciation,

Sincerely,

Thomas H. Raddall
