For the graduate of Dalhousie who lives in or near Halifax the Alumni News must seem to serve a very limited purpose. To such a graduate its chief value must appear to be that it offers a compact record of university activities of interest to the Alumni and brief notes on certain graduates. Much of the material which appears in its pages will be already known to the Halifax reader. It should be remembered, however, that the primary purpose of the Alumni News is to serve those who are living far from Dalhousie. Its value must be judged on how well it serves as a link, binding together and to the university all the sons and daughters of Dalhousie.

The Studley Campus, March 1952

A FINE ADDITION TO DALHOUSIE

Dalhousians returning to their Alma Mater after an absence of only a few years will be impressed with the changes and improvements which have occurred in that time. The most conspicuous change is the appearance of the new $1,600,000 Arts and Administration Building, which was formally opened on December 1, 1951, and which is now fully in operation.

Although the most conspicuous, this is only one of several changes and improvements. Those who have not seen Halifax for some years will be struck by the growth of the health centre, including the new Victoria General Hospital, the new nurses' home, and other buildings with whose work the work of the Medical School is closely integrated.

Returning Dalhousians will applaud the improvement which the City of Halifax has effected by acquiring additional land to make what was Morris Street a two-lane boulevard stretching from South Park Street to the Studley Campus. Land on both sides of the boulevard—now known as University Avenue—has been zoned for institutional buildings, and the picture of the future, when this boulevard will be lined with nothing but university and public buildings is already quite discernible.

But it is the Arts and Administration Building which contributes most to Dalhousie's new appearance. Not only is this an impressive building in itself, but it has done wonders in transforming—in unifying—the campus. The Science Building, the Library, and the Law Building (used for so many years for Arts classes), are all fine buildings, but heretofore had a somewhat scattered look. The new Arts and Administration Building, completes the west side of the quadrangle and effectively brings them all into a planned whole. The effect is to make the campus look like a campus.

The exterior of the new building matches that of its neighbors. The building is constructed of native ironstone, quarried across the North West Arm, and is of Colonial design. It is topped by a high tower, visible for miles around and which commands an unsurpassed view of Halifax, the Harbor, and the Arm. On top of the tower, a rod supports a bronze replica of the heraldic eagle which is the central device in the Dalhousie coat of arms. This 600-pound symbol is the gift of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

The building itself shows three stories on the front elevation, and four at each end. To minimize congestion, large classrooms and offices are situated on the ground and basement floors, smaller classrooms are on the second floor, and faculty offices and seminar rooms are on the third floor.

The basement space includes two large classrooms, one capable of accommodating 300 students and another, used mainly by the Commerce department, accommodating 100 students and their work tables.

Main floor space includes the President's suite, the Registrar's suite, a Senate and Faculty Room, the Founders' Room and the Alumni Office. The Senate Room is considered to be the "show-piece" of the building, a gracious 18th Century room, finished in oak panelling and ornamented by graceful pillars and a carved coat of arms over the entrance. The Founders' Room, which will also serve as a chapel, is a large room containing memorials to Dalhousie's benefactors and to her war dead.

The spacious hallway of the main floor is also panelled in oak and the floors of the building are of terrazo, with the exception of a few sections which are of marble.

On the second floor a large room has been allocated for Fine Arts and other displays and a similar room on the third floor, specially sound-proofed, will house a record-player and record library.

Arts classes moved into the new building with the opening of the Spring term in January and the various offices have been occupied since. Meanwhile, workmen have moved into the Law Building to prepare it for its original purpose. Partitions on the second floor have come out and the entire floor, as planned, has been opened up to house the Law Library. The work has gone ahead briskly and it is expected that the Law School will move from the Forrest Building to Studley directly after convocation, in May.

SPECIAL CONVOCATION

On Saturday, December 1, a special convocation at Dalhousie marked an important event in the university's history: the formal opening of the new Arts and Administration Building. And on that occasion, President Kerr conferred an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws on the Hon. William Lewis Douglas, former United States Ambassador to the United Kingdom.

Dr. Douglas was honored in his own right, in the words of Dr. Kerr, as "one of the most outstanding men in public life in the English-speaking world at the present time" and also as the son of the late James Stuart Douglas, a great benefactor of Dalhousie, whose memory is preserved by a plaque which Dr. Douglas unveiled following the convocation ceremony.

Dr. Douglas is a grandson of Dr. James Douglas, former Chancellor of Queen's University, and was himself Principal and Vice-Chancellor of McGill University from 1938 until 1940 when he returned to the United States to serve as Director of the War Shipping Administration. He has been a member of the Arizona Legislature and the United States House of Representatives.

He is Chairman of the Board of the Mutual Life Assurance Company, a director of General Motors Corporation, and a trustee of the Rockefeller Foundation.

