Dear Dr. Luke:

I am terribly sorry I could not make it to your seminar yesterday. I had two other absolutely inevitable university meetings yesterday -- and I have to leave for Europe next week, and just about ten thousand things to finish, and am rather in a panic.

I am particularly sorry because I read your paper with the greatest interest -- and some puzzlement. Incidentally, the paper is extremely well written and organized.

But I am at a loss as far as your conclusions are concerned. As you rightly point out, the malfunctioning of the public sector is intrinsic in the malfunctioning of parliamentary democracy as bequeathed by the British.

What is the remedy.

The way you write "socialist" in quotation marks makes the reader suspect what you do not really suggest: that the remedy would be to rely on the private sector, that is on the multinationals. To my mind, that cure would be worse than the evil. But I am really not sure what it is that you are suggesting. While I find your analysis excellent, I find your conclusions unclear.

I hope we shall have an occasion to discuss this matter further after my return on February 28.

With all good wishes,

Cordially yours,

Elisabeth Mann Borgese

Dear Dr. Ljubimov:

For your information, I am sending you herewith a copy of the revised version of our working paper. We intend to introduce it early in the next session.

We have not made any substantial changes, but we have taken account of the many useful suggestions that came to us since the last session of the Prep.Com. and which have contributed greatly to clarifying the issues.

I am looking forward to seeing you again in Kingston.

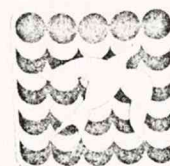

With all good wishes,

Yours cordially,

Elisabeth Mann Brge

Dear Betty:

Thanks for your letter of April 25.

I have just returned from a long, long trip around the world in pursuit of fish farms. It was extremely interesting; but now things have piled up in a terrible way.

I'll read the water resource development paper as soon as possible -- and we'll talk about it when I see you in New York. I'll be there from May 22 until at least July 8.

Allthe very best,

Yours as ever,

Elisabeth Mann Borgese.

Dear Elisabeth;

Recently I have joined a group of consultants concentrating on development problems. One of my associates produced the report which the non-governmental organizations presented at the UN Water Conference in Mar del Plata, in March 1977. A copy is enclosed for your inspection. Of course, only a month has gone by since the conference, but Marianne is disappointed at how little reaction and feedback she has received from her paper. I am hoping you can find time in your busy schedule to have a look at Marianne's report and give us some of your thoughts. I think we all share an intense concern about water. Thank you for your cooperation.

On other subjects, US recognition of the Angolan government is drawing nearer. Elisio is now occupying my UN Plaza apartment by himself, since I am in Washington most of the time and hoping to undertake some field trips soon.

Please let me know when you plan to be in Washington or New York so that I can introduce my associates to you.

Sincerely yours,

Betty Lussier

Dear Ms. Muller:

Thank you for sending me the list of research papers from the Conference on Energy Policies and the International System.

Would it be possible to get the following papers from you?

Proposal for the Establishment of an International Energy Institute, by Elizabeth Borgese.

Research priorities on global energy policy issues,
by John Hanessian and Jean M. Johnson.

A survey of international energy institutions and policy mechanisms, by Keith Walton.

I talked with Dr. Post who presented his paper at the conference and he does not have reprints of the other papers.

Sincerely,

Virginia Caswell

Dear Mr. Lundstrom:

Sorry to be so late in answering your letter of April 19. I have been away from my office constantly, and my correspondence has fallen behind.

The book on Energy Policies and the International System, which is the result of the grant we received from the National Science Foundation, will be published this fall by ABC Clio in Santa Barbara. I am enclosing my introduction and the table of contents. You can order the book directly from the publisher, or through the Center.

With all good wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Elisabeth Mann Borgese.

Dear Ms. Borgese:

We would appreciate your sending us a copy of any written reports you prepared as a result of the grant you received from the National Science Foundation.

Because we believe that the results of your research would be an important addition to the Foreign Affairs Research Documentation Center, we would like to have two or three retention copies to facilitate referral to interested Government officials. If not, we could have your copy reproduced and returned to you promptly.

Please note the paragraph on "Protection of Copyright Privileges" in the enclosed description of the Documentation Center. Sending us your paper will indicate that you agree to the conditions specified therein.

We look forward to receiving a copy of this paper and any other recent foreign affairs-related studies that you would like to share with us. Please keep us in mind for future studies as well.

No postage is required when the enclosed mailing label is used in the United States. Thank you for your consideration of this request.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Lamfrom:

Thank you for your letter of January 10.

I am enclosing today: an article by William Heronymus on solar energy; an article by myself on oceans and energy; and the project outline on "Energy Policies and the International System."

The whole material is, at this moment, being edited for publication as a volume. We shall be glad to send you a copy when it is available.

With all good wishes,

Yours sincerely,

Elisabeth Mann Borgese

The Law of the Sea Institute is pleased to announce that our tenth annual conference will be held June 22, 23, and 24 here in Kingston, Rhode Island. The theme of the conference will be "Law of the Sea: Projections of Implementations." You will, of course, receive full details about the meeting long before the conference convenes.

Several new publications have recently become available from the Institute:

Law of the Sea: A Bibliography of the Periodical Literature of the 1970s by Christopher Llana, John Gamble and Charlene Quinn ($5.00)

Bibliography on Latin America and the Law of the Sea by Alberto Szekely ($2.00)

Scientific Research Articles in the Law of the Sea Informal Single Negotiating Test by William T. Burke ($2.00)

Report of the Ocean Policy Research Workshop by Robert L. Friedheim and Judith T. Kildow ($2.00)

The Greek-Turkish Dispute Over the Aegean Continental Shelf by Christos L. Rozakis ($2.00)

Contemporary Law of the Sea: Transportation, Communication and Flight by William T. Burke ($2.00)

Canada at the Third Law of the Sea Conference: Policy, Role and Prospects by Barry G. Buzan and Barbara Johnson ($2.00)

Please feel free to contact the Institute if you have any questions about the above matters. Your continued support and participation are very much appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Ms. Borgese:

From your article, "The Blue Revolution . . .," which appeared in Center Report (April 1975) I read with interest regarding the way the Chinese treat the pollution problem. If you have further information on the subject, perhaps by way of a short bibliography, I will be indebted to you to receive it.

Where may one obtain your book, The Ocean Regime and other publications?

Thank you for taking time to react to this correspondence.

Dear Dr.Borgess:

We are in the process of getting together an interested group of scientists and engineers in Ahmedabad that will try to design and construct practical devices for the utilization of solar and wind energy in India. At the same time as we are starting some practical projects, we are trying to collect a general bibliography and particularly find out what has already been done in this field.

I read with great interest about your report on energy technologies and would be very grateful if you could send me a copy of:

"Energy Policies and the International System".

Thanking you,

Sincerely yours,