In his convocation address, Dr. Douglas urged a greater realization of the consequences of modern warfare.

"There is no victor in modern war," he said, "except the ideas and practices that are incompatible with the survival of a free society."

"I would not be understood as advocating a policy of pacifism," Dr. Douglas said, "but I do suggest that the consequences of modern war need to be more fully comprehended.

"If they are, all statesmen, all military men, all people in public offices, all those who wield the mace of power will be compelled to use every honorable method on which they can lay their hands to avoid another great convulsion, lest freedom of the mind and soul and of our ways of making a living which we have, over so many years and at such cost, emancipated from the tyranny of prejudice and the oppression of arbitrary power be seriously and permanently undermined."

Following the convocation proper, the assembly moved to the new Arts and Administration Building for the opening ceremonies.

Col. K. C. Laurie, Chairman of the Board of Governors, told those present that "This Arts and Administration Building is a clear indication of the present strength of Dalhousie and of our intention to carry out the purpose proclaimed by the Earl of Dalhousie himself to Lord Bathurst that 'this college should expand with the growth and improvement of our society.' The erection of this building in no way marks the end of our development but we can be assured that what we are doing today will constitute an important milestone in our history."

The prayer of dedication was delivered by the Rev. Dr. W. Mc-Culloch Thomson, Durham, Pictou County, who first entered Dalhousie in 1881, when classes were held in the original Dalhousie building on the Grand Parade. The Rt. Rev. R. H. Waterman, Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia, gave the invocation.

About 400 people saw Dr. Douglas unveil the plaque which honors his father's memory and heard Dr. Kerr tell the story behind the fine gift which James Stuart Douglas made to Dalhousie, a college he had never seen in a province he had never visited.

Dr. Kerr told how Albert S. Fraser, a former resident of the Maritimes now living in Montreal, had been asked to assist in the university's campaign for funds. "One day, the late Dr. James Stuart Douglas visited Mr. Fraser's office," Dr. Kerr said, "and after they disposed of the purpose of the call, Mr. Fraser said that he had been commissioned by Dalhousie to speak to some men of his own choice in connection with the campaign; and he requested Mr. Douglas to take the brochure with him and read it at his convenience.

"Some time later Mr. Douglas returned, said that he had read with interest the story of what Dalhousie had done and the outline of its present needs, and that he would be glad to make a contribution on condition that he should be spared any embarrassing publicity. Thereupon he made an anonymous contribution of $100,000.

"After Mr. Douglas' death," Dr. Kerr said, "Mr. Fraser felt free to inform the Board of Governors of the identity of our benefactor, and the Board decided that since it had not been able, during the late Mr. Douglas' lifetime, to thank him for his splendid gift, it could at least leave a record of its appreciation both of his gift and his spirit, for the attention and emulation of posterity."

The plaque in memory of Mr. Douglas has been installed in the Founders' Room of the new building.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE ALUMNI

Starting with the October, 1948 issue the Alumni News has been published under the able editorship of Maurice E. Keating. Taking over at that time from George Farquhar, he has continued the excellent work which had done so much to revive the activity of the Alumni Association. The interesting material and attractive arrangement of the last five issues of the News have contributed in no small way to the growth of the Alumni Association, in both members and interest to the present very high level. The thanks of the Alumni and all Dalhousians goes to Maurice for his untiring efforts in the difficult task of getting out the Alumni News. The demands of his regular work have made it necessary for Maurice to relinquish this post and it is with great regret that the Alumni Executive has accepted his resignation.

We have been most fortunate in obtaining the services of W. Graham Allen to succeed Maurice as Editor. He comes to the post well prepared. A good Dalhousian of the late twenties, formerly editor with both the Halifax Chronicle and the Halifax Herald, a Naval Officer of exceptional ability, and greatly experienced in various public relations positions, he has ability and training which make his appointment particularly appropriate. His work as Director of University Liaison has the same basic purpose as is required of him as editor of the Alumni News. Under Graham's guidance, we anticipate a continuation of the excellent record set by each of his two recent predecessors in the position of editor and we wish him every success in the post.

H. R. (Pat) Wyman President Dalhousie Alumni Association

ALL THE COMFORTS OF HOME

The Alumni Association has undertaken to provide the general furnishings for the men's and women's common rooms in the new Arts and Administration Building. The cost of the project is about $3,000 and a special committee has been studying color, material, and design for weeks.

Basically, the idea is to provide such essential furniture as tables and chairs, but the Women's Division, we understand, plan some extra touches to make the Women's Common Room the attractive place it should be.

As we go to press, the project is well in hand. Orders for the furniture have been placed and delivery is expected momentarily.

Incidentally, the Alumni Office is now located in the Arts and Administration building. After years of operating in the Gymnasium, the Alumni staff now have a bright and spacious office in the new building, on the main floor and within convenient distance of the offices of the President, Registrar, and Business Manager.

PARTY FOR THE FRESHMEN

In order to show their interest in the students and to make some contribution to the revival of class spirit and organization at Dalhousie, the members of the Dalhousie Alumni Association sponsored a dance for the Freshmen Class during February.

This dance, which was a new feature in campus activities, proved most enjoyable and was attended by over three hundred students. Many Freshmen expressed the hope that the Alumni would repeat the party each year. The Alumni Committee in charge of arrangements felt that the success of the dance was such that they should recommend that it be an annual affair.

Chaperones for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. A. Gordon Archibald. Official guests included Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Kerr and Miss Zilpha J. Linkletter. Miss Linkletter, on behalf of the Alumni Association, spoke briefly to the students. Arrangements for the dance were under the capable direction of the following Committee: Mr. Orval J. Troy, Mr. W. D. Outhit, Mrs. J. R. Longard, Miss Frances Doane, Mrs. Clara Giffin and Mr. Howard J. Pye.

IN THE MORSE ROOM: Dr. Kerr, Their Royal Highnesses, Colonel Laurie.

A ROYAL VISIT TO DALHOUSIE

Despite the dullness of a wet November day, the Studley campus was a gay place on November 8, 1951, when Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II (then Princess Elizabeth) and the Duke of Edinburgh, honored Dalhousie with an official visit.

A crowd of nearly 3,000 people cheered the royal visitors in a moving demonstration of affection and loyalty.

The royal visitors passed through lines of uniformed university cadets and were escorted to the Maconald Memorial Library by President and Mrs. A. E. Kerr and Col. K. C. Laurie, chairman of the Board of Governors, and Mrs. Laurie. The party passed members of the Students Council, wearing academic gowns, and entered the Morse Room where the deans of the various faculties and members of the Board of Governors were presented.

During their visit, necessarily brief because of a heavy schedule, the royal pair inspected several items of interest in the Morse Room. Col. Laurie showed the Princess the charter of the University of King's College, "the oldest English-speaking college in the Empire overseas," granted by George III.

Dr. Kerr pointed out a 326-year-old document signed by Sir William Alexander and Duncan Forbes, Provost of Inverness and Laird of Culloden, having to do with lands beyond the seas in the "countrie of New Scotland in America." This is the oldest document in existence showing the relation to this province of Sir William Alexander who received a grant of all Nova Scotia from James I.

"This should be of interest to a princess of Scottish birth," said

Dr. Kerr.

The visitors showed the keenest interest in Dalhousie. The Princess inquired about the origin of the university, remarked on its size, and inquired further about the long-range plans for future development.

After signing the official visitors' book, the royal party crossed the campus between lines of gowned students and crowds of cheering onlookers to continue their tour.

THE HONOR ROLL, WORLD WAR II

The names appearing below are those of Dalhousians known to have died while serving in the Allied forces during World War II. It is intended to erect a suitable memorial to our war dead but, first, the list must be complete and accurate. It is quite probable that other names should be added to this list and we appeal to our readers to advise us of any additions or corrections.

"MACBETH" FOR ROY MACKENZIE

Forty-odd years ago a young Shakespearean scholar with a bachelor's degree from Dalhousie University, up in Nova Scotia, and a Harvard doctorate arrived at Washington University and began teaching the plays of the greatest bard of them all. Just when, in those four decades, W. Roy Mackenzie became one of the best-loved, as well as most widely esteemed, professors on "the hill", it would be hard to say. Certainly it was long before he was put in charge of the English department and that was back in 1918. A veritable host of students came to know the beauties of great literature through his rich, deep voice and its musical cadences.

Now Dr. Mackenzie is emeritus and retiring and in tribute to him the students, who make up Thyrsus, campus dramatic society, played on Sunday afternoon a special performance of "Macbeth" for him and Mrs. Mackenzie and their friends. Only those who saw the play can realize how ably Macbeth and the other characters read the great poetry which is allotted to them, how eerie were the three witches in their shadowy doings on the heath, and what remarkable results were achieved with staging and lighting. It is hard to see how a salute could have given more pleasure to a teacher of Shakespeare.

Macbeth was first played in 1606 in honor of literary King James I. There are those who would say that the Thyrsus presentation in appreciation of Roy Mackenzie and his helpmeet in countless Shakespearean ventures with students through nearly a half century was at least equally appropriate.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Roy Mackenzie for many years have been so closely identified with Shakespeare and the theatre in the community of Washington University and St. Louis that it is hardly necessary to call attention to the significance of the present occasion. Dr. Mackenzie's courses in Shakespeare in the Department of English and in University College have swelled the hosts of the lovers of the greatest English dramatist by as many persons as there have been students in those classes. Many of those present will also remember with satisfaction the outdoor productions of Shakespearean plays under the joint direction of Dr. and Mrs. Mackenzie which for a good many years graced and gave distinction to spring semesters. Always the enthusiastic and stalwart supporters of Thyrsus, Dr. and Mrs. Mackenzie have fostered in the student theatre its many contributions to the best in dramatic production. For this reason especially it is appropriate that Thyrsus should join the Department of English in offering this tribute to two most loyal and enlightened friends of drama and literature.

(The foregoing item about William Roy Mackenzie, B.A. '02, M.A. '03, LL.D. '50, appeared recently in the St. Louis, Mo., Post-Despatch.—Ed.)

ANOTHER DALHOUSIE AUTHOR

Although it is a book to hold the attention of any reader, a recent autobiography, "A Doctor's Pilgrimage", by Edward Alfred Brasset, M.D.,C.M. '34, will be of special interest to Dalhousians. Not only is the author himself a Dalhousian, but his story begins in the Medical School and takes the reader from there to several Nova Scotia communities: Canso, Cape Breton, and the Acadian Clare district.

Dr. Brasset's publishers, J. B. Lippincott Company, tell us that he began the book while waiting at Wakefield, in Rhode Island for his license to practise in that state. Dr. Brasset, it seems, worked with the aid of his five children—Ronnie, John, Donna, James and Paul,—"who made the keys of the typewriter sticky with candy, drew fishes and pigs on the pages of the manuscript, and played Indians under the table, using the author's legs for trees."

In spite of that, Dr. Brasset succeeded in producing an extremely readable book, the kind of book that tempts you to sit up and finish another chapter instead of going to bed.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

Notice is hereby given that the Annual Meeting of the Dalhousie Alumni Association will be held in Shirreff Hall, on Tuesday, May 6, 1952, at 6.30 o'clock in the evening.

CLINTON B. HAVEY, Secretary

The meeting will begin promptly at six thirty o'clock. It will be a supper meeting at which all members of the graduating classes will be guests of the Association. The annual meeting of last year was very successful and it is hoped to make this year's meeting a still greater success. If you have not been in the habit of attending these annual meetings, make the effort to attend this year. You'll be surprised at the number of old friends that you will find and your enjoyment will be greater than you anticipate. A charge of $1.00 for the supper will be made to members and dress is informal. Keep the date open for this opportunity to renew your friendships of college days.

It will be noted with reference to the ballot form on the next page that the Executive in making nominations has nominated one noninee only for the first three offices. The Executive deemed this the part of wisdom as continuity should be preserved and those filling these posts should be thoroughly conversant with the activities of the Association. Under Section 21 of the Constitution it was open to any ten members to put others in nomination. No other nominations have been received.

WHO MAY VOTE

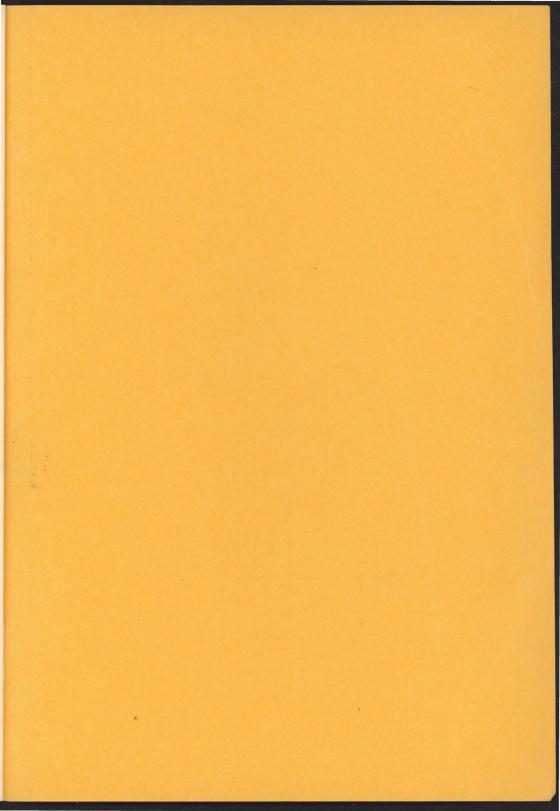

Section 3. A full member shall be any person who for one year or more has been a registered student of the University . . .

Section 6. Members shall have the right of speaking and voting at meetings of the Association, of holding any office to which they may be elected, or receiving bulletins of information regarding Dalhousie University and its Alumni . . Only full members may hold office or vote on resolutions altering or amending these by-laws.

BALLOT FORM

Please fill in and return to Mr. Clinton B. Havey, Secretary, Alumni Office, Dalhousie University, Halifax, N. S., to reach him not later than May 2, 1952.
